ASK PARK PLANS APPROVAL

Propose AHS Remodeling

Sketches showing alternate plans for upgrading Arlington High School will soon be given to the High School District 214 administration.

Architects Kenneth Unteed and Wayne Fritch showed some of the alternate plans to Dr. Edward H. Gilbert, superintendent, and other interested administrators last Thursday.

The board of education probably will be given a look at the proposals—with price tags attached—in late November.

ROUGH ESTIMATES given last Thursday ran as high as $2.5 to $3 million, large enough to require a bond referendum in order to finance the project.

Dr. Gilbert expects by November to have long-range enrollment estimates being prepared now by Dr. Frank Endicott, Northwestern University professor who did a district growth study several years ago.

The new enrollment estimates will help the superintendent and other District 214 administrators decide whether to recommend increasing of student capacity at Arlington, oldest in the district and currently considered at optimum with 2,000 students.

Remodeling plans considered now would upgrade the school's facilities to make them more comparable to newer high schools in use in the district.

ARLINGTON HIGH needs four more indoor physical education teaching stations, has about half the outdoor play space of other schools and — thanks to past piecemeal additions—is poorly organized. Girls going to the gym class must trail past academic classes and students in foreign language laboratories must ignore noisy physical education exercise next door.

Unteed has suggested that cost of the remodeling might include addition of some classrooms, too, to bring up Arlington High School to the 2,500 capacity of other district schools.

This may be recommended to the board, Dr. Gilbert says, particularly if enrollment projects show that by doing so District 214 can postpone opening of its seventh high school till 1971.

Herald Judged Best in State

(See additional story on page six.)

The Arlington Heights Herald was honored Friday as "best in the state" by the Illinois Press Association.

The Herald was awarded the 1966 Will Loomis Memorial Trophy, Illinois' highest distinction for editorial achievement, on the basis of its winning rank in the annual state newspaper contest.

More than 900 newspapers were entered in the state-wide competition.

THIS IS THE second time in two years that the Herald has received the Loomis Trophy, and it is the only time that a newspaper has received the award consecutively under the terms of eligibility.

Because the Herald won the trophy in 1964, it was ineligible to compete last year.

One of 16 Paddock Publications, the Herald was named 1966 winner on the basis of accumulating the most points in newspaper editorial competition. Judging is based on general excellence, editorial writing, editorial page, original column writing, use of illustrative material, community service, photojournalism, news writing, women's pages, sports coverage and feature writing.

THE TROPHY was presented Friday at the IPA's 101st annual convention held in Springfield at the St. Nicholas Hotel. Accepting the award were Robert Y. Paddock and Stuart R. Paddock Jr., vice presidents of Paddock Publications.

In the state newspaper contest, the Herald won first place awards for best editorial page, best use of illustrative material (photographs), best women's pages, promotion of newspaper and best advertising idea.

New Sanitarian Warns

Village Should Take Steps To Solve Problem of Rats

by DAVE CRIPPEN
News Editor

There is a problem in Arlington Heights that endangers the economic well-being and general health of the community.

It is a problem of which most residents are unaware because it is hidden under piles of debris, by high grass and in the sewers.

The problem? Rats.

VERY MUCH aware of this problem is the new village sanitarian, Richard Dawson. Dawson, beginning his second month in the newly-created health department post, expressed alarm this week over the growing evidence of rats in the village.

Estimating from outdated Illinois Department of Health figures, Dawson asserts rats can cost a homeowner more than $12 a month in property damage, contamination and disease.

All it takes to create prime conditions for rats is little negligence, Dawson explains. An unmowed vacant lot, a pile of discarded construction materials or uncovered refuse containers — all are invitations for infestation, he warns.

THESE CONDITIONS are ideal for nesting. Dawson pointed out rats make their homes by burrowing in piles of waste and debris. A tour with Dawson of several areas in the village turned up many burrows in which rats were thriving.

A pile of discarded construction materials was stacked seven feet high on a vacant tract at Somerset Lane and Eastman Street. Contractors of a nearby apartment project have since cleaned up the mess at Dawson's request.

Dawson, pointing out an unmowed field and an old stone wall nearby, explained, "Any place we have weeds there is excellent coverage for rats." The old wall, he continued, serves as a protective "runway" for the rodents.

"A rat likes to keep something next to him when he's travelling," said Dawson.

HE ADDED that too often builders fail to clean up their construction areas.

"They should provide a pick-up service and take the debris to the dump," he emphasized. He also stressed that many builders are not aware of the health problems they are causing. And then there are those who just don't care, he added.

Sites' Development On Ballot Saturday

(See additional story, editorial inside.)

Arlington Heights residents will vote Saturday to approve or veto park district plans to develop land acquired through a 1965 referendum.

If carried, the present referendum will authorize the park board to issue General Obligation Bonds totaling $1.75 million. A 9.7 cent per $100 assessed valuation increase in the park tax levy would accompany passage of the referendum, bringing the park tax levy to 39.7 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

PARK BOARD Pres. Charles B. Cronin pointed out that the Arlington Heights Park District is eligible for a grant of up to 50 per cent of the cost of developing openspace land. If the park referendum is okayed, he said, the district will apply for $340,000, half of the $680,000 cost of some development phases.

Funds from the referendum would be used to develop eight park sites, most of which have been acquired with money from the 1965 land acquisition referendum. Park Supt. Thomas Thornton pointed out that if these lands were developed both park area and park facilities would be doubled.

"The park plan doesn't have any frills; it doesn't have a thing in it we don't need," Thornton said.

Cronin, speaking of the impending referendum, said, "We feel this is a natural step, and we feel we have implied approval of it when the taxpayers approved the referendum for acquisition of this land."

THE COMBINED impact of the increase in population, leisure time, automobiles and income has prompted the park district request.

"It is the growth of the village and park district that has brought about these needs. We feel it is the park board's duty to provide park facilities to all the taxpayers. Right now some of the newer and older areas are not being properly served."

Park district officials cite pool attendance figures as an indication of the need for increased facilities. Total swimming attendance has doubled since 1958 when the last pool (Pioneer Park) was built. That year there was a total pool attendance of 116,400. This year's figures show 236,000 swimmers with an average daily pool attendance of 2,713.

THORNTON said, should the referendum not pass, the park may have to put time limits on swimming. During the past few summers, he said, there have been a number of occasions when the pools have been so crowded that admissions have been stopped.

He pointed out, however, that while building the new pools would eliminate some of the crowding problems in Pioneer and Recreation Parks, it would also bring in new areas of the village so that over-all pool attendance figures would jump considerably.

Explaining the theory behind the standard used to determine park location, Thornton said that an attempt had been made to provide community park services to everyone in the village within 1.5 miles of his home. Neighborhood parks, he said, were designed to serve homes within a half mile radius.

PARKS TO be developed with the $1.75 million are:

—A 22.4-acre tract in the Greenbrier-Hasbrook area at Palatine Road and Kennicott Avenue to be developed with a pool, bathhouse, fieldhouse and recreation facilities.

—A 27.3-acre sector in Surrey Ridge on Pickwick Drive and Fernandez Street to be developed with a pool, bathhouse and recreational facilities.

—A 7-acre neighborhood park in Berkley Square subdivision to have a shelter building and athletic facilities.

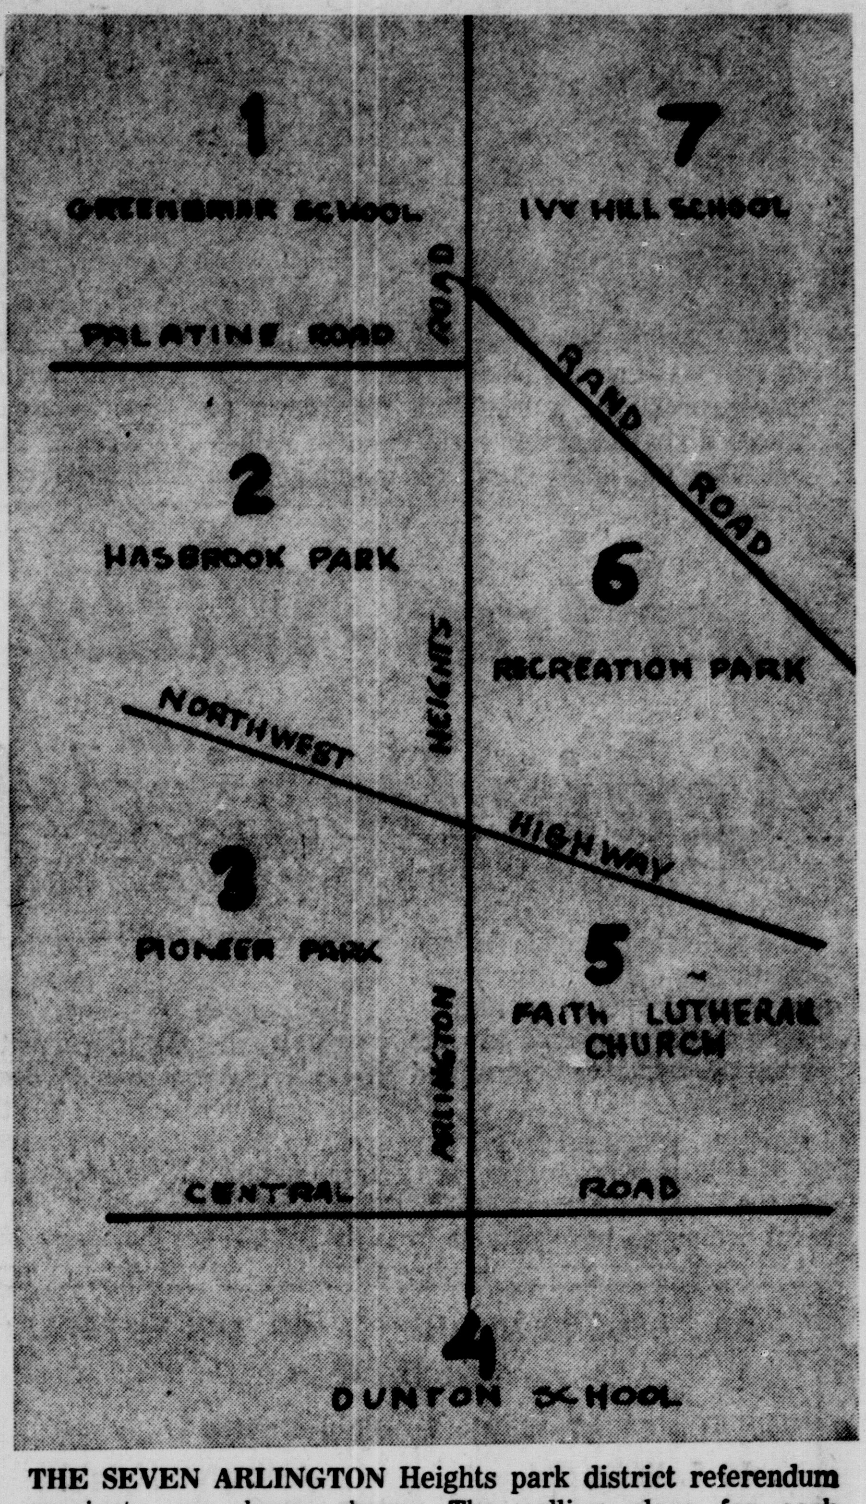
—A 7.5-acre park in Pinegate Subdivision at Belmont Avenue, Douglas Avenue and White Oaks.

—A 10-acre neighborhood park in Forest View at Belmont Avenue, Douglas Avenue and Foster Street to have a small shelter and recreational facilities.

—A 5-acre neighborhood park adjoining Forest View High School.

—A community park and school at Prospect Heights School (District 23) at Palatine and Schoenbeck Roads.

A 1.5-acre neighborhood "tot lot" in Arlington Park Manor Subdivision, at Fairview and McKinley Streets. (Although previously omitted from the list of parks to go in with referendum funds, this park will definitely go in, according to Cronin).



THE SEVEN ARLINGTON Heights park district referendum precincts are shown above. The polling place for each precinct is indicated (Precinct 1: Greenbrier School, etc.) Polls will be open in all precincts from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Call for Tally

Board Okays Library System

A split library board Tuesday night formalized a decision made last week to confirm Arlington Heights' membership in the North Suburban Library System.

The action, termed a technicality by some board members, was nearly hung on a 3-3 vote.

The original decision to confirm membership in the system was made with a minimum quorum of four board members present, three voting for the action and one against it. The formal resolution was considered by the entire board, the two members who had been absent last week both opposing the action.

The final 3-2 vote for the resolution was obtained only after board member Charles Eastman, part of the opposition, agreed to leave the meeting early and thus abstain from voting. Eastman left after a motion by George C. Beacham Jr., to rescind the earlier decision failed in a 3-3 tie. A 4-2 vote was needed for such a motion to pass.

FAVORING system membership, board member Robert Blackburn pointed out the fact that the state is cutting down on its aid to individual libraries and working more and more through the systems.

The resolution indicates the board's principal reservation as being a need for a "clarification of the right of a member library to terminate its membership in the system."

Beacham said he feared loss of local autonomy and questioned the board's moral right to proceed with the action.

"I basically feel that we as elected representatives of this community have a responsibility to the citizens who elected us," he said, "and I don't believe we were chartered to vote any of that responsibility away from us."

"We ought," he continued, "to, in a perplexing situation of this nature, take it back to the community from which we were elected."

BEACHAM proposed that the board hold a referendum to get the people's opinion. He said that while Arlington Heights is not now the key library in the system, it could potentially be within 10 years. At that time, should Arlington Heights want to get out of the system, the state library might be able to coerce it to stay in, he said.

The three board members voting for the resolution all said they felt they were elected to make decisions of this nature.

"I feel we were elected to make other decisions. I believe that we are responsible and that we have been elected and that this community has faith in us," board member Mrs. Natalie Wallace stated.

The break, found six hours after it was reported, was located at Kensington Road and Phelps Avenue. Public works Dir. Eugene Willroth reported no loss of pressure resulted.

Central-Wilke Project Again Denied Approval

The Arlington Heights Village Board again delayed approval of the proposed 40-acre apartment-business development at the southwest corner of Central and Wilke Roads.

Changes, prompted by a letter ty superintendent of highways, left the village planned development ordinance unacceptable to Joseph W. Bernstein, developer of the project.

"This is not the agreement I made Friday morning," Bernstein said, referring to the draft of the ordinance presented to the board by attorney Jack Siegel.

"I DON'T see how any business man can take the risks it states with the possible revocation of building permits," Bernstein continued.

The revised ordinance stipulated that, should the county not put in Wilke Road, the village would have the right to revoke Bernstein's building permits. Siegel said the provision had been included to shift responsibility to the developer that Plummer said lay with the village.

"Somebody has got to be responsible for the installation of the street," Siegel said.

Bernstein said he simply could not take the risk involved. He argued that, with the present wording, he could have his buildings partially constructed and then have the building permit revoked.

"If this clause remains in the ordinance," he said, "I cannot possibly begin construction until the pavement is in."

Siegel said that while he agreed this was a very difficult position to put Bernstein in, there was also the possibility that without the restrictive clause, the buildings might be put in with no provision for streets.

Siegel suggested that the only alternative to the clause providing for revocation of building permits would be a provision that Bernstein pave the streets if the county didn't.

"LOOKING at the language of Plummer's letter, we have to do something like this; a letter of credit or a bond would be all right with me," John G. Woods, village president said.

Bernstein asked that he be given time to consult with his associates before giving the board a definite answer as to his decision on the matter.

The board said the special use permit for a filling station at the southeast corner of Central and relocated Wilke Roads could also be granted before the pavement went in should a letter of credit be deposited.

The matter will come before the board again at the next regular meeting, October 17.

Thornton Tells District's Park Referendum Plans

by Betty Forrester
Staff Writer

Arlington Heights Park Supt. Thomas Thornton in a recent interview described park expansion needs, which, he feels, can be met if the $1,750,000 bond issue passes this Saturday.

The referendum, he said, comes about a year after the $465,000 referendum that approved purchase of the land now proposed for development.

When the park board asked for the land acquisition money in 1965, there was some discussion of including the development program in that referendum, Thornton said. At that time the board decided that acquiring the land was the most important thing it could do.

"THE PRESENT development program is not a sudden thing," he said, adding that the park board has spent a great deal of time planning a park plan that would benefit the most persons possible.

Thornton said conditions now are very similar to those 10 years ago when Arlington Heights residents voted to double park facilities and put in Pioneer Park.

The referendum Saturday if successful, will also "about double park area and facilities."

"This referendum doesn't have a thing in it we don't need," he said as he pointed to a map showing that the area of the park district itself has almost doubled within the past five years.

IN ADDITION to the present referendum and the 1965 and 1956 referenda, there has been only one other park bond issue here in the past 10 years. This fourth referendum was held in 1960 and provided funds to remodel the Recreation Park fieldhouse and install a new bathhouse there. Recreation Park, Thornton pointed out, was originally a WPA project.

Thornton said that although referenda had been passed, the park tax rate had actually increased only slightly. He attributed the minimal increases to the ever-growing assessed valuation of the district.

The park board has computed the estimated cost of the referendum to the homeowner to be 9.7 cents per $100 assessed valuation (assessed valuacent of the market value of a property). This amount, it is estimated, will be reduced to 8.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation in 1967.

Thornton pointed out that after each of the previous referenda, the tax rate increased and then diminished.

Surprisingly New! Superbly Cadillac!

ELDORADO ...world's finest personal car

INTRODUCING THE 1967 STANDARD OF THE WORLD

You are looking at two of the newest luxury cars ever created. They are typical of Cadillac for 1967. The Fleetwood Eldorado—the world's finest personal car—is the first exciting case in point. Eldorado is a styling masterpiece . . . with its spectacularly long hood, its daring new roof lines and its dramatic rear quarter design. It is also an engineering triumph. For Eldorado is the first car in the world to combine the sure-footed traction of front wheel drive with the maneuverability of variable ratio power steering and the balance of automatic level control. And with all its spirit and action, Eldorado provides unusual five-passenger spaciousness and the quietness and comfort that only Cadillac could create. This brilliant newness also marks the Cadillacs you are most familiar with. For they are the most beautiful Cadillacs of all time . . . with a new forward-sweeping grille and a new side contour that flows from front to rear! CLAWING through the pavement with a power back-hoe, a workman digs down to where a six-inch water main burst in Arlington Heights early Monday morning. The break, found six hours after it was reported, was located at Kensington Road and Phelps Avenue. Public works Dir. Eugene Willroth reported no loss of pressure resulted.

Thornton Tells District's Park Referendum Plans

by Betty Forrester
Staff Writer

Arlington Heights Park Supt. Thomas Thornton in a recent interview described park expansion needs, which, he feels, can be met if the $1,750,000 bond issue passes this Saturday.

The referendum, he said, comes about a year after the $465,000 referendum that approved purchase of the land now proposed for development.

When the park board asked for the land acquisition money in 1965, there was some discussion of including the development program in that referendum, Thornton said. At that time the board decided that acquiring the land was the most important thing it could do.

"THE PRESENT development program is not a sudden thing," he said, adding that the park board has spent a great deal of time planning a park plan that would benefit the most persons possible.

Thornton said conditions now are very similar to those 10 years ago when Arlington Heights residents voted to double park facilities and put in Pioneer Park.

The referendum Saturday if successful, will also "about double park area and facilities."

"This referendum doesn't have a thing in it we don't need," he said as he pointed to a map showing that the area of the park district itself has almost doubled within the past five years.

IN ADDITION to the present referendum and the 1965 and 1956 referenda, there has been only one other park bond issue here in the past 10 years. This fourth referendum was held in 1960 and provided funds to remodel the Recreation Park fieldhouse and install a new bathhouse there. Recreation Park, Thornton pointed out, was originally a WPA project.

Thornton said that although referenda had been passed, the park tax rate had actually increased only slightly. He attributed the minimal increases to the ever-growing assessed valuation of the district.

The park board has computed the estimated cost of the referendum to the homeowner to be 9.7 cents per $100 assessed valuation (assessed valuacent of the market value of a property). This amount, it is estimated, will be reduced to 8.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation in 1967.

Thornton pointed out that after each of the previous referenda, the tax rate increased and then diminished.

Central-Wilke Project Again Denied Approval

The Arlington Heights Village Board again delayed approval of the proposed 40-acre apartment-business development at the southwest corner of Central and Wilke Roads.

Changes, prompted by a letter ty superintendent of highways, left the village planned development ordinance unacceptable to Joseph W. Bernstein, developer of the project.

"This is not the agreement I made Friday morning," Bernstein said, referring to the draft of the ordinance presented to the board by attorney Jack Siegel.

"I DON'T see how any business man can take the risks it states with the possible revocation of building permits," Bernstein continued.

The revised ordinance stipulated that, should the county not put in Wilke Road, the village would have the right to revoke Bernstein's building permits. Siegel said the provision had been included to shift responsibility to the developer that Plummer said lay with the village.

"Somebody has got to be responsible for the installation of the street," Siegel said.

Bernstein said he simply could not take the risk involved. He argued that, with the present wording, he could have his buildings partially constructed and then have the building permit revoked.

"If this clause remains in the ordinance," he said, "I cannot possibly begin construction until the pavement is in."

Siegel said that while he agreed this was a very difficult position to put Bernstein in, there was also the possibility that without the restrictive clause, the buildings might be put in with no provision for streets.

Siegel suggested that the only alternative to the clause providing for revocation of building permits would be a provision that Bernstein pave the streets if the county didn't.

"LOOKING at the language of Plummer's letter, we have to do something like this; a letter of credit or a bond would be all right with me," John G. Woods, village president said.

Bernstein asked that he be given time to consult with his associates before giving the board a definite answer as to his decision on the matter.

The board said the special use permit for a filling station at the southeast corner of Central and relocated Wilke Roads could also be granted before the pavement went in should a letter of credit be deposited.

The matter will come before the board again at the next regular meeting, October 17.

Woman Injured By Falling Limb

An Addison woman suffered minor injuries Monday in the midst of gusty winds when a large tree limb fell on her sports car on Euclid Street near Prindle Avenue in Arlington Heights.

Judith Rasmassen, 26, of 175 Villa, was treated for a cut nose and released from Northwest Community Hospital.

Miss Rasmassen told police the limb fell unexpectedly and she was unable to avoid it. (A Surprisingly New! Superbly Cadillac!

ELDORADO ...world's finest personal car

INTRODUCING THE 1967 STANDARD OF THE WORLD

You are looking at two of the newest luxury cars ever created. They are typical of Cadillac for 1967. The Fleetwood Eldorado—the world's finest personal car—is the first exciting case in point. Eldorado is a styling masterpiece . . . with its spectacularly long hood, its daring new roof lines and its dramatic rear quarter design. It is also an engineering triumph. For Eldorado is the first car in the world to combine the sure-footed traction of front wheel drive with the maneuverability of variable ratio power steering and the balance of automatic level control. And with all its spirit and action, Eldorado provides unusual five-passenger spaciousness and the quietness and comfort that only Cadillac could create. This brilliant newness also marks the Cadillacs you are most familiar with. For they are the most beautiful Cadillacs of all time . . . with a new forward-sweeping grille and a new side contour that flows from front to rear! And with this new Cadillac look come a number of other achievements...the most luxurious interiors in history...a new generously padded instrument panel...a more responsive Cadillac engine . . . improved variable ratio power steering . . . and a new General Motors-developed energy absorbing steering column. Discover Cadillac for 1967 for yourself...at your authorized dealer's. Guilfoil Returns From D.C. Honors

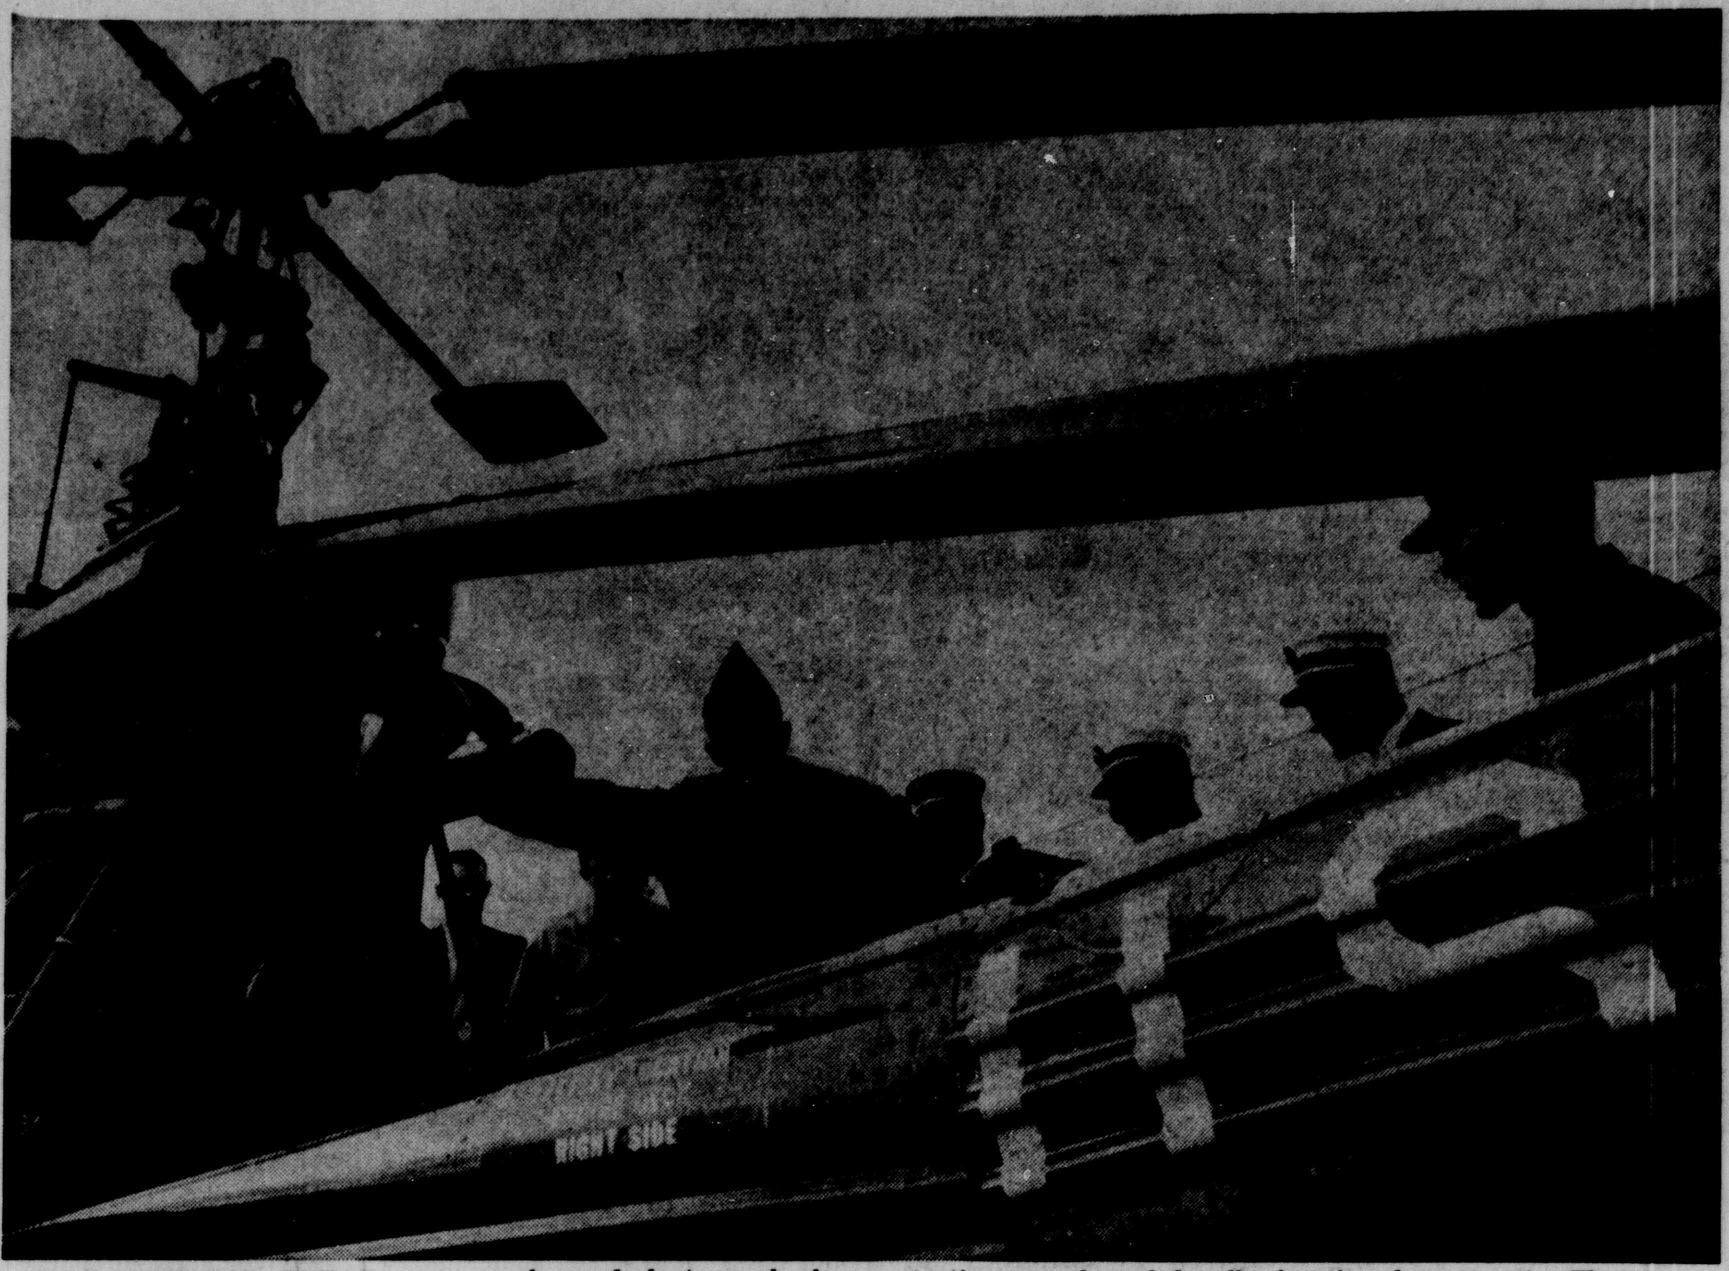
Dwight D. Guilfoil, Jr., will return to Arlington Heights today (Thursday) from Washington, D.C., where he and other leaders of veterans organizations were honored by the President at a White House reception Tuesday night.

As president of Paraplegics Manufacturing Co., Inc., Guilfoil, 633 S. Burton Place, was also honored in his home village in conjunction with "Employ the Handicapped Week." The village board formally commended Guilfoil at Monday night's meeting.

FIFTEEN YEARS ago Guilfoil and a group of World War II paraplegic veterans founded the company to provide gainful employment to the physically handicapped. The plant has since moved from Arlington Heights and is now on a 2.5 acre site in Bensenville.

Since its founding the company has produced over $6.5 million worth of goods and paid $3.5 million in wages as well as $250,000 in taxes. Nearly 100 physically handicapped individuals have been employed by it.



FIRE-FIGHTING IDEAS were exchanged last week by soldiers from U.S. Army missile bases in the Chicago area and the Arlington Heights fire department. About 43 Army personnel attended a two-day series of fire-fighting demonstrations conducted locally by the department. The Army brought in a helicopter to show how the aircraft can be used in rescuing persons trapped by fire. (Staff Photo)

Ballots Topic For GOP Group

"White Ballot, Pink Ballot, Blue and Green Ballots" will be the topic for discussion at the monthly meeting tonight of the Wheeling Township Young Republicans.

The 8 p.m. session at Arlington Federal Savings and Loan building is designed to shed some light on the ballots that will be given to the voter on Nov. 8. (A

Village Will Get 1,000 New Trees

The toll of trees taken by this summer's tornado and Dutch Elm Disease will be partially offset by 1,000 plantings within the next two or three weeks.

The Arlington Heights Village Board Monday accepted a bid for the tree planting submitted by Charles Klehm Nurseries, Arlington Heights. Prices of the trees ranged from $14.75 to $20. Varieties included in the specifications were Norway Maple, Sugar Maple, European Sycamore, Green Ash, Golden Rain, Katsura, and Ginkgo.

Only one bid was received.

VILLAGE MGR. L. A. Hanson told the board that although only one bid had been submitted, he had had a chance to compare the figures in the Klehm bid with those in bids received by neighboring communities.

"This is a really good bid," he said, noting that other communities were paying as much as $5 more per tree.

"Actually a couple of years ago we were paying more for these trees," he said.

Hanson also said Klehm Nurseries had provided the village with good service in the past. "If a tree goes bad you don't get any double talk about how it wasn't their fault," he said.

HANSON SAID that 90 trees have died of Dutch Elm Disease this summer. He also said the village is still trimming and cabling trees damaged in the June tornado.

Owners of property where the trees will be planted will be notified by the village.

Hanson said he would ask property owners to cooperate by watering the new trees. He said people also would be asked to not put any commercial fertilizer on the tree during the first year. (A

Adult Community Plan Back Oct. 17

Plans for a smaller "adult and retirement" community on the village's north side will come before the Arlington Heights Board of Trustees Oct. 17.

The developer, Randhaven Terrace, Inc., originally sought multiple - family (R-5) zoning for 60 acres southeast of Wilke and Rand Roads before annexation to the village.

THE PLAN commission last week trimmed 32 acres from the petitioner's request for multiple family zoning. They recommended single family (R-3) zoning for the south parcel and R-5 zoning for the 28-acre parcel on the north.

The tract is divided by seven acres owned by the Commonwealth Edison Co.

Commissioners contended that the south part of the property is presently ringed by single-family zoning. To rezone it for apartments, they said, would be inconsistent with future development plans for the area.

OBJECTIONS TO the multiple-family zoning by residents of Greenbrier subdivision were quelled by the commission's new recommendations. The southernmost parcel abuts the subdivision.

Greenbrier residents contended that the adult community would create heavy traffic through the subdivision. They contended they did not want to be hemmed in by apartments.

Commissioners also strongly discouraged commercial development of a strip fronting Rand Road. Randhaven developers had tentatively planned a small shopping center on the 200-foot wide property.

COMMISSION members pointed out that the land was too narrow for commercial development and high-speed traffic on Rand Road made it unfeasible.

Future Randhaven Terrace residents are expected to be restricted to couples 45 and older who have no children. (A

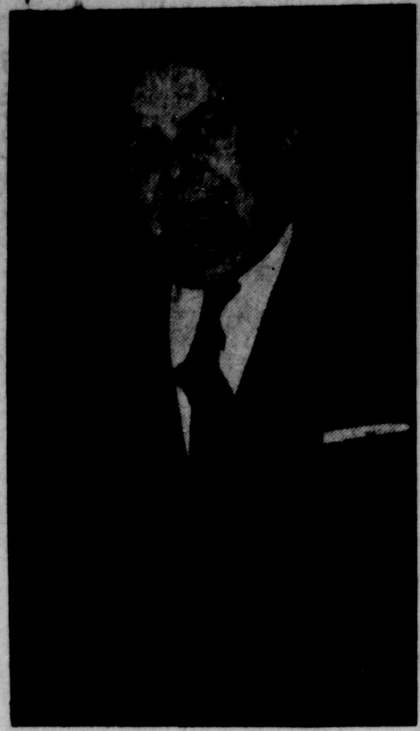
Winkelman Service on Wednesday



Services were held yesterday afternoon at St. Peter Lutheran Church for former fire chief and life-long resident of Arlington Heights, Elroy J. Winkelman. Burial was in Ridgewood Cemetery.

Winkelman, 63, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack suffered in his home at 529 S. Dunton Ave. He served as fire chief from 1948 to 1958 and upon retirement was named fire chief emeritus.

Winkelman also was owner and operator of Winkelman's Bike Shop, 115 E. Davis St., for the past 40 years.

Surviving are a son, Elroy, Jr., a brother, Harold, and a daughter, Mrs. Janet Hyngstrom. Winkelman's wife, Helene, died last year. (A

Olive Improvement Okayed by BOLI

The Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) Tuesday awarded a contract to Meyer Paving Co., Skokie, for improvement of Olive Street. Final approval of the contract is pending appropriations for additional funds from the board of trustees.

Meyer Paving Co. bid $38,311 for the project, the lowest of three bidders.

BOLI PRESIDENT Sam Rudder told members that Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson advised him the project could be moved ahead as planned. An additional $4,500 from the village public benefit fund would supplement the $34,500 available for construction, Rudder said.

Appropriations from the village will prevent requiring additional assessments against property owners on Olive Street.

THE BIDS, the second set for the project, covered underground improvements to be put in within 90 consecutive calendar days of the commencement of the contract. The surface improvement would be completed by June 1, 1967.

The first set of bids, advertised earlier this summer, would have required the entire improvement to be put in by this fall. (A

YOUR FEET ARE TRULY IMPORTANT
Few people give any thought to their feet until they begin to be a problem. A recent survey disclosed that you are probably walking many more miles than you think.

HOW MANY MILES DO YOU WALK DAILY?
Dr. Scholl's Walk-Meters recorded the following:
Housewife — 8½ miles; Sales Clerk — 8 miles
Policeman — 14 miles; Chorus Girl — 7 miles
Doctor — 2¾ miles; Waiter — 12½ miles
Business Executive — 1 mile
Golfer — 18 holes — 8½ miles
School Boy at play — 15 miles
Lady Shopper at Christmas — 18 miles
No wonder some people have such tired feet.

HOW TO HAVE HAPPIER FEET
Try this for one week. Each night bathe them in lukewarm water with a medicated, antiseptic foot soap to overcome the accumulated perspiration. Next run some cold water over your feet to increase circulation. Dry them and gently rub in a healing foot balm that helps prevents future corns and calluses. The improvement will astonish you. Follow this plan at least one week in every month.

WE HAVE MANY HELPFUL FOOT-AIDS
We can guide your selection of good products. If you have any foot problems, which do not require a podiatrist or medical attention, visit us soon.

Forget that Gas is cheaper.

(Remember you're in command with a gas range.)

A gas range never tries to take over and boss you. When you turn it on, it responds instantly with full heat. And off means OFF. No lingering heat to overcook your food.

What's more, you can see what you're doing. You can adjust the flame to any degree of heat you want. That's one reason why nearly all professional chefs like to cook with gas.

And a gas range is the only kind that doesn't smoke when it broils.

One more point: Who wants a fair-weather friend? Gas is dependable. You can count on it to cook your meals (and keep your kitchen cozy) no matter how much it sleets, snows or blows. The handsome new gas ranges are on display at your dealer's and at our stores. See them now.

Winkelman Service on Wednesday

Services were held yesterday afternoon at St. Peter Lutheran Church for former fire chief and life-long resident of Arlington Heights, Elroy J. Winkelman. Burial was in Ridgewood Cemetery.

Winkelman, 63, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack suffered in his home at 529 S. Dunton Ave. He served as fire chief from 1948 to 1958 and upon retirement was named fire chief emeritus.

Winkelman also was owner and operator of Winkelman's Bike Shop, 115 E. Davis St., for the past 40 years.

Surviving are a son, Elroy, Jr., a brother, Harold, and a daughter, Mrs. Janet Hyngstrom. Winkelman's wife, Helene, died last year. (A

Olive Improvement Okayed by BOLI

The Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) Tuesday awarded a contract to Meyer Paving Co., Skokie, for improvement of Olive Street. Final approval of the contract is pending appropriations for additional funds from the board of trustees.

Meyer Paving Co. bid $38,311 for the project, the lowest of three bidders.

BOLI PRESIDENT Sam Rudder told members that Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson advised him the project could be moved ahead as planned. An additional $4,500 from the village public benefit fund would supplement the $34,500 available for construction, Rudder said.

Appropriations from the village will prevent requiring additional assessments against property owners on Olive Street.

THE BIDS, the second set for the project, covered underground improvements to be put in within 90 consecutive calendar days of the commencement of the contract. The surface improvement would be completed by June 1, 1967.

The first set of bids, advertised earlier this summer, would have required the entire improvement to be put in by this fall. (A

AT THE HEAD OF THE parade and on top of the world, Arlington High's homecoming King Larry Malcolmson, 726 S. Highland Ave., and Queen Sue Chodera, 1216 Marion Road, had smiles for everyone as they rode through the village Friday. Behind them trailed a procession of floats, bandsmen, Coronets and baton twirlers in a flourish of homecoming enthusiasm. The high pitch of spirit carried over through Friday night's 28-0 victory over Conant High. (A

Nursing Home Plans Near Hospital Still Unsettled

Plans for a 78-bed nursing home near the Northwest Community Hospital were left in the air Monday night by Arlington Heights trustees.

Board hesitancy in granting the requested zoning change stemmed from the fact that there was no assurance that the nursing home asking for the change, Americana Nursing Homes, Inc., would operate the proposed nursing home.

"I AM NOT at all disposed toward this type of zoning if I am not assured that a reputable outfit is going to build there," Village Pres. John G. Woods said.

He and other trustees also voiced concern over the lack of endorsement of the home by the Northwest Community Hospital.

"I had hoped we could have some direct expression from the hospital as to their reaction to the total project," Woods said.

Trustee Roy Bressler agreed that he also was "not quite satisfied with the letter from the hospital."

ATTORNEY Howard Borde, representing the nursing home interests said, "This thing is dragging and it's not our fault. If the hospital is concerned, they should get in here and so state. They've had ample opportunity."

Borde further said his client's contract for purchase of the land would expire on Oct. 15.

W. H. Stocking, a representative from the nursing home, said he could not promise the board that Americana would use the land. He said he had not yet been able to get the necessary mortgage arrangement.

THE BOARD asked Stocking to come back with a more definite answer at a special meeting Monday.

On recommendation of Trustee John White, the board instructed the attorney to draft the zoning ordinance with the safeguards that (1) the nursing home would be operated by Americana and (2) the building would be built in compliance with plans shown the board by Stocking. The ordinance will come before the board Monday.

At that time the board will also consider a medical center proposed for a location immediately east of the proposed nursing home. (A

Attorney's Report Splits 'The People'

A debate last week sponsored by the Arlington Heights Community Council (Comco) apparently has sparked some dissension among members of The People, a group seeking to change the form of local government.

The disagreement reportedly grew out of a presentation by Howard Sorenson, legal adviser to The People, in which he disclosed that the group would push for a village-by-district rather than a city form of local government.

SORENSON'S disclosure surprised those attending the meeting as well as village trustee John Walsh, who had come prepared to debate with Sorenson on village versus mayoral-aldermanic administration. But it was even more of a surprise to most members of The People, according to reports.

Though Sorenson never said the village-by-district form of government was the new goal of The People, it was generally understood he was representing the group in the debate.

HERB WITTKE, chairman of the group's executive board, declined to comment on the reports, but did acknowledge there could be "a difference of opinion."

"We haven't met since the community council meeting last Thursday," Wittke said Tuesday, "so there isn't much to say now."

IN HIS PRESENTATION before COMCO, Sorenson showed slides illustrating what he termed "lopsided geographic representation" in the village during the past five years. The slides showed where various present and past board members have lived.

Sorenson, showing another slide illustrating possible districting of the village, contended better geographical representation would be provided if voters in a given area elected their own representative to the board of trustees.

State statute provides for installation of such village government, Sorenson noted. This type, however, is not commonly used.

WALSH, obviously bristling over Sorenson's turnabout, criticized city form government, even though it was no longer the issue.

"On objective merit I can find no justification for city-form government," Walsh said, "since all its advantages run contrary to the needs of Arlington Heights."

Before and after his presentation, Walsh expressed distress over Sorenson's newly - announced topic.

"That (city government) was the subject I was asked to debate," Walsh remarked. "And that was what I came prepared to debate." (A

Heller Home Tour Set October 23

The Historical Society of Arlington Heights has scheduled a tour of the Heller home, 514 N. Dunton Ave., for Oct. 23.

Mrs. John Shubeck, 626 N. Douglas Ave., chairman of last weekend's tour of the Bray home, said the great interest shown in the Heller home has prompted the society's plans for a tour of it. Both homes are located at the site of the new library.

The Heller home tour, she said, would be a one-day affair with historical exhibits and tour guides similar to those at the two-day Bray home tour.

MRS. REX VOLZ, 311 N. Reuter Ave., society treasurer, said there were between 1,400 and 1,500 persons at the Bray home for the tours. The event raised about $500 for the museum, she said.

The registration list shows visitors from Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Indiana, Florida, Colorado and Czechoslavokia.

Mrs. Volz said the tour attracted both long-time residents and new residents. (A

If you can't afford Color TV just yet, don't go out and watch your neighbors'. It you do, eventually your black and white set will become so disappointing that you'll go right out and bust your budget on a new color set.

Color isn't a gadget. Color is a whole dimension by itself. You miss the sound when it goes off and, if you watch color TV regularly, you miss this extra dimension when you don't have it.

Of course, color won't change your mind about a lousy program or make the Beatles sound any different, but the extra dimension of color might make it tolerable. And the color commercials about food will increase that budget, too.

But, when you get right down to the basic enjoyment of any TV set, the screen must be clear and in focus. This is where we come into the picture — LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. THE NOW CARS

The NOW Cars. More than just "new" cars. The Now Cars are designed from scratch for today's driving by today's drivers. They are cars on top of today, from a company on top of today: The 1967 American Motors. 1967 is the year we've been planning for, pointing toward. The year we bring you cars full of today's spirit, bursting with today's ideas. Cars with more room, more power, more safety; cars more exciting than any we've ever built! The Now Cars.

Engines for Now. Three sixes that go like eights—and four V-8s that weren't here a year ago. The most modern engines in the industry, from an acceleration champ Six to the 343 cu. in. 4-bbl. Typhoon V-8.

Innovations for Now. Convertibles that are true six-seaters. Wink lights visible from the side and rally lights that herald your approach. A road-smoothing 4-link rear suspension—the first time ever with a single-unit body—to tame back-country roads.

Safety for Now. Every car from the 1967 American Motors includes: the long-awaited energy-absorbing steering column and deep-dish wheel; warning signal light to monitor both brake line systems; shoulder belt anchor plates; and the Double-Safety braking system we made standard five years before the rest of the industry. All built into solid, single-unit bodies.

Quality for Now. Our past is one of quality. Quality built in—like the Deep-Dip rustproofing and Ceramic-Armored exhaust systems pioneered by American Motors. And when quality is built in, the value stays in.

See your American Motors/Rambler Dealer today. He's the only Now Car dealer in town.

And now—this great new warranty.

In addition to 2-year or 24,000-mile warranty on the entire automobile. American Motors Corporation warrants the engine block, head and internal parts, water pump, intake manifold, transmission case and internal parts (except manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle, differential and rear wheel bearings of its 1967 cars to be free from defects in material or workmanship for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first. The owner must change the engine oil and install new oil filter every six (6) months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, clean oil filler cap (filtered type) and carburetor air cleaner element every 4,000 miles and replace it every 24,000 miles and furnish evidence of this service to an Authorized American Motors Dealer every six (6) months and have him certify its receipt and the car's mileage. Further, American Motors Corporation so warrants the remainder of the car for 2 years or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, except tires (warranted by tire manufacturer). Any part so defective, will be repaired or replaced, in accordance with the applicable portion of the warranty, without charge at an Authorized American Motors Dealership. Owners are responsible for deterioration, misuse and normal maintenance.

5-YEAR OR 50,000-MILE WARRANTY
5/50,000

THE NOW CARS

The NOW Cars. More than just "new" cars. The Now Cars are designed from scratch for today's driving by today's drivers. They are cars on top of today, from a company on top of today: The 1967 American Motors. 1967 is the year we've been planning for, pointing toward. The year we bring you cars full of today's spirit, bursting with today's ideas. Cars with more room, more power, more safety; cars more exciting than any we've ever built! The Now Cars.

Engines for Now. Three sixes that go like eights—and four V-8s that weren't here a year ago. The most modern engines in the industry, from an acceleration champ Six to the 343 cu. in. 4-bbl. Typhoon V-8.

Innovations for Now. Convertibles that are true six-seaters. Wink lights visible from the side and rally lights that herald your approach. A road-smoothing 4-link rear suspension—the first time ever with a single-unit body—to tame back-country roads.

Safety for Now. Every car from the 1967 American Motors includes: the long-awaited energy-absorbing steering column and deep-dish wheel; warning signal light to monitor both brake line systems; shoulder belt anchor plates; and the Double-Safety braking system we made standard five years before the rest of the industry. All built into solid, single-unit bodies.

Quality for Now. Our past is one of quality. Quality built in—like the Deep-Dip rustproofing and Ceramic-Armored exhaust systems pioneered by American Motors. And when quality is built in, the value stays in.

See your American Motors/Rambler Dealer today. He's the only Now Car dealer in town.

And now—this great new warranty.

In addition to 2-year or 24,000-mile warranty on the entire automobile. American Motors Corporation warrants the engine block, head and internal parts, water pump, intake manifold, transmission case and internal parts (except manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle, differential and rear wheel bearings of its 1967 cars to be free from defects in material or workmanship for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first. The owner must change the engine oil and install new oil filter every six (6) months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, clean oil filler cap (filtered type) and carburetor air cleaner element every 4,000 miles and replace it every 24,000 miles and furnish evidence of this service to an Authorized American Motors Dealer every six (6) months and have him certify its receipt and the car's mileage. Further, American Motors Corporation so warrants the remainder of the car for 2 years or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, except tires (warranted by tire manufacturer). Any part so defective, will be repaired or replaced, in accordance with the applicable portion of the warranty, without charge at an Authorized American Motors Dealership. Owners are responsible for deterioration, misuse and normal maintenance.

5-YEAR OR 50,000-MILE WARRANTY
5/50,000
ON THE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN

Quality built in—so the value stays in.

REBEL Now, the first Excitement Machines in the intermediate class! A 114" wheelbase. Excitement that's 197" long, 78" wide, 54" high. A choice of five engines, topped by a 343 cu. in. Paddock Again Judged 'Best in State'

Receive Nine State Awards

Nine state press awards, including Illinois' highest distinction for editorial achievement, were won Friday by Paddock Publications in the annual newspaper contest sponsored by Illinois Press Association.

For the second time in two years, Paddock won the Will Loomis Memorial Trophy—top honor in the annual competition.

This is the first time a newspaper has received the Loomis Trophy consecutively under the terms of eligibility. Because Paddock won the award in 1964, it was ineligible to compete last year.

Other awards presented to Paddock at the IPA's 101st annua convention in Springfield:

—first place for best editorial page;

—first place for best use of illustrative material (photographs);

—first place for best women's pages;

—first place for newspaper promotion;

—first place for best advertising idea;

—second place for general excellence;

—second place for best sports coverage;

—second place for classified advertising; and —honorable mention for community service.

All awards, including the Loomis Trophy, were made to the Arlington Heights Herald, parent paper of the Paddock group. By contest rules, all newspapers under the same ownership must be entered in the circulation class of the group's largest paper.

More than 900 Illinois newspapers competed in the 1966 contest.

Established in 1949 by the Cook County Suburban Publishers Association in memory of the former publisher of the La Grange Citizen, the Loomis Trophy is awarded each year to the outstanding Illinois newspaper for editorial excellence. The winner is determined on the basis of points scored in strictly editorial classes of the state newspaper contest: general excellence, editorial writing, editorial page, original column writing, photojournalism, community service, news writing, women's page, sports coverage, and feature writing.

Runner-up in the Loomis competition was the Evanston Review.

IN MOST divisions of the 1966 Illinois Newspaper Contest, Paddock Publications competed with daily as well as larger circulation weekly and semi-weekly newspapers. The second place award in general excellence was made in Division C—weekly, semi-weekly, and tri-weekly newspapers with circulation over 5,000. First place went to the Evanston Review.

The 1966 awards bring to more than 200 the total number of state and national press honors earned by Paddock Publications since 1955.

Commenting on the Herald's entries, judges said:

—on editorial page, "Impressive were the good local editorials, columns and cartoons, and the large number of letters to the editor. Makeup is most attractive and readability was exceptionally good."

—on general excellence, "This is a complete newspaper that, despite its size, does not lose the interest of its readers. In addition to excellent community coverage, its complete sections on sports, suburban living and real estate give a big city thoroughness to the publication. It is an attractive newspaper, well edited, with an overwhelming variety of feature stories and special columns."

—on community service, "How anyone could oppose the Arlington Heights library referendum after weeks with Dan Baumann, we don't know. Excellent use of photos, editorials and information for the public."

—on illustrative material, "The Herald is pretty much the standout. A huge publication, it used a great many illustrations throughout. Many of the pictures were excellent, using imaginative photography and high impact interest. The layout was varied and produced an intelligent, interesting reading pattern. The reproduction was generally very good."

—on sports coverage, "Four sports writers do a thorough job in these issues, not only in basketball but also gymnastics, bowling, track, wrestling, swimming and other sports. Many area high schools are well covered. Short, crisp leads are used to lure readership."

—on classified advertising, "Rivals the best of the metropolitan press in putting out a well organized classified section. Reflects a lot of effort and selling. It is orderly and neat; its classifed display is well done."

—on best advertising idea, "The Real Estate Section cover advertisements were considered to be the best advertising idea of the entries judged. The campaign idea for this series of ads is fresh and unique, incorporating interesting illustrations and challenging headlines. The copy is well-written and develops a measure of continuity for the following ads contained in the section. The dominance and human-interest value of the illustration serve as an effective focus of reader attention.

In competition for best women's pages, other winners were Ottawa Daily Republican-Times, second place, and Canton Daily Ledger, third place. In photojournalism judging, second place went to Belvidere Daily Republican, third place to Waukegan News-Sun, and honorable mention to Kankakee Daily Journal.

Accepting the awards in behalf of Paddock Publications at the IPA convention were vice presidents Robert Y. Paddock and Stuart R. Paddock Jr.

WELCOME HOME—Will Loomis Memorial Trophy is restored to its place of honor in Paddock Publications office foyer by Daniel E. Baumann, managing editor of the chain, and David H. Crippen, news editor of Arlington Heights Herald. Trophy is awarded annually by Illinois Press Association to top winner in the state newspaper contest. Recipient in 1964, Paddock was not eligible in 1965. It was awarded the 1966 honor at the IPA convention Friday in Springfield. (Staff Photo)

Traffic Lights Are Delayed to Spring

Traffic signals, slated for fall construction at Palatine and Schoenbeck Roads in Prospect Heights, won't be installed until spring.

That was the word received Tuesday from Richard Golderman, assistant superintendent of the Cook County Highway Department.

Plans for the project, which involves modification of the corner and street lighting for the area, won't be completed until the middle of this month, Golderman said.

BECAUSE motor fuel tax money will pay for the installation, the plans must also be approved by the state highway department.

"That should be forthcoming by mid-November," Golderman said, "and we should get the job under contract shortly thereafter."

"However," Golderman went on, "the weather at that time is not conducive to construction and we will have to wait until it breaks before we can get started. That should be between March 15 and April 1."

"We had hoped to have started before this," he explained, "but we don't want to do a hasty job. We want to do a good job, not a poor one."

THE INTERSECTION is a major safety hazard for children attending District 23 schools located at the south west corner.

Prospect Heights school officials in May accepted a county plan for a pedestrian overpass at the site. However, drawings of the project showed a barricade of Schoenbeck Road at Palatine, which set off a storm of community opposition to the plan.

Under the direction of the Prospect Heights Improvement Association, 800 residents signed petitions objecting to the closing of Schoenbeck, and requesting traffic signals.

Last month, county highway officials decided in favor of the stop lights and had planned to have them installed by "October or November."

We Endorse Park Issue

Taxpayers are being asked by the Arlington Heights Park District for $1,750,000 to develop eight new park sites.

The park district's bond issue calls for a 9.7 cent increase on the current tax rate of 30 cents. The proposed boost, park officials estimate, would decrease by 1.2 cents in 1967 because of an expected $20,000,000 increase in the over-all assessed valuation, which is now $145,000,000.

Also contributing to the trimming of this proposed tax rate in 1967 is a prediction that a federal grant of $680,000 of the cost for certain phases of park development. However, the district will remain ineligible for the grant until voters approve the referendum.

A great deal of skepticism surrounds the question of whether the bond issue will be successful. Current economic conditions—characterized by inflation and a relatively heavy local tax burden—are bound to make taxpayers less responsive to any requests for increased taxes.

This mood of the taxpayers was demonstrated very clearly Sept. 24 when Elementary District 25's tax referendum met with failure.

We support the park bond issue for several reasons—reasons which, we feel, justify a tax increase, even in times when "referendum" is a bad word.

It is generally agreed adequate recreational facilities are of the utmost importance to any community. To a municipality the size of Arlington Heights they are especially important, for they reflect the importance residents place on the emotional and physical well-being of their families.

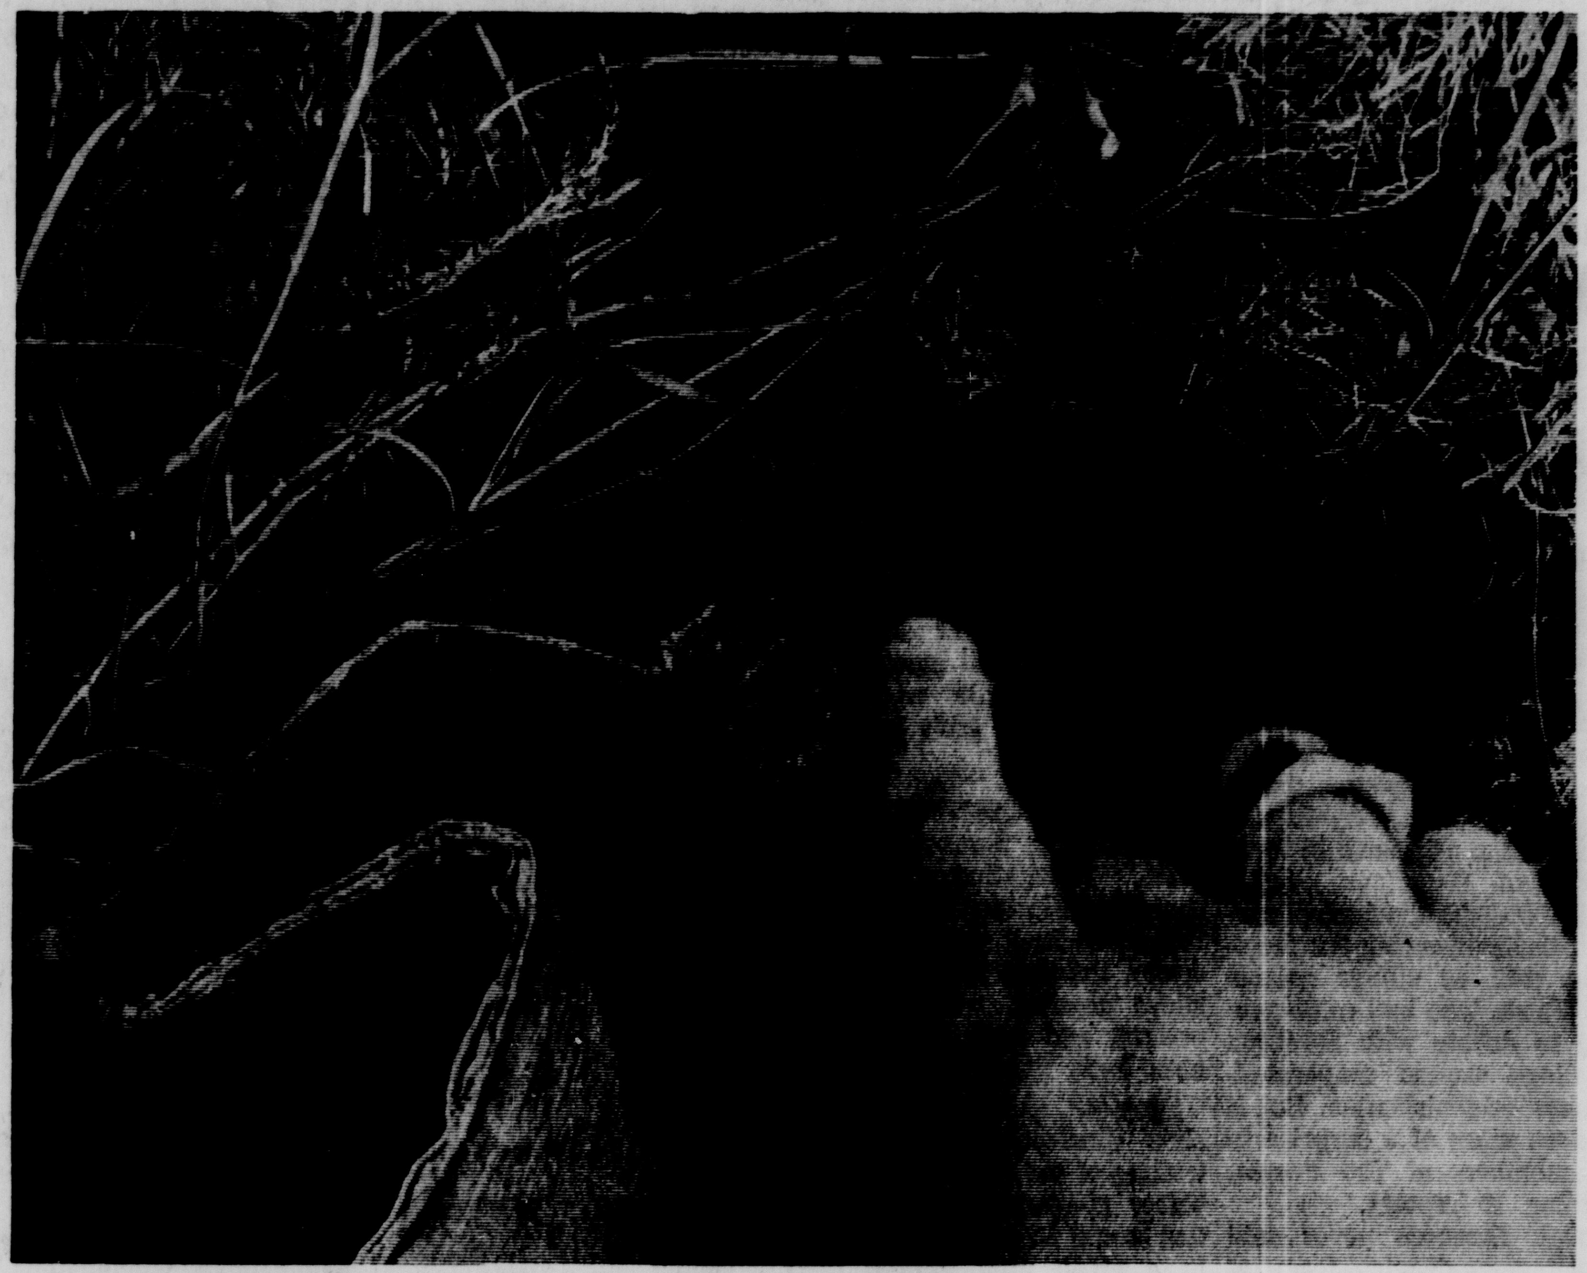
Though local park facilities, currently consisting of two major community parks and several smaller neighborhood parks, have been adequate, the village is rapidly outgrowing them. The two pools now in the district, for instance, have been badly overcrowded during the past few summers.

Park Supt. Thomas Thornton warns that if the two additional pools called for in the referendum are not provided, it is likely that by 1968 swimmers would have to cool off in shifts.

The proposed eight park developments would provide not only more pools, but badly needed recreational facilities. Of the eight sites, two would be developed as community parks and the rest as neighborhood parks.

It is, perhaps, redundant to outline the reasons why Arlington Heights needs more park facilities. Voters last year saw these needs and approved a referendum for acquisition of new park sites. But this approval constitutes nothing unless the means to develop the sites are provided.

Voters gave the park district the power to begin the job in 1965. It is now time to give the district authority to finish the job. We urge a "yes" vote Saturday.



EVIDENCE OF RAT infestation can easily be found in Arlington Heights. The finger of village sanitarian Richard Dawson points to a hole being used by rats as a burrow. The burrow was found beneath a pile of rubbish and dirt located on a vacant lot. Similar conditions conducive to rat nesting have been found elsewhere in the village.

Arlington Warned Of Rats Problem

around the new Airy Trace subdivision also turned up likely conditions for infestation. At Highland Avenue and Cedar Street, for instance, construction waste was stacked in a vacant parcel of land covered by high grass.

And at Golf Road and Milbrook Lane, adjacent on the south to Surrey Ridge, building debris was piled almost 20 feet high, creating a mound that looked like a miniature volcano.

BUT BUILDERS are not the only offenders. Both merchants and homeowners tend to be careless about disposal of waste.

A vacant lot at Brown Street and Race Avenue has been used for some time as a virtual garbage dump by residents in the area. The lot is shrouded by unkept bushes and high weeds, and carries evidence of trash burning.

While inspecting the lot, Dawson warned an unsuspecting resident who was intending to discard some trash that unauthorized dumping could bring a fine of from $5 to $500.

"Let's face it," Dawson told the man, "if a rat bites a child you're not going to find it. And this means the child must endure a series of painful rabies shots."

Later, Dawson explained what it takes to bolster local defenses against rat infestation.

"It all boils down to one word — education," he explained. "Health is not an individual problem, it is a community problem."

AMONG THE worst areas of rat infestation is the unkept sections of the railroad right-of-way, according to Dawson. For instance, a close look at the right-of-way adjacent to a Chicago and North Western Railway siding, just east of Northwest Highway and Euclid Street, showed widespread evidence of rats.

Some residents have even reported seeing rats scurrying across the Northwest Highway at night.

The 150 miles of sewers in the village, Dawson explained, serves as a "highway" for rats. A subsequent investigation of several sewer lines showed the creatures were using these odor-ridden thoroughfares to get around town.

A rat doesn't need a break in the sewer line to gain entrance. Dawson pointed out that a rat must gnaw to keep down the length of its teeth. So tough are these teeth that the rat can gnaw right through lead pipes and concrete.

Dawson contends there are adequate provisions in the village code to erase conditions for infestation. The key is to provide more enforcement and education.

"I don't want to put anybody on the carpet," he stresses. "I just want to help clean it up."

AND TO HELP rid Arlington Heights of the problem, Dawson proposes the following program:

—contractors should attempt to eliminate construction debris;

—weeds should be kept cut on vacant property;

—an effort should be made to inform the public on proper care of property and on safe disposal of garbage;

—two cleanup weeks — one in the spring and one in the aall — should be sponsored to emphasize the importance of safe, sanitary conditions.

A rat doesn't need a break in the sewer line to gain entrance. Dawson pointed out that a rat must gnaw to keep down the length of its teeth. So tough are these teeth that the rat can gnaw right through lead pipes and concrete.

Dawson contends there are adequate provisions in the village code to erase conditions for infestation. The key is to provide more enforcement and education.

"I don't want to put anybody on the carpet," he stresses. "I just want to help clean it up."

AND TO HELP rid Arlington Heights of the problem, Dawson proposes the following program:

—contractors should attempt to eliminate construction debris;

—weeds should be kept cut on vacant property;

—an effort should be made to inform the public on proper care of property and on safe disposal of garbage;

—two cleanup weeks — one in the spring and one in the aall — should be sponsored to emphasize the importance of safe, sanitary conditions.

Approve Plans For Apartments

The Arlington Heights Village Board Monday gave its stamp of approval to a proposed four-story apartment building at the corner of Salem Avenue and Eastman Street.

Board approval of both the plan development and rezoning was given with the condition that the building be set back not less than 50 feet from the road. Developer Joseph W. Bernstein had originally proposed a 36 foot set back.

The new distance was agreeable to Bernstein.

Owners Requested To Move Building

Arlington Heights trustees decided Monday night that the little brick building at the corner of Vail Avenue and Davis Street must go if downtown beautification is to progress.

The building, owned by the estate of the late Edward R. Silk, is located on village property. The property is leased to the building's owners on a 30-day lease arrangement for $75 a month.

THE BOARD decided to give the owners 120 days to move the building.

The building was built at its present location about 1928 by the Arlington Elevator and Coal Co. '

According to an account written by George Schneberger, the building was originally the product of a city beautification project.

In 1928, Schneberger said, Bert Lautermilk proposed that the downtown appearance be improved and promised to put up a fountain in the park if the elevator and freight house south of the tracks were taken down.

THE ARLINGTON Elevator and Coal Co. immediately tore down its elevator and put the new office building up.

The new office building of some 30-plus years ago is the building that will be moved soon. It is now used by Dr. Royal F. Fitch. (A

Evergreen Project Delayed by BOLI

Drawing up a new project for the improvement of Evergreen Avenue was delayed until Oct. 27 by the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) Tuesday.

The delay came when a developer of the property south of St. James Catholic Church, submitted engineering plans to do the work by private contractor. That area had been included for special assessment by BOLI engineers.

BOLI voted last week to abandon the original Evergreen project and redraw the plans. This action was taken after the Board of Trustees decided to vacate that portion of Evergreen Avenue passing through the playground of St. James Junior High School.

BOLI member, Harold Klingner called the village proposal an "ambiguous" resolution. He contended that the village board failed to specify a 30-foot easement for underground utilities.

Without this specification, he said, "everyone in the village could drive across the property."

A committee was formed to review the plans of the developer, John Waters, for the 122-foot property south of the church. The committee is expected to report back at the Oct. 27 meeting. (A

Expect Parents on Bussing Question

A contingent of parents from the Ridge and Patton school areas are expected to present petitions for a school bus at the Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 School Board meeting tonight.

Atty. Donald Norman of Arlington Heights will represent the petitioners in their plea for a "convenience" bus for Ridge elementary children.

ALSO ON THE agenda is a report from the township treasurer regarding investment of excess District 25 funds. Recently the school board authorized the treasurer to invest funds upon receipt rather than forcing him to wait for a board meeting. The township treasurer is to explain procedures used in making financial investments.

A representative from the district's auditing firm is expected to make a report to the board about the 1965-66 audit.

OTHER ITEMS to be discussed include enrollment and bonding power projections for the district, and scheduling of special meetings between the board and administrative staff members. (A

New Manager Of Chamber Gives Ideas

New executive manager of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, Harold P. Bell this week set down in the Chamber newsletter his ideas about the Chamber's role in the community.

"A Chamber of Commerce is a piece of machinery to solve problems—problems of the business community, and of the total community," he said. "First we have to find and define the problems, count up our resources, then marshall those resources to solve the problem."

HE SAID to do this a cooperative effort of the Chamber of Commerce and the village government was needed.

He cited the area of downtown Christmas decorations as one in which such cooperation is needed.

"The problem is to decorate as a group and as individual concerns so as to give a festive but warm and dignified air to our business area during the Christmas Holidays," he said.

"The village will help with installation. The merchants and institutional organizations will provide special common funds for common lights and greenery and Christmas trees, and will decorate their own premises in harmony with the overall plan.

"THE CHAMBER will act as coordinator, channel the funds and keep the operation on a sound budgetary basis," he added.

Bell cited school problems, traffic control, parking facilities, playgrounds, parks, and hospitals as other larger areas where a cooperative effort is needed. (A

Rights Unit Tells Of Teaching Aids

Illinois Commission on Human Relations services to teachers were outlined last week at a meeting sponsored by the Arlington Heights Human Relations Committee.

Representatives of local public and private school systems heard Miss Jan Slater of the state commission speak at the meeting, which took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Newman Cryer, 1007 N. Kennicott, Ave.

MISS SLATER said she and Miss Beatrice Young, head of the commission's education department, consider most pre-1963 history books give "an inaccurate view of history" in that they ignore most contributions made to American history by its minority groups.

The commission, she said, can help school districts set up exchange programs, provide better in-service training programs or revise its curriculum.

The human relations commission currently is helping with in-service training of teachers in Maywood, North Chicago, Kankakee, East St. Louis and New Trier West.

MISS SLATER told Paddock Publications Tuesday that she considered the meeting to be "very successful."

She noted that one of the school people, Galen Berrier of Forest View High School, had attended a National Defense Education Act workshop last summer on Negro history.

Bibliographies of supplemental teaching materials were given out at the meeting to the group, which included representatives from St. Peter's Lutheran and the two Arlington Heights elementary parochial schools as well as District 25, District 59 and High School District 214.

Human relations committee members attending the meeting in addition to the Cryers, cochairmen of the education committee, were Mrs. William Dempsey, George Sully, and Gilbert Tierney. Mrs. Dempsey is president of the local human relations group. (A

Accused Robber Goes to Court On Nov. 7

Anthony Lizio, charged with attempted armed robbery at Monaco Drug Store in Arlington Heights, is scheduled to go to court Nov. 7.

Lizio, 32, of Chicago, was apprehended Sept. 25 moments after he allegedly took a moneybag containing $4,000 from a Monaco employe.

William Wallenbecker of 1805 N. Fernandez Ave., Arlington Heights, chased the would-be robber through a field, tackled him, and retrieved the moneybag.

Lizio was released from custody at Arlington Heights police department on bond. (A

Day at Clearbrook For AHEAD Teens

A workday at Clearbrook Center for the Retarded is being planned for teenagers as part of next month's AHEAD (Arlington Heights Ecumenical Activities and Discussion) program.

A hundred teenagers will be enlisted for the workday, set for Sunday afternoon, Nov. 13.

Teen participants will divide into two groups. One group will organize and supervise a social event for Clearbrook students aged 11 to 20. This will include a sing-along and music for dancing.

THE SECOND group will form a clean-up crew, prepared to wash windows, scrub floors, paint and do outside work.

Byrn Witt, executive director of the Clearbrook Center, sees great value in the association of the retarded children with normal children their own age.

"Some of these children will soon take on jobs commensurate with their ability and training," he said. "They need to mingle with children their own age and see how they do things."

The Rev. Joel P. Henning of St. Simon's Episcopal Church planned the work project with a student AHEAD committee.

George M. Rudolphy, 1507 St. James Place, Arlington Heights, will help raise the 1966 Metropolitan Crusade of Mercy's $22,750,000 goal.

Officially an "Ambassador of Mercy," Rudolphy will appear before groups of employes at their place of work and tell them about the importance of the largest charitable drive in the area.

Rudolphy, director of development at DePaul University, will serve as an emissary between those who need help and those who can provide it, according to Emory Williams, general campaign chairman and vice president and treasurer of Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Arlington Heights joined the Metropolitan Crusade last year, the first year of "Metro." The Arlington Heights United Fund will again participate in Metro this year and is now conducting a local phase of the campaign in Arlington Heights. (A

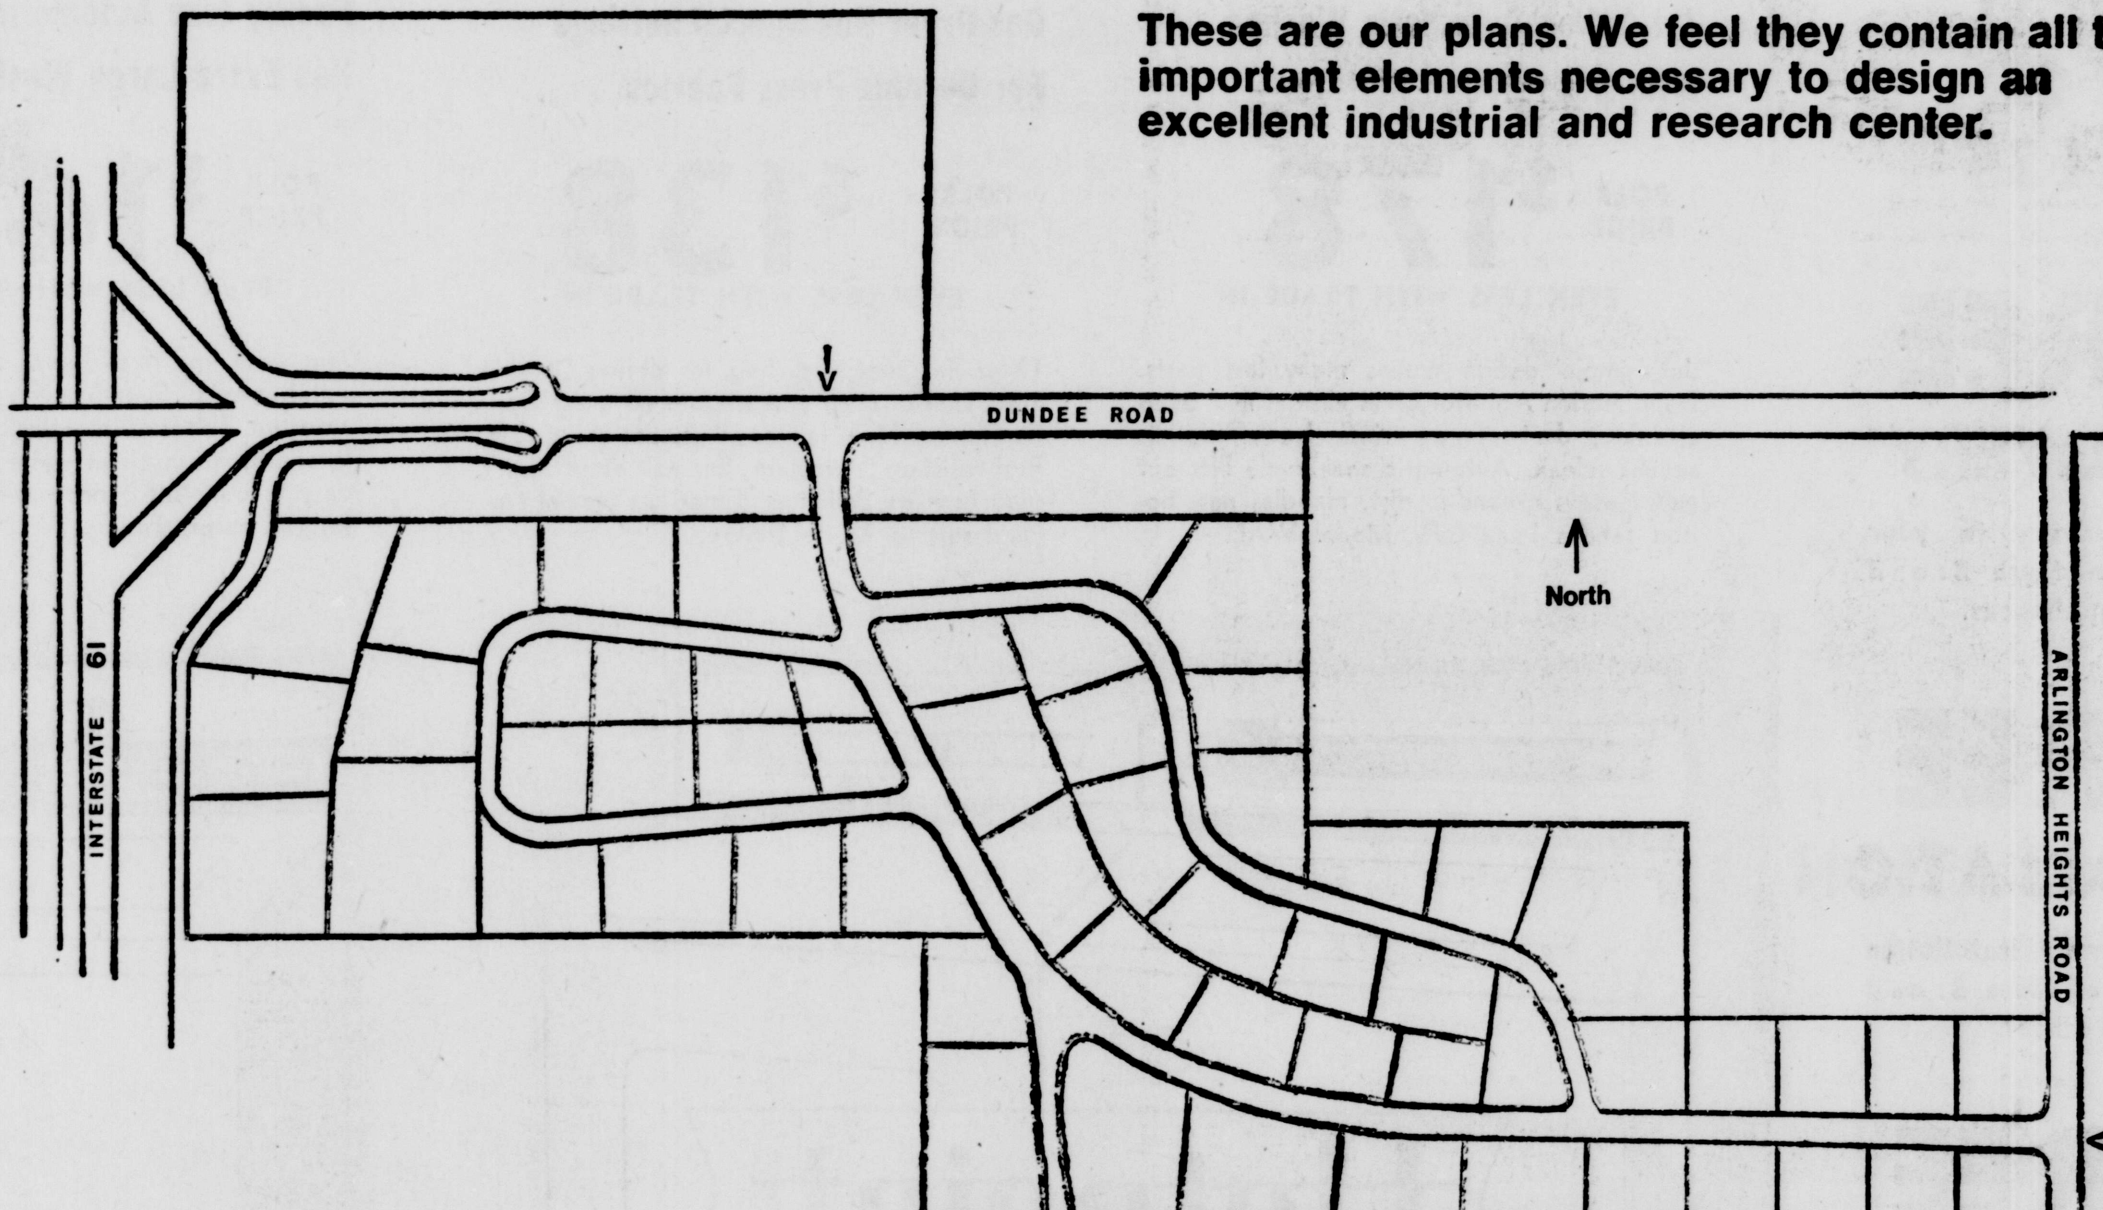
a drawing of our plans

These are our plans. We feel they contain all the important elements necessary to design an excellent industrial and research center.



In this drawing you can see that our 350 acres, located on new Interstate 61, has all the identification and accessibility required for a successful center. What you can't see are our four-lane paved roads, complete underground utilities (including electrical and telephone cables) and landscaped parkways. Incidentally, O'Hare International Airport and other major expressways are nearby. Although we don't show it on the map, our plans call for construction of a unique multiple use building offering tenants offices, warehouse and manufacturing facilities.

MISS SLATER told Paddock Publications Tuesday that she considered the meeting to be "very successful."

She noted that one of the school people, Galen Berrier of Forest View High School, had attended a National Defense Education Act workshop last summer on Negro history.

Bibliographies of supplemental teaching materials were given out at the meeting to the group, which included representatives from St. Peter's Lutheran and the two Arlington Heights elementary parochial schools as well as District 25, District 59 and High School District 214.

Human relations committee members attending the meeting in addition to the Cryers, cochairmen of the education committee, were Mrs. William Dempsey, George Sully, and Gilbert Tierney. Mrs. Dempsey is president of the local human relations group. (A

Anthony Lizio, charged with attempted armed robbery at Monaco Drug Store in Arlington Heights, is scheduled to go to court Nov. 7.

Lizio, 32, of Chicago, was apprehended Sept. 25 moments after he allegedly took a moneybag containing $4,000 from a Monaco employe.

William Wallenbecker of 1805 N. Fernandez Ave., Arlington Heights, chased the would-be robber through a field, tackled him, and retrieved the moneybag.

Lizio was released from custody at Arlington Heights police department on bond. (A

Day at Clearbrook For AHEAD Teens

A workday at Clearbrook Center for the Retarded is being planned for teenagers as part of next month's AHEAD (Arlington Heights Ecumenical Activities and Discussion) program.

A hundred teenagers will be enlisted for the workday, set for Sunday afternoon, Nov. 13.

Teen participants will divide into two groups. One group will organize and supervise a social event for Clearbrook students aged 11 to 20. This will include a sing-along and music for dancing.

THE SECOND group will form a clean-up crew, prepared to wash windows, scrub floors, paint and do outside work.

Byrn Witt, executive director of the Clearbrook Center, sees great value in the association of the retarded children with normal children their own age.

"Some of these children will soon take on jobs commensurate with their ability and training," he said. "They need to mingle with children their own age and see how they do things."

The Rev. Joel P. Henning of St. Simon's Episcopal Church planned the work project with a student AHEAD committee.

George M. Rudolphy, 1507 St. James Place, Arlington Heights, will help raise the 1966 Metropolitan Crusade of Mercy's $22,750,000 goal.

Officially an "Ambassador of Mercy," Rudolphy will appear before groups of employes at their place of work and tell them about the importance of the largest charitable drive in the area.

Rudolphy, director of development at DePaul University, will serve as an emissary between those who need help and those who can provide it, according to Emory Williams, general campaign chairman and vice president and treasurer of Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Arlington Heights joined the Metropolitan Crusade last year, the first year of "Metro." The Arlington Heights United Fund will again participate in Metro this year and is now conducting a local phase of the campaign in Arlington Heights. (A

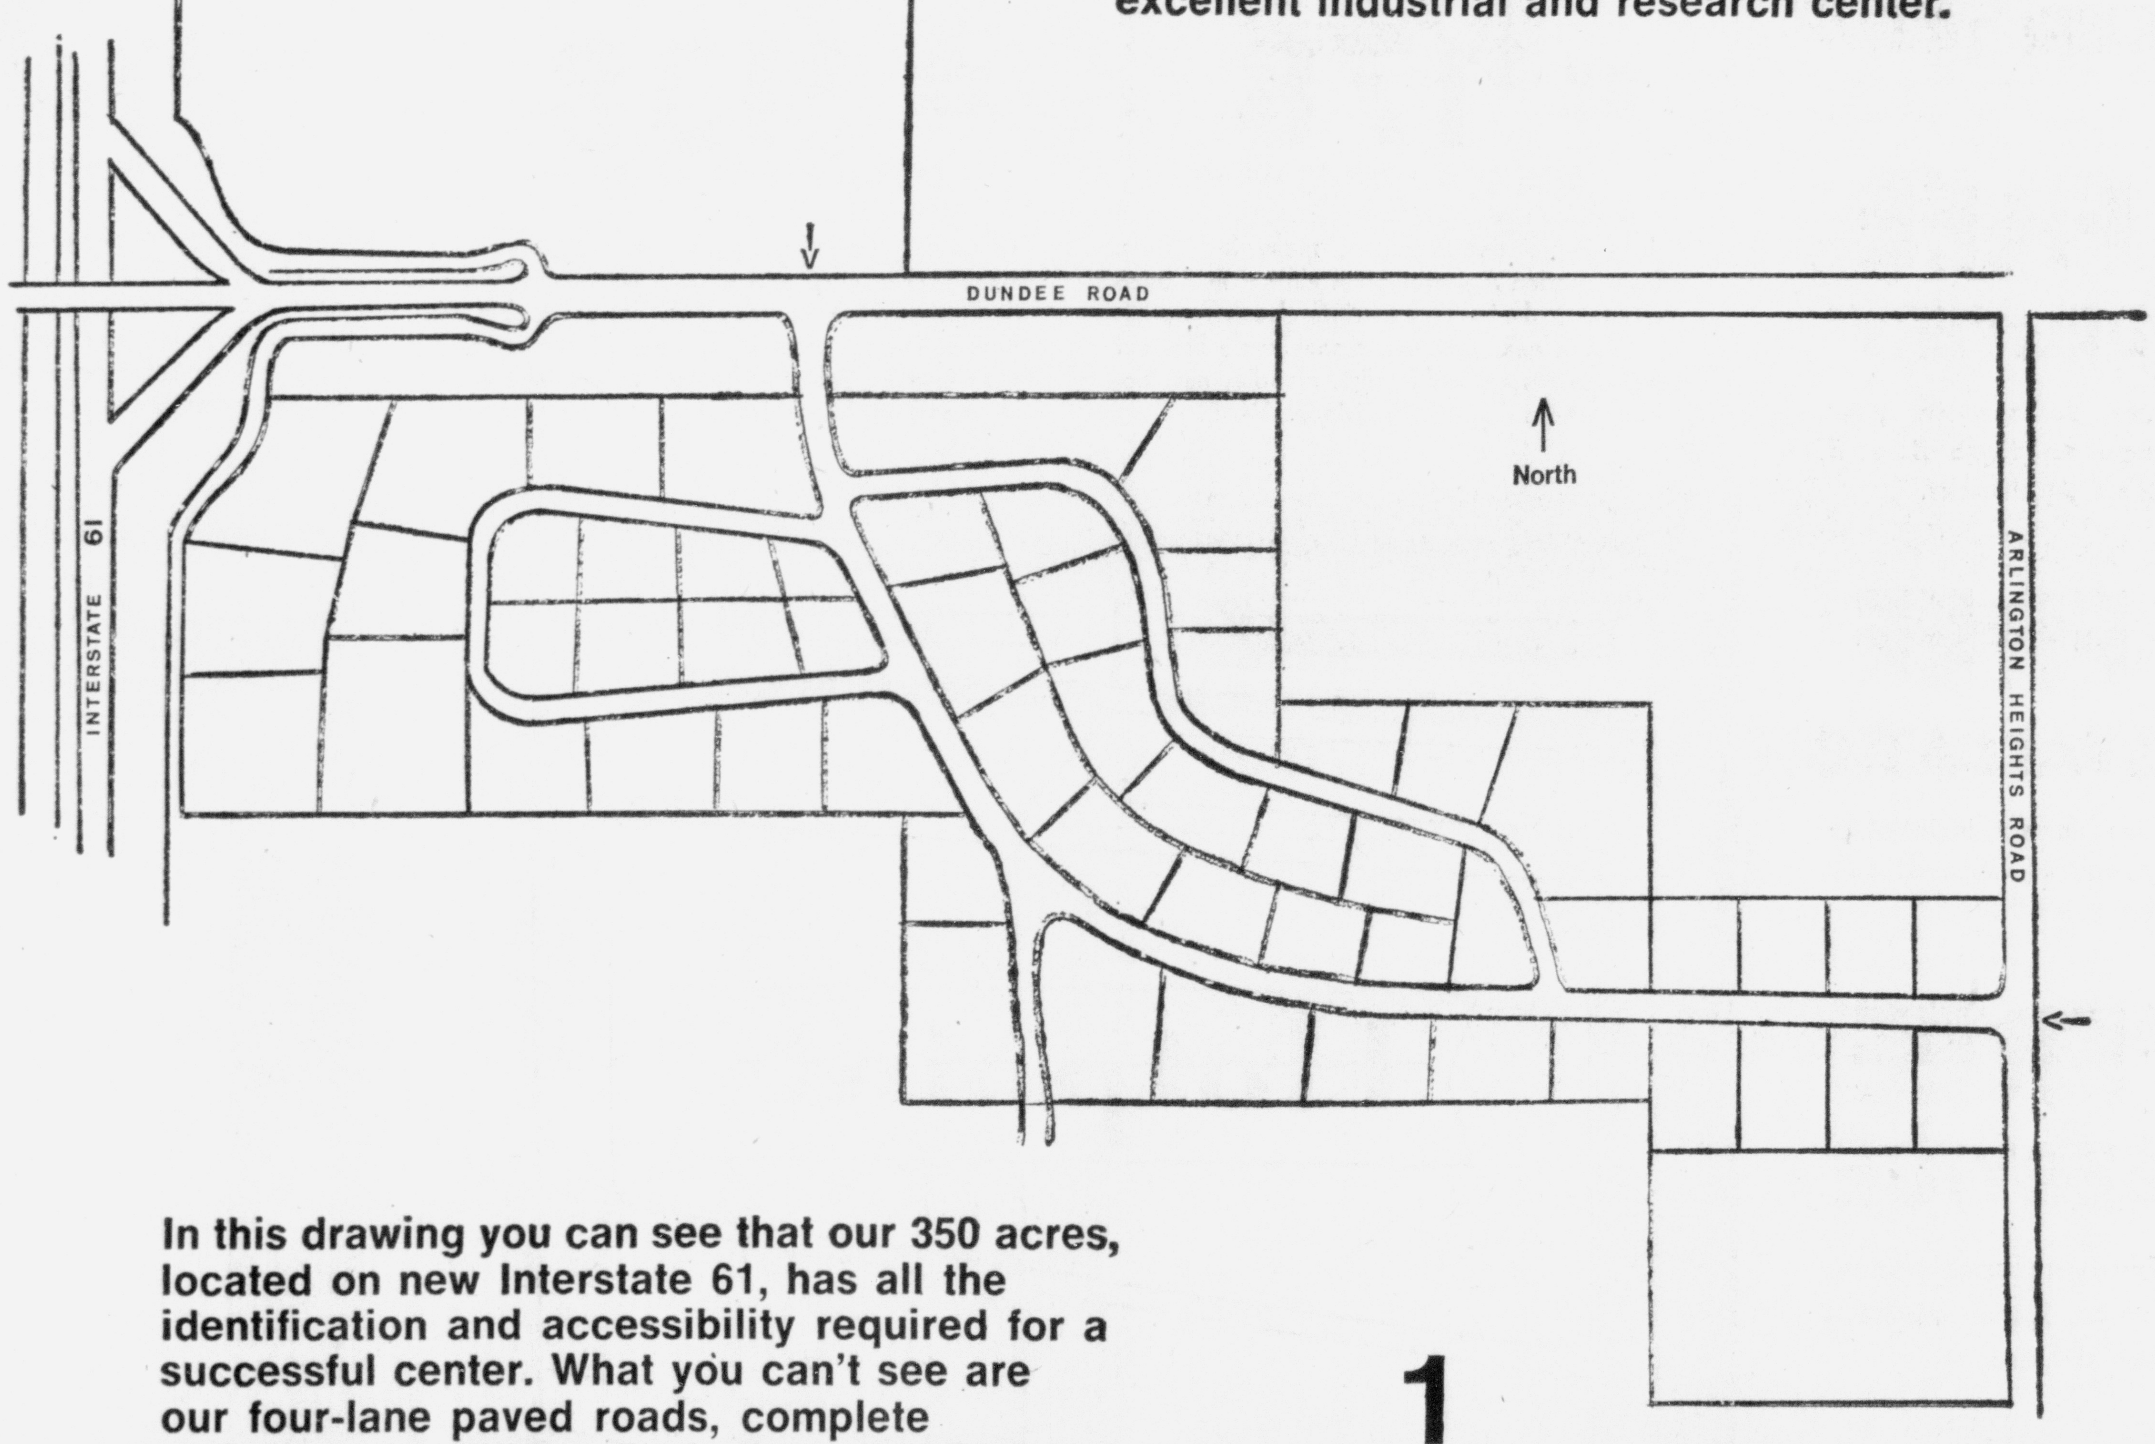
These are our plans. We feel they contain all the important elements necessary to design an excellent industrial and research center.



In this drawing you can see that our 350 acres, located on new Interstate 61, has all the identification and accessibility required for a successful center. What you can't see are our four-lane paved roads, complete underground utilities (including electrical and telephone cables) and landscaped parkways. Incidentally, O'Hare International Airport and other major expressways are nearby. Although we don't show it on the map, our plans call for construction of a unique multiple use building offering tenants offices, warehouse and manufacturing facilities.

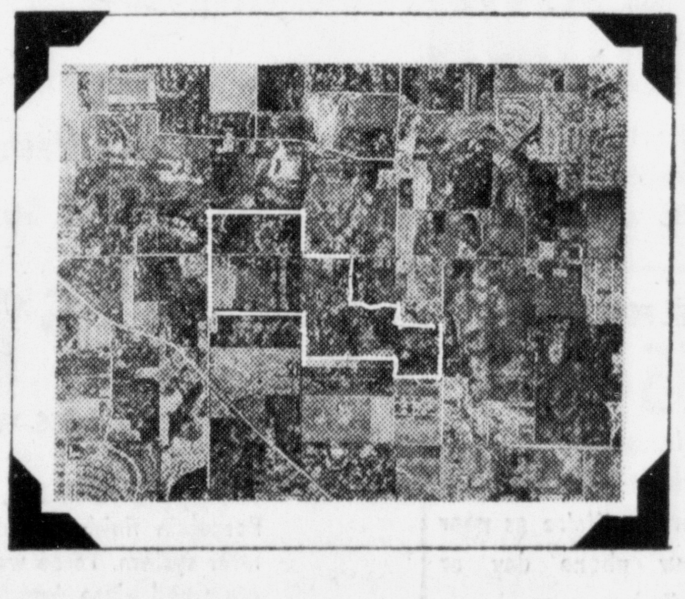
This is our baby picture



It takes a lot of planning to raise a baby. Our infant, Arlington Industrial and Research Center, is no exception. As a matter of fact, we have spent years nursing this project.
In the coming months, our center will be growing. It will receive its nourishment from various industries requiring a planned site in a strategic and prestige Chicagoland location.
Arlington Industrial and Research Center . . with more than 350 acres of planned and developed property . . . has facilities for your offices, plants and warehouses.

Illinois 4-H Members Vie for Scholarships

Illinois 4-H'ers will compete for over $150,000 in scholarships this fall.

Scholarship winners will be announced December 1, the night of the annual 4-H banquet at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago.

The list of scholarship sponsors includes Homelite, a Division of Textron Inc.; the Santa Fe Railway System; the Milwaukee Road; the Chicago and North Western Railway Company; the Illinois Central Railroad; and Chevron Chemical Co., Ortho Division, San Francisco.

EACH SPONSOR has set up its own requirements for the scholarships.

To compete for the four, $1,600 Homelite scholarships, the applicant must be enrolled as a college freshman this fall. Only students who plan to major or minor in forestry are eligible. Candidates must submit to the state 4-H club leader the following: a completed special 4-H scholarship application form and copy of their high school scholastic record, signed by the high school principal or superintendent.

The 90 scholarships offered by the Santa Fe Railway System will go to 4-H'ers from Arizona, California, Colorado, Illinois, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. The railroad offers 25 scholarships of $500 and 66 educational grants. Applicants must have completed at least three years of 4-H and be 14 years or older. Awards are based on achievement in 4-H projects, leadership and personal growth.

Applicants for the Milwaukee Road's two $400 scholarships must be current or former 4-H boys or girls who are enrolled in an accredited college. The railroad specifies that applicants have been 4-H'ers for three or more years and show scholastic ability, financial need and a desire to specialize in transporting and marketing grain products. Only 4-H'ers from Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Washington and Wisconsin.

ELEVEN educational scholarship of $400 will be awarded to current or former 4-H'ers from Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, South Dakota and Wyoming by the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. Applicants for these scholarships must be enrolled as a junior, senior or graduate student in an accredited college or university with a major or minor in agricultural economics, agricultural business business or forestry.

The Illinois Central Railroad will award a $100 scholarship to an Illinois 4-H'er who qualifies on the basis of achievement in 4-H projects, activities, leadership and personal development.

Chevron Chemical Company's two $800 scholarships will go to 4-H'ers who are either college sophomores or juniors.

Only students who plan to major in agronomy, soils, entomology, floriculture, plant pathology, horticulture or ornamental horticulture will be eligible. Candidates must also complete a special 4-H scholarship application form and submit a copy of college freshman and sophomore records signed by the college registrar. (A15

ROLLING MEADOWS

Fly-up ceremonies for Rolling Meadows Blue Birds into Camp Fire were held behind Kimball Hill School last Friday. The ceremony climaxed the girl's two years as Blue Birds. All girls flying up were fourth graders.

ONE OF THE new Camp Fire groups chose to call their group "O Da Ho" which means "friendship." Officers of the "O Da Ho" group are Kathy Sedrick, president; Karen Klapperick, vice president; Kathy Sanches, secretary; Debra Zimmerman, treasurer; Janet Montgomery, scribe. Other members of the group are Cathy Balmer, Laurie Johnson, Diane Negel, Mary Nauheimer, Kim Pearson and Charlene Tyk.

Rolling Meadows is a member of the far northwest district of Camp Fire Girls and has a total of nearly 200 girls in the Camp Fire program.

Annual Legislature Now Possible--Clark

Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark said last week that, in his view, the state legislature could switch to annual sessions immediately without changing the present state Constitution.

The attorney general gave his precedent setting statement in a luncheon address before the Western Division of the Fourth District Illinois State Bar Association in Springfield.

Clark said a long, intensive research effort by the attorney general's office has convinced him that the General Assembly presently has the constitutional power to appropriate funds for the operation of the state government on an annual, rather than a biennial basis.

"It is generally believed," Clark said, "that the Constitution of the State of Illinois requires that the legislature appropriate operational funds on a biennial basis, and that a constitutional amendment is necessary to hold annual sessions."

"THIS THINKING," he said, "stems from a literal interpretation of Section 18 of Article IV of the Illinois Constitution.

"However," the attorney general said, "although the General Assembly must make an appropriation for the biennial period as set forth in Section 18 of Article IV, the Constitution does not prohibit the General Assembly from making annual appropriations and thus legally discharging its duties.

"A state constitution," he explained, "does not grant power, but limits legislative power. Thus, the legislature may enact any law not expressly or inferentially prohibited by either the state of national constitution."

Clark said he could find nothing in the Illinois Constitution which in any way expressly or inferentially prohibits the making of annual appropriations, which would allow annual sessions of the General Assembly to be held.

HE STRESSED, in fact, that although the Legislature is required to make appropriations for specific periods, there is nothing to indicate that these appropriations cannot be made one year at a time.

Clark urged the state legislature to make the Illinois constitutional form of government more meaningful by switching from biennial to annual appropriations and in so doing, more closely and more effectively supervise the managing of taxpayer's funds.

"In my view," Clark concluded, "if the General Assembly desires to meet annually, all it would take to do so would be to not adjourn "sine die" in odd-numbered years of the legislative calendar, but to adjourn to a specific date in the spring of the following even-numbered year.

"The legislature could then function until July and enact appropriate bills for the following fiscal year of the biennium."

He suggested that statutory provisions should be made for the usual three month lapse period within which liabilities incurred within the final portion of the fiscal year may be paid. Clark said that, in reference to Section 18, Article IV of the Illinois Constitution, quoted above, that a two-thirds vote is not required for a part of the appropriation, if appropriations are made separately for two annual periods. 2 Sacred Heart Students Near To Merit Honors

Two students at Sacred Heart of Mary High School have been named semi-finalists in the 1966-67 Merit Scholarship competition, Sister Marie Columba, Sacred Heart principal, announced today.

Eleven other girls at the Catholic high school received letters of commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, citing them as ranking among the top two per cent in the nation on the merit qualifying test. Semi-finalists are in the top one per cent.

Named as semi-finalists were Susan Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin, 101 S. Ioka, Mount Prospect, and Deborah Peifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Peifer, 511 S. Dwyer, Arlington Heights.

Receiving letters of commendation were Beverly Balkey, Sue A. Cavanaugh, Judith Hughes, Donna Klein, Mary Patricia O'Hagan, Mary O' Leary and Susan Schwartz, all of Arlington Heights; Elizabeth Myers of Des Plaines, Catherine Leone and Margaret Moran of Mount Prospect and Maureen Gore of Inverness.

Names of merit scholarship winners will be announced in early May and will be selected from competition finalists who will include about 97 per cent of those selected as semi-finalists. (B-10

Educational Opportunities Excites College Librarian

A librarian is an educator as surely as the college professor, the new librarian at William Rainey Harper Junior College believes.

"Our knowledge is of no use unless we can apply it for student use," Stanley A. Lotko said.

As head librarian for Harper College, Lotko has the task of building a 10,000 volume library by the college opening in September, 1967.

BOOKS ARE JUST one facet of a library's operation, Lotko says, and clearly gets more excited about new education techniques. He tells of a library with dial access systems where students can get the class lesson they missed by dialing a telephone or by watching television.

A librarian has to keep up with methods of communication and project the library to the future, Lotko said. If he does not, the library falls behind, he said.

"A library is a dynamic growing collection continually keeping with the world. As a college matures, the services reflect this," the librarian said.

Lotko is setting up the library in a second-floor room at Elk Grove High School. Boxes of books had arrived in the room before office furniture.

"We're now getting organized," he explained. "We have to buy equipment, book shelves and supplies. Every library procedure must be set forth."

BOOKS MAY be the apparent part of a library but other things not seen also require thought, Lotko said.

He has to compile a book list, selected on the basis of the school's and students' needs.

"Every book we purchase must reflect a need of a student in the curriculum," Lotko said.

He is buying for basic courses and will make additional purchases as faculty is hired and makes recommendations. A budgeted $80,000 will also go toward maps, periodicals, microfilm, film strips, tapes and catalogs.

They will purchase microfilm readers, records, tape recorders, television sets, radios, opaque projectors, overhead projectors and viewers.

"If it provides a service to students or assists the faculty, we will have it," Lotko said. "We are here to provide a service."

THE SAME budget of $80,000 will be needed for the next five years to get the library firmly established, the librarian said. After this, the college can talk in terms of a percentage of over-all budget for library operation, depending on the amount of use it receives, he said.

Lotko will be looking soon for an assistant and clerical help. The college is considering hiring the cataloging of books to save the librarian's time.

"Now I do anything and everything," Lotko said.

At the school opening, Lotko, his assistant and student help can provide adequate service to students and faculty, according to the librarian. Part of the librarian's job then will be teaching students how to use the library's resources and audio-visual aids.

THE LIBRARY will extend the college's community approach by providing its services to non-college residents.

"Adults will be encouraged to make use of all our resources," Lotko said. "We don't want to duplicate public libraries as that is expensive. We will go beyond these to supplement their collections."

One question not resolved is where the college and library will be located at the fall opening. But the library will have an adequate book collection to serve course offerings and have audio-visual equipment whether purchased or rented, Lotko said.

The college master plan places the library in a learning resources center. Until this building is up, administrators have two possible directions for the temporary library.

ONE CHOICE is a corner of the Elk Grove High School Library, providing the college chooses to have evening classes in the high school building. Another consideration is a college in mobile units on the campus at Algonquin and Roselle roads.

Lotko, 43, is a former teacher of library science and assistant librarian at Wright Junior College, Chicago. He received a bachelor's degree in education in 1951. He received a master's degree in audio-visual education from the University of Southern California and a master's degree in library science from Drexel Institute, Philadelphia. (B10

Color Expert to Be Art Guild's Guest

Merlin Enabnit, famous colorist, will be guest artist of Des Plaines Art Guild at its meeting Monday Oct. 10. He will do a landscape in fall colors which will be given away at the meeting in West Park Fieldhouse at 8 p.m.

After studying at Des Moines University and Cummings School of Art, Enabnit moved to Seattle where he was known as Seattle's "Wizard of Color." He has lectured before the Palette and Chisel Club, the Society of Typographical Arts, Chicago Ad Club and Society for Color Research since moving to Chicago.

MERLIN ENABNIT

MOST RECOGNIZED for his colorful portraits of famous people, Enabnit also wrote three best-selling books, "Color with Palette Knife and Brush," "How to Use Color in Portraits" and "Color-Simplified Steps in Color."

During the last five summers he has traveled several thousand miles all over the United States conducting color clinics.

Hoffman Club Plans Art Show, Bazaar

The Hoffman Estates Woman's Club will sponsor a Fall Festival of Art Saturday under the canopy of the Golf Rose Shopping Center, Golf and Roselle Roads, in Hoffman Estates. Hours of the festival are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Juried artists especially picked for the show will bring their work to Hoffman Estates. Included in these are several members of the Countryside Art Gallery in Arlington Heights.

Local artists will compete with the professionals, and other local artists will compete in a dilettante category.

Cash prizes and ribbons will be given in each category of painting, sculpture and crafts and dilettante.

BAZAAR AND WHITE elephant items will be sold by the Woman's Club to defray the expenses of the festival and for club philanthropic projects, such as art scholarships.

A "Bat Man Cave," a child's playhouse, has been constructed by a group of Hoffman Estates Woman's Club members to be given away at the end of the day to some lucky child.

Coffee and cake will be served to visitors in a Parisian cafe atmosphere.

Mrs. Thomas Kindelin is club president, Mrs. Thomas Alston, chairman of the art festival and bazaar, and Mrs. Richard Clotfelter is artist coordinator. More information may be obtained from Mrs. Alston, 894-3275, or Mrs. Ward 529-9218. (Bill Countryside Art Gallery artists who will show their work at the Oct. 8 festival are Christl Hansen of Mount Prospect, pastels; Gloria Green of Libertyville, jewelry; Pat Arnold of Oak Park, painting and sculpture; Marge Brockman of Arlington Heights, painting, and Dorothy Kruse of Palatine, painting. MILDRED ALEXANDER

LARKIN HIGH SCHOOL
Corner of Larkin & McLean, Elgin
CONCERT WILL START AT 2 P.M., SUNDAY AFTERNOON

"Alexander the Great" as she is known has been teaching since she was a sophomore in high school and is considered one of the most successful teachers in the country.

A dynamic organist, she is the only woman ever to appear on the organ staff at Radio City Music Hall in New York City and has been organist and musical director for many NBC, CBS and CBS-TV programs.

With an impressive history of performances including radio, television and theatre, as well as concert work, she is most qualified to present for your listening pleasure her renditions of many organ favorites.

As organists differ in style and tempo, so do audiences differ in the type of program they prefer. Therefore, Mildred Alexander tailors each concert program "for the audience."

Born and raised in Dunham, North Carolina, Mildred Alexander now lives in beautiful southern California where her husband manages a Hammond Organ Studio.

Rumsfeld Opposes Halt To Lie Detector Uses

Cong. Donald Rumsfeld (R-13th) has dissented from a House Government Operations Committee report which asks federal government agencies to halt the use of the polygraph as a "lie detector" in screening potential employes.

In filing additional views to the committee report, Rumsfeld said he agrees with the majority of the committee's members that use of the polygraph has been sometimes abused by a few of the 19 federal government agencies which use it in criminal, security, or background investigations.

But, Rumsfeld said, "while earlier hearings indicated a lack of controls and standards, this is, for the most part, being corrected at the present time."

HE CONTINUED: "It is my conclusion that while the research and study concerning the polygraph is necessary and desirable, agencies of the federal government should not be denied the use of the polygraph as an investigative tool, pending completion of these studies.

"Throughout the history of this country, the pendulum of government action, whether executive, legislative, or judicial, has moved between the two equally undesirable extremes of excessive protection of the rights of the individual at the expense of society as a whole and the excessive protection of society at the expense of the rights of the individual. Each is equally important. A delicate balance between the two is desirable, but difficult to maintain.

"As society changes, we must be alert to see that the pendulum does not move to either extreme. At this point in history, it is my conviction that the pendulum has moved off the balance, and that his report could further upset the balance to the detriment of society as a whole."

RUMSFELD said that instead of confining its activities to correcting known abuses in the use of the polygraph, the committee recommended drastic restrictions on the use of the polygraph and cast doubt upon its use under any circumstances.

He said that in 1965 the President appointed the Interagency Polygraph Committee to study the needs and uses of polygraph operations in government agencies.

"Neither the research nor the study has been completed," Rumsfeld said.

"Until they are, this committee is in no position to judge, as does this report, whether the use of polygraphs should be so drastically restricted. To do so at this time is without justification and without clearcut knowledge as to how such action might further impair the government's ability to resolve or reduce crimes and breaches of security."

Concurring in Rumsfeld's views were Congressmen John H. Erlenborn of Illinois, Robert Dole of Kansas, and William L. Dickinson and Jack Edwards, both of Alabama.

Holiday Advice: Mail Early, Use Zip Codes

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien said that a manual for winning the battle with the annual avalanche of Christmas mail has been sent to the nation's postmasters.

O'Brien also reminded mailers today that the best way to assist the Postal Service during the Christmas "rush" is to shop early, mail early and use ZIP Codes.

"It definitely is not too early to start putting your mailing lists in order," he said. "By organizing your Christmas mailing early, you help yourself to a happier and more relaxed holiday season."

The 60-page booklet gives postal employees guidance on everything from obtaining additional vehicles to window service hours. The mobilization manual lists suggested mailing dates to assure on-time delivery of Christmas mail as:

DOMESTIC SURFACE MAIL—gift parcels for distant states by Dec. 5, for nearby areas by Dec. 14. Greeting cards for distant states by Dec. 10, for nearby areas by Dec. 15.
Dec. 15.

OVERSEAS SURFACE MAIL—should be sent no later than Nov. 10.

Overseas mail should be sent by Dec. 10. Domestic air mail is suggested for the tail end of the mailing rush.

The Postmaster General reminded those mailing to servicemen in the Pacific area and Southeast Asia that small parcels weighing five pounds or less may be mailed at the domestic surface rate between the point of deposit and San Francisco. The packages will be sent by surface to the West Coast and by air on a space available basis to their final destination.

As for additional vehicles, the postal service may borrow from other agencies of the government, use surplus vehicles from storage or temporarily hire them. (A15

KICKIN' IT AROUND

BOB FRISK
Sports Editor

Fritz Looks At Rookie Year . . .

FRITZ PETERSON
Ready for 1967

As far as Fritz Peterson is concerned, the major league baseball season, now deemed too long in some quarters, wasn't long enough this year.

"I only wish the season was just beginning," says the former Arlington High School pitcher who made an impressive professional debut as a rookie left-hander with the New York Yankees.

"I learned so much this year and felt I pitched much better baseball during the second half although it didn't show in actual victories."

Peterson, who grew up in Mount Prospect and graduated from Arlington High in 1960, was one of the bright spots in an otherwise bleak Yankee picture for 1966.

While the once-proud Yankees plunged to the depths of the American League, their first visit to the cellar since 1912, Peterson enjoyed a 12-11 campaign, leading the New York starters in complete games (11) and earned run average (3.28).

"In some respects I was happy with my first season," Peterson said this week in a telephone interview from DeKalb, Ill., where he and his wife are working on their master's degrees. "Naturally, we were disappointed in our performance as a team, but we'll come back. We lost 38 games by one run.

"I've still got a lot to learn. I know that. But this one season in the major leagues was so very important to me as a pitcher. Jim Turner, our pitching coach, helped me improve my curve and develop a change-up, a palm ball with a downward rotation that drops. I still need work though, lots of it, and I'm anxious to get started in spring training."

Peterson, a very personable young man who carries his success well, has always been equipped with a good curve ball and a sneaky fast. "I wasn't real big in high school and always relied on the curve," he explains, "but one day, just throwing in the gym at Arlington, I seemed to get something extra on the fast ball."

Fritz is a rarity among young left-handers in that he does have big league control. He walked only 40 men in 216 innings as a rookie, a remarkable effort.

"Starting out," he says, "I never had the kind of fast ball to make up for a lack of control. As a result, I worked hard on getting my breaking ball over the plate."

Fritz admits that he was pleasantly surprised with his elevation to major league status this season. He had some outstanding minor league efforts behind him but didn't expect to make the parent club this season.

Peterson enjoyed an impressive spring, earned a spot on the Yankee roster, and made his debut before 35,624 fans in Baltimore on April 15.

"That had to be the most exciting moment for me in baseball," Fritz says. "If I had to pick out that one game that I remembered most, that gave me my biggest thrill, it would have to be that one in Baltimore."

Peterson allowed only six hits in his major league debut against the explosive Orioles, striking out three and not walking a man, and he fashioned a 3-2 victory. Frank Robinson worked him for a homer in the ninth inning, but Fritz held on for the win.

Actually, Peterson was the only Yankee who experienced any success against the Baltimore outfit that is hoping to add World Series honors to its American League flag.

Fritz was 2-2 against Baltimore, notching a 4-1 win in early August on a six-hitter. The only run he yielded that time was a homer by Boog Powell. For the season the Yankees topped Baltimore only three times.

A most obvious questions follows. Did Frank Robinson, the terror of the American League, give Peterson any trouble at the plate?

"Actually, I can't remember having any big problems with Robinson," Fritz recalls, "after that home run in my first start. Nobody in particular gave me more trouble than others. They're all tough now."

Although the switch in managers, from Johnny Keane to Ralph Houk, didn't lead the Yankees into the upper echelon of the American League, Peterson has the highest regard for Houk.

"Houk's the greatest," Fritz praised. "Everybody wants to play for him, and we're sorry we couldn't straighten out and win some more games. There'll probably be some changes made on the club, but I don't think it'll be as sweeping a new look as you read about in the papers."

Although trade talk pops up frequently now in both divisions, it's unlikely that the Yankees would peddle off a young pitcher of Peterson's promise, especially when New York pitching needs all the help it can get.

While the Chicago Cubs talk about their Kenny Holtzman and the Pittsburgh Pirates brag about Woody Fryman, the Yankees feel they have one of the real young pitching prizes in Peterson.

Fryman was named the top rookie left-hander in the majors for 1966, but Peterson actually topped the Pirate southpaw in five categories while pitching for a last-place club. Fritz had a better earned average than both Fryman and Holtzman.

As Peterson looks back on his pitching career, from those Little League days in Mount Prospect to the present, he sees many men instrumental in advancing his career.

His father, Fred Sr., certainly played a big part, spending many hours working with Fritz in those early years. The senior Peterson emphasized control and it's paid big dividends.

"I always felt that when a boy throws a ball," Fritz's father points out, "that someone should form a target for him. I had Fritz throw at the belt buckle, trying to get him to throw to the spots to sharpen his control."

Former Arlington High baseball coach Bob Baker gave Fritz a chance to operate as a starter as a senior, and Peterson responded with a performance worthy of all-conference recognition. Fritz says today that by using him as a starter Baker "gave me the confidence I needed."

Bob also encouraged Peterson to attend Northern Illinois University, and Fritz signed

Test Dragons Sunday

Lions in Loop Opener

by BOB FRISK

For six Chicagoland Prep League football teams, the exciting dash for the biggest prize of the 1966 season—the coveted conference championship—begins this weekend.

The long wait is almost over. For the past three weeks the Chicagoland entries have collided with non-conference adversaries, polishing their offensive and defensive skills in anticipation of league warfare.

By Sunday evening they'll have the first returns, the opening results in what promises to be an interesting struggle for Chicagoland supremacy.

"WE'RE ANXIOUS to get started," admits St. Viator's Joe Gliwa who will send his Lions against St. George Sunday afternoon at Winnemac Park, Foster near Damen, in Chicago.

"We've learned a lot about the boys and their capabilities in these non-conference games, but now we've got something to shoot for."

Gliwa, who has seen three St. Viator teams waltz past St. George entries with ease, hopes his Lions can continue this mastery, but he's not dismissing the Dragons as an easy victim in the Sunday encounter.

"WE'RE NOT taking them lightly by any means," the Lion head man emphasizes. "They're a young team and they've been making some mistakes, but they've had time now to correct those mistakes with three games behind them."

St. George has failed to win in three outings and has been blanked twice, but head coach Paul Schmidt still sees hope in his outfit.

"They're making the mistakes that you expect sophomores and juniors to make," Schmidt points out. "But we're not discouraged. We feel we have some potential there and it's just a matter of putting everything together. At times, they haven't looked too bad."

THE DRAGONS have been blanked by Holy Cross (27-0) and Little Flower (20-0) but did show some offense in a 26-19 loss to Tuley of Chicago.

Jerry Leahy, a 5-8, 155-pound junior who is expected to open at quarterback against St. Viator, handled the signal-calling chores for the first time in that Tuley game and clicked on five passes for 96 yards.

Perry Hanson, a 5-10, 175-pound soph with good speed, hit for 85 yards against Tuley from his left halfback slot, and head man Schmidt has also been pleased with the work of junior George Russow (5-6, 150) at fullback.

ROUNDING OUT the Dragon backfield Sunday will be veteran Rich Erwin (6-1, 185) at right halfback. Erwin, a quarterback as a sophomore, played end last fall and was ticketed for quarterback duties this season, but

Both Unbeaten In Grid Play

Wildcats, Cards Seek Third Mid-Suburban Win

by Keith Reinhard

The stage is set.

Enter, left side, knocking down the hosts' door: the high-flying Arlington Cardinals, possessor of an explosive attack with the accent on the passing game.

Arlington is 3-0 this year and 2-0 in conference action, and all of the Cards' triumphs have been by decisive margins.

Enter, right side, into their own den: The stubborn, unmovable Wheeling Wildcats, owner of an identical 3-0 slate over-all and 2-0 standard in Mid-Suburban play.

The 'Cats have yielded less passing yardage in three games than the Cards usually collect in one. And on the ground over three weekends the Wildcats have given up a little more than the length of a football field.

THE SCENE will be the Wheeling High School football arena with a Homecoming atmosphere. The time is 2 p.m. Saturday. Directors are Arlington's Al Allen and Wheeling's Bill Daletski.

Starring roles are still up for grabs, but likely candidates are Jon Hittman of the host Wildcats and Steve Allen of the visiting Cards.

The show is a premier performance. Because Arlington is new to the Mid-Suburban this season, the two squads have never hooked up before in combat.

ARLINGTON, liking their new surroundings, have chalked up an impressive 100 points to their opponents' 13 in soundly whipping Barrington, Palatine and Conant. Engineering their successes, quarterback Allen has thrown for 629 yards with the aid of such key receivers as split end Dave Lockwood, tight end Jim Donchess and back Brad Somers.

Balancing this impressive aerial bombardment has been the capable ground work laid out by Conley and hard-running fullback Mick Wadzita. Combined, they have eaten away well over 400 yards of the enemy's territory in the three matches thus far.

WITH THIS vibrant style of play, the visitors hope to inject serious damage into a well-oiled Wheeling defensive machine. The Wildcats, also capable of unleashing exciting attacks by both air and turf, are still excelled by a defensive crew that yields yards like a buccaneer gives up gold dubloons.

Hittman, Wheeling's major offensive threat with 150 yards of rushing and two decisive TD's to his credit is also the chief cog on this defensive unit. The aggressive linebacker lives up to his name by striking like a bulldozer and poses a constant threat to oncoming ballcarriers.

Undoubtedly to be cast in a supporting role will be Tom Bastable, another offensive stalwart with five receptions for 200-plus yards and nearly as many yards gained rushing as Hittman. Bastable is also a two-way player, with ample mobility to give him an edge on his opponent from the defensive side.

TANTAMOUNT TO the showings of Hittman and Bastqble in the past, have been the defensive performances turned in by the Wheeling forward wall. Subdued foes Maine South, Prospect and Forest View were unable to find many weak points in the barrier put up by the likes of Ray Pace, Gary Krueger, Tom Traversone, Paul Berwanger, George Legh-Page and Mike Henry.

As impressive as both squads are however, both finished off the enemy last week in less than

KICKIN' IT AROUND

Fritz Looks At Rookie Year . . .

As far as Fritz Peterson is concerned, the major league baseball season, now deemed too long in some quarters, wasn't long enough this year.

"I only wish the season was just beginning," says the former Arlington High School pitcher who made an impressive professional debut as a rookie left-hander with the New York Yankees.

"I learned so much this year and felt I pitched much better baseball during the second half although it didn't show in actual victories."

Peterson, who grew up in Mount Prospect and graduated from Arlington High in 1960, was one of the bright spots in an otherwise bleak Yankee picture for 1966.

While the once-proud Yankees plunged to the depths of the American League, their first visit to the cellar since 1912, Peterson enjoyed a 12-11 campaign, leading the New York starters in complete games (11) and earned run average (3.28).

"In some respects I was happy with my first season," Peterson said this week in a telephone interview from DeKalb, Ill., where he and his wife are working on their master's degrees. "Naturally, we were disappointed in our performance as a team, but we'll come back. We lost 38 games by one run.

"I've still got a lot to learn. I know that. But this one season in the major leagues was so very important to me as a pitcher. Jim Turner, our pitching coach, helped me improve my curve and develop a change-up, a palm ball with a downward rotation that drops. I still need work though, lots of it, and I'm anxious to get started in spring training."

Peterson, a very personable young man who carries his success well, has always been equipped with a good curve ball and a sneaky fast. "I wasn't real big in high school and always relied on the curve," he explains, "but one day, just throwing in the gym at Arlington, I seemed to get something extra on the fast ball."

Fritz is a rarity among young left-handers in that he does have big league control. He walked only 40 men in 216 innings as a rookie, a remarkable effort.

"Starting out," he says, "I never had the kind of fast ball to make up for a lack of control. As a result, I worked hard on getting my breaking ball over the plate."

Fritz admits that he was pleasantly surprised with his elevation to major league status this season. He had some outstanding minor league efforts behind him but didn't expect to make the parent club this season.

Peterson enjoyed an impressive spring, earned a spot on the Yankee roster, and made his debut before 35,624 fans in Baltimore on April 15.

"That had to be the most exciting moment for me in baseball," Fritz says. "If I had to pick out that one game that I remembered most, that gave me my biggest thrill, it would have to be that one in Baltimore."

Peterson allowed only six hits in his major league debut against the explosive Orioles, striking out three and not walking a man, and he fashioned a 3-2 victory. Frank Robinson worked him for a homer in the ninth inning, but Fritz held on for the win.

Actually, Peterson was the only Yankee who experienced any success against the Baltimore outfit that is hoping to add World Series honors to its American League flag.

Fritz was 2-2 against Baltimore, notching a 4-1 win in early August on a six-hitter. The only run he yielded that time was a homer by Boog Powell. For the season the Yankees topped Baltimore only three times.

FRITZ PETERSON
Ready for 1967

A most obvious questions follows. Did Frank Robinson, the terror of the American League, give Peterson any trouble at the plate?

"Actually, I can't remember having any big problems with Robinson," Fritz recalls, "after that home run in my first start. Nobody in particular gave me more trouble than others. They're all tough now."

Although the switch in managers, from Johnny Keane to Ralph Houk, didn't lead the Yankees into the upper echelon of the American League, Peterson has the highest regard for Houk.

"Houk's the greatest," Fritz praised. "Everybody wants to play for him, and we're sorry we couldn't straighten out and win some more games. There'll probably be some changes made on the club, but I don't think it'll be as sweeping a new look as you read about in the papers."

Although trade talk pops up frequently now in both divisions, it's unlikely that the Yankees would peddle off a young pitcher of Peterson's promise, especially when New York pitching needs all the help it can get.

While the Chicago Cubs talk about their Kenny Holtzman and the Pittsburgh Pirates brag about Woody Fryman, the Yankees feel they have one of the real young pitching prizes in Peterson.

Fryman was named the top rookie left-hander in the majors for 1966, but Peterson actually topped the Pirate southpaw in five categories while pitching for a last-place club. Fritz had a better earned average than both Fryman and Holtzman.

As Peterson looks back on his pitching career, from those Little League days in Mount Prospect to the present, he sees many men instrumental in advancing his career.

His father, Fred Sr., certainly played a big part, spending many hours working with Fritz in those early years. The senior Peterson emphasized control and it's paid big dividends.

"I always felt that when a boy throws a ball," Fritz's father points out, "that someone should form a target for him. I had Fritz throw at the belt buckle, trying to get him to throw to the spots to sharpen his control."

Former Arlington High baseball coach Bob Baker gave Fritz a chance to operate as a starter as a senior, and Peterson responded with a performance worthy of all-conference recognition. Fritz says today that by using him as a starter Baker "gave me the confidence I needed."

Bob also encouraged Peterson to attend Northern Illinois University, and Fritz signed

Wildcats, Cards Seek Third Mid-Suburban Win

by Keith Reinhard

The stage is set.

Enter, left side, knocking down the hosts' door: the high-flying Arlington Cardinals, possessor of an explosive attack with the accent on the passing game.

Arlington is 3-0 this year and 2-0 in conference action, and all of the Cards' triumphs have been by decisive margins.

Enter, right side, into their own den: The stubborn, unmovable Wheeling Wildcats, owner of an identical 3-0 slate over-all and 2-0 standard in Mid-Suburban play.

The 'Cats have yielded less passing yardage in three games than the Cards usually collect in one. And on the ground over three weekends the Wildcats have given up a little more than the length of a football field.

THE SCENE will be the Wheeling High School football arena with a Homecoming atmosphere. The time is 2 p.m. Saturday. Directors are Arlington's Al Allen and Wheeling's Bill Daletski.

Starring roles are still up for grabs, but likely candidates are Jon Hittman of the host Wildcats and Steve Allen of the visiting Cards.

The show is a premier performance. Because Arlington is new to the Mid-Suburban this season, the two squads have never hooked up before in combat.

Test Dragons Sunday

Lions in Loop Opener

by BOB FRISK

For six Chicagoland Prep League football teams, the exciting dash for the biggest prize of the 1966 season—the coveted conference championship—begins this weekend.

The long wait is almost over. For the past three weeks the Chicagoland entries have collided with non-conference adversaries, polishing their offensive and defensive skills in anticipation of league warfare.

By Sunday evening they'll have the first returns, the opening results in what promises to be an interesting struggle for Chicagoland supremacy.

"WE'RE ANXIOUS to get started," admits St. Viator's Joe Gliwa who will send his Lions against St. George Sunday afternoon at Winnemac Park, Foster near Damen, in Chicago.

"We've learned a lot about the boys and their capabilities in these non-conference games, but now we've got something to shoot for."

Gliwa, who has seen three St. Viator teams waltz past St. George entries with ease, hopes his Lions can continue this mastery, but he's not dismissing the Dragons as an easy victim in the Sunday encounter.

"WE'RE NOT taking them lightly by any means," the Lion head man emphasizes. "They're a young team and they've been making some mistakes, but they've had time now to correct those mistakes with three games behind them."

St. George has failed to win in three outings and has been blanked twice, but head coach Paul Schmidt still sees hope in his outfit.

"They're making the mistakes that you expect sophomores and juniors to make," Schmidt points out. "But we're not discouraged. We feel we have some potential there and it's just a matter of putting everything together. At times, they haven't looked too bad."

THE DRAGONS have been blanked by Holy Cross (27-0) and Little Flower (20-0) but did show some offense in a 26-19 loss to Tuley of Chicago.

Jerry Leahy, a 5-8, 155-pound junior who is expected to open at quarterback against St. Viator, handled the signal-calling chores for the first time in that Tuley game and clicked on five passes for 96 yards.

Perry Hanson, a 5-10, 175-pound soph with good speed, hit for 85 yards against Tuley from his left halfback slot, and head man Schmidt has also been pleased with the work of junior George Russow (5-6, 150) at fullback.

ROUNDING OUT the Dragon backfield Sunday will be veteran Rich Erwin (6-1, 185) at right halfback. Erwin, a quarterback as a sophomore, played end last fall and was ticketed for quarterback duties this season, but

It's Pirate Homecoming

Knights To Palatine Seeking First Win

by Ken Knox

The gentlemanly thing might be for Palatine to let Prospect have its turn.

The Pirates, after all, have taken the first stride away from the valley of disappointment, that dreaded location that can claim even the most hopeful of football teams.

They did it by running through Elk Grove, a 26-0 decision last Saturday that reversed a disastrous two-game plunge.

But the Knights, despite a stout performance against Maine West, remained where they were last Saturday: without victory in three games.

So the sentimental might say give the Knights their opportunity. But that is not the formula in athletic competition. Especially not — as it will be for Palatine Saturday — when the game is one team's homecoming, and when to that team winning a second time is as crucial a problem as the other's winning the first time.

It's because of those ingredients that a game that might look like a matching of also-rans assumes promise and importance on Saturday.

WHEN THE TWO met for the first time ever last autumn, it was under decidedly different circumstances. Palatine had won six consecutive games, and was closing in on its first undefeated season. The Knights were in a late season spoiler position, and ranked as upset threats. The game, however, ended as might have been predicted, a 28-0 crushing of the Knights.

Now Palatine, after stumbling twice in its effort to follow that season, is on the rebound, hoping to even the standard at 2-2 and win its first in the Mid-Suburban League. Prospect, after successive losses to North Chicago, Wheeling and Maine West, is seeking simply victory number one, and would dearly love it this Saturday in the clash at Hale Hildebrandt Field on South Quentin Rd.

The Pirates should have more going for them than they did when they were whipped by Gelnbrook North and Arlington. They have, for one, shown an awakened attack. And they are expected to have back one instrument they were lacking in the Arlington and Elk Grove games: the MSL's defending champion rusher John Ekeberg.

THE LITTLE halfback whose efforts against Prospect last fall were so immense he was cited the Chicago's American Back of the Week — has been on the mend from a severe leg bruise suffered in the season's opener. If he's sound, and if Palatine headman Arv Herstedt can get a repetition of the improved offensive blocking and running he saw against Elk Grove, the threat will be potent.

Against the Grenadiers, senior Pat Kinsella showed brilliantly at fullback, battling for 151 yards, while Dennis Lynch bloomed with a 90-yard effort at one halfback slot. Herstedt may be hard pressed to fit them in with Ekeberg and regular blocking back Wayne Render, but it's a pleasant prospect.

The quarterback problem appears to have been well resolved by junior Brian Scholl. The 5-9, 155-pounder, after partial use in the first two games, showed rapid development against Elk Grove as an effective scrambling runner, as a passer who hit on four of six for three touchdowns, and as a signal-caller who moved the team to some 400 yards total offense.

HERSTEDT HAS more of a problem in his offensive line, where he's not sure who will start at guard or at one of the end positions, and he has a battle at center where 6-5, 272-pound John Reed is trying to take the job back from 180-pound junior Pat Donahue.

The Pirate headman is also concerned with his defense, particularly in the reactions to unfolding plays. A lot of work on tightening up was promised for this week. A resurgent attitude may help all around.

"The boys just had to win last Saturday," said Herstedt. "It didn't really matter who we beat, just so long as we got a win."

That's precisely what Don Williams and the Knights will be seeking at Palatine's expense on the weekend. In pursuit of that goal, Williams will continue a policy of experimentation with both veterans and youths in his lineup.

ONE SWITCH calls for the moving on a regular basis of Tom Lundstedt from quarterback to a split end position. A tough 6-4, 195 pounds, the senior Lundstedt in little more than a game at end has become the team's leading pass receiver with six catches for 67 yards.

Since passing has easily been Prospect's strong suit on offense, the switch may be a meaningful one. There are receivers to go with Lundstedt, notably in regular halfback Vince Curry and in Steve Niebuhr, who may start at the other half Saturday. Curry has three receptions for 50 yards and Niebuhr has six for 51.

But in finding someone to work the attack, Williams has still been on the search. Senior John Phillips, third in a line of Phillips boys at Prospect quarterback, is getting the pre-game nod. But a junior, Mike Gaffney, is being brought up, and senior Bob Youngquist remains in a reserve role. None of the signal-callers has had outstanding success, but part of the problem has been spotty protection for them.

THE RUNNERS, too, have been largely bottled up for the Knights. Fullback Pete Smith cracked for 90 yards in the opener, but has been held to 12 in the two games since. Curry, a veteran, has been averaging about 20 yards a game.

Much of the Prospect problem can be attributed to youth, and those are the kind of problems that change with age. Williams is concentrating on several juniors, particularly in the line where 200-pound guard Butch Leonard, 205-pound center Mike Sanders and 215-pound tackle Jeff Schneider may become big fixtures. The headman is also bringing up defensive linebecker Norm Klein, rated lineman of the week for three straight weeks with the JV team, and sophomore defensive end Tim Hanaan, though the latter may not see much action.

"We seem," reflected Williams, "to be just inches away from that winning combination. The boys seem to be playing better, but we need that one unknown ingredient to get them all together at one time. Possibly what we're lacking is that 'take charge' type of ball player on the field at all times to get the boys up and keep them that way."

It may also be that Williams' boys simply need most that first victory. In their quest for it Saturday, they can't be expected to be any more gentlemanly than Palatine would be in allowing it.

Conference Opener

Leahy's effort against Tuley prompted a change in plans.

Key men up front for St. George are tackles Bill Axley (6-0, 195) and Don Leadrot (6-0, 190) and guard Pat McCarthy (5-10, 180), all regulars in 1965.

Schmidt is in his first season as head coach at St. George after serving as an assistant at the Evanston school last fall.

ALTHOUGH ST. Viator's Gliwa was pleased to have his charges post their second win in three games last Sunday against Marist, he did see room for improvement in the overall effort.

"We didn't hit as hard as we're capable of," Joe said, "and didn't have that punch down by the goal line. We could move the ball for the most part but had too much trouble putting it across."

Gliwa doesn't plan any major changes in his two alignments. He did note that the return of veteran tackle Denny Forston was evident in the line play last Sunday. "You could tell he was back," praised the head coach. Forston, a three-year varsity veteran, missed the Argo game, a 16-0 setback, with a leg injury.

KEY MAN ON the attack for the Lions against Marist, as he has been in the first three games this year, was fleet halfback Larry Snyder. Larry banged for 56 yards Sunday and now owns 169 for the season, a 4.6 per carry average.

But Snyder has yet to find his way into the end zone in 1966 after penetrating for eight scores as a junior. That chance may come Sunday. He has three touchdowns in two previous games with St. George.

In three meetings with St. George, Gliwa-coached elevens have piled up 68 points and yielded only one score, a touchdown in the 1964 encounter which was decided by a 21-7 count.

St. Viator blanked the Dragons 27-0 in Gliwa's first year on the job and fashioned a 20-0 victory last fall.

difference. First string center and linebacker Craig Rowells will be lost because of injury and this boy is one of coach Ken Olson's top performers. Olson also lost his other starting linebacker as well as a defensive end to injuries.

THE MAINE West team is not an overly large one to begin with and the squad boasts only seven lettermen. Although it is basically a senior team, Olson is faced with mostly green material, and this has hurt the Warriors so far in the early stages of the season.

In the Maine West backfield Olson has some horses who know how to get the job done. In last week's Prospect game, in which the Warriors did not complete a single pass, Ken Mandelky was the bread-and-butter man as he carried 20 times for 141 yards and a seven yard per carry average.

Giving able support to Mandelky will be Dick Manny and Phil Murdock. Bob Banger will again start at the quarterback spot.

This team may not be of the caliber of some of the Maine West teams of the past but Olson-coached squads are always dangerous.

as a junior at Northern. "Who knows what might have happened," Fred Sr. asks, "if he hadn't decided to go to Northern?"

Harold Danielson of Crystal Lake, a major league scout on a part-time basis, encouraged the Yankees to give Peterson a tryout, and Danielson still finds time, as a very special friend of the family, to work with Fritz.

Fritz Peterson, who says he gave some thought as a youngster to playing professional baseball but felt that chance would never come, now finds himself an established starting pitcher for the New York Yankees.

He went to spring training last February as a promising pitcher, one to be watched carefully with the idea that he would do his important hurling this season with Toledo of the International League. But then Fritz found the circumstances just right for him.

The excitement of that rookie season is behind him now. He's proven he can win in major league competition.

The future looks bright for this confident, out-going young man who admits "I can't wait for spring training to begin."

For the record, Fritz Peterson worked in 216 innings in his rookie year in the major leagues with a yield of 196 hits. He struck out 96, walked only 40, and fired two shutouts. He toiled in 33 games over-all, 11 of them complete, in fashioning a 12-11 mark.

the grand style of their previous encounters.

"We only seemed to play when we had to," said Coach Allen of the Cardinals who crumbled a Conant eleven rated much less of a threat than Barrington or Palatine.

While the Cougars were blanked, the Arlington passing game was not nearly as effective against them and the Cardinals wrested the decision largely through the efforts of their ground war.

"I WAS PLEASED with the running of our backs against Conant," Allen continued, "and the play of Wadzita, who went both ways, and Jim Donchess on defense.

"You have to give Conant plenty of credit. They came to play football and they played well. They're going to beat someone yet."

Wheeling came off a poor second statistically to Forest View the same weekend. While the Wildcats were limiting the Falcons to a meager 121 yards total, they were only able to record a paltry 48 themselves. Robin Melzer and Rich Haddock had a one-for-seven mark combined in the Wheeling passing department.

DALETSKI STILL had more to smile over than the win. "Our pass defense, particularly on the long ones, improved tremendously," he stated.

While Forest View connected on 10 of 21 flings, they netted only 45 yards and had two of their tosses intercepted by the Wildcats. This substantiates Daletski's observation and could contain the formula with which the hosts completely block off Arlington's chief route to victory when the teams tangle this week.

"Last week it was a rock 'em, sock 'em affair," Daletski went on. "This week we expect to play chase 'em and catch 'em."

"IT COULD TURN into a battle of individuals too. Tackle Kim Markshausen pitted against our Krueger; Bastable against Lockwood; Hittman versus Conley."

"We've got to play better ball this weekend than we did last Friday," Allen countered. "Wheeling is a good, solid ball club with a dangerous backfield. It's their homecoming too and they'll have a lot of incentive going into the game."

With the plot and cast now revealed, the match looms as an obviously important one if either side expects to win the circuit flag. Both teams are strong but have their weaknesses.

ARLINGTON, WITH a flare for exciting aerial maneuvers, has shown some vulnerability to a rushing attack. Barrington collected over 300 yards from them in their opener and Conant struck for 151 last week.

Wheeling boasts a line as close to air-tight as the law of averages permits but is not as flawless in protecting their secondary.

The end of the story? Both managements request all spectators remain until the end of the performance and not reveal the result until the final buzzer has sounded!

Costello Scores In Prospect Win

Halfback Jack Costello put the frosting on a 65-yard third-period drive by cracking over from the two to hand the Prospect sophomore's a 7-0 win over Maine West Saturday.

Tim Hamann, a defensive end, supplied the extra point.

Cited for their key defensive roles in shutting out the Warriors were Hamann and defensive halfback Greg Bates.

Indians Are Unbeaten

Cougars Host Niles In Homecoming Tilt

by Ken Knox

You might say that when a senior-dominated football team unbeaten in three games challenges a junior-laden football team without victory in three games, the result can be assumed.

You might say that, and you might be right.

But two men—for reasons of caution and for an understanding of the changeable fortunes of high school football—won't make the assumption, and they're right for their reluctance.

Niles West's Mike Basrak, guiding what may be one of the finest of Indian teams, will put the standard on the line this Saturday at Conant, where Ron Rio's Cougars continue grouping in search of the season's first conquest.

But Basrak won't take Conant casually, despite successive Cougar losses of 32-12 to Lake Park, 38-7 to Forest View and 28-0 to Arlington.

For one, it will be Conant's homecoming, Conant's first homecoming because the young school has at last had a graduating class. And every coach understands that peculiar things can be wrought by football players on such an occasion.

BEYOND THAT, Basrak recognizes that the Conant team is not quite so incompetent as its scores might indicate.

"I saw them against Forest View," he said, "and they played a good ball game into the third quarter. And I saw them again Friday, and was really impressed with the way they played against Arlington. We could be in for a tough afternoon."

Basrak, does not, however, have to be modest about his legions. His starting offensive eleven features 10 seniors, most of them veterans from 1965, and one junior. The team boasts good size, about 200 pounds down the line and up to 200 pounds in the backfield. The players are strong, adept at moving the ball on the ground and — if they have to — in the air.

THOSE ATTRIBUTES have produced victories of 13-0 over Niles East in a fiercely-contested cross-town battle, 20-13 over Glenbrook North in the Central Suburban League opener, and—the most convincing — 33-0 over Glenbrook South to put the CSL mark at 2-0.

Much of the success is the result of simple good, hard running, with most of it provided by 190-pound senior halfback and co-captain Burt Perlow and 200-pound senior fullback Jim Morten. Both have been clipping off yardage at about four yards a carry, and Perlow, though it's his first year full-time on offense, has already run for five touchdowns. Morten has two scores, one on a gallop of 35 yards.

They're backed by lighter right halfback Jim Carter and reserve halfback Donn Simon, who has also crossed the goal twice for the Indians. The attack rotates around the only junior regular, quarterback Mike Grejbowski, a tall 175-pounder whom Basrak says has made excellent strides as a play-caller and ball-handler.

The Indian line has been boosted with the return to full duty of 180-pound center Greg Zera, back from a knee injury. It shows fine balance with a pair of 200-pound guards in Bob Anderson and Bob Potoker, 210-pound tackles in Fred Erhardt and co-captain Dan McAvoy and ends in 170-pound Bruce Pindras and 200-pound George Timmings.

RIO IS continuing his building of a team with a blending of youth and a few veterans, with Conant now having committed itself to drop all junior varsity competition for the rest of the season. Because of that decision — in the belief that it's better to concentrate the numbers on a varsity than spread them thin among a varsity and JV — the preliminary game this Saturday will be a sophomore clash with Elk Grove, and the varsity game will continue to show young Conant faces.

Most of the youth is in the Cougar backfield, with the three small juniors — Paul Witkowski, Barry Alexa and Mike Berns — working with senior fullback Art Leitz. Witkowski continues to learn in the quarterback slot, and though he threw but six times against Arlington, he's hit on 29 of 64 passes for 265 yards in three games, so is a definite passing threat.

The other three have divided up the rushing, with Alexa's 96 yards on 34 carries — all the plus yardage in the last two games — pacing the team. All three — Alexas, Berns and Leitz — came off their best performances against Arlington, when Conant ran for 151 yards as a team and kept the game as close as 14-0 into the fourth period. They like a wide-open rushing game.

MOST OF Conant's veteran strength will be in the line, where only end Pat O'Malley and guard John Armfield are juniors among the tentative starters. That line did a lot of the work in moving the ball against Arlington.

Rio was well-pleased with the Conant effort against the Cardinals, ranking it as one of those losses that's like a victory. He called it a concerted team effort, and was especially happy about the work in a defensive backfield — including youngsters like sophomore Larry Sicher — that shut off Arlington's storied Steve Allen with just four completions in 17 tries, and intercepted three aerials.

Yet he must remain cautious, especially in light of Niles' strong running game.

"Niles West is a powerful team and a well-coached team," he observed. "But if our boys are up for it, it'll be a good ball game."

Punt, Pass & Kick Registration Ends

The registration period for the 1966 Punt, Pass and Kick competition closes Friday, Oct. 7, for all Chicago-area boys aged 8-13.

Each boy who enters the contest will be eligible to match his punting, passing and place-kicking skills against other competing youngsters in the same age group.

Registrations are being accepted at all Metropolitan Chicago Ford dealers, who are sponsoring the program for the sixth year in conjunction with the National Football League.

The area sign-up is at George Poole Ford in Arlington Heights with the competition set for Sunday afternoon, Oct. 8, at Pioneer Park.

Prizes for the dealer-level competition will br Olympic-style medallions for first, second and third places in each age group.

Local winners will advance to the district competition and district winners to the divisonal level. Divisional competition is followed by the area contest which is slated for halftime of the Chicago Bears-San Francisco 49ers game at Wrigley Field on Nov. 13.

Area winners advance to the national finals at the NFL Playoff Bowl game in Miami, Fla., on Jan. 8.

Contestants do not need any special equipment to participate.

Wheeling's Frosh Whip Forest View

Wheeling triumphed on both 'A' and 'B' frosh levels Saturday morning in Mid-Suburban football competition with Forest View.

The Wildcats scored three touchdowns in the first quarter of the 'A' game and coasted to a 33-0 victory.

Scott Fiege and Steve Schuler tallied two six-pointers each for the winners.

Fiege counted on a 25-yard run and 90-yard kickoff return, and Schuler went across on a 45-yard run and 12-yard pass from Gary Schweitzer.

Ken Peterson covered 50 yards on his scoring effort.

In 'B' play Wheeling scored two first half touchdowns and held on for a 13-7 victory.

Dave Westhouse had runs of 28 and five yards for Wildcat scores, and Gary Swanson and Randy Grims were credited with outstanding games in the line.

There were no details available on Forest View in either game.

Knight Frosh Divide; 'Bs' Triumph, 7-0

Prospect's freshmen gridders earned a split with their opponents at Maine West Saturday morning, with the Knight Frosh B recording a 7-0 win to go with a 38-6 defeat suffered by the A squad.

The win was established when Craig Hutchinson swept end twice in the second period, once for the TD and once for the conversion.

Labeled a team effort, the shutout win was stablilized by the defensive work of middle guard Tom Wagner and ends Phil Modie and Al Bersted.

The Frosh A eleven was not nearly as successful. Mike Gaffney finally put the Knights on the scoreboard in the last stanza with a 60-yard scamper.

Opposite Poles

Paddock area grid teams went to extremes during the 1960 season. While Arlington suffered a winless year, Prospect was 8-0 and allowed only 26 points all season, recording four shutouts.

Heinemann, Ewart Score In Card Win

Two long scoring dashes provided the margin of victory Saturday morning as Arlington's frosh-soph Cardinals blanked Conant, 13-0, for their third straight victory.

Will Heinemann tallied on a 42-yard burst over center, and Dave Ewart covered 41 yards on an end sweep for the two Cardinal touchdowns.

Conant failed to penetrate past the Arlington 47 yard line.

Paul Stevens' booming punts featured the Cardinal effort.

Coach Tom Pitchford's Arlington team will host Wheeling Saturday morning. Jack Dean's Conant eleven will host Elk Grove at 12 noon Saturday in the preliminary to the Conant-Niles West varsity meeting.

It's Pirate Homecoming

Knights To Palatine Seeking First Win

by Ken Knox

The gentlemanly thing might be for Palatine to let Prospect have its turn.

The Pirates, after all, have taken the first stride away from the valley of disappointment, that dreaded location that can claim even the most hopeful of football teams.

They did it by running through Elk Grove, a 26-0 decision last Saturday that reversed a disastrous two-game plunge.

But the Knights, despite a stout performance against Maine West, remained where they were last Saturday: without victory in three games.

So the sentimental might say give the Knights their opportunity. But that is not the formula in athletic competition. Especially not — as it will be for Palatine Saturday — when the game is one team's homecoming, and when to that team winning a second time is as crucial a problem as the other's winning the first time.

It's because of those ingredients that a game that might look like a matching of also-rans assumes promise and importance on Saturday.

WHEN THE TWO met for the first time ever last autumn, it was under decidedly different circumstances. Palatine had won six consecutive games, and was closing in on its first undefeated season. The Knights were in a late season spoiler position, and ranked as upset threats. The game, however, ended as might have been predicted, a 28-0 crushing of the Knights.

Now Palatine, after stumbling twice in its effort to follow that season, is on the rebound, hoping to even the standard at 2-2 and win its first in the Mid-Suburban League. Prospect, after successive losses to North Chicago, Wheeling and Maine West, is seeking simply victory number one, and would dearly love it this Saturday in the clash at Hale Hildebrandt Field on South Quentin Rd.

The Pirates should have more going for them than they did when they were whipped by Gelnbrook North and Arlington. They have, for one, shown an awakened attack. And they are expected to have back one instrument they were lacking in the Arlington and Elk Grove games: the MSL's defending champion rusher John Ekeberg.

THE LITTLE halfback whose efforts against Prospect last fall were so immense he was cited the Chicago's American Back of the Week — has been on the mend from a severe leg bruise suffered in the season's opener. If he's sound, and if Palatine headman Arv Herstedt can get a repetition of the improved offensive blocking and running he saw against Elk Grove, the threat will be potent.

Against the Grenadiers, senior Pat Kinsella showed brilliantly at fullback, battling for 151 yards, while Dennis Lynch bloomed with a 90-yard effort at one halfback slot. Herstedt may be hard pressed to fit them in with Ekeberg and regular blocking back Wayne Render, but it's a pleasant prospect.

Prospect, Don Williams; Palatine, Arv Herstedt

The quarterback problem appears to have been well resolved by junior Brian Scholl. The 5-9, 155-pounder, after partial use in the first two games, showed rapid development against Elk Grove as an effective scrambling runner, as a passer who hit on four of six for three touchdowns, and as a signal-caller who moved the team to some 400 yards total offense.

HERSTEDT HAS more of a problem in his offensive line, where he's not sure who will start at guard or at one of the end positions, and he has a battle at center where 6-5, 272-pound John Reed is trying to take the job back from 180-pound junior Pat Donahue.

The Pirate headman is also concerned with his defense, particularly in the reactions to unfolding plays. A lot of work on tightening up was promised for this week. A resurgent attitude may help all around.

"The boys just had to win last Saturday," said Herstedt. "It didn't really matter who we beat, just so long as we got a win."

That's precisely what Don Williams and the Knights will be seeking at Palatine's expense on the weekend. In pursuit of that goal, Williams will continue a policy of experimentation with both veterans and youths in his lineup.

ONE SWITCH calls for the moving on a regular basis of Tom Lundstedt from quarterback to a split end position. A tough 6-4, 195 pounds, the senior Lundstedt in little more than a game at end has become the team's leading pass receiver with six catches for 67 yards.

Since passing has easily been Prospect's strong suit on offense, the switch may be a meaningful one. There are receivers to go with Lundstedt, notably in regular halfback Vince Curry and in Steve Niebuhr, who may start at the other half Saturday. Curry has three receptions for 50 yards and Niebuhr has six for 51.

But in finding someone to work the attack, Williams has still been on the search. Senior John Phillips, third in a line of Phillips boys at Prospect quarterback, is getting the pre-game nod. But a junior, Mike Gaffney, is being brought up, and senior Bob Youngquist remains in a reserve role. None of the signal-callers has had outstanding success, but part of the problem has been spotty protection for them.

THE RUNNERS, too, have been largely bottled up for the Knights. Fullback Pete Smith cracked for 90 yards in the opener, but has been held to 12 in the two games since. Curry, a veteran, has been averaging about 20 yards a game.

Much of the Prospect problem can be attributed to youth, and those are the kind of problems that change with age. Williams is concentrating on several juniors, particularly in the line where 200-pound guard Butch Leonard, 205-pound center Mike Sanders and 215-pound tackle Jeff Schneider may become big fixtures. The headman is also bringing up defensive linebecker Norm Klein, rated lineman of the week for three straight weeks with the JV team, and sophomore defensive end Tim Hanaan, though the latter may not see much action.

"We seem," reflected Williams, "to be just inches away from that winning combination. The boys seem to be playing better, but we need that one unknown ingredient to get them all together at one time. Possibly what we're lacking is that 'take charge' type of ball player on the field at all times to get the boys up and keep them that way."

It may also be that Williams' boys simply need most that first victory. In their quest for it Saturday, they can't be expected to be any more gentlemanly than Palatine would be in allowing it.

Leahy's effort against Tuley prompted a change in plans.

Key men up front for St. George are tackles Bill Axley (6-0, 195) and Don Leadrot (6-0, 190) and guard Pat McCarthy (5-10, 180), all regulars in 1965.

Schmidt is in his first season as head coach at St. George after serving as an assistant at the Evanston school last fall.

ALTHOUGH ST. Viator's Gliwa was pleased to have his charges post their second win in three games last Sunday against Marist, he did see room for improvement in the overall effort.

"We didn't hit as hard as we're capable of," Joe said, "and didn't have that punch down by the goal line. We could move the ball for the most part but had too much trouble putting it across."

Gliwa doesn't plan any major changes in his two alignments. He did note that the return of veteran tackle Denny Forston was evident in the line play last Sunday. "You could tell he was back," praised the head coach. Forston, a three-year varsity veteran, missed the Argo game, a 16-0 setback, with a leg injury.

KEY MAN ON the attack for the Lions against Marist, as he has been in the first three games this year, was fleet halfback Larry Snyder. Larry banged for 56 yards Sunday and now owns 169 for the season, a 4.6 per carry average.

But Snyder has yet to find his way into the end zone in 1966 after penetrating for eight scores as a junior. That chance may come Sunday. He has three touchdowns in two previous games with St. George.

In three meetings with St. George, Gliwa-coached elevens have piled up 68 points and yielded only one score, a touchdown in the 1964 encounter which was decided by a 21-7 count.

St. Viator blanked the Dragons 27-0 in Gliwa's first year on the job and fashioned a 20-0 victory last fall.

Falcons, Maine

difference. First string center and linebacker Craig Rowells will be lost because of injury and this boy is one of coach Ken Olson's top performers. Olson also lost his other starting linebacker as well as a defensive end to injuries.

THE MAINE West team is not an overly large one to begin with and the squad boasts only seven lettermen. Although it is basically a senior team, Olson is faced with mostly green material, and this has hurt the Warriors so far in the early stages of the season.

In the Maine West backfield Olson has some horses who know how to get the job done. In last week's Prospect game, in which the Warriors did not complete a single pass, Ken Mandelky was the bread-and-butter man as he carried 20 times for 141 yards and a seven yard per carry average.

Giving able support to Mandelky will be Dick Manny and Phil Murdock. Bob Banger will again start at the quarterback spot.

This team may not be of the caliber of some of the Maine West teams of the past but Olson-coached squads are always dangerous.

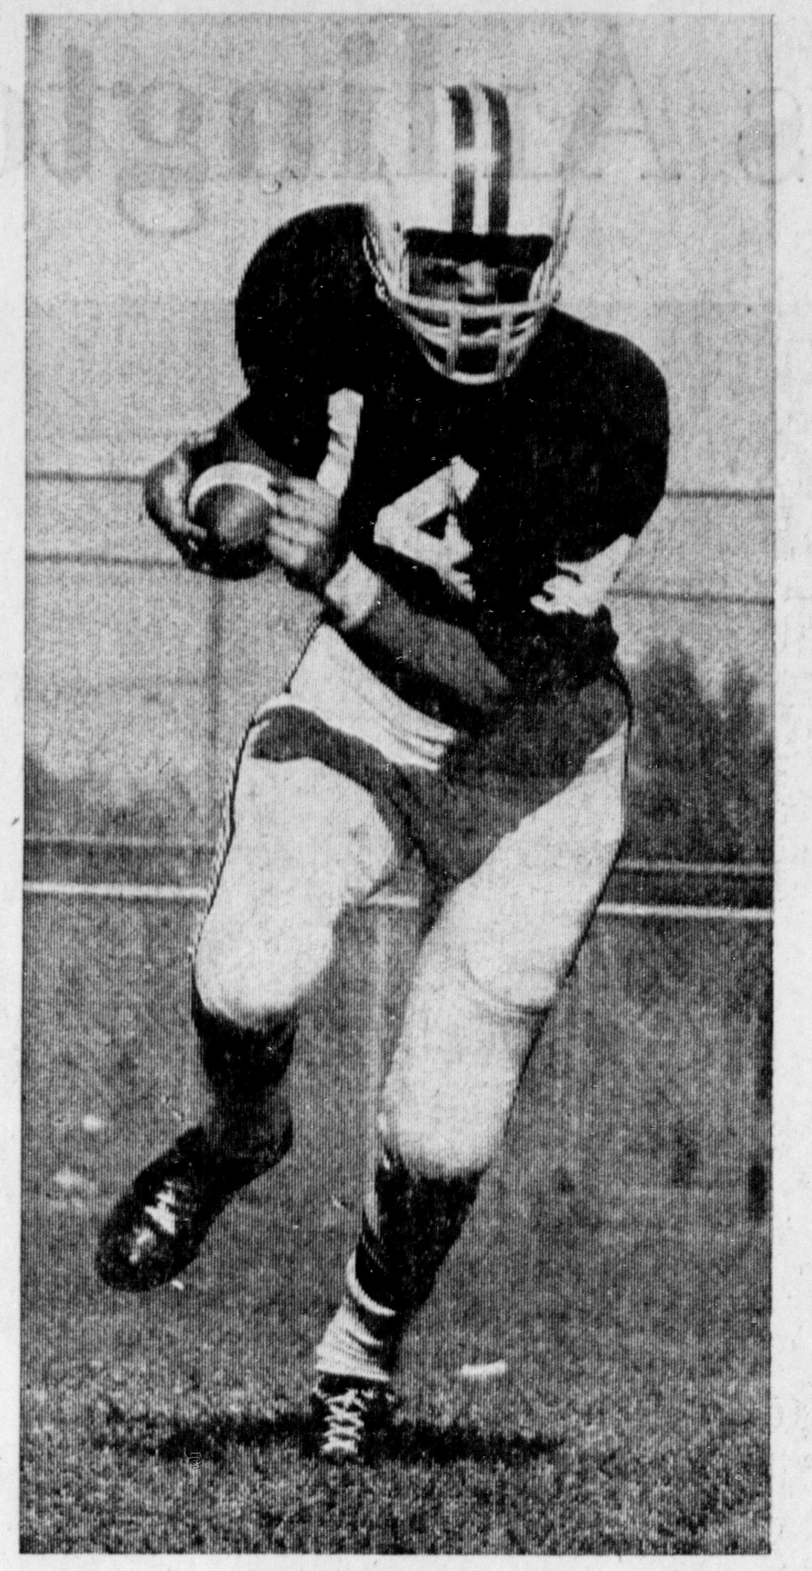
THE FALCON lineup is almost the same as last week although Dave Kaspari has earned back his right to start up front. The Falcons will again go with Mark Frankel at center and Spence Driescharf teaming with Kaspari at the guards. The tackles will be Bob Savage and LeRoy Stevens with the ends again being Howard Brasch and Dan Smith. Brasch is the leading pass receiver in the league with eight grabs for 50 yards.

The backfield will be the same as started against Wheeling with Rich Gillespie at quarterback, Hank Tasche at fullback and Frank Cavello and Jeff Jacoby at the halves. Tasche is running fourth in league rushing with 139 yards in 28 cracks, a 5-0 average.



BOB STEVENS, St. Viator's senior quarterback, looks for running room during early stages of the Lions' non-conference battle with Marist of Chicago last Sunday afternoon. Stevens carried 12 times for 45 yards to finish as the Lions' second most effective back in 14-0 conquest of the visiting Redskins. (Staff Photo)

as a junior at Northern. "Who knows what might have happened," Fred Sr. asks, "if he hadn't decided to go to Northern?"

Harold Danielson of Crystal Lake, a major league scout on a part-time basis, encouraged the Yankees to give Peterson a tryout, and Danielson still finds time, as a very special friend of the family, to work with Fritz.

Fritz Peterson, who says he gave some thought as a youngster to playing professional baseball but felt that chance would never come, now finds himself an established starting pitcher for the New York Yankees.

He went to spring training last February as a promising pitcher, one to be watched carefully with the idea that he would do his important hurling this season with Toledo of the International League. But then Fritz found the circumstances just right for him.

The excitement of that rookie season is behind him now. He's proven he can win in major league competition.

The future looks bright for this confident, out-going young man who admits "I can't wait for spring training to begin."

For the record, Fritz Peterson worked in 216 innings in his rookie year in the major leagues with a yield of 196 hits. He struck out 96, walked only 40, and fired two shutouts. He toiled in 33 games over-all, 11 of them complete, in fashioning a 12-11 mark.

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

Maine rocked Arlington's varsity football team, 31-7, with halfback Vic Pagel scoring three touchdowns. . .The Cards counted when Howie Berg returned a kickoff from his own 18 to the Maine 15 and then lateraled to Ashley Haase for the score. . .The Blue Demons topped the Cardinal cross country team, 24-31, with Ken Courter and Bob Taggart running 3-4 for the losers.

Wildcats, Cards

the grand style of their previous encounters.

"We only seemed to play when we had to," said Coach Allen of the Cardinals who crumbled a Conant eleven rated much less of a threat than Barrington or Palatine.

While the Cougars were blanked, the Arlington passing game was not nearly as effective against them and the Cardinals wrested the decision largely through the efforts of their ground war.

"I WAS PLEASED with the running of our backs against Conant," Allen continued, "and the play of Wadzita, who went both ways, and Jim Donchess on defense.

"You have to give Conant plenty of credit. They came to play football and they played well. They're going to beat someone yet."

Wheeling came off a poor second statistically to Forest View the same weekend. While the Wildcats were limiting the Falcons to a meager 121 yards total, they were only able to record a paltry 48 themselves. Robin Melzer and Rich Haddock had a one-for-seven mark combined in the Wheeling passing department.

DALETSKI STILL had more to smile over than the win. "Our pass defense, particularly on the long ones, improved tremendously," he stated.

While Forest View connected on 10 of 21 flings, they netted only 45 yards and had two of their tosses intercepted by the Wildcats. This substantiates Daletski's observation and could contain the formula with which the hosts completely block off Arlington's chief route to victory when the teams tangle this week.

"Last week it was a rock 'em, sock 'em affair," Daletski went on. "This week we expect to play chase 'em and catch 'em."

"IT COULD TURN into a battle of individuals too. Tackle Kim Markshausen pitted against our Krueger; Bastable against Lockwood; Hittman versus Conley."

"We've got to play better ball this weekend than we did last Friday," Allen countered. "Wheeling is a good, solid ball club with a dangerous backfield. It's their homecoming too and they'll have a lot of incentive going into the game."

With the plot and cast now revealed, the match looms as an obviously important one if either side expects to win the circuit flag. Both teams are strong but have their weaknesses.

ARLINGTON, WITH a flare for exciting aerial maneuvers, has shown some vulnerability to a rushing attack. Barrington collected over 300 yards from them in their opener and Conant struck for 151 last week.

Wheeling boasts a line as close to air-tight as the law of averages permits but is not as flawless in protecting their secondary.

The end of the story? Both managements request all spectators remain until the end of the performance and not reveal the result until the final buzzer has sounded!

Costello Scores In Prospect Win

Halfback Jack Costello put the frosting on a 65-yard third-period drive by cracking over from the two to hand the Prospect sophomore's a 7-0 win over Maine West Saturday.

Tim Hamann, a defensive end, supplied the extra point.

Cited for their key defensive roles in shutting out the Warriors were Hamann and defensive halfback Greg Bates.

Indians Are Unbeaten

Cougars Host Niles In Homecoming Tilt

by Ken Knox

You might say that when a senior-dominated football team unbeaten in three games challenges a junior-laden football team without victory in three games, the result can be assumed.

You might say that, and you might be right.

But two men—for reasons of caution and for an understanding of the changeable fortunes of high school football—won't make the assumption, and they're right for their reluctance.

Niies West's Mike Basrak, guiding what may be one of the finest of Indian teams, will put the standard on the line this Saturday at Conant, where Ron Rio's Cougars continue grouping in search of the season's first conquest.

But Basrak won't take Conant casually, despite successive Cougar losses of 32-12 to Lake Park, 38-7 to Forest View and 28-0 to Arlington.

For one, it will be Conant's homecoming, Conant's first homecoming because the young school has at last had a graduating class. And every coach understands that peculiar things can be wrought by football players on such an occasion.

BEYOND THAT, Basrak recognizes that the Conant team is not quite so incompetent as its scores might indicate.

"I saw them against Forest View," he said, "and they played a good ball game into the third quarter. And I saw them again Friday, and was really impressed with the way they played against Arlington. We could be in for a tough afternoon."

Basrak, does not, however, have to be modest about his legions. His starting offensive eleven features 10 seniors, most of them veterans from 1965, and one junior. The team boasts good size, about 200 pounds down the line and up to 200 pounds in the backfield. The players are strong, adept at moving the ball on the ground and — if they have to — in the air.

THOSE ATTRIBUTES have produced victories of 13-0 over Niles East in a fiercely-contested cross-town battle, 20-13 over Glenbrook North in the Central Suburban League opener, and—the most convincing — 33-0 over Glenbrook South to put the CSL mark at 2-0.

Much of the success is the result of simple good, hard running, with most of it provided by 190-pound senior halfback and co-captain Burt Perlow and 200-pound senior fullback Jim Morten. Both have been clipping off yardage at about four yards a carry, and Perlow, though it's his first year full-time on offense, has already run for five touchdowns. Morten has two scores, one on a gallop of 35 yards.

They're backed by lighter right halfback Jim Carter and reserve halfback Donn Simon, who has also crossed the goal twice for the Indians. The attack rotates around the only junior regular, quarterback Mike Grejbowski, a tall 175-pounder whom Basrak says has made excellent strides as a play-caller and ball-handler.

The Indian line has been boosted with the return to full duty of 180-pound center Greg Zera, back from a knee injury. It shows fine balance with a pair of 200-pound guards in Bob Anderson and Bob Potoker, 210-pound tackles in Fred Erhardt and co-captain Dan McAvoy and ends in 170-pound Bruce Pindras and 200-pound George Timmings.

RIO IS continuing his building of a team with a blending of youth and a few veterans, with Conant now having committed itself to drop all junior varsity competition for the rest of the season. Because of that decision — in the belief that it's better to concentrate the numbers on a varsity than spread them thin among a varsity and JV — the preliminary game this Saturday will be a sophomore clash with Elk Grove, and the varsity game will continue to show young Conant faces.

COACHES
Niles West, Mike Basrak; Conant, Ron Rio

Most of the youth is in the Cougar backfield, with the three small juniors — Paul Witkowski, Barry Alexa and Mike Berns — working with senior fullback Art Leitz. Witkowski continues to learn in the quarterback slot, and though he threw but six times against Arlington, he's hit on 29 of 64 passes for 265 yards in three games, so is a definite passing threat.

The other three have divided up the rushing, with Alexa's 96 yards on 34 carries — all the plus yardage in the last two games — pacing the team. All three — Alexas, Berns and Leitz — came off their best performances against Arlington, when Conant ran for 151 yards as a team and kept the game as close as 14-0 into the fourth period. They like a wide-open rushing game.

MOST OF Conant's veteran strength will be in the line, where only end Pat O'Malley and guard John Armfield are juniors among the tentative starters. That line did a lot of the work in moving the ball against Arlington.

Rio was well-pleased with the Conant effort against the Cardinals, ranking it as one of those losses that's like a victory. He called it a concerted team effort, and was especially happy about the work in a defensive backfield — including youngsters like sophomore Larry Sicher — that shut off Arlington's storied Steve Allen with just four completions in 17 tries, and intercepted three aerials.

Yet he must remain cautious, especially in light of Niles' strong running game.

"Niles West is a powerful team and a well-coached team," he observed. "But if our boys are up for it, it'll be a good ball game."

Punt, Pass & Kick Registration Ends

The registration period for the 1966 Punt, Pass and Kick competition closes Friday, Oct. 7, for all Chicago-area boys aged 8-13.

Each boy who enters the contest will be eligible to match his punting, passing and place-kicking skills against other competing youngsters in the same age group.

Registrations are being accepted at all Metropolitan Chicago Ford dealers, who are sponsoring the program for the sixth year in conjunction with the National Football League.

The area sign-up is at George Poole Ford in Arlington Heights with the competition set for Sunday afternoon, Oct. 8, at Pioneer Park.

Prizes for the dealer-level competition will br Olympic-style medallions for first, second and third places in each age group.

Local winners will advance to the district competition and district winners to the divisonal level. Divisional competition is followed by the area contest which is slated for halftime of the Chicago Bears-San Francisco 49ers game at Wrigley Field on Nov. 13.

Area winners advance to the national finals at the NFL Playoff Bowl game in Miami, Fla., on Jan. 8.

Contestants do not need any special equipment to participate.

Wheeling's Frosh Whip Forest View

Wheeling triumphed on both 'A' and 'B' frosh levels Saturday morning in Mid-Suburban football competition with Forest View.

The Wildcats scored three touchdowns in the first quarter of the 'A' game and coasted to a 33-0 victory.

Scott Fiege and Steve Schuler tallied two six-pointers each for the winners.

Fiege counted on a 25-yard run and 90-yard kickoff return, and Schuler went across on a 45-yard run and 12-yard pass from Gary Schweitzer.

Ken Peterson covered 50 yards on his scoring effort.

In 'B' play Wheeling scored two first half touchdowns and held on for a 13-7 victory.

Dave Westhouse had runs of 28 and five yards for Wildcat scores, and Gary Swanson and Randy Grims were credited with outstanding games in the line.

There were no details available on Forest View in either game.

Knight Frosh Divide; 'Bs' Triumph, 7-0

Prospect's freshmen gridders earned a split with their opponents at Maine West Saturday morning, with the Knight Frosh B recording a 7-0 win to go with a 38-6 defeat suffered by the A squad.

The win was established when Craig Hutchinson swept end twice in the second period, once for the TD and once for the conversion.

Labeled a team effort, the shutout win was stablilized by the defensive work of middle guard Tom Wagner and ends Phil Modie and Al Bersted.

The Frosh A eleven was not nearly as successful. Mike Gaffney finally put the Knights on the scoreboard in the last stanza with a 60-yard scamper.

Opposite Poles

Paddock area grid teams went to extremes during the 1960 season. While Arlington suffered a winless year, Prospect was 8-0 and allowed only 26 points all season, recording four shutouts.

Heinemann, Ewart Score In Card Win

Two long scoring dashes provided the margin of victory Saturday morning as Arlington's frosh-soph Cardinals blanked Conant, 13-0, for their third straight victory.

Will Heinemann tallied on a 42-yard burst over center, and Dave Ewart covered 41 yards on an end sweep for the two Cardinal touchdowns.

Conant failed to penetrate past the Arlington 47 yard line.

Paul Stevens' booming punts featured the Cardinal effort.

Coach Tom Pitchford's Arlington team will host Wheeling Saturday morning. Jack Dean's Conant eleven will host Elk Grove at 12 noon Saturday in the preliminary to the Conant-Niles West varsity meeting.

Pirates Win 15-42 Over Cat Runners

Five visiting Palatine harriers crossed the finish line within 20 seconds of each other to swamp host Wheeling's varsity cross country squad at Arlington Country Club Tuesday.

With Mike Ferguson leading the way, the Pirates earned a solid 15-42 triumph to boost their season mark to 5-3 and shove Wheeling deeper into the Mid-Suburban League cellar. The Wildcats, now 2-5 overall, have yet to win a conference outing in three tries.

Ferguson stepped into the winner's circle just a second ahead of Bill Bahnfleth and the Palatine parade continued until Lenny Eaton finished sixth for the Wildcats. Pursuing their teammates in third, fourth and fifth were Mark Visk, Bruce Atkinson and Dennis Denton.

PALATINE's victory in the varsity affair reversed Wheeling's winning trend in the lower-level matches. The hosts were easy victors in the sophomore run, 17-43, after squeezing out a 26-29 frosh decision.

In the freshman race, John Rodgers of Wheeling edged Pirate Steve Bahnfleth for first place honors with Steve Born carrying Wildcat colors to third. Other top finishers were Palatine's Tom Filippini (4), Wheeling's Bill Vincent (5), Palatine's Mike Regan (6), Wheeling's Ernie Leach (7), Palatine's Tom Carkeek (8) and Steve Silkworth (9) and Wheeling's Dan Fergus (10).

Austin Trice led a trio of Wildcats home in front at the sophomore level. Pacing him were Frank Savage and Mike Sonnenshein. Other Wheeling scoring slots were snared by Greg Gawlik (5) and Keith Gresens (6).

Palatine's best sophomore times were recorded by Scott Smith (4), Allen Eggebraten (8), Jim Weyhenmeyer (9), Howard Weld (10) and Tom Krege (15).

Ferguson's 10:05 winning time in the main event is the best showing this season on the Wildcat course.

Maine West Slaps Conant's Runners

Paced by another powerful performance from junior Lee LaBadie, Maine West's cross country men overwhelmed Conant 17-41 Tuesday afternoon.

The varsity victory, verifying the Warriors' status as definite contenders in the Mid-Suburban League chase, was the second straight for MW in the conference, while Conant dropped its second straight decision, slipping to a 5-2 dual mark.

LaBadie was denied a head-to-head duel with Conant's standout senior Dick Ledford when Ledford missed the meet because of illness. But the day was clearly LaBadie's — and Maine West's — anyway.

LaBADIE WENT to the front almost immediately in the race, and widened his edge to win by a commanding margin. He was clocked in 10:05 over the Warrior course, which measures just a few strides short of two miles. The time was 11 seconds off LaBadie's course record, but was still impressive in that it was 33 seconds faster than the runnerup — teammate Ed Lusk — and came in the face of a buffeting wind.

After LaBadie and Lusk, Bill Barringer's Warriors also picked up third and fourth with Doug Chase and Scott Schlesser. Fifth and sixth were yielded to Dave Troy and Glenn Lee, best for Jack Ary's charges.

Then Jim Kasaris came in to complete the Maine scoring, and Jim Braun — running eighth — landed a pusher place for the Warriors. Sam Burns took ninth for the Cougars, but the next 12 places — until Bob Lesher and Sam Culpepper took 22nd and 23rd — went to Maine.

The Warriors also dominated the frosh-soph half of the meet, handling the Cougars there 18-45. Gary Wolf and John Plas ran 1-2 for Maine, with Conant's Ron Schweigert in third. Filling out the Maine totals, Al Schenk, Darryl Jonasson and Marty Swanson ran fourth, fifth and sixth. Ron Vombrock, in eighth, was the next best for Conant.

Attracts Area Harriers

29th Janesville Meet

The sponsors of Janesville (Wis.) High School's traditional cross country meet might have been excused if they didn't renew the invitations to Forest View, Arlington and Palatine for this fall's running.

The three Paddock area harrier units, running at Janesville a year ago, made almost a private thing of the meet's honors.

The Falcons and the Cardinals separated by only a point, ruled the "A" division 1-2, with the Pirates just nosed out by Madison West for third.

On the "B" level, the Pirates dominated with Arlington second, and Madison West again preventing a sweep by the locals by besting Forest View for the third spot.

But the three—with the new William Fremd High School going along as well—will be back in the field this Saturday as the Midwest Invitational is run for the 29th time. And again, their runners will be thick with the serious bidders for individual and team laurels. Even Fremd—restricted to only B competition because of thin first year ranks—must be regarded as a threat.

THE MEET is a Wisconsin-Illinois affair which sometimes features as many as two dozen harrier aggregations. As of Monday, Janesville Athletic Director Kenneth Kitelinger—the meet's principal director—was sorting 17 entries, including Antioch and Grayslake besides the Paddock area squads from Northern Illinois. The Wisconsin entries have come in from high schools in Madison, Racine, Kenosha, Beloit, Milwaukee and Janesville.

Most of the teams will race in both divisions, with the B competition slated first at 10:30 a.m. on Municipal Golf Course of Janesville's Riverside Park. The layout is an undulating 2.2 miles, and the record target time—established by Grant's Paul Lindahl in 1964—is 10:00.6.

The defending champion Falcons—under new headman John Heenan—will go into the competition minus the A division's individual titlist of 1965, Craig Brown. But the Falcons, 4-1 in duals as of Monday, will send a potent team paced by senior Ted Lambert, seventh individually a year ago. He'll be augmented by varsity runners Cliff Kuhnlohe, Oscar Pequeno, Dick Appleton, Joe Branka and Bucky Jones.

THE MOST serious area contender for the A title, based on performances to date, would have to be Arlington. Though losing Bob Yeazel and Dave Schimpf, second and eighth individually in 1965, Bruce Samoore's Cardinals have filled that void with the exciting juniors Dave Dieters and Rory Cassidy, and have for backup veterans Greg Busch and Larry Malcolmson, junior Rich Saxton and sophomore Tom Swanson. Unbeaten in their first five duals, the Cards have been imposing.

TED LAMBERT

But Palatine, of all the locals, has the most impressive investment in honors at Janesville. The Pirate teams have won three of the A titles since 1961, and have two consecutive B titles going for them. Back for Dick Storm's squad from last year's high placers is Bill Bahnfleth, who was sixth in the A running. But balance has been the watchword for the Pirates lately, as they've rebounded to run the dual mark to 4-3 through last Friday. Mike Ferguson has been running with Bahnfleth to pace the team, but they've been pressed by Mark Visk, Bruce Atkinson, Dennis Denton, Jerry Weyrich and Tim Sullivan.

Fremd's hopes to threaten for the B crown are partly inspired by the school split acquisition of two boys who placed for Palatine's B champions a year ago: Mark Aggerbeck and Dave Kehe, now juniors. But headman Ron Menely, in picking his team, has choices from junior Keith Wojtas, a Palatine varsity runner in 1965, sophomore Ray Sommer, freshman Pete Conforti, sophomore Bill Schult and juniors Steve Alborn and Bill Boward. As a first year varsity unit, they've won four of five duals.

Honors in the meet consist of just that—honor—on the B level, because no medals or trophies are given. But in the A competition, the bidding will be for a champion's trophy, a runnerup trophy, and medals for the first 15 individual placers.

Arlington Harriers Remain Unbeaten in Varsity Duals

Arlington's varsity cross country team, intent on carrying an unbeaten conference record into their crucial meeting with Maine West on Oct. 14, moved one step closer to that goal Tuesday afternoon with a convincing 16-39 victory over host Prospect.

Coach Bruce Samoore's Cardinals, unbeaten in six duals over-all and standing 3-0 in the Mid-Suburban, featured their youth movement in handing Prospect its second loss in three league outings.

Junior Dave Dieters, beaten only once in six duals, flashed to another impressive first as he covered the Prospect High course in 9:26, the second best clocking ever registered at the Foundry Road site.

DIETERS, WHOSE lone setback in duals was in a tight finish with Evanston's touted Dave Abernathy, topped teammate Rory Cassidy, another junior, by seven seconds. That 9:26, however, was 23 seconds off the course mark established last Friday afternoon by Maine West's junior Lee LaBadie.

With juniors supplying the 1-2 spots for Arlington, a sophomore slipped in for third. Tom Swanson posted a 9:35 clocking, two seconds behind Cassidy, for his best finish in a dual this fall.

GRABBING THE top position for Coach Joe Wanner's young Prospect team was junior Steve Holmes. Steve covered his home course in 10:08 for a fifth place ranking.

Owen MacBride finished seventh at 10:22, Bob Forbes eighth at 10:31, Bruce Oswald ninth at 10:36, and Joe Wilcox tenth at 10:37.

Prospect gained some satisfaction for the afternoon with an impressive 24-33 frosh-soph win, hiking its league record to 3-0 while handing Arlington its first MSL loss.

CARDINAL FROSH Scott Butler gained individual honors with a 10:15 effort, 13 seconds ahead of Dave Proudfoot of Prospect. But the Knights had the balance this time.

Dick Paulson (10:31) finished third with teammate Doug Bach in fourth at 10:36. Also scoring for Prospect were Bill Skibbe in seventh and Jeff Brauchle in eighth.

Al McKay came in fifth for the next Arlington spot behind winner Butler. Dave Marszalek (sixth), Ken Malcolmson (10th), and Rick Pelland (11th) rounded out the scoring.

Prospect also won the frosh meet 19-37 with Klinker grabbing individual laurels at 10:57.

Other Knights in the picture were Pete Dumke (2), Greg Glade (3), Morrison (5), and Grimm (8).

SCORING FOR Arlington were Jim Hilgenfeld in fourth, Bob Loughman in the sixth, Terry Kluesing in seventh, Cliff Laufer in 10th, and Tom Klingner in 11th.

Arlington's harriers will run at Arlington Country Club Friday afternoon against Wheeling and will hook up in the Janesville Invitational Saturday. They'll meet a host Glenbrook South unit next Tuesday afternoon in a non-league bout.

Prospect catches host Palatine Friday at Salk Park in Rolling Meadows and Forest View next Tuesday afternoon at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

Arlington Hts. Has Rugby Club; To Play Sunday

The North Shore Rugby Club, formerly of Waukegan, is moving its home quarters to Arlington Heights.

Lambert Runs to Triangular Honors

Forest View's Ted Lambert sped through thetwo mile cross country course at Washington Park in Chicago in an excellent 10:03 clocking Tuesday to bring first place honors home for the Falcons.

The Falcons, running against three other schools, New Trier, Marshall, and Harlan, placed second in team standings as they chalked up 37 points to winner New Trier's 35.

Other finishers for Forest View beside Lambert were Oscar Pequeno and Dick Appleton in the sixth and seventh spots, and Joe Branka, tenth, and Cliff Kuhnlohe 13th.

In the frosh-soph encounter Forest View again took second place in team honors as they scored 52 points to 16 for the winners from New Trier.

Bob Bell was the fifth place winner for the Falcons and the first man across the line for the Birds. Mike McCormick took eighth place with Tom Vaughn, John Hanley, and Brian Finch taking the 12th through 14th spots. Again the teams from Marshall and Harlan were far behind in scoring.

Forest View will meet powerful Maine West Friday afternoon at the Warrior course, and the Falcons will enter the Janesville (Wis.) Invitational Saturday.

Coach John Heenan's outfit runs at home against Prospect next Tuesday and meets Glenbrook North Wednesday in a non-league meet at the Spartan course.

Wildcat Harriers Top Grove, 25-30

The Elk Grove harriers got the two top places in their cross country meet with Wheeling last week but that wasn't enough as the Wildcats won the next five to put together a 25 to 30 win.

Grenadier Gary Steen was the number one man and he was followed by teammate Wayne Wille. Steen's time was 10:41 for the two mile course.

Wheeling's Bill Smith, Len Eaton, Bill Martin, Steve Mykytiuk, and Andy Black copped the next five places for the visiting Wildcats and this depth in scoring made the difference in the meet.

Elk Grove's Bob Texadore took the eighth place spot and he was followed by teammates Gary Pleickhardt and Gerry Angona.

In tme sophomore encounter Wheeling scored a 28 to 30 win.

Scott Jones from Elk Grove won the first place honors and was followed by fellow Grenadier Steve Brandt. Wildcat Frank Savage and Greg Gawlik got the three-four spots for the winners.

Grenadier Tom Swiatek took fifth place with Richard Ault, Keith Gresens, Austin Trice, and Mike Sonnenscein getting the sixth through ninth place for Wheeling. Elk Grove's Tom Mann was tenth man in the meet.

The Wheeling freshmen also won their meet 24 to 31. Rogers of Wheeling was first followed by Paul Frieman of Elk Grove in the second place spot.

Lower Level Reversed

Pirates Win 15-42 Over Cat Runners

Five visiting Palatine harriers crossed the finish line within 20 seconds of each other to swamp host Wheeling's varsity cross country squad at Arlington Country Club Tuesday.

With Mike Ferguson leading the way, the Pirates earned a solid 15-42 triumph to boost their season mark to 5-3 and shove Wheeling deeper into the Mid-Suburban League cellar. The Wildcats, now 2-5 overall, have yet to win a conference outing in three tries.

Ferguson stepped into the winner's circle just a second ahead of Bill Bahnfleth and the Palatine parade continued until Lenny Eaton finished sixth for the Wildcats. Pursuing their teammates in third, fourth and fifth were Mark Visk, Bruce Atkinson and Dennis Denton.

PALATINE's victory in the varsity affair reversed Wheeling's winning trend in the lower-level matches. The hosts were easy victors in the sophomore run, 17-43, after squeezing out a 26-29 frosh decision.

In the freshman race, John Rodgers of Wheeling edged Pirate Steve Bahnfleth for first place honors with Steve Born carrying Wildcat colors to third. Other top finishers were Palatine's Tom Filippini (4), Wheeling's Bill Vincent (5), Palatine's Mike Regan (6), Wheeling's Ernie Leach (7), Palatine's Tom Carkeek (8) and Steve Silkworth (9) and Wheeling's Dan Fergus (10).

Austin Trice led a trio of Wildcats home in front at the sophomore level. Pacing him were Frank Savage and Mike Sonnenshein. Other Wheeling scoring slots were snared by Greg Gawlik (5) and Keith Gresens (6).

Palatine's best sophomore times were recorded by Scott Smith (4), Allen Eggebraten (8), Jim Weyhenmeyer (9), Howard Weld (10) and Tom Krege (15).

Ferguson's 10:05 winning time in the main event is the best showing this season on the Wildcat course.

Maine West Slaps Conant's Runners

Paced by another powerful performance from junior Lee LaBadie, Maine West's cross country men overwhelmed Conant 17-41 Tuesday afternoon.

The varsity victory, verifying the Warriors' status as definite contenders in the Mid-Suburban League chase, was the second straight for MW in the conference, while Conant dropped its second straight decision, slipping to a 5-2 dual mark.

LaBadie was denied a head-to-head duel with Conant's standout senior Dick Ledford when Ledford missed the meet because of illness. But the day was clearly LaBadie's — and Maine West's — anyway.

LaBADIE WENT to the front almost immediately in the race, and widened his edge to win by a commanding margin. He was clocked in 10:05 over the Warrior course, which measures just a few strides short of two miles. The time was 11 seconds off LaBadie's course record, but was still impressive in that it was 33 seconds faster than the runnerup — teammate Ed Lusk — and came in the face of a buffeting wind.

After LaBadie and Lusk, Bill Barringer's Warriors also picked up third and fourth with Doug Chase and Scott Schlesser. Fifth and sixth were yielded to Dave Troy and Glenn Lee, best for Jack Ary's charges.

Then Jim Kasaris came in to complete the Maine scoring, and Jim Braun — running eighth — landed a pusher place for the Warriors. Sam Burns took ninth for the Cougars, but the next 12 places — until Bob Lesher and Sam Culpepper took 22nd and 23rd — went to Maine.

The Warriors also dominated the frosh-soph half of the meet, handling the Cougars there 18-45. Gary Wolf and John Plas ran 1-2 for Maine, with Conant's Ron Schweigert in third. Filling out the Maine totals, Al Schenk, Darryl Jonasson and Marty Swanson ran fourth, fifth and sixth. Ron Vombrock, in eighth, was the next best for Conant.

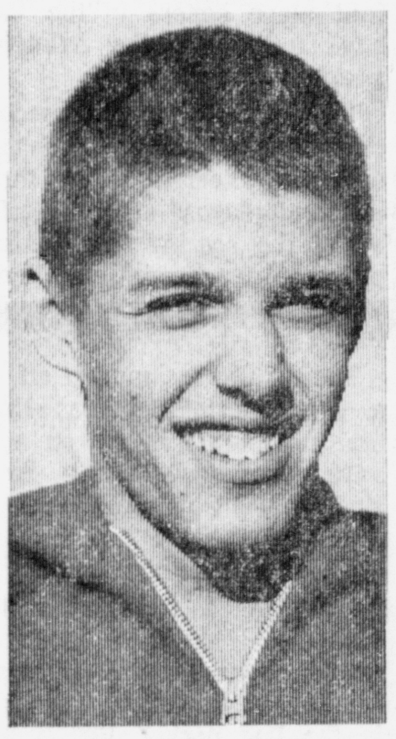
Attracts Area Harriers

29th Janesville Meet

The sponsors of Janesville (Wis.) High School's traditional cross country meet might have been excused if they didn't renew the invitations to Forest View, Arlington and Palatine for this fall's running.

The three Paddock area harrier units, running at Janesville a year ago, made almost a private thing of the meet's honors.



DAVE DIETERS
Classy Card

TED LAMBERT
Falcon Flyer

The Falcons and the Cardinals separated by only a point, ruled the "A" division 1-2, with the Pirates just nosed out by Madison West for third.

On the "B" level, the Pirates dominated with Arlington second, and Madison West again preventing a sweep by the locals by besting Forest View for the third spot.

But the three—with the new William Fremd High School going along as well—will be back in the field this Saturday as the Midwest Invitational is run for the 29th time. And again, their runners will be thick with the serious bidders for individual and team laurels. Even Fremd—restricted to only B competition because of thin first year ranks—must be regarded as a threat.

THE MEET is a Wisconsin-Illinois affair which sometimes features as many as two dozen harrier aggregations. As of Monday, Janesville Athletic Director Kenneth Kitelinger—the meet's principal director—was sorting 17 entries, including Antioch and Grayslake besides the Paddock area squads from Northern Illinois. The Wisconsin entries have come in from high schools in Madison, Racine, Kenosha, Beloit, Milwaukee and Janesville.

Most of the teams will race in both divisions, with the B competition slated first at 10:30 a.m. on Municipal Golf Course of Janesville's Riverside Park. The layout is an undulating 2.2 miles, and the record target time—established by Grant's Paul Lindahl in 1964—is 10:00.6.

The defending champion Falcons—under new headman John Heenan—will go into the competition minus the A division's individual titlist of 1965, Craig Brown. But the Falcons, 4-1 in duals as of Monday, will send a potent team paced by senior Ted Lambert, seventh individually a year ago. He'll be augmented by varsity runners Cliff Kuhnlohe, Oscar Pequeno, Dick Appleton, Joe Branka and Bucky Jones.

THE MOST serious area contender for the A title, based on performances to date, would have to be Arlington. Though losing Bob Yeazel and Dave Schimpf, second and eighth individually in 1965, Bruce Samoore's Cardinals have filled that void with the exciting juniors Dave Dieters and Rory Cassidy, and have for backup veterans Greg Busch and Larry Malcolmson, junior Rich Saxton and sophomore Tom Swanson. Unbeaten in their first five duals, the Cards have been imposing.

But Palatine, of all the locals, has the most impressive investment in honors at Janesville. The Pirate teams have won three of the A titles since 1961, and have two consecutive B titles going for them. Back for Dick Storm's squad from last year's high placers is Bill Bahnfleth, who was sixth in the A running. But balance has been the watchword for the Pirates lately, as they've rebounded to run the dual mark to 4-3 through last Friday. Mike Ferguson has been running with Bahnfleth to pace the team, but they've been pressed by Mark Visk, Bruce Atkinson, Dennis Denton, Jerry Weyrich and Tim Sullivan.

Fremd's hopes to threaten for the B crown are partly inspired by the school split acquisition of two boys who placed for Palatine's B champions a year ago: Mark Aggerbeck and Dave Kehe, now juniors. But headman Ron Menely, in picking his team, has choices from junior Keith Wojtas, a Palatine varsity runner in 1965, sophomore Ray Sommer, freshman Pete Conforti, sophomore Bill Schult and juniors Steve Alborn and Bill Boward. As a first year varsity unit, they've won four of five duals.

Honors in the meet consist of just that—honor—on the B level, because no medals or trophies are given. But in the A competition, the bidding will be for a champion's trophy, a runnerup trophy, and medals for the first 15 individual placers.

Arlington Harriers Remain Unbeaten in Varsity Duals

Arlington's varsity cross country team, intent on carrying an unbeaten conference record into their crucial meeting with Maine West on Oct. 14, moved one step closer to that goal Tuesday afternoon with a convincing 16-39 victory over host Prospect.

Coach Bruce Samoore's Cardinals, unbeaten in six duals over-all and standing 3-0 in the Mid-Suburban, featured their youth movement in handing Prospect its second loss in three league outings.

Junior Dave Dieters, beaten only once in six duals, flashed to another impressive first as he covered the Prospect High course in 9:26, the second best clocking ever registered at the Foundry Road site.

DIETERS, WHOSE lone setback in duals was in a tight finish with Evanston's touted Dave Abernathy, topped teammate Rory Cassidy, another junior, by seven seconds. That 9:26, however, was 23 seconds off the course mark established last Friday afternoon by Maine West's junior Lee LaBadie.

With juniors supplying the 1-2 spots for Arlington, a sophomore slipped in for third. Tom Swanson posted a 9:35 clocking, two seconds behind Cassidy, for his best finish in a dual this fall.

GRABBING THE top position for Coach Joe Wanner's young Prospect team was junior Steve Holmes. Steve covered his home course in 10:08 for a fifth place ranking.

Owen MacBride finished seventh at 10:22, Bob Forbes eighth at 10:31, Bruce Oswald ninth at 10:36, and Joe Wilcox tenth at 10:37.

Prospect gained some satisfaction for the afternoon with an impressive 24-33 frosh-soph win, hiking its league record to 3-0 while handing Arlington its first MSL loss.

CARDINAL FROSH Scott Butler gained individual honors with a 10:15 effort, 13 seconds ahead of Dave Proudfoot of Prospect. But the Knights had the balance this time.

Dick Paulson (10:31) finished third with teammate Doug Bach in fourth at 10:36. Also scoring for Prospect were Bill Skibbe in seventh and Jeff Brauchle in eighth.

Al McKay came in fifth for the next Arlington spot behind winner Butler. Dave Marszalek (sixth), Ken Malcolmson (10th), and Rick Pelland (11th) rounded out the scoring.

Prospect also won the frosh meet 19-37 with Klinker grabbing individual laurels at 10:57.

Other Knights in the picture were Pete Dumke (2), Greg Glade (3), Morrison (5), and Grimm (8).

SCORING FOR Arlington were Jim Hilgenfeld in fourth, Bob Loughman in the sixth, Terry Kluesing in seventh, Cliff Laufer in 10th, and Tom Klingner in 11th.

Arlington's harriers will run at Arlington Country Club Friday afternoon against Wheeling and will hook up in the Janesville Invitational Saturday. They'll meet a host Glenbrook South unit next Tuesday afternoon in a non-league bout.

Prospect catches host Palatine Friday at Salk Park in Rolling Meadows and Forest View next Tuesday afternoon at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

Lambert Runs to Triangular Honors

Forest View's Ted Lambert sped through thetwo mile cross country course at Washington Park in Chicago in an excellent 10:03 clocking Tuesday to bring first place honors home for the Falcons.

The Falcons, running against three other schools, New Trier, Marshall, and Harlan, placed second in team standings as they chalked up 37 points to winner New Trier's 35.

Other finishers for Forest View beside Lambert were Oscar Pequeno and Dick Appleton in the sixth and seventh spots, and Joe Branka, tenth, and Cliff Kuhnlohe 13th.

In the frosh-soph encounter Forest View again took second place in team honors as they scored 52 points to 16 for the winners from New Trier.

Bob Bell was the fifth place winner for the Falcons and the first man across the line for the Birds. Mike McCormick took eighth place with Tom Vaughn, John Hanley, and Brian Finch taking the 12th through 14th spots. Again the teams from Marshall and Harlan were far behind in scoring.

Forest View will meet powerful Maine West Friday afternoon at the Warrior course, and the Falcons will enter the Janesville (Wis.) Invitational Saturday.

Coach John Heenan's outfit runs at home against Prospect next Tuesday and meets Glenbrook North Wednesday in a non-league meet at the Spartan course.

Wildcat Harriers Top Grove, 25-30

The Elk Grove harriers got the two top places in their cross country meet with Wheeling last week but that wasn't enough as the Wildcats won the next five to put together a 25 to 30 win.

Grenadier Gary Steen was the number one man and he was followed by teammate Wayne Wille. Steen's time was 10:41 for the two mile course.

Wheeling's Bill Smith, Len Eaton, Bill Martin, Steve Mykytiuk, and Andy Black copped the next five places for the visiting Wildcats and this depth in scoring made the difference in the meet.

Elk Grove's Bob Texadore took the eighth place spot and he was followed by teammates Gary Pleickhardt and Gerry Angona.

In tme sophomore encounter Wheeling scored a 28 to 30 win.

Scott Jones from Elk Grove won the first place honors and was followed by fellow Grenadier Steve Brandt. Wildcat Frank Savage and Greg Gawlik got the three-four spots for the winners.

Grenadier Tom Swiatek took fifth place with Richard Ault, Keith Gresens, Austin Trice, and Mike Sonnenscein getting the sixth through ninth place for Wheeling. Elk Grove's Tom Mann was tenth man in the meet.

The Wheeling freshmen also won their meet 24 to 31. Rogers of Wheeling was first followed by Paul Frieman of Elk Grove in the second place spot.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Purebred Popularity—

Through the tremendous growth in popularity of purebred dogs, competitive events for dogs have become the newest national sport, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York. Moreover, the sport of dogs is one that offers year round competition which the whole family can participate in and enjoy. Dog shows, obedience trials and field trials broke all previous records in 1965 and indications are the trend will continue.

Last year 485,588 dogs competed in all-breed and specialty shows, obedience trials and field trials held under American Kennel Club rules and offering championship points. Field trials for Beagles alone had 56,860 starters. More than 6,000 AKC events were held last year and the registration represented 722,800 individual dogs.

During the first three months of this year over 17,000 more dogs were registered than for the same period in 1965. These figures do not include those for other registries, such as the Field Dog Stud Book, the various Coonhound and Foxhound registries and the United Kennel Club, nor their respective competitive events, all of which are experiencing the same growth.

Check-Up—

Even though it has been mentioned before, it bears repeating; now is the time for an end of the summer grooming check-up for your dog. Summer sun can cause problems for dogs and it will dry out their skin just as it does humans who have been exposed to long periods in the sun. A good combing to get out dry scale and loose hair will do wonders for your dog, plus a check to make sure he is getting the proper food to promote a healthy coat.

Boxer Specialty—

This Sunday, Oct. 9, the Mid-West Boxer Club will hold its fall specialty at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. This will be the first time that a dog show of any kind has ever been held at this famous hotel.

Chairman of the trophy committee is Mrs. Werner Holl of Lake Zurich and helping her is Mrs. Mike Kolb of Palatine.

More coming up—

The Western Irish Setter Club will hold the fall specialty on Saturday, Oct. 15, at Tara located on Route 22, (1800 Halfday Road). The setting for this show is ideal, and being out-of-doors will do much for showing off the fancy "Big Reds."

For more information about the event, contact the show secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Cory, 901 N. Rand Road, Arlington Heights.

Skokie Valley K.C. Show—

On Sunday, Oct. 16, Skokie Valley Kennel Club will hold its 27th all-breed dog show at Meadow Hill Park, Waukegan Road, Highland Park.

This is one of the largest all-breed shows held each year in this area during the fall season. Show hours will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and spectators will have a good opportunity to see the judging. If they are trying to decide what kind of a dog to buy, here is a chance to look at almost all breeds. For information about this show, call the secretary, Mrs. Hildegard Compton, SH 1-1112.

Checks Visiting Marist

St. Viator Tunes Up For Loop Play, 14-0

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

St. Viator's varsity grid unit tuned up for this weekend's opening league encounter with St. George High by knocking off a visiting Marist football squad last Sunday afternoon, at the Wheeling High School stadium.

The Lions spent most of the afternoon churning up the turf in the Marist half of the field but only twice managed to hit pay dirt.

However, as things turned out, these two tallies were the only points to grace the stadium scoreboard and were enough to earn Coach Joe Gilwa's charges their second victory of the season against one defeat.

The Lions had no special difficulty in moving the pigskin against the Redskin defense, but they did have a frustrating afternoon when it came to punching over the Marist goal line.

THIS SITUATION was especially prominent in the first half of play. St. Viator effectively controlled the ball, running 35 plays from scrimmage to Marist's 20, but when the first half ended the Lions' field dominance was barely noticeable as the scoreboard registered a 0-0 game.

On four different occasions Gilwa's aggressive gridders found their way inside the Marist 20 yard line, but each time the Lions failed to complete the circuit.

THE FIRST scoring opportunity failed in the opening quarter, when Dennis Palubicki's field goal attempt from the 19 was a little wide of its mark.

A SHORT time later a blocked punt off the toe of the Redskins' Tom Doran enabled St. Viator to commence a drive from the 18.

The Lions managed to move down to the one yard line, but on a fourth-and-goal play halfback Larry Snyder was cut down on a fine defensive maneuver by Marist's Dennis Gay back on the five yard stripe.

Another blocked punt early in the second quarter set up a St. Viator scoring opportunity from the Redskin 24, but the visitors allowed the Lions to reach just inside the ten and then put the clamps on that drive.

THE FOURTH good scoring chance originated on the Redskins' 40 yard line, from which point Co-Captain Snyder, quarterback Bob Stevens and halfback John Wendell combined to lug the ball within four yards of touchdown land. However, a Snyder fumble on a second down play was recovered by defender Jack St. Auban to kill off that Lion charge.

FRANK BIANCA
Alert Defender

Finally St. Viator struck twice in the third quarter. The first TD drive started after Marist was assessed on a roughing-the-kicker charge that gave the Lions an automatic first down on their own 40.

The Viator eleven took quick advantage of this unexpected turn of events, and, featured by a 12 yard gallop by Wendell and a 19 yard Palubicki to John Cook pass completion, they had a first-and-ten on the Redskins' 29 yard line.

After Snyder rushed for four yards, Palubicki pitched out to Cook, and the 168 pound halfback romped around his own right side down to the three yard line where he was tackled and fumbled.

THE BALL bounced into the Marist end zone, and junior end Frank Bianca smothered it for a Lion touchdown.

On the first play from scrimmage after the kick-off Doran's pass was intercepted by St. Viator's Kevin Laird, and the Lions were after their second tally.

Paced by Stevens' 18 yard scamper, the Gilwa men moved quickly to the 18 yard marker. Three plays later the pigskin was perched on the Marist one yard stripe, and Phil Tuminaro bursted into the end zone from his fullback slot for the second Lion TD.

PALUBICKI booted his second straight extra point for a 14-0 St. Viator lead.

Both teams threatened in the fourth period but to no avail.

Early in the quarter Marist moved just inside the Lion 20 but faltered at that point, and late in the game a fumble by Cook, the fourth of the game for St. Viator, was recovered by the Redskins on their own 21 to erase any thought the Lions might have had in regards to increasing their 14-0 victory margin.

In Senior Division

Rams Rock 49ers to Move Into Top Slot

The Rams took over undisputed possession of first place in the Senior Division of the Arlington Boys Football League Saturday with a 26 to 0 triumph over the 49ers in the second round of play.

Paced by Glen Elsberg, who scored two touchdowns to take over the league scoring lead with 31 points, the Rams scored in every period. Equally outstanding was the Rams defense that has yet to be scored upon. The Rams shut out the Lions last week 27 to 0.

Elsberg started the scoring in the first period when he returned a punt 30 yards for a touchdown. John Coulter ran across for the extra point. Elsberg again put the Rams on the scoreboard in the second quarter with a 15 yard touchdown run. The PAT was missed.

TOM CANNON ran 10 yards to score for the Rams in the third period. Rick Parkin scored the extra point on a run. Final score came in the last period when Gary Falle went across on a 40-yard pass play. The extra point was missed.

For the Rams, Greg Ziomek was the outstanding lineman and Mike Locascio played an excellent game as defensive linebacker. Cannon was outstanding on both offense and defense and Falle, in addition to scoring a touchdown, recovered a fumble on the first play of the game.

In the other league contest, the Redskins evened their season record at 1-1 with a 14 to 7 win over the Lions.

BRUCE FRASE was the sparkplug for the winners passing to Tim Trummer for a 48-yard touchdown and then running the ball over on a 4-yard off tackle play for the decisive marker in the last period. Frase also scored both extra points on running plays.

Frase carried the ball 20 times for 124 yards and also passed for 63 yards. Trummer, who caught two passes, one for a touchdown, also sparkled on defense with five tackles and two assists.

THE UNDEFEATED Giants and Vikings continue to share first place honors in the Varsity Division of the Arlington League.

The Vikings kept their record clean with an 18 to 7 victory over the Steelers. With three different players accounting for all of the scoring, the Vikings presented a diversified offense ably supported by a stout defense.

The Steelers jumped off to a first quarter lead as Brad Smith skirted left end on a 17 yard touchdown run. Steve Kuebler went off right tackle to add the extra point.

AFTER THAT IT was all Vikings. Steve Bach scored in the second period on a one yard quarterback sneak. Scott Swanezy scored on a four yard run in the last period. But it was Ricky Clemens who provided the biggest thrill with a 70 yard kickoff return to start the second half. The Vikings failed to score any extra points.

For the losing Steelers, Mike Musich, Douglas Coobs, Dave Zare, Brian Nelson, Mark Leonhard and Jim Enright were outstanding in the line while Smith and Kuebler sparkled in the backfield. On defense, Nelson recovered a fumble.

The passing and running of quarterback Dana Morken backed up by a story defense that played shutout ball were highlights of the Giants 27 to 0 victory over the Eagles.

IT WAS A 22 yard pass play from Morken to Ken Peters that gave the Giants their first score. Morken then added the extra point on a quarterback sneak. Next Morken teamed with Kevin Thal on a 60 yard pass play for the second touchdown followed by Morken going over for the extra point.

Ken Peters added the third touchdown when he went off tackle for 40 yards. Morken then passed to Peters for the extra point. This point gave Peters 25 for the season, making him the league leader in the scoring department. Con MacCarthy completed the day's scoring for the Giants when he returned an intercepted pass 45 yards for a TD.

The Giants first team backfield of Morken, Peters, Thal and Rick Croarkin, played only the first half when all of the scoring took place. The defense, which held the Eagles in their own territory for 3½ quarters, was sparked by MacCarthy, John Norton, Brian McHale, Mike Kaskie and Richie Crowell.

THE BEARS AND Packers, each with two wins and no defeats, share the lead in the Junior division.

Paced by Bob Broderick, the division's second highest scorer, and the only defensive unit that has yet to yield a point, the powerful Packers rolled to a one-sided 26 to 0 victory over the Colts. Last week they shut out the Cardinals 19 to 0.

In helping his team achieve its second victory, Bob Broderick scored three touchdowns and now has 24 points for the season. Jim Merkle added the Packers other touchdown while John Stavropoulus and Chris Johnston each scored points after touchdowns.

THE PACKERS, in addition to having the only unscored upon defense, has the division's most potent offense. They have scored 45 points in two games.

The Bears maintained their unblemished record with a decisive 19 to 6 victory over the Cardinals.

John McBride, the division's leading scorer with 30 points in two games, started the scoring spree for the Bears with a 45 yard punt return for a touchdown in the first quarter. Paul Obuchowski ran off tackle for the extra point.

THE CARDINALS only touchdown was set up in the second quarter by a 57 yard pass play from quarterback Larry Lins to end Jeff Cleveland who was tack kled on the one yard line. Lins end Jeff Cleveland who was tackled on the one yard line. Lins then scored on a quarterback sneak. The PAT was missed.

John McBride took a 25 yard pass from Jeff Hammond to give the Bears their second touchdown. Later McBride ran 20 yards off tackle to register the third and final touchdown for the Bears.

Hammond and Dunke handled the passing for the Bears and benefited by fine receiving from Jim McBride and Bradley Schmidt. Doing yeoman work as blockers were Rocky Clancy, Tim Loch, Mike Phipps and Bob Thompson. Strong on defense were Tim Higgens, Ashley, John Brown, Chris Love and George Karavas. Brian Coulter turned in an outstanding defensive play when he intercepted a pass and returned it 45 yards.

Cards, Conant Tie On Frosh 'A' Level

A 20-yard touchdown pass from Fred Hart to Dave Larson with three minutes remaining in the final period Saturday morning gave Arlington's frosh 'A' Cardinals a 6-6 tie with Conant.

A run for the extra point that could have decided the issue was checked by a fumble.

Conant, featuring a new look in a revamping of the school football program, bounced back from a 51-0 setback to Forest View to take an early lead on Arlington.

A high pass over punter Carl Anderson's head sailed into the end zone, and the Cougars covered the ball for a touchdown in the opening stanza.

That's the way the score stood until Hart and Larson teamed up for the tying touchdown pass.

Anderson was a standout on defense for the Cardinals with ten tackles.

Arlington's 'B' outfit, a 54-0 conquerr of Palatine the previous week, thrashed Conant, 40-0, piling up a 26-0 lead at the intermission.

Mark Jacoby scored three touchdowns, the latter coming on a 35-yard scamper with 15 seconds left. Weber counted on a two-yard effort, and Paul Greene scored on a 40-yard dash.

Ken Koster was voted Lineman of the week by his teammates for his effort against Conant.

Arlington's frosh elevens will host wheeling this Saturday at 9:30 a.m. Conant will play at Elk Grove.

27-30 In 'Rematch'

Fremd Runs Past Prospect

History had a hand last Thursday as Fremd High School's cross country men out-ran Prospect's 27-30 in a dual collision on Fremd's course.

History, and the inspiration of revenge.

The Knights ran into a team that remembered back to Oct. 26, 1965, a day Prospect's frosh-soph harriers battled Palatine's in a dual that was to decide the Mid-Suburban League's underclass championship.

Prospect won that day, 27-28 in a fervent finish that saw the first 10 runners flock to the chute within 24 seconds of each other, and literally decide their differences in the last strides before the ending. Prospect had the title and the Palatine boys were stung with the thought of how close they had come.

Those boys, most of them, paid it back last Thursday. Running in the name of Fremd — a result of this fall's Dist. 211 split — they had their vengeance, or at least set up a rubber match for 1967.

THEY HAD vengeance because as they represented the Palatine frosh-soph team of 1965, so did Prospect's young varsity very much resemble the team that bested Palatine. In that respect, the win —fourth in five duals for Fremd — will doubtless be the biggest of the Vikings' first year, and the biggest for headman Ron Menely.

The loss was only the second for Joe Wanner's Knights against four wins, and there may have been considerable consolation in a convincing 18-45 consolation in a convincing 18-45 Prospect win on the frosh-soph plane.

The varsity outcome had one happy similarity with 1965 for the Knights. Prospect's Steve Holmes won the individual race then, and he won it again Thursday, coming in at 11:21 over the Vikings' 2.1 mile layout.

FREMD CLINCHED the dual by taking four of the next five places, and among those places the Vikings had a little bonus over 1965. For though two key '65 runners stayed at Palatine this year, two were added who didn't run then; Keith Wojtas and Ray Sommer. Wojtas, who ran varsity as a sophomore last fall, was second in 11:25, and Sommer, out for the first time, was third in 11:28.

Mark Aggerbeck came in five seconds behind Sommer to give Fremd fourth, but fifth was yielded to Owen MacBride. Sixth, with Bill Schult taking it, really clinched the meet for Fremd because it provided an advantage that couldn't be overcome. Not even by the fact that Prospect took the next seven places, with Dave Baker, Doug Bach and Chuck Wilcox rounding out the team's score.

The worst Fremd could get after that was a 12th, because Prospect used up its five placers and two pushers. Freshman Pete Conforti got the place, and even his actual finish — 14th — would have won for Fremd.

ON THE LOWER level, the Knights took 10 of the first 11 places, giving only third to the Vikings' Keith West.

Jeff Brauchle ran first in 12:08, with Dick Paulson just behind. Bill Skibbe in fourth, Dave Anderson in fifth and Greg Glade in sixth completed the scoring. The Fremd totals were rounded out by Rick Bowman, Craig Stitt, Neil Westergaard and John Pullman. Illness had sidelined two leading Viking runners, but the Knight win was impressive nonetheless.

St. Viator Frosh Roll Over Marist

St. Viator's frosh gridders completely overwhelmed a visiting Marist Frosh eleven 51-0 last Sunday afternoon in a preliminary game at the Wheeling High stadium.

The victory was number two of the season for the little Lions, and the win kept alive a two season victory streak and also its record of remaining unscored upon during this span.

Steve Aylward and Tom Anderson shared the scoring spotlight in this Lion touchdown parade, each tallying three TDs. Aylward's scores came on runs of 33 and 35 yards and a reception of an aerial from quarterback Tom Abinanti on a play covering 16 yards.

Anderson notched all of his scores on runs of 22, 39, and 47 yards.

Abinanti and Bill Hitzeman also scored one TD apiece, and Larry Quinnett and Steve Snyder accounted for the St. Viator extra points.

St. Viator will travel to St. George this Saturday morning.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Purebred Popularity—

Through the tremendous growth in popularity of purebred dogs, competitive events for dogs have become the newest national sport, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York. Moreover, the sport of dogs is one that offers year round competition which the whole family can participate in and enjoy. Dog shows, obedience trials and field trials broke all previous records in 1965 and indications are the trend will continue.

Last year 485,588 dogs competed in all-breed and specialty shows, obedience trials and field trials held under American Kennel Club rules and offering championship points. Field trials for Beagles alone had 56,860 starters. More than 6,000 AKC events were held last year and the registration represented 722,800 individual dogs.

During the first three months of this year over 17,000 more dogs were registered than for the same period in 1965. These figures do not include those for other registries, such as the Field Dog Stud Book, the various Coonhound and Foxhound registries and the United Kennel Club, nor their respective competitive events, all of which are experiencing the same growth.

Check-Up—

Even though it has been mentioned before, it bears repeating; now is the time for an end of the summer grooming check-up for your dog. Summer sun can cause problems for dogs and it will dry out their skin just as it does humans who have been exposed to long periods in the sun. A good combing to get out dry scale and loose hair will do wonders for your dog, plus a check to make sure he is getting the proper food to promote a healthy coat.

Boxer Specialty—

This Sunday, Oct. 9, the Mid-West Boxer Club will hold its fall specialty at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. This will be the first time that a dog show of any kind has ever been held at this famous hotel.

Chairman of the trophy committee is Mrs. Werner Holl of Lake Zurich and helping her is Mrs. Mike Kolb of Palatine.

More coming up—

The Western Irish Setter Club will hold the fall specialty on Saturday, Oct. 15, at Tara located on Route 22, (1800 Halfday Road). The setting for this show is ideal, and being out-of-doors will do much for showing off the fancy "Big Reds."

For more information about the event, contact the show secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Cory, 901 N. Rand Road, Arlington Heights.

Skokie Valley K.C. Show—

On Sunday, Oct. 16, Skokie Valley Kennel Club will hold its 27th all-breed dog show at Meadow Hill Park, Waukegan Road, Highland Park.

This is one of the largest all-breed shows held each year in this area during the fall season. Show hours will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and spectators will have a good opportunity to see the judging. If they are trying to decide what kind of a dog to buy, here is a chance to look at almost all breeds. For information about this show, call the secretary, Mrs. Hildegard Compton, SH 1-1112.

Rams Rock 49ers to Move Into Top Slot

The Rams took over undisputed possession of first place in the Senior Division of the Arlington Boys Football League Saturday with a 26 to 0 triumph over the 49ers in the second round of play.

Paced by Glen Elsberg, who scored two touchdowns to take over the league scoring lead with 31 points, the Rams scored in every period. Equally outstanding was the Rams defense that has yet to be scored upon. The Rams shut out the Lions last week 27 to 0.

Elsberg started the scoring in the first period when he returned a punt 30 yards for a touchdown. John Coulter ran across for the extra point. Elsberg again put the Rams on the scoreboard in the second quarter with a 15 yard touchdown run. The PAT was missed.

TOM CANNON ran 10 yards to score for the Rams in the third period. Rick Parkin scored the extra point on a run. Final score came in the last period when Gary Falle went across on a 40-yard pass play. The extra point was missed.

For the Rams, Greg Ziomek was the outstanding lineman and Mike Locascio played an excellent game as defensive linebacker. Cannon was outstanding on both offense and defense and Falle, in addition to scoring a touchdown, recovered a fumble on the first play of the game.

In the other league contest, the Redskins evened their season record at 1-1 with a 14 to 7 win over the Lions.

BRUCE FRASE was the sparkplug for the winners passing to Tim Trummer for a 48-yard touchdown and then running the ball over on a 4-yard off tackle play for the decisive marker in the last period. Frase also scored both extra points on running plays.

Frase carried the ball 20 times for 124 yards and also passed for 63 yards. Trummer, who caught two passes, one for a touchdown, also sparkled on defense with five tackles and two assists.

Checks Visiting Marist

St. Viator Tunes Up For Loop Play, 14-0

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

St. Viator's varsity grid unit tuned up for this weekend's opening league encounter with St. George High by knocking off a visiting Marist football squad last Sunday afternoon, at the Wheeling High School stadium.

The Lions spent most of the afternoon churning up the turf in the Marist half of the field but only twice managed to hit pay dirt.

However, as things turned out, these two tallies were the only points to grace the stadium scoreboard and were enough to earn Coach Joe Gilwa's charges their second victory of the season against one defeat.

The Lions had no special difficulty in moving the pigskin against the Redskin defense, but they did have a frustrating afternoon when it came to punching over the Marist goal line.

THIS SITUATION was especially prominent in the first half of play. St. Viator effectively controlled the ball, running 35 plays from scrimmage to Marist's 20, but when the first half ended the Lions' field dominance was barely noticeable as the scoreboard registered a 0-0 game.

On four different occasions Gilwa's aggressive gridders found their way inside the Marist 20 yard line, but each time the Lions failed to complete the circuit.

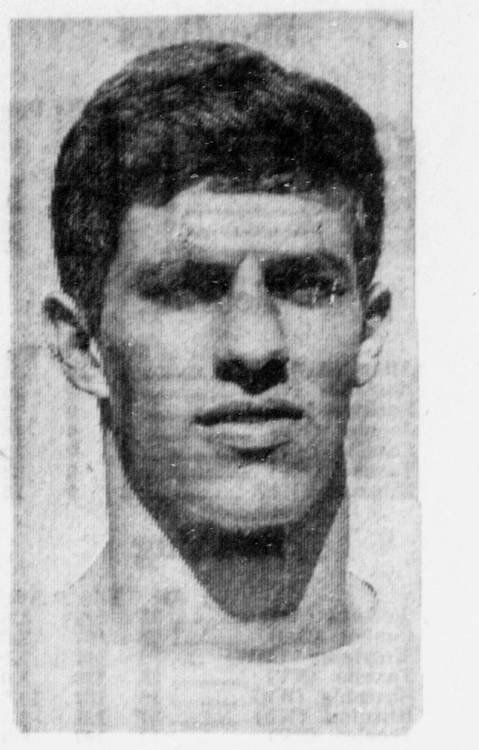
THE FIRST scoring opportunity failed in the opening quarter, when Dennis Palubicki's field goal attempt from the 19 was a little wide of its mark.

A SHORT time later a blocked punt off the toe of the Redskins' Tom Doran enabled St. Viator to commence a drive from the 18.

The Lions managed to move down to the one yard line, but on a fourth-and-goal play halfback Larry Snyder was cut down on a fine defensive maneuver by Marist's Dennis Gay back on the five yard stripe.

Another blocked punt early in the second quarter set up a St. Viator scoring opportunity from the Redskin 24, but the visitors allowed the Lions to reach just inside the ten and then put the clamps on that drive.

THE FOURTH good scoring chance originated on the Redskins' 40 yard line, from which point Co-Captain Snyder, quarterback Bob Stevens and halfback John Wendell combined to lug the ball within four yards of touchdown land. However, a Snyder fumble on a second down play was recovered by defender Jack St. Auban to kill off that Lion charge.



FRANK BIANCA
Alert Defender

Finally St. Viator struck twice in the third quarter. The first TD drive started after Marist was assessed on a roughing-the-kicker charge that gave the Lions an automatic first down on their own 40.

The Viator eleven took quick advantage of this unexpected turn of events, and, featured by a 12 yard gallop by Wendell and a 19 yard Palubicki to John Cook pass completion, they had a first-and-ten on the Redskins' 29 yard line.

After Snyder rushed for four yards, Palubicki pitched out to Cook, and the 168 pound halfback romped around his own right side down to the three yard line where he was tackled and fumbled.

THE BALL bounced into the Marist end zone, and junior end Frank Bianca smothered it for a Lion touchdown.

On the first play from scrimmage after the kick-off Doran's pass was intercepted by St. Viator's Kevin Laird, and the Lions were after their second tally.

Paced by Stevens' 18 yard scamper, the Gilwa men moved quickly to the 18 yard marker. Three plays later the pigskin was perched on the Marist one yard stripe, and Phil Tuminaro bursted into the end zone from his fullback slot for the second Lion TD.

PALUBICKI booted his second straight extra point for a 14-0 St. Viator lead.

Both teams threatened in the fourth period but to no avail.

Early in the quarter Marist moved just inside the Lion 20 but faltered at that point, and late in the game a fumble by Cook, the fourth of the game for St. Viator, was recovered by the Redskins on their own 21 to erase any thought the Lions might have had in regards to increasing their 14-0 victory margin.

St. Viator Frosh Roll Over Marist

St. Viator's frosh gridders completely overwhelmed a visiting Marist Frosh eleven 51-0 last Sunday afternoon in a preliminary game at the Wheeling High stadium.

The victory was number two of the season for the little Lions, and the win kept alive a two season victory streak and also its record of remaining unscored upon during this span.

Steve Aylward and Tom Anderson shared the scoring spotlight in this Lion touchdown parade, each tallying three TDs. Aylward's scores came on runs of 33 and 35 yards and a reception of an aerial from quarterback Tom Abinanti on a play covering 16 yards.

Anderson notched all of his scores on runs of 22, 39, and 47 yards.

Abinanti and Bill Hitzeman also scored one TD apiece, and Larry Quinnett and Steve Snyder accounted for the St. Viator extra points.

St. Viator will travel to St. George this Saturday morning.

Lambert in Record Run

by BOB NORDIN

Ted Lambert was all by himself Saturday as he set a new course record in the cross country run between Forest View and Wheeling in which the host Falcons were victorious.

The final count showed the Falcons the winners with a 15 to 47 score.

Lambert, who set a blistering pace for the 1.9 mile course, was way ahead of the pack as he finished in a record time of 10 minutes flat.

The next five places also went to Forest View and the first seven finishers all were in in under 11:00 minutes.

Cliff Kuhnlohe, Oscar Pequeno, Dick Appleton, Joe Branka, and Bucky Jones all finished for the Falcons before Bill Smith led the way in for the Wildcats.

Smith was followed by Wildcats Len Eaton and Bill Martin in the eight and nine spots with Forest View's Joe Joyce in the tenth position.

Wildcats' Andy Black and Al Lieupo finished up the top five placers for the visiting Wheeling harriers as they gained 12th and 13th place berths.

The frosh soph harriers from Forest View did not treat their Wheeling guests with any great kindness as they defeated them, 24-31.

Bob Bell led the way for the winners as he covered the 1.9 mile course in 11:21. Greg Gawlik was second over-all and first for Wheeling and he was followed by Forest View's Bruce Finch.

Frank Savage placed fourth for the Wheeling squad with Falcon Tom Vaughn fifth. Keith Gresens won sixth place honors and John Hanely and Mike Kineman got the seventh and eighth place spots for the hosts.

Tom Yockey and Mike Sonnenscein finished out the top ten and won those places for the Wildcats.

Card Runners Handle Conant

by KEN KNOX

Arlington raced past another contender for the Mid-Suburban League's cross country laurels last Friday, out-distancing Conant 20-35 on the Cardinals' Pioneer Park course.

The Cards made it a sweep for the day, because the varsity victory followed a perfect 15-50 effort by the frosh-soph.

The varsity challenge featured — as expected — a fierce head-to-head duel between the Cards' brilliant junior Dave Dieters and the Cougars' stellar senior Dick Ledford.

It was their race from beginning to end, Ledford taking the lead early and setting the pace, and Dieters stubbornly striding behind him. Dieters passed his competitor shortly before beginning the long uphill slope to the finish, and when he hit the chute it was with still another record clocking for the two-year-old park layout.

THE STANDARD became 9:-52, considerably less than the 10:04.6 that Dieters had set for the course just a week before. Ledford, with a 10:03, also came in under the old record.

After Dieters and Ledford, the attention was on the team clusters. And Arlington had the advantage there, too, taking the next three spots after Ledford and adding a seventh, as the teams divided the first 10 places.

The triumph for the unbeaten Cardinals boosted them to 2-0 in the MSL, while for Conant — after five straight dual wins — the loss evened the Cougars at 1-1 in the league.

RORY CASSIDY, Greg Busch and Rich Saxton took third through fifth for the Cards, with sixth yielded to the Cougars' Dave Troy. Arlington's Larry Malcolmson slipped in just ahead of Conant's Glenn Lee for seventh, while Lee, Sam Burns and Bob Lesher rounded out the Conant scoring.

On the frosh-soph level, it was again a story of individual brilliance and overwhelming depth as the Cards gathered up the first seven places, and 13 of the first 15.

Scott Butler won again for the underclassmen, breezing in 10:-50. Twenty-one seconds back in second was Ken Malcolmson, with Dave Marszalek, Al McKay and John Faus filling out the top five. Conant's best, in eighth and ninth, were Ron Schweigert and Mike Beck, with Dick Culton, Roy Vombrock and Keith Gast running next for the losers. With the result, the young Cards went to 2-0 in the MSL, Conant to 1-1.

Through Busy Week

Nemec Leads Lion Runners

The individual efforts of senior Bob Nemec and a triangular victory over St. Joseph and Marist highlighted another busy week for St. Viator's varsity cross country team.

Coach Owen Fox's Lions engaged in two triangulars and a dual over a seven-day period and could talk about only one varsity conquest, an easy win in competition with St. Joseph and Marist.

The Lions placed five boys in the top nine positions with senior ace Nemec coming home second, eight seconds behind the winner.

St. Viator collected 23 points while St. Joseph finished second with 49. Marist tallied 59.

ALSO SCORING for the Lions were Fred Booth in third, Mike Cunningham in fourth, Lou Peterhans in fifth, and sophoomre Pat Jenkinson in ninth.

On a frosh-soph level St. Viator edged St. Joseph for honors, 36 to 38, with Marist in third at 52.

Dave Woods, a soph, was the first Lion runner at the finish as he took second place honors.

Holy Cross, a former member of the Chicagoland Prep League, whipped the Lion varsity last Friday, 24-31, although Nemec gained individual honors over the 1.9 mile layout.

ST. VIATOR'S next man after Nemec was Mark Botterman in sixth. Jenkinson (seventh), Booth (eighth), and Lou Peterhans (ninth) rounded out the scoring.

The young Lions triumphed, 22-38, on a frosh-soph level as Sean Green raced in with a second place award.

In competition Monday afternoon the Lion runners finished in the middle slot in a triangular with Notre Dame and Carmel of Mundelein.

Notre Dame was the winner with 25 points and Fox's Lions had 30. Carmel was a distant third at 89.

NEMEC AGAIN was the first Lion into the chute as he placed second, 12 seconds behind the winner from the host Dons.

Cunningham trailed Nemec by 24 seconds and finished fifth. Jenkinson (sixth), Greg Peterhans (seventh), and Booth (tenth) rounded out the scoring.

Notre Dame, showing promise for the future with squads of young talent, had no trouble on a frosh-soph level, collecting 15 points to St. Viator's 45 and Carmel's 106.

St. Viator, slated to run at Immaculate Conception Tuesday, will meet a host DeLaSalle team Friday and then entertain St. Mel next Tuesday afternoon in Chicagoland Prep League tests.

Kinsella, Scholl Show Way

Palatine Rebounds; Grove Blanked 26-0

by KEN KNOX

PAT KINSELLA
151 Yards

If victory was the tonic Palatine's sagging Pirates needed most, Elk Grove's Grenadiers — however unwillingly — filled the prescription last Saturday afternoon.

The Pirates, stunned and disheartened in their first two 1966 encounters, rebounded to rush past the Grenadiers 26-0 on Elk Grove's turf. The victors quite literally rushed to the triumph, because they churned out 339 yards across the grass to dominate the young and lighter Grenadiers.

It was a game in which both sides were seeking the elixir of success, for the Grove eleven too had been without dividends in two attempts. So the loss became the third for the hosts, the first in which they were kept from the goal line.

There had been some apprehension among the Palatine legions about whether the Pirates could rise from the early season agonies that had shredded morale and sidelined several regulars, including prolific halfback John Ekeberg. The Pirates had the inspiration Saturday, and — despite the continued sidelining of Ekeberg, halfback Brian McCartney and lineman Paul Dolik — they had the punch.

IT CAME VERY much from a source heretofore renowned for his kicking and blocking: Pat Kinsella. The 175-pound senior, charging out of the fullback position, showed genuine talent as a rusher, ramming his way to 151 yards in 22 carries, personally delivering seven of Palatine's 18 first downs, scoring one touchdown and having another called back, and kicking two extra points.

But he wasn't alone among the offensive contributors, for he teamed brilliantly with junior quarterback Brian Scholl and halfback Dennis Lynch. Scholl, throwing off a neck injury incurred the week before, ran a steady and controlled game, mixing in a small but devastating passing portion, and running for 59 yards himself. Lynch was the counter to Kinsella, banging for 90 yards in 19 carries.

The defense, too, awakened for Palatine, after having given up 74 points in the two previous games. It completely shut off Grove's running game, pinning a deficit of 24 yards on the rushers, and five times it held when Grove gambled on fourth down.

MOST OF THE success and promise for Dick Mudge's Grenadiers came in the air, on the dangerous short passing of quarterback Larry Pahl. He hit his receivers — particularly end Roy McClelland — 12 times in 28 tries for 105 yards. But three times his aerials were intercepted, once by Wayne Render, who dazzled in the defensive backfield, and twice by Jeff Teach, who also ran for 20 yards on offense.

For sheer effectiveness, it was Scholl's passing that stood out. He threw only six times, but he connected four times, and three of those were for touchdowns. Rangy Bill Gill was the dominant receiver, taking in three for 64 yards and two scores, while Rich Schuettner took the other, two yards for a touchdown.

Only penalties detracted from the Palatine performance, as the Pirates were slapped with 10 judgments for 140 yards, giving the Grenadiers three of their eight first downs.

PENALTIES and bad snaps from center — one for each side on kicking situations — hampered both sides in a first quarter given mostly to feeling each other out. The penalties were most costly to Palatine, because one — for clipping — erased a touchdown.

The Pirates, after halting the Grenadiers on the fourth down at the EG 33, moved close on runs by Scholl. From 14 yards out, Kinsella slammed in, but it was called back. Another score was just missed moments later when reserve quarterback Bob Young saw a 25-yard pass go in and out of Gill's hands.

Though the first quarter thus ended in a stalemate, it was apparent that the bigger Pirates were beginning to weigh heavily on the out-manned Grenadiers. The first product came at 6:30 of period two, the march beginning after Grove's John Knoph quick-kicked out of a hole to his own 39. Palatine, chiefly on the running of Lynch, ground to the 16. From that point, Kinsella took it across on a spectacular bash through half the Grove team. He added the PAT.

GROVE, ON A 15-yard burst by Jim Hoffman and the passing of Pahl, threatened to come right back, but the Pirates stopped them. The stop--with a 15-yard penalty hung on Palatine as the Pirates held--came at the Palatine 26. The visitors, undeterred by a first down and 25, went the 74 yards in six plays. Kinsella picked up 27 of the yards, and Scholl trickery produced the score.

The quarterback had second at one at Grove's 40, but instead of the obvious running play, he lofted a pass to Gill on the right sideline and the end raced in with 42 seconds left in the half.

A fumble and a methodical march produced the third Pirate score. The fumble came on a Kinsella punt midway in the third quarter, and gave Palatine the ball on its 49. Running by Lynch and Kinsella and a 14-yard reception by Gill put the ball in position at the 10. Scholl tossed to Gill in the end zone, and it was 19-0 with Kinsella's kick after wide.

SCHOLL PASSED for the last score at 4:26 of the last period, getting himself in position with a scrambling 25-yard sweep to the Elk Grove 10, after Render's interception gave Palatine the ball.

Kinsella took two chunks to the two, and from there Scholl pegged the ball to Schuettner. The Kinsella kick made it 26-0, and then it bacame a question of whether the Grenadiers could avoid the shutout. They were game about it, with Pahl and two 15-yard penalties moving EG to the Palatine 14. But then John Reed crunched Pahl with a six-yard loss and the defensive backs broke up three consecutive passes. At that point, the smile returned to the face of Palatine headman Arv Herstedt.

Wildcats Tip Falcons

HANK TASCHE
Hammering Fullback

GERRY LEMKE
Accurate

It was a battle between two evenly matched, well-coached football teams that was played Saturday at the Forest View High School field, but the Warriors of Wheeling held on to pull out a 7 to 6 victory over the host Falcons.

This was predicted to be a real head-knocker and it turned out to be just that. It was a ball game that was enjoyed more by the serious student of the game than by the fan seeking the flashy, breakaway type contest, but it had something for everyone.

For those who enjoy the defensive aspect of the game, there was a classic battle with both clubs fielding teams that did fine jobs in this department. Considering the total yards gained by each team, 121 by the Falcons and 48 by Wheeling, it was mainly a defensive struggle.

THE GAME ALSO showed two fullbacks who may be the best in the league. The Wildcats boast Jon Hittman who does many things and does them all well. He is not only an able runner and blocker, but he is also the Wheeling punter and does an outstanding job as a defensive linebacker.

The Falcons have hammering Hank Tasche, at fullback. Big Henry is developing week to week into a fine running fullback who is picking up the small secrets that turn an average runner into a good dependable ground gainer.

In an unusual aspect in the ball game, the two fullbacks picked up the greater bulk of their teams rushing yardage and most of that was gained on off tackle slants and dive plays up the middle.

THE UNHERALDED HEROS of all football teams waged a war of their own as both lines played outstanding football. A particular bright spot for the Falcons was guard Spence Driescharf who played both ways and did a good job on both offense and defense. This is Driescharf's first season at his guard spot and he is going to be one of the best in the league.

As a note to indicate the quality of football played, it is interesting that there was only 50 yards in penalties in the entire game. There was only one major 15 yarder and that was caused by a hard-to-avoid roughing the kicker rap against Wheeling.

Football is often a game of breaks and third downs and in the case of Wheeling's first score it was breaks that made the difference.

After the ball had changed hands a couple of times, the Falcons were fighting to get out of their own end of the field.

ON A RUNNING PLAY from the 10 yard line the Falcon carrier coughed up the ball and the Wildcats recovered at the 11. From there it was Jon Hittman twice in a row and a Wheeling touchdown. The toe of Gerry Lemke gave the Wildcats the extra point and Wheeling had a lead that they were to hang on to.

Midway in the third period the Forest View place kicker was injured and that might have made the difference between a loss and a tie for the Falcons.

Early in the fourth quarter the Wildcats had possession of the ball. Robin Melzer, the Cat quarterback, attempted to throw and the pitch was picked off by Falcon Dave Kaspari who returned to the Wheeling four yard line.

From there, in two tries, Tasche had a touchdown for the Falcons. Quarterback Rich Gillespie was forced to try to run for the extra point and was brought down before he could add the conversion.

FROM THAT POINT it was an even ball game, as it had been before, with neither team able to gain a first down.

The quality of ball played was well above par for high school football and only a number of fumbles marred an otherwise fine day for both teams.

For those who enjoy seeing good fundamental football, this game was a real pleasure as both teams showed evidence of being well coached in all the basic aspects of the game. The blocking and the tackling was hard and crisp and it was rare to see a blown assignment.

Both the Falcons and the Wildcats have some outstanding performers and both these clubs will have to be reckoned with before the season is over.

Grove Travels

The Grenadiers of Elk Grove will travel to Deerfield this coming Saturday to battle the Warriors. The Grenadiers are still looking for their first win as a new District 214 school.

The Deerfield Warriors will present a formidable offense with which the Grenadiers must contend. The game is scheduled to begin at 12:00 noon.

Pirate Soph Team Tops Elk Grove

Palatine's sophomore football players ran up a four-touchdown bulge in the first half last Saturday, then held on for a 26-6 triumph over Elk Grove's sophs.

In the game, contested on the Grenadier gridiron, Dick Lutz' Pirate eleven tallied two touchdowns in each of the first two periods. In the first quarter, Phil Donahue hit Chris Andriano with a 13-yard scoring pass and Dave Hasbach raced 97 yards for another score.

In the second quarter, Andriano tallied again, pulling in a 38-yard scoring heave from Al Bambrick. Then Donahue passed for another TD ,hitting Tom Heer with a 14-yarder.

Mike Kunze averted a blanking for Elk Grove, scoring with four seconds left on the clock. He tallied from four yards out, capping a 60-yard EG drive.

Grove Frosh Stop Palatine

Elk Grove's freshman football players made it two out of two in competition with Palatine Saturday morning.

On the freshman A level, the young Grenadiers triumphed 31-13, though the highlight of the contest was a 90-yard kickoff return for a touchdown by Palatine's Don Giancasparo.

On the freshman B level, Elk Grove posted a shutout, 38-0.

Falcon JVs Edge Wildcats

The host Falcons of Forest View scored in all but the third quarter as they defeated the Wildcats of Wheeling in a J.V. tilt on Saturday, 18-12.

The big guns for the Forest View eleven were quarterback Al Ernst, back Gary Ferguson, and end Tony Lanzaratta. Coe Meyer was the work horse for the visiting Wildcats.

The visitors drew first scoring blood as they capped a march with a one yard plunge by Meyer for the TD. The try for point failed, but the Cats enjoyed an early lead.

That lead was to be short-lived as the Flacons came right back and had a touchdown of their own before the half. The Falcons missed on their try for point after and the score was 6-6 at the end of the first quarter.

JOHN TERRELL helped set up the second Forest View score when he dashed to the 14 yard line on a fine run. From there the Falcons were only one pass play away from a score.

Ernst dropped back and hit Ron Traub with a perfect aerial to give the Falcons six more points. The try for point again failed, but the Falcons took a 12 to 6 lead into the locker room at the half.

Wildcat Meyer was the work horse of the next Wheeling scoring effort. On a scamper around left end, he brought the ball down to the Forest View two yard line. On the next play Meyer bashed his way in and tied the score. Once again the extra point attempt failed.

In the fourth period of play the Falcons scored for the final but most important time in the game. After a pass from Ernst to Ferguson put the ball on the six yard line, it took the Falcons three tries before Ernst again passed, this time to Lanzaratta for the score. Once more the try for point failed but the Falcons held on to win.

The end of the ball game for the Wildcats came when they fumbled while on a drive and Falcon Steve Henrick recovered. It was a back-and-forth battle all the way, but the Falcons gained an 18 to 12 edge to win.

This Saturday Forest View's Jayvees will journey to Maine West while Wheeling hosts Arlington.

Libertyville, New Trier

Pirates Halt Two In Cross Country

The deficit was erased in Palatine's cross country standard last week. Dick Storm's Pirates, after losing their first three dual outings, extended a winning streak to four with successive triumphs over Libertyville and New Trier West.

Libertyville was the victim Wednesday, falling 25-33, and New Trier West went down 20-43 on Friday.

The Pirate frosh-soph, still winless for 1966, lost to both opponents, but came as close as possible to winning in falling 27-28 to Libertyville.

The varsity victory over Libertyville — achieved on Palatine home course in Rolling Meadows' Salk Park—came despite the yielding of the first two places to the Wildcats. They went—in the times of 9:48 and 9:51—to veterans Mike Nutting and John Worthen.

STORM'S BOYS concentrated on running as a pack, and they did, taking the next five places to clinch the win. Mike Ferguson ran the best for the Pirates in 10:02, with Bill Bahnfleth a second behind in fourth.

The quintet ran with a total spread of 14 seconds, Mark Visk coming in fifth at 10:07, Bruce Atkinson in 10:10 and Dennis Denton in 10:16. Palatine picked up one other place in the top 10, though it didn't count in the scoring, when Jerry Weyrich ended ninth.

Scott Smith won the frosh-soph challenge for Palatine, coming in first on the 1.9 mile layout with 11:07. Jim Weyhenmeyer ran third, Howard Weld sixth, Tom Krege eighth and Mike Reagan 10th, but the placing wasn't quite enough to take the team win.

Against New Trier West, the visiting Pirates again concentrated on bunching, surrendering first to the hosts, but taking the next seven places. In running second through seventh, the first five—Ferguson, Bahnfleth, Visk, Atkinson and Weyrich—had a time spread of just 11 seconds, and led Denton (seventh) and Tim Sullivan (eighth) into the chute. The target spread was 10 seconds, so Storm expressed pleasure with the outcome.

Workout for Bats

The record for most at-bats by a major league club in a season is 5,705, set by the Yankees in 1964. The Pitsburgh Pirates set the National League mark last year when they took 5,686 turns at the plate.

Lambert in Record Run

by BOB NORDIN

Ted Lambert was all by himself Saturday as he set a new course record in the cross country run between Forest View and Wheeling in which the host Falcons were victorious.

The final count showed the Falcons the winners with a 15 to 47 score.

Lambert, who set a blistering pace for the 1.9 mile course, was way ahead of the pack as he finished in a record time of 10 minutes flat.

The next five places also went to Forest View and the first seven finishers all were in in under 11:00 minutes.

Cliff Kuhnlohe, Oscar Pequeno, Dick Appleton, Joe Branka, and Bucky Jones all finished for the Falcons before Bill Smith led the way in for the Wildcats.

Smith was followed by Wildcats Len Eaton and Bill Martin in the eight and nine spots with Forest View's Joe Joyce in the tenth position.

Wildcats' Andy Black and Al Lieupo finished up the top five placers for the visiting Wheeling harriers as they gained 12th and 13th place berths.

The frosh soph harriers from Forest View did not treat their Wheeling guests with any great kindness as they defeated them, 24-31.

Bob Bell led the way for the winners as he covered the 1.9 mile course in 11:21. Greg Gawlik was second over-all and first for Wheeling and he was followed by Forest View's Bruce Finch.

Frank Savage placed fourth for the Wheeling squad with Falcon Tom Vaughn fifth. Keith Gresens won sixth place honors and John Hanely and Mike Kinneman got the seventh and eighth place spots for the hosts.

Tom Yockey and Mike Sonnenscein finished out the top ten and won those places for the Wildcats.

Card Runners Handle Conant

by KEN KNOX

Arlington raced past another contender for the Mid-Suburban League's cross country laurels last Friday, out-distancing Conant 20-35 on the Cardinals' Pioneer Park course.

The Cards made it a sweep for the day, because the varsity victory followed a perfect 15-50 effort by the frosh-soph.

The varsity challenge featured — as expected — a fierce head-to-head duel between the Cards' brilliant junior Dave Dieters and the Cougars' stellar senior Dick Ledford.

It was their race from beginning to end, Ledford taking the lead early and setting the pace, and Dieters stubbornly striding behind him. Dieters passed his competitor shortly before beginning the long uphill slope to the finish, and when he hit the chute it was with still another record clocking for the two-year-old park layout.

Scott Butler won again for the underclassmen, breezing in 10:50. Twenty-one seconds back in second was Ken Malcolmson, with Dave Marszalek, Al McKay and John Faus filling out the top five. Conant's best, in eighth and ninth, were Ron Schweigert and Mike Beck, with Dick Culton, Roy Vombrock and Keith Gast running next for the losers. With the result, the young Cards went to 2-0 in the MSL, Conant to 1-1.

Through Busy Week

Nemec Leads Lion Runners

The individual efforts of senior Bob Nemec and a triangular victory over St. Joseph and Marist highlighted another busy week for St. Viator's varsity cross country team.

Coach Owen Fox's Lions engaged in two triangulars and a dual over a seven-day period and could talk about only one varsity conquest, an easy win in competition with St. Joseph and Marist.

The Lions placed five boys in the top nine positions with senior ace Nemec coming home second, eight seconds behind the winner.

St. Viator collected 23 points while St. Joseph finished second with 49. Marist tallied 59.

ALSO SCORING for the Lions were Fred Booth in third, Mike Cunningham in fourth, Lou Peterhans in fifth, and sophoomre Pat Jenkinson in ninth.

On a frosh-soph level St. Viator edged St. Joseph for honors, 36 to 38, with Marist in third at 52.

Dave Woods, a soph, was the first Lion runner at the finish as he took second place honors.

Holy Cross, a former member of the Chicagoland Prep League, whipped the Lion varsity last Friday, 24-31, although Nemec gained individual honors over the 1.9 mile layout.

ST. VIATOR'S next man after Nemec was Mark Botterman in sixth. Jenkinson (seventh), Booth (eighth), and Lou Peterhans (ninth) rounded out the scoring.

The young Lions triumphed, 22-38, on a frosh-soph level as Sean Green raced in with a second place award.

In competition Monday afternoon the Lion runners finished in the middle slot in a triangular with Notre Dame and Carmel of Mundelein.

Notre Dame was the winner with 25 points and Fox's Lions had 30. Carmel was a distant third at 89.

NEMEC AGAIN was the first Lion into the chute as he placed second, 12 seconds behind the winner from the host Dons.

Cunningham trailed Nemec by 24 seconds and finished fifth. Jenkinson (sixth), Greg Peterhans (seventh), and Booth (tenth) rounded out the scoring.

Notre Dame, showing promise for the future with squads of young talent, had no trouble on a frosh-soph level, collecting 15 points to St. Viator's 45 and Carmel's 106.

St. Viator, slated to run at Immaculate Conception Tuesday, will meet a host DeLaSalle team Friday and then entertain St. Mel next Tuesday afternoon in Chicagoland Prep League tests.

Kinsella, Scholl Show Way

Palatine Rebounds; Grove Blanked 26-0

by KEN KNOX

If victory was the tonic Palatine's sagging Pirates needed most, Elk Grove's Grenadiers — however unwillingly — filled the prescription last Saturday afternoon.

The Pirates, stunned and disheartened in their first two 1966 encounters, rebounded to rush past the Grenadiers 26-0 on Elk Grove's turf. The victors quite literally rushed to the triumph, because they churned out 339 yards across the grass to dominate the young and lighter Grenadiers.

It was a game in which both sides were seeking the elixir of success, for the Grove eleven too had been without dividends in two attempts. So the loss became the third for the hosts, the first in which they were kept from the goal line.

There had been some apprehension among the Palatine legions about whether the Pirates could rise from the early season agonies that had shredded morale and sidelined several regulars, including prolific halfback John Ekeberg. The Pirates had the inspiration Saturday, and — despite the continued sidelining of Ekeberg, halfback Brian McCartney and lineman Paul Dolik — they had the punch.

IT CAME VERY much from a source heretofore renowned for his kicking and blocking: Pat Kinsella. The 175-pound senior, charging out of the fullback position, showed genuine talent as a rusher, ramming his way to 151 yards in 22 carries, personally delivering seven of Palatine's 18 first downs, scoring one touchdown and having another called back, and kicking two extra points.

But he wasn't alone among the offensive contributors, for he teamed brilliantly with junior quarterback Brian Scholl and halfback Dennis Lynch. Scholl, throwing off a neck injury incurred the week before, ran a steady and controlled game, mixing in a small but devastating passing portion, and running for 59 yards himself. Lynch was the counter to Kinsella, banging for 90 yards in 19 carries.

The defense, too, awakened for Palatine, after having given up 74 points in the two previous games. It completely shut off Grove's running game, pinning a deficit of 24 yards on the rushers, and five times it held when Grove gambled on fourth down.

MOST OF THE success and promise for Dick Mudge's Grenadiers came in the air, on the dangerous short passing of quarterback Larry Pahl. He hit his receivers — particularly end Roy McClelland — 12 times in 28 tries for 105 yards. But three times his aerials were intercepted, once by Wayne Render, who dazzled in the defensive backfield, and twice by Jeff Teach, who also ran for 20 yards on offense.

For sheer effectiveness, it was Scholl's passing that stood out. He threw only six times, but he connected four times, and three of those were for touchdowns. Rangy Bill Gill was the dominant receiver, taking in three for 64 yards and two scores, while Rich Schuettner took the other, two yards for a touchdown.

Only penalties detracted from the Palatine performance, as the Pirates were slapped with 10 judgments for 140 yards, giving the Grenadiers three of their eight first downs.

PENALTIES and bad snaps from center — one for each side on kicking situations — hampered both sides in a first quarter given mostly to feeling each other out. The penalties were most costly to Palatine, because one — for clipping — erased a touchdown.

The Pirates, after halting the Grenadiers on the fourth down at the EG 33, moved close on runs by Scholl. From 14 yards out, Kinsella slammed in, but it was called back. Another score was just missed moments later when reserve quarterback Bob Young saw a 25-yard pass go in and out of Gill's hands.

Though the first quarter thus ended in a stalemate, it was apparent that the bigger Pirates were beginning to weigh heavily on the out-manned Grenadiers. The first product came at 6:30 of period two, the march beginning after Grove's John Knoph quick-kicked out of a hole to his own 39. Palatine, chiefly on the running of Lynch, ground to the 16. From that point, Kinsella took it across on a spectacular bash through half the Grove team. He added the PAT.

GROVE, ON A 15-yard burst by Jim Hoffman and the passing of Pahl, threatened to come right back, but the Pirates stopped them. The stop—with a 15-yard penalty hung on Palatine as the Pirates held—came at the Palatine 26. The visitors, undeterred by a first down and 25, went the 74 yards in six plays. Kinsella picked up 27 of the yards, and Scholl trickery produced the score.

The quarterback had second at one at Grove's 40, but instead of the obvious running play, he lofted a pass to Gill on the right sideline and the end raced in with 42 seconds left in the half.

A fumble and a methodical march produced the third Pirate score. The fumble came on a Kinsella punt midway in the third quarter, and gave Palatine the ball on its 49. Running by Lynch and Kinsella and a 14-yard reception by Gill put the ball in position at the 10. Scholl tossed to Gill in the end zone, and it was 19-0 with Kinsella's kick after wide.

SCHOLL PASSED for the last score at 4:26 of the last period, getting himself in position with a scrambling 25-yard sweep to the Elk Grove 10, after Render's interception gave Palatine the ball.

Kinsella took two chunks to the two, and from there Scholl pegged the ball to Schuettner. The Kinsella kick made it 26-0, and then it bacame a question of whether the Grenadiers could avoid the shutout. They were game about it, with Pahl and two 15-yard penalties moving EG to the Palatine 14. But then John Reed crunched Pahl with a six-yard loss and the defensive backs broke up three consecutive passes. At that point, the smile returned to the face of Palatine headman Arv Herstedt.

Extra Point Does It

Wildcats Tip Falcons

by BOB NORDIN

It was a battle between two evenly matched, well-coached football teams that was played Saturday at the Forest View High School field, but the Warriors of Wheeling held on to pull out a 7 to 6 victory over the host Falcons.

This was predicted to be a real head-knocker and it turned out to be just that. It was a ball game that was enjoyed more by the serious student of the game than by the fan seeking the flashy, breakaway type contest, but it had something for everyone.

For those who enjoy the defensive aspect of the game, there was a classic battle with both clubs fielding teams that did fine jobs in this department. Considering the total yards gained by each team, 121 by the Falcons and 48 by Wheeling, it was mainly a defensive struggle.

THE GAME ALSO showed two fullbacks who may be the best in the league. The Wildcats boast Jon Hittman who does many things and does them all well. He is not only an able runner and blocker, but he is also the Wheeling punter and does an outstanding job as a defensive linebacker.

The Falcons have hammering Hank Tasche, at fullback. Big Henry is developing week to week into a fine running fullback who is picking up the small secrets that turn an average runner into a good dependable ground gainer.

In an unusual aspect in the ball game, the two fullbacks picked up the greater bulk of their teams rushing yardage and most of that was gained on off tackle slants and dive plays up the middle.

THE UNHERALDED HEROS of all football teams waged a war of their own as both lines played outstanding football. A particular bright spot for the Falcons was guard Spence Driescharf who played both ways and did a good job on both offense and defense. This is Driescharf's first season at his guard spot and he is going to be one of the best in the league.

As a note to indicate the quality of football played, it is interesting that there was only 50 yards in penalties in the entire game. There was only one major 15 yarder and that was caused by a hard-to-avoid roughing the kicker rap against Wheeling.

Football is often a game of breaks and third downs and in the case of Wheeling's first score it was breaks that made the difference.

After the ball had changed hands a couple of times, the Falcons were fighting to get out of their own end of the field.

ON A RUNNING PLAY from the 10 yard line the Falcon carrier coughed up the ball and the Wildcats recovered at the 11. From there it was Jon Hittman twice in a row and a Wheeling touchdown. The toe of Gerry Lemke gave the Wildcats the extra point and Wheeling had a lead that they were to hang on to.

Midway in the third period the Forest View place kicker was injured and that might have made the difference between a loss and a tie for the Falcons.

Early in the fourth quarter the Wildcats had possession of the ball. Robin Melzer, the Cat quarterback, attempted to throw and the pitch was picked off by Falcon Dave Kaspari who returned to the Wheeling four yard line.

From there, in two tries, Tasche had a touchdown for the Falcons. Quarterback Rich Gillespie was forced to try to run for the extra point and was brought down before he could add the conversion.

FROM THAT POINT it was an even ball game, as it had been before, with neither team able to gain a first down.

The quality of ball played was well above par for high school football and only a number of fumbles marred an otherwise fine day for both teams.

For those who enjoy seeing good fundamental football, this game was a real pleasure as both teams showed evidence of being well coached in all the basic aspects of the game. The blocking and the tackling was hard and crisp and it was rare to see a blown assignment.

Both the Falcons and the Wildcats have some outstanding performers and both these clubs will have to be reckoned with before the season is over.

Grove Travels

The Grenadiers of Elk Grove will travel to Deerfield this coming Saturday to battle the Warriors. The Grenadiers are still looking for their first win as a new District 214 school.

The Deerfield Warriors will present a formidable offense with which the Grenadiers must contend. The game is scheduled to begin at 12:00 noon.

Pirate Soph Team Tops Elk Grove

Palatine's sophomore football players ran up a four-touchdown bulge in the first half last Saturday, then held on for a 26-6 triumph over Elk Grove's sophs.

In the game, contested on the Grenadier gridiron, Dick Lutz' Pirate eleven tallied two touchdowns in each of the first two periods. In the first quarter, Phil Donahue hit Chris Andriano with a 13-yard scoring pass and Dave Hasbach raced 97 yards for another score.

In the second quarter, Andriano tallied again, pulling in a 38-yard scoring heave from Al Bambrick. Then Donahue passed for another TD ,hitting Tom Heer with a 14-yarder.

Mike Kunze averted a blanking for Elk Grove, scoring with four seconds left on the clock. He tallied from four yards out, capping a 60-yard EG drive.

Grove Frosh Stop Palatine

Elk Grove's freshman football players made it two out of two in competition with Palatine Saturday morning.

On the freshman A level, the young Grenadiers triumphed 31-13, though the highlight of the contest was a 90-yard kickoff return for a touchdown by Palatine's Don Giancasparo.

On the freshman B level, Elk Grove posted a shutout, 38-0.

Falcon JVs Edge Wildcats

The host Falcons of Forest View scored in all but the third quarter as they defeated the Wildcats of Wheeling in a J.V. tilt on Saturday, 18-12.

The big guns for the Forest View eleven were quarterback Al Ernst, back Gary Ferguson, and end Tony Lanzaratta. Coe Meyer was the work horse for the visiting Wildcats.

The visitors drew first scoring blood as they capped a march with a one yard plunge by Meyer for the TD. The try for point failed, but the Cats enjoyed an early lead.

That lead was to be short-lived as the Flacons came right back and had a touchdown of their own before the half. The Falcons missed on their try for point after and the score was 6-6 at the end of the first quarter.

JOHN TERRELL helped set up the second Forest View score when he dashed to the 14 yard line on a fine run. From there the Falcons were only one pass play away from a score.

Ernst dropped back and hit Ron Traub with a perfect aerial to give the Falcons six more points. The try for point again failed, but the Falcons took a 12 to 6 lead into the locker room at the half.

Wildcat Meyer was the work horse of the next Wheeling scoring effort. On a scamper around left end, he brought the ball down to the Forest View two yard line. On the next play Meyer bashed his way in and tied the score. Once again the extra point attempt failed.

In the fourth period of play the Falcons scored for the final but most important time in the game. After a pass from Ernst to Ferguson put the ball on the six yard line, it took the Falcons three tries before Ernst again passed, this time to Lanzaratta for the score. Once more the try for point failed but the Falcons held on to win.

The end of the ball game for the Wildcats came when they fumbled while on a drive and Falcon Steve Henrick recovered. It was a back-and-forth battle all the way, but the Falcons gained an 18 to 12 edge to win.

This Saturday Forest View's Jayvees will journey to Maine West while Wheeling hosts Arlington.

Libertyville, New Trier

Pirates Halt Two In Cross Country

The deficit was erased in Palatine's cross country standard last week. Dick Storm's Pirates, after losing their first three dual outings, extended a winning streak to four with successive triumphs over Libertyville and New Trier West.

Libertyville was the victim Wednesday, falling 25-33, and New Trier West went down 20-43 on Friday.

The Pirate frosh-soph, still winless for 1966, lost to both opponents, but came as close as possible to winning in falling 27-28 to Libertyville.

The varsity victory over Libertyville — achieved on Palatine home course in Rolling Meadows' Salk Park—came despite the yielding of the first two places to the Wildcats. They went—in the times of 9:48 and 9:51—to veterans Mike Nutting and John Worthen.

STORM'S BOYS concentrated on running as a pack, and they did, taking the next five places to clinch the win. Mike Ferguson ran the best for the Pirates in 10:02, with Bill Bahnfleth a second behind in fourth.

The quintet ran with a total spread of 14 seconds, Mark Visk coming in fifth at 10:07, Bruce Atkinson in 10:10 and Dennis Denton in 10:16. Palatine picked up one other place in the top 10, though it didn't count in the scoring, when Jerry Weyrich ended ninth.

Scott Smith won the frosh-soph challenge for Palatine, coming in first on the 1.9 mile layout with 11:07. Jim Weyhenmeyer ran third, Howard Weld sixth, Tom Krege eighth and Mike Reagan 10th, but the placing wasn't quite enough to take the team win.

Against New Trier West, the visiting Pirates again concentrated on bunching, surrendering first to the hosts, but taking the next seven places. In running second through seventh, the first five—Ferguson, Bahnfleth, Visk, Atkinson and Weyrich—had a time spread of just 11 seconds, and led Denton (seventh) and Tim Sullivan (eighth) into the chute. The target spread was 10 seconds, so Storm expressed pleasure with the outcome.

Workout for Bats

The record for most at-bats by a major league club in a season is 5,705, set by the Yankees in 1964. The Pitsburgh Pirates set the National League mark last year when they took 5,686 turns at the plate.

In Mount Prospect

Five Midget Outfits Still Without Loss

Five teams remain undefeated as the Mount Prospect Midget Football Association passed the midway mark in its tenth season of play. Unblemished records are sported by the Senior Division leading Colts, the Eagles and Redskins in the Junior circuit and the Hawkeyes and Wildcats in the Bantam competition.

SENIOR DIVISION

A great effort by the line, ball control and a smooth running backfield enabled the hard charging Colts to beat the bigger Bears 18 to 6 in the battle for first place.

Halfback Ralph Gebert registered two touchdowns on an end run and a reverse. Don Koehler added another on a 15 yard sweep. Outstanding defensive linemen included Tom Newhouse, Bruce Brower and Rick Komar.

The defending champs lone tally came in the last quarter as Scott Patience caught a 40 yard pass which set up Jim Underwood's touchdown plunge. Bill Grady, Tom Donis and Tom Hoeg stood out on defense.

Ron Cherwin's Cardinals, on Jack Schultz's trio of touchdowns, defeated the Packers 20 to 14. However, the losers, fielding the smallest team in the Senior Division, played their best game of the season before yielding. First and fourth quarter six pointers were scored by quarterback Tony Mancini and halfback Steve Raymond respectively. Tom Thiergartner pushed over both extra points. Ken Walsh and Greg Chisholm added some strong running while Thiergartner, Mark Rossi and Ron Norberg were tops up front in the line.

JUNIOR DIVISION

The showdown for the top spot in the National League saw the Rams singe the wings of the high flying Eagles before being edged out of a victory 8 to 7 on a fourth quarter safety. John Forssander tackled George Busse behind his own goal line for the deciding two points. The Rams' Tom Freyman and Bob MacAskill passing - receiving combination was tremendous and resulted in an early first half 40 yard scoring feat.

A one yard quarterback sneak by Doug Dahlstrom in the second quarter proved to be the only score of the contest as the Bud Layer-directed Browns, American League leaders, squeezed by the 49ers 6 to 0. Craig Gewartowski's long gallop set up the tally. Keith Mundt was the most outstanding on the field with his hard and numerous tackles. Pat Croke, back after suffering a broken arm before the season started, sparked the defense with John Layer.

The Cowboys scored in every quarter as they outdueled the steadily improving but luckless Jets, 24-19, in a high scoring match. Mike Martin notched two touchdowns while Phil Radtke and Chris Wilson got one apiece for the defending champs. The Furlongmen tallies were registered by fleet footed Mike Raymond, Dave Guastaferri and Eugene "Duke" Brennan with the latter getting the extra point. Rick Haaning snagged several nice passes.

The undefeated Redskins moved into second place of the National League as they scalped the Steelers 19-0 on touchdown sprints by Barry McEneeley, Dennis O'Keefe and Jim Robb and solid defensive efforts by Mike Kinny, Bret Lang and Gary Chuipek. Kenny Holan and John Bicego were the Steelers best runners and the most tackles were made by Mike Weik, Mark Storhaug, Joe Trausch, Mark Luciani and Tom Parker.

Tailback Gerry Smith went over for the game's only counter in the 3rd quarter as Vic Rose's Vikings edged the Chiefs 6-0 for win No. 1. Jeff Underwood's blocking and Terry Cherwin's line plunges drew cheers as did the defensive line play of Bob Lowe, Joe Trebat, and Doug Hardy. The Chief's best performers were Bob Broeren, Dino Frediani, Richard Georgen, Mike Loeschen, Scott Bender, Al Willert, and Jim Campell.

BANTAM DIVISION

The Hawkeyes defensive unit, sparked by Tim Johnson and George Bicego, held the high scoring Buckeyes scoreless and went on to win their eleventh straight shutout over a two year period, 6-0, as Rod Kiolbassa scooted around end in the fourth stanza. Scott Hager and George blocking. Ricky Chuipek, Mark Wegerer, and Bob Lee were the Buckeyes hardest runners. Lee intercepted a pass and returned it about 20 yards.

The Boilermakers returned to form as they whipped the Wolverines, 19-7. Richard Chrismar tallied the first and third touchdowns. Ray Meinsen got the other plus the point after. Keith Wainski also was a strong runner. Tom Weik, Gregg Jacobs, and Kelly Strom were demons on defense. Pat Donahue skirted the end for 45 yards for the Wolverines single six pointer. Randy Clark, Carl Ditmer, and Mike Zielinski were the losers most efficient tacklers.

The Spartans gained their first victory by a score of 26-20 despite another dazzling one man scoring show by the Panthers Tom Marwitz who notched three touchdowns and two extra points. Martin Fisher scored twice for the Spartans while Jim Forssander and Craig Lancaster racked up one touchdown each. Larry Ruane charged hard and tackled well as did Jeff Conway. Steve Forton also ran well and Mike Sramek blocked fiercely.

The National League leaders, the Wildcats, remained undefeated as they blanked the improving Gophers 21-0. Long runs by Jay Loos, Steve Spielmann and Tom Hermanson accounted for the winners three tallies. Rick Laden, Don Hoeg, and Tim Halas were the defensive stalwarts. Greg Adams, Paul Kudalis, Dale Markey, and Jim Dunsing performed well for mentor Dick Tank's Gophers.

The Badgers, coached by Pete Petran, scored only in the first half but it was enough to whitewash the Lions, 8 to 0. Halfback Paul Wilkinson scooted around end for 30 yards and Randy Cherwin nailed an opponent in his end zone for a safety. Mark Pauluzzi, Mike Isban, and Jim Wade played a hard nosed front line and helped the winners preserve a shutout victory.

Striking Gals Alone at Top

The battle for first place continues in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League.

Striking Lanes, on the strength of a four point pick up Saturday, has gained sole possession of first place. They now have 13 total points and enjoy a one point lead over second place Lattof Chevrolet.

Sylvia's Flowers has gained the third place spot but Wheel Inn and Morton Pontiac are still tied, now for fourth place honors. River Rand, with three points, is on the bottom of the heap.

Striking Lanes picked up its four points this week at the expense of River Rand. Lucille Schoenberger had the high series for the winners with a 570 counter. Eunice Whitmore rolled a 205 for high game honors for Striking Lanes.

Ethel Juenger led the River Rand gals with a 504 series and 192 game.

LATTOF Chevrolet picked up three points as they won three out of four with Wheel Inn. Four out of the five Lattof girls had series scores of more than 500 with Peggy Harris having the high with 569. Peggy also had the high game with an excellent 220. Vi Douglas was right up there in the series count with a 554.

Ann Neumann had the high series for Wheel Inn with a 505 but Bonnie Kuhn rolled the high game with 192.

In the Morton Pontiac — Sylvia's Flowers match, Sylvia's gained three points and gave up only one to the girls from Morton.

Harriet Fuchs again led Sylvia's in the series count as she fashioned a 536 count. Her 198 was also high game for Sylvia's.

Ruth Baurhyte led the Morton Pontiac gals and counted 493 pins for her evening's work. Vivian Herman had the high game as she was the only Morton entry to break 200. She scored a 209 in her second game.

FUN and FACTS

About Bowling........by Dick Ericson

THE STARTING POINT: Having been born, one may start bowling at any age. It should be pointed out, however, that bowlers not having attained age four have considerable difficulty making the 7-10 split.

THE STARTING POINT: The beginning bowler determines his starting point by placing his heels two inches from the foul line with his back to the pins. He then takes four and a half brisk walking steps. (The extra half-step is for the slide.) After determining the starting point, turn around and try it several times. If you feel cramped, lengthen the approach slightly. If you feel you are stretching your steps to get to the foul line, shorten the approach.

Football Contest

Football enthusiasts, games players, and people who just like money may participate in a $1,500,000 "All Pro" football contest to be offered by Standard Oil dealers.

Participants can win one of 170 Ford Mustangs and cash prizes ranging from $1 to $250 in the game that started Sunday and continues the 12 weeks through the professional football season.

A. V. Fraser, Chicago regional manager for the Standard Oil Division of American Oil Company, said provision has been made for 500,000 winners in the "All Pro" game, adding that "to our knowledge the game will have the richest gross prize structure, the largest number of winners, and the greatest number of top prizes--a football field full of Mustangs."

The oil company saies executive said the "All Pro" game is open to any licensed driver who visits a Standard Oil station and picks up the simple materials needed for playing it.

On the first visit, the motorist receives a game card bearing the pictures of 20 different National Football League stars. Also, on the first visit, and on each subsequent visit, he gets an envelope containing three player stamps corresponding to the pictures on the game card.

The stamps are pasted over corresponding pictures on the game card, and by completing stipulated sets of two, three, four, five or six stamps, the player wins $1, $5, $250, or a Mustang, respectively. The $1 and $5 are paid immediately, at the station.

The "All Pro" game will be offered at stations from coast to coast, except for those areas where such activities are prohibited by law.

Morton Pontiac Pads Advantage in Classic

Morton Pontiac continues to lead the way in the Paddock Classic Traveling League. They now stand at the top of the heap by virtue of a five point lead that was bolstered by seven additional points this past Saturday evening.

Bill Cook Buick has taken over second place but only by one point over last week's second place holder, The Brass Rail.

At Beverly Lanes

The Cardinals took third high team series with 1821 in the Early Birds division . . . The Bluebirds' 646 was good for third high team game . . . Evelyn Banka's 504 gave her high individual series for the season with a high individual game of 189 . . . Most improved bowler of the week was Bertha Carlson who raised her average 13 points . . . Slottag had high game of 237 and high series of 581 in the Parkway men's division . . . Other leaders were Paddock 216-544, Shedler 546, Joern 215-551, George Quade 560, and Glenn Quade 201 . . . Shirley Nutschnig bowled high series of the evening in the Arlington Heights Women Keglers division as she put together games of 214, 171, 160 for a 545 . . . Arlington Furniture Mart took high game of 834 . . . Elsie Schuh led the team with a 222 game . . . E. Dragoon just missed 500 for the second straight week as she collected a 499.

At Thunderbird

Betty Baker bowled a 511 series in the Thunderbelles league . . . Arlene Coughlin threw five strikes in a row in the third game for a 195 . . . Diane Coyle bowled a 437 series with a 114 average.

At Elk Grove Bowl

Betty's Bugettis show a 13-3 record and three-game lead in the Elkettes lead . . . Val's Volkswagens, Marge's Mustangs, and Dolly's Dunderbirds are tied for the runner-up slot at 10-6 . . . Lorraine Champa had the high scratch game of 191 . . . Other leaders were Nancy Pitts at 180 and Bette Nebergall at 175 . . . Matire d' has taken the lead in the Elk Grove Ladies Major League with a 7-2 record . . . AAA Catering fashioned high series of 1883 and high game of 689 . . . Frances Lindsey fired a 509 series, and Jarmila Kujala came through with a 213 game.

At Rolling Meadows

Don Dahlquist bowled a 582 series in the Wednesday Night Mixers league . . . George Bowne had high game of 230, and Paul Kellermeyer bowled three 168s . . . Mueller Iron Works took three points to maintain the division lead with an 11-5 effort.

In the Thursday Morning Eye Openers league the high series of 1988 was rolled by the Bonsal . . . High game of 710 was rolled by the Big Oaks . . . The week's "Star Bowler" was Esther Soukup of the Bonsai entry, firing a 204 game and 516 series.

Sports Chalet has gained a two point lead over fifth place holder Karlsen Pharmacy and City Welding has maintained its sixth place berth in the standings. Jeffery Lanes and Elk Grove Bowl are now in a tie for last place honors.

MORTON PONTIAC picked up seven points in their battle with Elk Grove Bowl. Les Zikes was way out in front of everybody as he recorded a 619 series and a 217 high game. Teammate Ray Olson garnered a 585 series for second high on the team and in the match.

Angelo Petrarca was the high recorder for Elk Grove Bowl with 530 pins for his efforts. Ron Sheldon was right behind him, however, with a 529 count.

Bill Cook Buick picked up a 5-2 decision over Karlsen Pharmacy and all the Cook men were bowling at a 550 clip or better. Bob Krisch had the high count with a 588 series and a 227 game. Al Haase was right up there again this week with a 570 series counter. Ernie Koche was high series man for Karlsen Pharmacy with a 582. Neal Domin gained individual game honors for his team by rolling a high 204 game.

JOE SIMONIS led the Sports Chalet aggregation with a 643 total count and a high 233 game. Tom Kouros bowled second high game of 200. The Brass Rail, which came out on the short end in this match, found Herman Simonis their high man with a 629 count. Herman's 235 game was also high for the team and high for the match.

Jeffery Lanes got the better of their match with City Welding as they gained five more points. Paul Zubak rolled the high series with a 620 count. His high game was a 235 which was second only to teammate Don Christensen who rolled a 256. Christensen also rolled a fine 601 series.

Bernie Hansen was high man for the Welding outfit as he bowled a 583 series and a 202 individual high. Bob Rogers gave his support with a 566 total count.

Christensen joined the elite group of high individual game rollers as his 256 ties him with Al Haase for third high. Bill Cook gained second place high team game honors as they got a collective 1088 for their night's work.

Take Survey On Big Games

A survey of 10,600 perfect games, 6,362 games of 299 and 4,309 games of 298 approved by ABC from 1907 through the 1964-65 season reveals some interesting contrasts between the three composites.

For example, the composite 300 bowler is about three years younger than the 299 award winner and carries an average of about four pins higher. The 298 bowler is two years older than the 300 man and averages five pins less.

The composite 300 bowler is 34 years old, averages 188 and has bowled 11 years. The 299 man is 37, averages 184 and has 11 years of experience. The 298's also had 11 years of competition, but is 36 and averages only 183.

The month of March holds the honor for being the time when most high games are rolled.

Lowest High Mark

The lowest batting average by a league-leading hitter in major league history was .306 by Elmer Flick of Cleveland in 1905.

Five Midget Outfits Still Without Loss

Five teams remain undefeated as the Mount Prospect Midget Football Association passed the midway mark in its tenth season of play. Unblemished records are sported by the Senior Division leading Colts, the Eagles and Redskins in the Junior circuit and the Hawkeyes and Wildcats in the Bantam competition.

SENIOR DIVISION

A great effort by the line, ball control and a smooth running backfield enabled the hard charging Colts to beat the bigger Bears 18 to 6 in the battle for first place.

Halfback Ralph Gebert registered two touchdowns on an end run and a reverse. Don Koehler added another on a 15 yard sweep. Outstanding defensive linemen included Tom Newhouse, Bruce Brower and Rick Komar.

The defending champs lone tally came in the last quarter as Scott Patience caught a 40 yard pass which set up Jim Underwood's touchdown plunge. Bill Grady, Tom Donis and Tom Hoeg stood out on defense.

Ron Cherwin's Cardinals, on Jack Schultz's trio of touchdowns, defeated the Packers 20 to 14. However, the losers, fielding the smallest team in the Senior Division, played their best game of the season before yielding. First and fourth quarter six pointers were scored by quarterback Tony Mancini and halfback Steve Raymond respectively. Tom Thiergartner pushed over both extra points. Ken Walsh and Greg Chisholm added some strong running while Thiergartner, Mark Rossi and Ron Norberg were tops up front in the line.

JUNIOR DIVISION

The showdown for the top spot in the National League saw the Rams singe the wings of the high flying Eagles before being edged out of a victory 8 to 7 on a fourth quarter safety. John Forssander tackled George Busse behind his own goal line for the deciding two points. The Rams' Tom Freyman and Bob MacAskill passing - receiving combination was tremendous and resulted in an early first half 40 yard scoring feat.

A one yard quarterback sneak by Doug Dahlstrom in the second quarter proved to be the only score of the contest as the Bud Layer-directed Browns, American League leaders, squeezed by the 49ers 6 to 0. Craig Gewartowski's long gallop set up the tally. Keith Mundt was the most outstanding on the field with his hard and numerous tackles. Pat Croke, back after suffering a broken arm before the season started, sparked the defense with John Layer.

The Cowboys scored in every quarter as they outdueled the steadily improving but luckless Jets, 24-19, in a high scoring match. Mike Martin notched two touchdowns while Phil Radtke and Chris Wilson got one apiece for the defending champs. The Furlongmen tallies were registered by fleet footed Mike Raymond, Dave Guastaferri and Eugene "Duke" Brennan with the latter getting the extra point. Rick Haaning snagged several nice passes.

The undefeated Redskins moved into second place of the National League as they scalped the Steelers 19-0 on touchdown sprints by Barry McEneeley, Dennis O'Keefe and Jim Robb and solid defensive efforts by Mike Kinny, Bret Lang and Gary Chuipek. Kenny Holan and John Bicego were the Steelers best runners and the most tackles were made by Mike Weik, Mark Storhaug, Joe Trausch, Mark Luciani and Tom Parker.

Tailback Gerry Smith went over for the game's only counter in the 3rd quarter as Vic Rose's Vikings edged the Chiefs 6-0 for win No. 1. Jeff Underwood's blocking and Terry Cherwin's line plunges drew cheers as did the defensive line play of Bob Lowe, Joe Trebat, and Doug Hardy. The Chief's best performers were Bob Broeren, Dino Frediani, Richard Georgen, Mike Loeschen, Scott Bender, Al Willert, and Jim Campell.

BANTAM DIVISION

The Hawkeyes defensive unit, sparked by Tim Johnson and George Bicego, held the high scoring Buckeyes scoreless and went on to win their eleventh straight shutout over a two year period, 6-0, as Rod Kiolbassa scooted around end in the fourth stanza. Scott Hager and George blocking. Ricky Chuipek, Mark Wegerer, and Bob Lee were the Buckeyes hardest runners. Lee intercepted a pass and returned it about 20 yards.

The Boilermakers returned to form as they whipped the Wolverines, 19-7. Richard Chrismar tallied the first and third touchdowns. Ray Meinsen got the other plus the point after. Keith Wainski also was a strong runner. Tom Weik, Gregg Jacobs, and Kelly Strom were demons on defense. Pat Donahue skirted the end for 45 yards for the Wolverines single six pointer. Randy Clark, Carl Ditmer, and Mike Zielinski were the losers most efficient tacklers.

The Spartans gained their first victory by a score of 26-20 despite another dazzling one man scoring show by the Panthers Tom Marwitz who notched three touchdowns and two extra points. Martin Fisher scored twice for the Spartans while Jim Forssander and Craig Lancaster racked up one touchdown each. Larry Ruane charged hard and tackled well as did Jeff Conway. Steve Forton also ran well and Mike Sramek blocked fiercely.

The National League leaders, the Wildcats, remained undefeated as they blanked the improving Gophers 21-0. Long runs by Jay Loos, Steve Spielmann and Tom Hermanson accounted for the winners three tallies. Rick Laden, Don Hoeg, and Tim Halas were the defensive stalwarts. Greg Adams, Paul Kudalis, Dale Markey, and Jim Dunsing performed well for mentor Dick Tank's Gophers.

The Badgers, coached by Pete Petran, scored only in the first half but it was enough to whitewash the Lions, 8 to 0. Halfback Paul Wilkinson scooted around end for 30 yards and Randy Cherwin nailed an opponent in his end zone for a safety. Mark Pauluzzi, Mike Isban, and Jim Wade played a hard nosed front line and helped the winners preserve a shutout victory.

Striking Gals Alone at Top

The battle for first place continues in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League.

Striking Lanes, on the strength of a four point pick up Saturday, has gained sole possession of first place. They now have 13 total points and enjoy a one point lead over second place Lattof Chevrolet.

Sylvia's Flowers has gained the third place spot but Wheel Inn and Morton Pontiac are still tied, now for fourth place honors. River Rand, with three points, is on the bottom of the heap.

Striking Lanes picked up its four points this week at the expense of River Rand. Lucille Schoenberger had the high series for the winners with a 570 counter. Eunice Whitmore rolled a 205 for high game honors for Striking Lanes.

Ethel Juenger led the River Rand gals with a 504 series and 192 game.

LATTOF Chevrolet picked up three points as they won three out of four with Wheel Inn. Four out of the five Lattof girls had series scores of more than 500 with Peggy Harris having the high with 569. Peggy also had the high game with an excellent 220. Vi Douglas was right up there in the series count with a 554.

Ann Neumann had the high series for Wheel Inn with a 505 but Bonnie Kuhn rolled the high game with 192.

In the Morton Pontiac — Sylvia's Flowers match, Sylvia's gained three points and gave up only one to the girls from Morton.

Harriet Fuchs again led Sylvia's in the series count as she fashioned a 536 count. Her 198 was also high game for Sylvia's.

Ruth Baurhyte led the Morton Pontiac gals and counted 493 pins for her evening's work. Vivian Herman had the high game as she was the only Morton entry to break 200. She scored a 209 in her second game.

FUN and FACTS About Bowling........by Dick Ericson

THE STARTING POINT: Having been born, one may start bowling at any age. It should be pointed out, however, that bowlers not having attained age four have considerable difficulty making the 7-10 split.

THE STARTING POINT: The beginning bowler determines his starting point by placing his heels two inches from the foul line with his back to the pins. He then takes four and a half brisk walking steps. (The extra half-step is for the slide.) After determining the starting point, turn around and try it several times. If you feel cramped, lengthen the approach slightly. If you feel you are stretching your steps to get to the foul line, shorten the approach.

Football Contest

Football enthusiasts, games players, and people who just like money may participate in a $1,500,000 "All Pro" football contest to be offered by Standard Oil dealers.

Participants can win one of 170 Ford Mustangs and cash prizes ranging from $1 to $250 in the game that started Sunday and continues the 12 weeks through the professional football season.

A. V. Fraser, Chicago regional manager for the Standard Oil Division of American Oil Company, said provision has been made for 500,000 winners in the "All Pro" game, adding that "to our knowledge the game will have the richest gross prize structure, the largest number of winners, and the greatest number of top prizes--a football field full of Mustangs."

The oil company saies executive said the "All Pro" game is open to any licensed driver who visits a Standard Oil station and picks up the simple materials needed for playing it.

On the first visit, the motorist receives a game card bearing the pictures of 20 different National Football League stars. Also, on the first visit, and on each subsequent visit, he gets an envelope containing three player stamps corresponding to the pictures on the game card.

The stamps are pasted over corresponding pictures on the game card, and by completing stipulated sets of two, three, four, five or six stamps, the player wins $1, $5, $250, or a Mustang, respectively. The $1 and $5 are paid immediately, at the station.

The "All Pro" game will be offered at stations from coast to coast, except for those areas where such activities are prohibited by law.

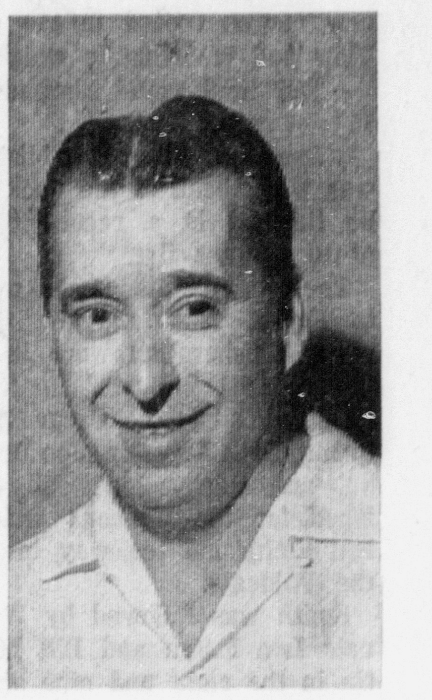
Morton Pontiac Pads Advantage in Classic

Morton Pontiac continues to lead the way in the Paddock Classic Traveling League. They now stand at the top of the heap by virtue of a five point lead that was bolstered by seven additional points this past Saturday evening.

Bill Cook Buick has taken over second place but only by one point over last week's second place holder, The Brass Rail.



JOE SIMONIS

Sports Chalet has gained a two point lead over fifth place holder Karlsen Pharmacy and City Welding has maintained its sixth place berth in the standings. Jeffery Lanes and Elk Grove Bowl are now in a tie for last place honors.

MORTON PONTIAC picked up seven points in their battle with Elk Grove Bowl. Les Zikes was way out in front of everybody as he recorded a 619 series and a 217 high game. Teammate Ray Olson garnered a 585 series for second high on the team and in the match.

Angelo Petrarca was the high recorder for Elk Grove Bowl with 530 pins for his efforts. Ron Sheldon was right behind him, however, with a 529 count.

Bill Cook Buick picked up a 5-2 decision over Karlsen Pharmacy and all the Cook men were bowling at a 550 clip or better. Bob Krisch had the high count with a 588 series and a 227 game. Al Haase was right up there again this week with a 570 series counter. Ernie Koche was high series man for Karlsen Pharmacy with a 582. Neal Domin gained individual game honors for his team by rolling a high 204 game.

JOE SIMONIS led the Sports Chalet aggregation with a 643 total count and a high 233 game. Tom Kouros bowled second high game of 200. The Brass Rail, which came out on the short end in this match, found Herman Simonis their high man with a 629 count. Herman's 235 game was also high for the team and high for the match.

Jeffery Lanes got the better of their match with City Welding as they gained five more points. Paul Zubak rolled the high series with a 620 count. His high game was a 235 which was second only to teammate Don Christensen who rolled a 256. Christensen also rolled a fine 601 series.

Bernie Hansen was high man for the Welding outfit as he bowled a 583 series and a 202 individual high. Bob Rogers gave his support with a 566 total count.

Christensen joined the elite group of high individual game rollers as his 256 ties him with Al Haase for third high. Bill Cook gained second place high team game honors as they got a collective 1088 for their night's work.

Take Survey On Big Games

A survey of 10,600 perfect games, 6,362 games of 299 and 4,309 games of 298 approved by ABC from 1907 through the 1964-65 season reveals some interesting contrasts between the three composites.

For example, the composite 300 bowler is about three years younger than the 299 award winner and carries an average of about four pins higher. The 298 bowler is two years older than the 300 man and averages five pins less.

The composite 300 bowler is 34 years old, averages 188 and has bowled 11 years. The 299 man is 37, averages 184 and has 11 years of experience. The 298's also had 11 years of competition, but is 36 and averages only 183.

The month of March holds the honor for being the time when most high games are rolled.

Lowest High Mark

The lowest batting average by a league-leading hitter in major league history was .306 by Elmer Flick of Cleveland in 1905.

LaBadie Shatters Standard

A four-man Maine West cross country contingent, led by conference standout Lee LaBadie, ripped the Prospect course to shreds Saturday while compiling a solid 16-47 win in their opening circuit match.

The foursome all cracked the ten-minute mark with LaBadie personally burying the old course record by a substantial margin. The varsity win avenged a Prospect triumph, 21-36, in the sophomore match.

Clipping the tape at 9:03, LaBadie eclipsed the old mark by 19 seconds while outdistancing his nearest rival, teammate Ed Lusk, by 26 seconds.

Doug Chase and Soctt Schlesser also registered sub-ten minute performances as did the first Knight across the finish line, Steve Holmes at 9:51.

Holmes' showing however was small compensation for he and teammate Owen MacBride rated ninth place. They found themselves outnumbered 13-2 in the chute. Next best Knight performance was a 16th-place rating by Dave Baker.

Prospect's sophomore runners handled the visitors with much less trouble. Dave Proudfoot and Doug Bach ran 1-2 for the Knights while Prospect was chalking up seven of the top eleven places.

Falcons Top 'Cat Soph Unit

Forest View's frosh-soph Falcons scored three touchdowns in the first half and marched to a 26-14 victory over Wheeling last Saturday morning.

The victory was the third straight for the young Falcons.

John Caltigerone counted two touchdowns for the winners, scoring on a 45-yard pass from Bauer and 30-yard pass from Turner.

Bauer tallied on an 18-yard pass from Doug Hotchkiss, and Hibbler penetrated into the end zone on a four-yard smash.

Ted Kubinski, Bill Manning, Fred Surganty, and Chuck Smith were praised for their defensive efforts by the Falcon staff.

Stew Oakley tallied one Wildcat touchdown on a two-yard plunge and Jay Lesniak pulled in a 17-yard scoring strike from Oakley.

Lesniak, Oakley, and Glen Roth drew post-game plaudits from the Wheeling coaches.

Forest View will collide with Maine West Saturday morning, and Wheeling will travel to Arlington.

Prospect's JVs Blank Maine West

A touchdown on a dive play from two yards out in the first period loomed decisive at game's end for Prospect Saturday as they toppled Maine West in a junior varsity skirmish.

Bill Van Sky was the ball carrier on the all-important play. A subsequent extra point kick by Steve Shawhan made the margin of victory 7-0.

Offensive standout was Ted Passarelli of the Knights who rushed for 69 yards to pace both sides. Significant defensive roles in holding the Warriors scoreless were turned in by Steve Bank and Norm Klein.

Bank, a fullback, was later picked back of the week. Klein, a linebacker, was the team's lineman of the week choice for the third straight time.

Maine Ground Attack Powers 14-7 Triumph

by KEITH REINHARD

How about a five-quarter football game?

Losers in the regulation number of periods to Maine West, 14-7, the Prospect Knights may have been on their way to win number one Saturday had not the time clock done an unkind thing to them—it ran out!

As it turned out, the host Knights fell before a powerful Warrior ground attack and absorbed their third straight defeat of the season, the last two being conference affairs.

Chief thorn in the Knight armor was a 179-pound tailback named Ken Mandelky, who mounted a personal 141-yard attack and scored the decisive touchdown in the third period of play.

MANDELKY ALONG with the other two members of coach Ken Olson's M-Squad—Dick Manny and Phil Murdock—were so effective in fact, that Maine West never bothered to mount an aerial offensive. Cashing in on a power sweep from the first quarter on, the trio accounted for both TDs and nearly all Warrior yardage to boost their team to an opening conference triumph and a 2-1 overall record.

Prospect was on the road to recovery however when the gun sounded. Coach Don Williams and crew started plugging holes in their defensive wall from the second quarter on and took to the air lanes in earnest in the final half. Posting their only seven pointer in the fourth stanza, they were in possession of the ball with quarterback John Phillips starting to trigger the bombs at game's end.

"They started off by running an outside sweep," Williams commented after the game.

"IT TOOK US a quarter to adjust to it and then they started going inside. Little by little though, we were beginning to get the best of them."

Statistics bear him out. Maine's rushing totals, broken down by periods, show them etching out yardage of 89-61-61-43.

Decisive for the Warriors was their defensive unit, which kept the pressure upon Phillips constantly. The light-weight signal caller (140 pounds) was thrown for a total loss of 42 yards and had several passes blocked by rangy MW linemen.

THE FIRST Warrior score came late in the opening round. It might have come sooner had not a 35-yard pass from Murdock to Al Fritz to the Prospect 10 been wiped out by a 15-yard penalty.

Sticking to the ground then after an exchange of punts, the visitors rambled 56 yards in a half-dozen plays with Manny plunging over from the three. Andy Sanchez contributed the conversion.

In the second quarter the Warriors looked like they were at it again when they moved 40 yards to the Prospect 14 in nine plays. Tackles by Maurey Gallagher and Vince Curry behind the line of scrimmage dampened this drive however and set them back to the 22.

THROUGH MOST of period three neither side kept the ball very long at one time. But Maine West needed only three plays to tally again once Tom Pyron had intercepted a Phillips missile and brought it back seven yards to the Knight 17.

Mandelky made the last nine yards on one gallop off left tackle and Sanchez toed over the extra point once more.

Prospect started to heat up after that. Fullback Pete Smith, largely ineffectual up until then, pounded off 13 yards on one try and Tom Lundstedt made an amazing snare of an Al Wilcox pass to lop off another 35.

Jim Gumz moved within the MW 15-yard line two plays later but the total effort was offset by an interchange of fumbles.

WILCOX BOBBLED the ball first and the Warriors took command at their 14. On the next play Mandelky skooted 44 yards down the left sidelines for the visitors but lost the ball to Prospect's Bill Whittmeyer.

As action moved into the final quarter, the Knights were unsuccessful in two more offensive bids. Then Steve Neibuhr provided scoring momentum by getting loose up the middle and going 50 yards to Maine's 18.

Three plays later, with less than three minutes showing on the clock, Curry plowed over from the two. Niebuhr's first EP kick was wide but a MW penalty afforded him a second crack and he converted.

The Warriors ran all but three seconds off the clock with a series of running plays and the subsequent punt. Phillips was only able to launch one long pass in the direction of Lundstedt before the whistle blew.

Following the contest Williams lauded the defensive showings of Curry, Gallagher, Butch Leonard and Bob Robinson.

Card Aces in '64

Chuck Hood led the 1964 Arlington varsity gridders in rushing with 477 yards in 84 tries for a 5.6 average per carry. Scott Somers snared only five passes that year, but they were good for 145 yards and an impressive average gain of 29.0 yards per catch. Arlington was 3-5 over-all for the '64 campaign.

Cards Blank Cougars

by BOB FRISK

It started in routine fashion.

For the third straight game Arlington scored the first time it handled the football.

But it wasn't a routine game last Friday evening as the highly regarded Cardinals tangled with a Conant eleven that has been struggling to gain football respectability.

Arlington won, 28-0. This was expected.

What wasn't expected was the exceptional effort put forth against tremendous odds by the revitalized Cougars from Conant.

LEVELED 32-12 and 38-7 in their first two outings this fall, the Cougars flashed some excellent football despite absorbing a four-touchdown setback.

They showed they could move the ball, collecting 12 first downs and mounting one 94-yard march that was checked short of six points.

"We only seemed to play when we had to," admitted Arlington coach Al Allen, "but that was a decent club. They're going to whip someone yet."

A FOUR-TOUCHDOWN advantage isn't anything to dismiss lightly and Arlington did fashion impressive marches of 80, 96, and 99 yards, but the coaches would be the first to admit that the Cards are capable of smoother, more workmanlike performances.

The Arlington passing game that gave the Palatine secondary fits just six days earlier in a 48-6 breather showed only five hits in 20 tries, far off the snappy 24-for-33 effort against the Pirates. The Cougars also swiped three Cardinal aerials.

The ground game was another story.

WITH MICK Wadzita, a 175-pounder who looks better every week, and 190-pound Steve Conley ripping away at the Cougar line the Cardinals piled up 286 rushing yards and averaged almost eight yards every time they attacked.

Wadzita has his finest career effort with 120 yards in only 11 carries, including bursts of 24 and 37 yards. Conley added 106 yards, and Steve personally picked up six first downs.

The opening minutes of this Arlington homecoming game reminded fans of that rout over Palatine. The Cards took the opening kickoff and marched 80 yards in nine plays, utilizing a 44-yard, down-the-middle pitch from Steve Allen to Dave Lockwood as the key maneuver.

LOCKWOOD CARRIED to the eight on his only pass reception of the night, and Wadzita hit for six more on the first down thrust. Using the safest route to the end zone, quarterback Allen drove across from the one on a quarterback sneak with 8:28 remaining. Steve added the extra point.

The visiting Cougars, finding themselves down by one touchdown in the early moments of the scuffling, could have admitted defeat here and just gone through the motions the rest of the way.

But the Cougars had other ideas. Mike Berns intercepted an Allen pass at the two yard line later in the opening period, and that signalled the start of the Cougars' most impressive offensive contribution of the evening.

WITH BERNS, Ernie Drummond, Art Leitz, Barry Alexa, and Paul Witkowski all having a hand in the march, Conant penetrated 94 yards in 18 plays.

Alexa played a big role in moving the Cougars from dangerous territory past the midfield stripe. He took a 19-yard, first down pass from Witkowski, carried seven more yards for another first down, and then hit for eight and a first down at the Conant 45.

Drummond took over from here and was the principal ball-carrier in the Cougar rush to the Arlington 24 as the second quarter opened.

BERNS CARRIED to the 18 and after a five-yard penalty set them back to the 23 Witkowski circled left end to the 15. Berns drove to the 12 for another first down, and Leitz hit to the nine.

Alexa carried two straight times to the seven, setting up a fourth and five situation. With Bruce Weber and Kim Markshausen leading the charge the Cardinal line stacked up Alexa at the four, and Arlington took over.

Now it was the Cards' turn, and they drove 96 yards in 12 plays before Allen carried in on a quarterback sneak at the 4:26 mark. Big plays in the drive were a 16-yard run by Conley, seven-yard first down bolt by Conley to the Cougar 43 on a third down play, and 24-yard scamper by Wadzita in which he shot through the left side of the line and cut to the outside.

Wadzita was hauled down at the six and in two plays Allen carried over.

CONANT threatened again late in the third quarter after picking off another Allen pass. The Cougars moved 39 yards in 12 plays before Leitz was nailed at the one on a fourth and goal maneuver by the middle of the Arlington line.

That was the extent of the major Conant offensive efforts in the league tilt, but Arlington racked up two insurance scores.

Allen scored his third touchdown early in the fourth quarter to climax a 99 yard march that encompassed nine plays. A 37-yard run by Wadzita and 22-yard pass from Allen to tight end Jim Donchess helped set up the six-pointer.

THE CARDINAL reserves hit the scoreboard with only 10 seconds remaining with sophomore Todd Somers at the controls.

Tom Chandler intercepted a Witkowski pass at the Conant 36 to set up the concluding tally. Somers hit Jerry Enright for two yards, Jim Swanezy dashed around end for 13 more, and on a third down play from the 10 Chandler, a promising 183-pound junior, exploded off his right side and battled into the end zone.

Allen concluded the scoring with his fourth successful conversion.

Allen Named Back of Week

Steve Allen, Arlington's three-year veteran at quarterback, was named Prep Back of The Week by Chicago's American for his performance in the Cards' 48-6 victory over Palatine.

The selection was the second for Allen in the past two seasons. He also was named following his effort in Arlington's 14-12 victory over Hinsdale last fall.

Allen completed 19 of 23 passes for 359 yards and four touchdowns against Palatine.

The Cardinal quarterback was honored Monday at the American's Quarterback club luncheon in the Sherman House.

Vikings Fall 32-0 To New Trier West

It looked to be one of those days for Fremd High School's junior varsity football competitors last Saturday.

They tangled with New Trier West's JVs on the New Trier field, but would have been a lot less pained if they hadn't made the trip. The hosts scored once in the first quarter, twice in the second, and added two second half touchdowns for a 32-0 win.

The loss dropped Dick Gavigan's Viking crew to 1-2 overall in their first season of competition.

The Vikings were able to move the ball in the game, but they couldn't score. Fumbles and three intercepted passes hurt considerably, wiping out whatever gains were made.

THE LOCALS actually crossed the New Trier goal line once, but the score was washed out. Don Spence had picked off a pass and ran it back 70-yards for a touchdown, and a clipping penalty on the Vikings nullified it.

In New Trier, the Vikings were up against a bigger team, but Gavigan had no excuses for the defeat. The difficulty, he thought, lay more in trying to overcome their own mistakes and in not playing up to full potential.

The Vikings return home this Saturday, hosting Prospect's JV unit in the prelude to the Palatine varsity homecoming clash. Kickoff time for the Fremd game, at Hale Hildebrandt Field, is noon. In the Knights, the Vikings will meet a JV team that has a win (7-0 over Maine West), a loss (33-6 to Wheeling) and a tie (0-0 with Elgin Larkin) on its record.

'Y' Judo Club Heads Tourney

In addition to winning the team contest, the Y men dominated the White Belt competition with the following wins: Art Wittlcamp, 1st place lightweight; Craig McNown, 1st place heavyweight and Dave DeWilde, 2nd place heavyweight.

The Northwest Suburban YMCA Judo Club meets regularly on Tuesday nights. There is also a class for beginners.

Grid Dynasty

Prospect High had a real grid dynasty for a two-year period between Oct. 9, 1959 and Oct. 28, 1961. During that time, three powerful Knight football squads reeled off 18 straight victories, far and away a Paddock area record.

THURS., OCT. 6, 1966

Cards Blank Spartan JVs

Dean Schmelzer filled in for the injured Bob Graham at quarterback and Glenbrook North filled in for Conant as Arlington's junior-varsity opponent Friday evening, but shuffling didn't slow down the host Cardinals.

Arlington treated a homecoming crowd to two touchdowns in each half in a 26-0 victory over the visiting Spartans. The victory marked the 16th without defeat over a three-year span for a junior-varsity team at Arlington.

Glenbrook North was filling in for Conant when the Cougars, lacking in numbers, elected to forfeit the remaining junior-varsity contests.

SCHMELZER, a 5-11, 160-pound soph, was called on to direct the Arlington attack when a torn back muscle shelved regular Graham, and Dean took the Cards to their first touchdown late in the opening quarter.

With junior Larry Wadzita supplying the big yardage on slants to both sides the Cards marched 51 yards. Schmelzer carried over from the one with 57 seconds left. Wadzita had runs of 10, 7, and 9 yards in the thrust.

Arlington scored again early in the second period when Brian Marinello carried in a blocked punt from the Spartan 20 yard line.

The Cardinals drove to the Glenbrook two yard line with 2:17 before the intermission but lost the ball on a fumble and an intercepted pass checked another promising threat in the closing seconds.

ARLINGTON scored its third touchdown with 3:08 remaining in the third quarter on a three-yard run by Wadzita. Larry had bursts of 14 and 11 yards in the march. Denny Meacham ran for the extra point.

An intercepted pass by Bob Goebbert gave the Cards another chance for a tally, but the drive stalled at the Glenbrook seven with an incomplete pass.

The final Arlington touchdown came with only 3:21 left in the game and Schmelzer hit John Benoit on a seven-yard pitch for the six points. The big maneuvers in the scoring drive were a 12-yard pickup by Benoit and 13-yard scamper by Schmelzer.

Meacham kicked the extra point to set the final advantage at 26-0.

Arlington coached by Brendan Flynn and Bill Myers, will travel to Wheeling Saturday for a conference game at 12 noon.

LaBadie Shatters Standard

A four-man Maine West cross country contingent, led by conference standout Lee LaBadie, ripped the Prospect course to shreds Saturday while compiling a solid 16-47 win in their opening circuit match.

The foursome all cracked the ten-minute mark with LaBadie personally burying the old course record by a substantial margin. The varsity win avenged a Prospect triumph, 21-36, in the sophomore match.

Clipping the tape at 9:03, LaBadie eclipsed the old mark by 19 seconds while outdistancing his nearest rival, teammate Ed Lusk, by 26 seconds.

Doug Chase and Soctt Schlesser also registered sub-ten minute performances as did the first Knight across the finish line, Steve Holmes at 9:51.

Holmes' showing however was small compensation for he and teammate Owen MacBride rated ninth place. They found themselves outnumbered 13-2 in the chute. Next best Knight performance was a 16th-place rating by Dave Baker.

Prospect's sophomore runners handled the visitors with much less trouble. Dave Proudfoot and Doug Bach ran 1-2 for the Knights while Prospect was chalking up seven of the top eleven places.

Falcons Top 'Cat Soph Unit

Forest View's frosh-soph Falcons scored three touchdowns in the first half and marched to a 26-14 victory over Wheeling last Saturday morning.

The victory was the third straight for the young Falcons.

John Caltigerone counted two touchdowns for the winners, scoring on a 45-yard pass from Bauer and 30-yard pass from Turner.

Bauer tallied on an 18-yard pass from Doug Hotchkiss, and Hibbler penetrated into the end zone on a four-yard smash.

Ted Kubinski, Bill Manning, Fred Surganty, and Chuck Smith were praised for their defensive efforts by the Falcon staff.

Stew Oakley tallied one Wildcat touchdown on a two-yard plunge and Jay Lesniak pulled in a 17-yard scoring strike from Oakley.

Lesniak, Oakley, and Glen Roth drew post-game plaudits from the Wheeling coaches.

Forest View will collide with Maine West Saturday morning, and Wheeling will travel to Arlington.

Prospect's JVs Blank Maine West

A touchdown on a dive play from two yards out in the first period loomed decisive at game's end for Prospect Saturday as they toppled Maine West in a junior varsity skirmish.

Bill Van Sky was the ball carrier on the all-important play. A subsequent extra point kick by Steve Shawhan made the margin of victory 7-0.

Offensive standout was Ted Passarelli of the Knights who rushed for 69 yards to pace both sides. Significant defensive roles in holding the Warriors scoreless were turned in by Steve Bank and Norm Klein.

Bank, a fullback, was later picked back of the week. Klein, a linebacker, was the team's lineman of the week choice for the third straight time.

Maine Ground Attack Powers 14-7 Triumph

by KEITH REINHARD

How about a five-quarter football game?

Losers in the regulation number of periods to Maine West, 14-7, the Prospect Knights may have been on their way to win number one Saturday had not the time clock done an unkind thing to them—it ran out!

As it turned out, the host Knights fell before a powerful Warrior ground attack and absorbed their third straight defeat of the season, the last two being conference affairs.

Chief thorn in the Knight armor was a 179-pound tailback named Ken Mandelky, who mounted a personal 141-yard attack and scored the decisive touchdown in the third period of play.

MANDELKY ALONG with the other two members of coach Ken Olson's M-Squad—Dick Manny and Phil Murdock—were so effective in fact, that Maine West never bothered to mount an aerial offensive. Allen Named Back of Week

Steve Allen, Arlington's three-year veteran at quarterback, was named Prep Back of The Week by Chicago's American for his performance in the Cards' 48-6 victory over Palatine.

The selection was the second for Allen in the past two seasons. He also was named following his effort in Arlington's 14-12 victory over Hinsdale last fall.

Allen completed 19 of 23 passes for 359 yards and four touchdowns against Palatine.

The Cardinal quarterback was honored Monday at the American's Quarterback club luncheon in the Sherman House.

Vikings Fall 32-0 To New Trier West

It looked to be one of those days for Fremd High School's junior varsity football competitors last Saturday.

They tangled with New Trier West's JVs on the New Trier field, but would have been a lot less pained if they hadn't made the trip. The hosts scored once in the first quarter, twice in the second, and added two second half touchdowns for a 32-0 win.

The loss dropped Dick Gavigan's Viking crew to 1-2 overall in their first season of competition.

The Vikings were able to move the ball in the game, but they couldn't score. Fumbles and three intercepted passes hurt considerably, wiping out whatever gains were made.

THE LOCALS actually crossed the New Trier goal line once, but the score was washed out. Don Spence had picked off a pass and ran it back 70-yards for a touchdown, and a clipping penalty on the Vikings nullified it.

In New Trier, the Vikings were up against a bigger team, but Gavigan had no excuses for the defeat. The difficulty, he thought, lay more in trying to overcome their own mistakes and in not playing up to full potential.

The Vikings return home this Saturday, hosting Prospect's JV unit in the prelude to the Palatine varsity homecoming clash. Kickoff time for the Fremd game, at Hale Hildebrandt Field, is noon. In the Knights, the Vikings will meet a JV team that has a win (7-0 over Maine West), a loss (33-6 to Wheeling) and a tie (0-0 with Elgin Larkin) on its record.

'Y' Judo Club Heads Tourney

In addition to winning the team contest, the Y men dominated the White Belt competition with the following wins:

Art Wittlcamp, 1st place lightweight; Craig McNown, 1st place heavyweight and Dave DeWilde, 2nd place heavyweight.

The Northwest Suburban YMCA Judo Club meets regularly on Tuesday nights. There is also a class for beginners.

Grid Dynasty

Prospect High had a real grid dynasty for a two-year period between Oct. 9, 1959 and Oct. 28, 1961. During that time, three powerful Knight football squads reeled off 18 straight victories, far and away a Paddock area record.

Cards Blank Spartan JVs

Dean Schmelzer filled in for the injured Bob Graham at quarterback and Glenbrook North filled in for Conant as Arlington's junior-varsity opponent Friday evening, but shuffling didn't slow down the host Cardinals.

Arlington treated a homecoming crowd to two touchdowns in each half in a 26-0 victory over the visiting Spartans. The victory marked the 16th without defeat over a three-year span for a junior-varsity team at Arlington.

Glenbrook North was filling in for Conant when the Cougars, lacking in numbers, elected to forfeit the remaining junior-varsity contests.

SCHMELZER, a 5-11, 160-pound soph, was called on to direct the Arlington attack when a torn back muscle shelved regular Graham, and Dean took the Cards to their first touchdown late in the opening quarter.

With junior Larry Wadzita supplying the big yardage on slants to both sides the Cards marched 51 yards. Schmelzer carried over from the one with 57 seconds left. Wadzita had runs of 10, 7, and 9 yards in the thrust.

Arlington scored again early in the second period when Brian Marinello carried in a blocked punt from the Spartan 20 yard line.

The Cardinals drove to the Glenbrook two yard line with 2:17 before the intermission but lost the ball on a fumble and an intercepted pass checked another promising threat in the closing seconds.

ARLINGTON scored its third touchdown with 3:08 remaining in the third quarter on a three-yard run by Wadzita. Larry had bursts of 14 and 11 yards in the march. Denny Meacham ran for the extra point.

An intercepted pass by Bob Goebbert gave the Cards another chance for a tally, but the drive stalled at the Glenbrook seven with an incomplete pass.

The final Arlington touchdown came with only 3:21 left in the game and Schmelzer hit John Benoit on a seven-yard pitch for the six points. The big maneuvers in the scoring drive were a 12-yard pickup by Benoit and 13-yard scamper by Schmelzer.

Meacham kicked the extra point to set the final advantage at 26-0.

Arlington coached by Brendan Flynn and Bill Myers, will travel to Wheeling Saturday for a conference game at 12 noon.

Student Graduates From X-Ray School

The School of X-Ray Technology at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights today graduated its fifth student.

Nancy Cates of Arlington Heights received a Certificate of Graduation after completing the two-year training course. Successful completion of the course qualifies her to take a national examination in November for membership in the American Registry of Radiological Technicians.

THE FIVE-YEAR-OLD school is headed by Constantine Soter, M. D., radiologist. Training involves both classroom work and practical application, according to Dr. Soter.

The school trains two students at a time. Students are paid $50 a month during the first year and $100 a month during the second year of schooling, Dr. Soter said.

He explained that an x-ray technician's duties involve making X-ray exposures, aiding the radiologist in fluoroscopy, processing films and adjusting controls and positioning patients for therapy treatments.

Courses in the school include anatomy, physiology, physics, chemistry, professional ethics and x-ray technology. They are taught by Dr. Soter and other registered technicians at the hospital.

REQUIREMENTS of the school include a high school diploma, and preferably one year of college, according to Dr. Soter.

The radiology department at Northwest Community Hospital is presently undergoing renovation. When completed, the department will include four diagnostic rooms, one classroom, and two patient dressing rooms.

The School of X-Ray Technology at Northwest Community is licensed by the American Medical Association and the American College of Radiology. (B10

Cite Need for Changes In Printing of Laws

New printing procedures being recommended by the Committee on the Organization of the General Assembly are designed to enable Illinois citizens to get copies of new laws when they become effective, State Rep. Harold A. Katz (D-Glenoce), commission chairman, said this week.

The proposals cover printing of bills from the time they are introduced until they become law and would result in improved information to the public and legislators alike at considerable savings, Rep. Katz said.

The bipartisan commission has been studying ways to modernize the Illinois General Assembly since August, 1965.

It was created by the 1965 legislature with 20 members appointed by State Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston), president pro tempore of the Senate, and speaker of the House John P. Touhy (D-Chicago), who serve ex officio.

STATE REP. Marjorie Pebworth (R-Riverdale), chairman of the sub-committee on modernizing printing techniques, said that in printing methods "more than in any area we investigated, the General Assembly has become a prisoner of the past."

Today, the only way anyone can get a copy of a new law is to order a photostat from the Index Division of the Secretary of State's office at 35 cents a page.

"This service isn't adequate to apprise lawyers or communications media about new laws and not many private citizens are likely to order copies at that price," Rep. Katz said.

The bound volume of all laws passed during a session isn't available for months after the laws go into effect—on July 1 of each legislative year or as soon thereafter as they are signed. Yet the volume of 1965 session laws wasn't available until March 22, 1966, or at least seven months after the governor signed the last bill into law.

"IT'S REPUGNANT to our concept of due process for people to be bound by laws that take effect before they or even their lawyers can see them," he added.

The commission recommends a system of photo offset reproduction to replace the present system of several printings and typings as the bill goes through to passage. In most cases, the same copy could be reproduced for public use when the bill becomes law.

The present expensive and frequently inaccurate copying and re-copying of bills dates from the days when all bills were copied by hand.

As bills were corrected and amended the original handwritten copy became illegible. With use of a photo offset process, corrections in most cases could be made on the original copy and in only a few cases would other reproductions be necessary.

TO MAKE possible the change to modern printing methods, the joint rules committee, recommended earlier by the commission, should set up printing specifications for bills instead of having them prescribed by statute. This would require repeal of a law passed in 1871, when type was hand-set, requiring that all bills resolutions and conference reports be printed "in a measure six inches wide." The linotype machine, invented in 1886, will not set a six inch line. So, for the last 80 years printers have been setting three inch lines then manually putting two of them together to arrive at the required six inches.

Other recommendations in legislative printing include:

1—Page size of bills and resolutions should be a standard 8½ by 11 inches. The 1871 law requires an odd-sized page, 8 by 12 inches.

2—The daily Legislative Journal, a vital source of legislative and public information, should be made more readable and accurate.

3—Forms of House and Senate calendars should be standardized and expanded to include more information.

4—Acts should be given a uniform number for permanent identification when they are filed with the Secretary of State after signature by the Governor.

THE COMMISSION also will propose use of computers and data processing to produce a better index for the weekly "Legislative Synopsis and Digest." The result would be greater in-depth indexing and cross-referencing.

Sen. Arrington and Rep. Touhy are investigating the possibility of using computers already leased by the state for this legislative purpose.

Future plans for computer use might include notifying members of legislative action taken the previous day, and aiding in drafting and printing bills, the Commission said.

The members also recommend that all standing committees in the legislature investigate application of computers to their special fields.

"COMMITTEES concerned with revenue and fiscal affairs, for example, might well employ computers to do fundamental arithmetic on a grand scale with data on appropriations and expenditures," Rep. Touhy suggested.

The commission is the first in the Illinois legislature to use data processing in research and development of its recommendations, Rep. Katz said.

In cooperation with the Vogelback Computing Center at Northwestern University, the commission indexed all testimony from two public hearings as well as statements by legislators, lobbyists, and interested citizens, literally thousands of items. Northwestern University contributed the computer time to the project.

Rep. Katz pointed out that computer aids are not "expected to replace legislators with machines. They are not designed to replace human judgment but rather to provide the human decision maker—the legislator—with knowledge for making informed choices."

IN ADDITION to Mrs. Pebworth, the committee on modernizing legislative publications included Robert Johnston of Chicago, John S. Rendleman of Carbondale, Sen. Robert Coulson (R-Waukegan), Rep. Paul F. Elward (D-Chicago), Sen. Robert F. Hatch (R-Chicago.), and Senator Arrington, Speaker Touhy, and Rep. Katz as ex officio members.

Consultants were Paul Mason, visiting professor at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale; and Kenneth Janda, assistant professor of political science, Northwestern University.

Rumsfeld Supports Tax Deduction for Teachers

A bill permitting teachers to deduct from gross income their expenses for continuing education at colleges and universities was introduced in the U. S. House of Representatives last week by Cong. Donald Rumsfeld (R-Ill.), as a co-sponsor.

The bill seeks to clarify the application of Section 162 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 to expenses incurred by teachers in improving their skills, including certain educational travel expenses.

"Under rulings proposed by IRS, many teachers would be prohibited from deducting costs incurred in improving their abilities and in enriching their knowledge," Rumsfeld said.

"These IRS rulings will not only work a hardship on teachers, but would also tend to discourage the upgrading of skills and thus deprive our children of the best possible education.

"THE NATION is faced with a shortage of qualified teachers. Every possible incentive must be offered to teachers to obtain advanced training and to develop the new techniques which are demanded today. Surely nothing is more important than the education of the youth of our country and nothing is as essential as good teachers."

The National Education Association supports this clarification of the Internal Revenue Code. (B10

Cite Need for Changes In Printing of Laws

New printing procedures being recommended by the Committee on the Organization of the General Assembly are designed to enable Illinois citizens to get copies of new laws when they become effective, State Rep. Harold A. Katz (D-Glenoce), commission chairman, said this week.

The proposals cover printing of bills from the time they are introduced until they become law and would result in improved information to the public and legislators alike at considerable savings, Rep. Katz said.

The bipartisan commission has been studying ways to modernize the Illinois General Assembly since August, 1965.

It was created by the 1965 legislature with 20 members appointed by State Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston), president pro tempore of the Senate, and speaker of the House John P. Touhy (D-Chicago), who serve ex officio.

STATE REP. Marjorie Pebworth (R-Riverdale), chairman of the sub-committee on modernizing printing techniques, said that in printing methods "more than in any area we investigated, the General Assembly has become a prisoner of the past."

Today, the only way anyone can get a copy of a new law is to order a photostat from the Index Division of the Secretary of State's office at 35 cents a page.

"This service isn't adequate to apprise lawyers or communications media about new laws and not many private citizens are likely to order copies at that price," Rep. Katz said.

The bound volume of all laws passed during a session isn't available for months after the laws go into effect—on July 1 of each legislative year or as soon thereafter as they are signed. Yet the volume of 1965 session laws wasn't available until March 22, 1966, or at least seven months after the governor signed the last bill into law.

"IT'S REPUGNANT to our concept of due process for people to be bound by laws that take effect before they or even their lawyers can see them," he added.

The commission recommends a system of photo offset reproduction to replace the present system of several printings and typings as the bill goes through to passage. In most cases, the same copy could be reproduced for public use when the bill becomes law.

The present expensive and frequently inaccurate copying and re-copying of bills dates from the days when all bills were copied by hand.

As bills were corrected and amended the original handwritten copy became illegible. With use of a photo offset process, corrections in most cases could be made on the original copy and in only a few cases would other reproductions be necessary.

TO MAKE possible the change to modern printing methods, the joint rules committee, recommended earlier by the commission, should set up printing specifications for bills instead of having them prescribed by statute. This would require repeal of a law passed in 1871, when type was hand-set, requiring that all bills resolutions and conference reports be printed "in a measure six inches wide." The linotype machine, invented in 1886, will not set a six inch line. So, for the last 80 years printers have been setting three inch lines then manually putting two of them together to arrive at the required six inches.

Other recommendations in legislative printing include:

1—Page size of bills and resolutions should be a standard 8½ by 11 inches. The 1871 law requires an odd-sized page, 8 by 12 inches.

2—The daily Legislative Journal, a vital source of legislative and public information, should be made more readable and accurate.

3—Forms of House and Senate calendars should be standardized and expanded to include more information.

4—Acts should be given a uniform number for permanent identification when they are filed with the Secretary of State after signature by the Governor.

THE COMMISSION also will propose use of computers and data processing to produce a better index for the weekly "Legislative Synopsis and Digest." The result would be greater in-depth indexing and cross-referencing.

Sideline 'Teaching' Hailed

Athletics Called Unsung Innovator

When the football coaches get together on the sidelines to discuss a play, does the average fan see this as an example of teaching innovation?

It seems unlikely. Yet it is and it's just one of a half dozen teaching innovations first tried out in athletics.

At least that's the opinion of Howard Lester, director of physical education for High School District 214 and a former football coach at Arlington High School.

LESTER, now coordinator of all physical education and sports programs for the school district, thinks athletics doesn't get the credit it deserves.

Athletics, as a subject of instruction, has pioneered, he says, in introducing:

—The first extended school-day program.

—The first program of interscholastic competition, now also provided in Illinois in music, dramatics, speech—and mathematics.

—The first accelerated program for youngsters with special talents in that field, singling out the most athletically-inclined for competition with other youngsters of the same ability.

—THE FIRST team teaching, probably tried out first by the school that assigned one man to coach the linemen while another fellow coached the backs.

—The first extra-curricular program providing scholarship incentives, by forbidding participation of youngsters who don't do well in school.

—The first use of ability grouping, now accepted practice in many high school academic courses.

LESTER'S not entirely sure that athletics should be forbidden to youngsters with low grades. "There're two schools of thought on this, you know," the District 214 administrator adds. "Some think each activity has value for itself. But I'd hate to see school thrown aside. Requiring good grades stimulates boys to do better in school."

Lester says all the studies they've done show that the average boy in athletic programs has better grades than the boy who doesn't participate. Similar findings have been cited for Northwestern University teams, he says.

"WE DON'T claim to be original in this," Lester adds, "but in sports we've done a good deal to encourage use of visual teaching aids. We've been the first to extensively use movies and television in teaching—and now find a Polaroid camera useful in showing a boy pictures of the way he's doing—or should be doing — some particular thing."

The former Arlington coach says he's not sure whether sports was the first program to provide extra pay for extra teaching duties, but suspects it was.

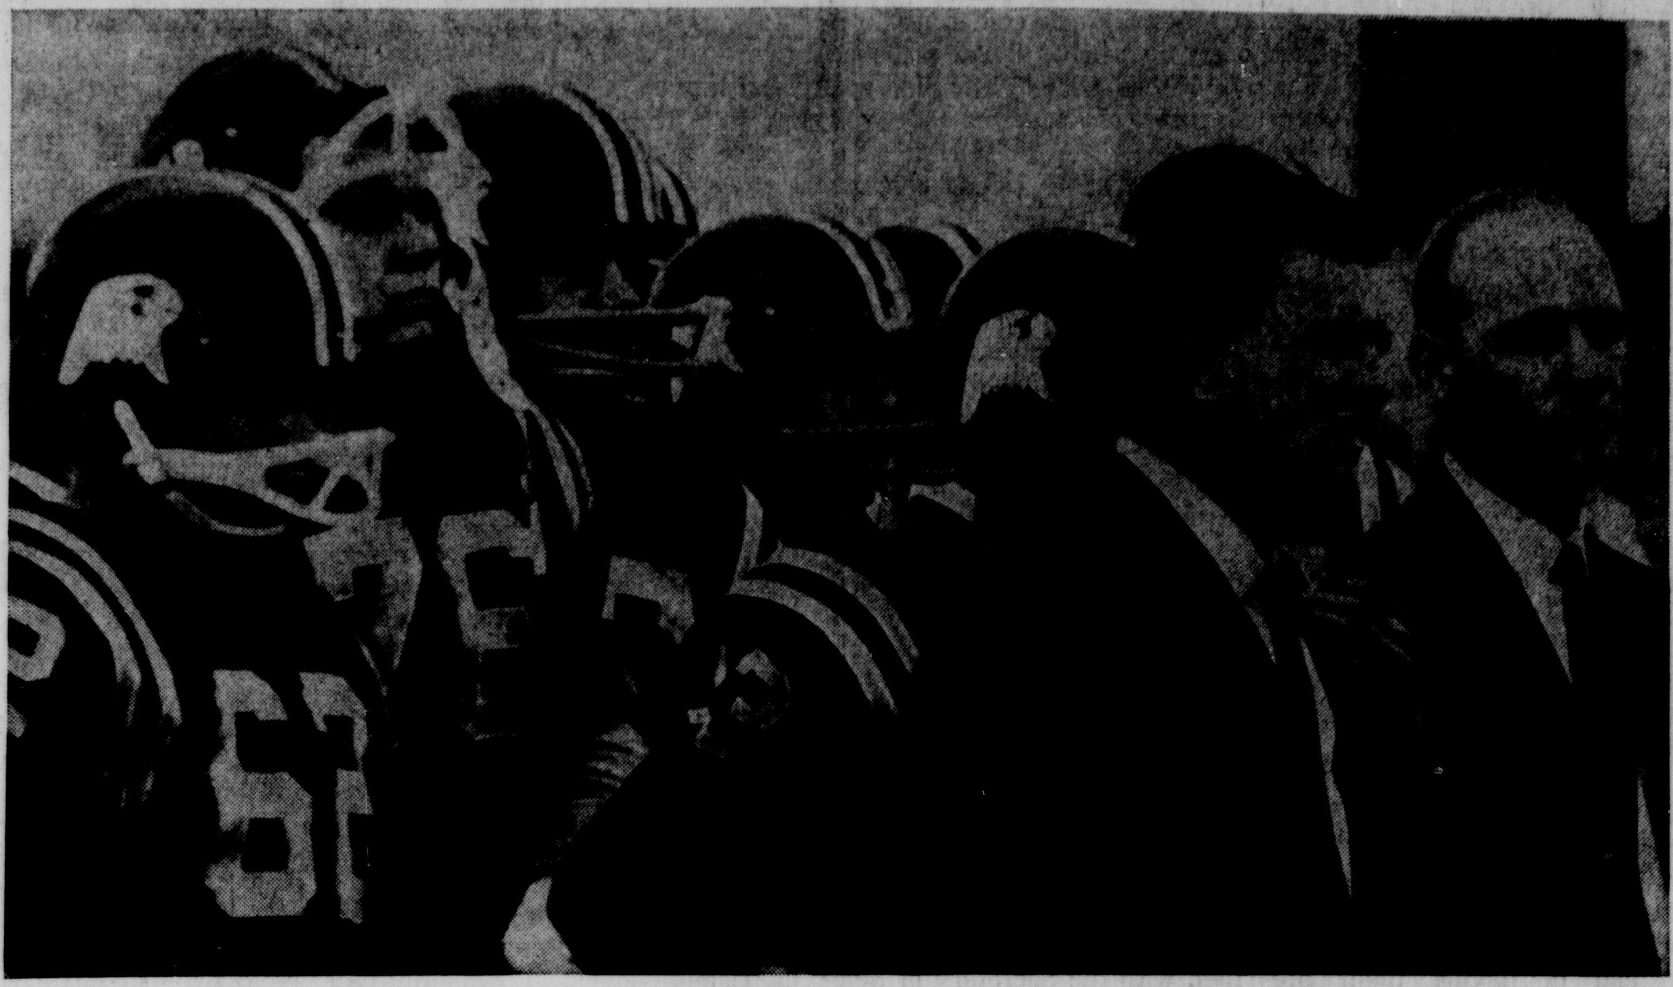
Such extra pay is also the rule now for teachers who supervise lunchrooms, coach speech teams or direct school plays.

INNOVATION is not the only reason, Lester says, that athletics should get more credit, attention, and support.

He considers it a spur to providing healthier teens.

"Your daddy and I pitched hay, pushed a lawn mower and walked a long way to and from school and work when we were kids," says Lester. "That's not so today. Watch some time and see how most grade school youngsters get to school. They come in cars."

"The only place where teenagers learn physical fitness and dexterity today is in P.E.," says Lester. "In the type of area we live in, if these boys and girls aren't taught these things in high school they probably won't learn them at all."



SIDELINE SCENE last Saturday does more than just show Forest View High School gridders and their coaches. Howard Lester, director of physical education for High School District 214, points to such scenes as an example of athletics role in introducing new teaching techniques. Group here points up sports as the first use of team teaching, declares Lester. (Staff Photo)

10 Make the Cast of "Anne Frank"

By LAURINDA DiSALVO

In the fall play, "The Dairy of Anne Frank," 179 students from Forest View High School tried out, 49 were called back, and 10 made the actual cast.

These 10 students and their rolls are Anne Frank, Pat Tenerowicz; Mrs. Frank, Charlotte Derwin; Margot Frank, Terri Hysell; Miep, Linda Glass; Peter, Mike Knapp; Mr. Frank, Bob Farber; Mr. Van Daan, Bob Klopp; Mr. Dirssel, Larry Green, Mr. Kraler, Dave Cook; and Mrs. Van Daan, Delores Longo.

THE TWO-HOUR, full-length story is centered around 10 people. Its theme is about the Jewish period in Holland during World War II. It is seen through the eyes of a 13-year-old girl, Anne Frank.

Directing the play is Harold Peterson with the help of Charles Wilde as assistant director and Robert Stelk as technical director.

"The set is very difficult because there are four different rooms," Peterson said.

He added, "Interest shown in tryouts illustrates popularity in drama."

The tickets will be on sale the last week in October for $1 each. The play will run November 10-12 at 8 p.m. in the Forest View theater. (16Y

Eight Spend Weekend at Illinois U.

A weekend at the University of Illinois last week was enjoyed by eight Palatine High School seniors. The agenda included housing, meals, transportation, a campus tour, and the Michigan State-Illinois football game.

The eight students who signed up for the trip on Sept. 26 were John Doyle, Linda Meadors, Karen Bock, Christy Wallace, Terry Dragoo, Ann McConachie, Louise Sutton and Linda Bowman.

THE TRIP was sponsored by the Illinois Parks and Recreation Society and the University of Illinois to encourage recruits into a career in park recreation.

Fred Hall, assistant director of the Palatine Park District and a U. of I. alumnus, drove down to the university and joined the visitors.

Two busloads of students from the area left early Friday and arrived at the campus around noon. There each student was assigned to a university student who guided the activities and snared dormitories with them.

After a tour of the student union, a session at a university class and a banquet, the high school students spent Friday evening as they pleased.

Saturday they visited the Children's Prairie Farm, attended a paraplegic football game, toured the university's block-long library, and saw the game. (16Y

Study Township Youth Programs

A study of ways other townships use excess funds to combat youth problems is under consideration by the Wheeling Township board of auditors.

The study was suggested at Tuesday's meeting by Richard Cowen, township attorney.

He noted that under the statutes townships are empowered to establish committees on youth to deal with problems of juvenile delinquency.

"THAT IS AN excellent suggestion," said township supervisor Albert C. Peters, one of three board of auditor members at the meeting.

Auditor Robert Cagann agreed. He noted that the Cook County Township Officials meeting Sept. 21 at the Pick-Congress Hotel, Chicago, auditors had heard an explanation of Bremen Township's youth commission activities.

ALSO INTERESTED in the idea was Herbert A. Anderson of Wheeling, one of two citizens attending the meeting.

"This seems to me a much wiser investment than the Over 50 Club," said Anderson, referring to excess funds voted for elder citizens at each of the past two town meetings. "If you spend $10,000 on old folks, why not spend $10,000 on young people?"

COWEN SAID the statutes provide that township committees on youth may work with the Illinois Youth Commission's division of community services to develop programs to curb juvenile delinquency.

He was asked by Peters to bring it up again at the Nov. 1 meeting when Merle Willis and Mrs. Ethel Kolcerus — auditors absent Monday — can attend.

Palatine and Leyden are among townships using excess funds to underwrite youth programs.

A suggestion for a similar youth committee was made last March at the Elk Grove Township budget hearing by Mrs. Ralph Waterhouse of Mount Prospect, but no action was taken on the suggestion. (ACM

Report Expected On Board Vacancy

A committee report is expected tonight on the progress in finding a former school board member to fill a vacancy on the Elementary District 25 School Board.

Committee chairman Charles Bennett said the report probably would recommend the appointment of one of several past board members being considered for the post.

THE VACANCY was created by the recent death of board member Mrs. Marian Malcolmson.

Bennett said a past board member is being sought because that person would be more familiar with problems of the school district.

"We are not setting someone up as a preferred candidate for the next school board election," he stressed.

Term of the appointment will expire in April, 1967. (A

Dr. Schroeder Wins Cup at Toastmasters

A new "first" was scored at the Arlington Heights Toastmasters' Club last week when Dr. Frank Schroeder in his first competition won the evening's cup for the best Table Topics response.

This part of the Toastmaster program involved an impromptu one-minute discussion of a problem. Dr. Schroeder's subject, as posed by Table Topicsmaster Bernie Clark, was "Why I won an Academy Award for my performance in the movie, 'I Walked on All Fours' ".

Toastmasters meets for two hours on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Community Room. Next meeting is Oct. 12.

Thomas Street Paving on Agenda-Again

Paving of Thomas Street will soon be discussed — again — by Arlington Heights and township officials.

Wheeling Township Road Commissioner Lawrence Carrozza said Tuesday he plans to set up a meeting on the matter within the week.

Officials of the two governmental bodies are jointly involved because Thomas Street between Arlington Heights and Wilke Roads falls both within village and unincorporated territory. They could at the meeting clear up conflicting reasons for delay of the much-needed improvement project.

Carrozza said Tuesday he could "start tomorrow" on westerly sections of the road if village officials were ready.

BOARD OF Local Improvements member Harold Klingner told Paddock Publications Tuesday evening that the village is hamstrung because needed surveys by the Cook County Department of Highways — involved because the township will share the paving project — are not ready.

Steps being taken to secure right-of-way from the Lutheran Home for the Aged, whose land borders a section of Thomas on the south, have also not been completed.

Two letters regarding the Thomas Street paving project, now expected to be started in the spring of 1967, were read at Tuesday's Wheeling Township board of auditors meeting.

One, sent Sept. 9 from C. A. Benowicz, district engineer for the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, to village consultants Consoer Townsend noted that motor fuel tax funds are being sought by Arlington Heights for a half-street. He said such use of MFT funds would be acceptable only if word was received that the township would be paving the other half.

THE OTHER letter, sent to Cook County Superintendent of Highways Andrew Plummer by Carrozza's attorney, Fred Weiszmann, asks the county department to expedite the township's request for motor fuel tax funds for Thomas Street paving.

The township plans to use the $45,000 in FT funds allotted it this year to pave its share of Thomas Street's western section. Paving of the township's eastern share, the north half of Thomas between Arlington Heights Road and Dunton Avenue, will be financed from the regular township road levy. The village plans to handle its share of the improvement as a special assessment project. (A

3-Point Safety Program Needs Support–Powell

Speaking as guest of honor at a luncheon at Randhurst Town Hall arranged as part of a week long "Salute to Illinois" by the Randhurst Merchants Association, Secretary of State Paul Powell called on citizens to inform their legislators of their desires on a three point safety program he will put forward at the next legislative session.

The program calls for safety inspection and certification of all used cars prior to resale; periodic safety inspection of all motor vehicles; and raising the minimum driving age from 16 to 18 years, except for 16- and 17-year-olds who have passed approved drivers courses.

Powell in referring to the voluntary safety programs conducted during the summer in 55 Illinois communities stated: "The final figures show that 50 per cent of the cars checked were found more or less seriously defective. And the cars checked through the safety lines were owned by people who either expected them to pass or who were genuinely interested in finding out the condition of their cars."

Powell stressed the need for used car certification stating, "The vast majority of used car dealers are legitimate, responsible business men, but there are a few who will do anything to make a fast buck."

HE POINTED out that the responsible dealers would not fear inspection which would junk "rubber-tired coffins."

The raising of the minimum age, he said, should not be viewed as a penalty for youth, but rather as an emphasis on the efficacy of driver education and an encouragement to young people to pass the available courses in the state's high schools.

In calling for citizen cooperation in the passage of his program, Powell said, "Legislative bodies have a way of waiting until the people have shown a clear choice of the direction they wish to go. They want an expression of the needs and desires of their constituents. I want to ask you to give them that expression. (A15

Well, Sidelighters, it seems that the arrival of the fall season hasn't meant a complete halt to local activities. As the weather gets cooler, the vacation spots get warmer and local residents diligently seek a comfortable climate in which to relax and get away from it all. However, there are exceptions to every rule, and this week one Sidelighter is entertaining a visitor from Florida.

JAMES F. ADAMS is visiting his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Adams, 615 E. Davis. The senior Mr. Adams, 92, is the oldest member of a family in which there are five living members past the age of 80. He left Avon Park, Fla. for a northward journey to visit relatives. While flying toward Illinois, he stopped en route to visit his sister, Mrs. Gordon Oakes, and brother, Clayton Adams, in Kentucky.

The Roy Adams family will be visiting rather quietly with Mr. Adams, with a few short visits expected from other relations in Chicago and Joliet.

Recently returned from a pleasant stay in the tropical climate of the Hawaiian Islands are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith, 909 S. Dunton. They flew to Honolulu and spent a bit of time touring the islands before boarding a steamship to San Francisco. Once in California, the Smiths flew to Portland, Ore. to visit their daughter, Sharon, who is studying at Multmomah School there. On Sept. 27, the couple landed at O'Hare Airport, their travels ended for a time.

MR. AND MRS. Frank Sesterhenn, 316 W. Hawthorne, had a dinner party Saturday to celebrate three different events: the birthday of Mrs. Sesterhenn and her nephew, Douglas Leicht, and the retirement of Doug's mother, Mrs. Gladys Leicht from North Western Railway.

Mrs. Zwissler, 114 S. Brighton, is home once again, following a four-day visit in Charleston, W. Va. with her sister, Mrs. Philip Johnson and family.

A family reunion resulted when Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mann, 304 Fairview, were visited for four days by their son, Bill and his wife and son, from Wauwatosa, Wis. During their stay, the daughters, Linda from Oak Park and Ginny from Hillside, came for dinner.

PROMISES OF future wedding bells moved Mrs. William Starnes, 605 Burton, to sponsor a bridal shower for Miss Patty Ann Wilson of Henry, Ill., bride-to-be of Lt. Donald Drumtra, 411 Mayfair. The shower had a pink theme and was attended by a dozen people, including members of Mrs. D. L. Drumtra's sewing circle, Patty Ann's mother and sister, and Don's sister.

In addition to preparing for his upcoming marriage, Lt. Drumtra returned Sunday afternoon from a year and a half stint with the Air Force in Thailand.

GOOD-BYES are due to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fairhead, 708 E. Marion, who are leaving Arlington Heights Oct. 10 for their new home in Colombus, Ind.

Mr. Fairhead has been promoted to product manager in Hamilton Kosco branch in Indiana, so it means a transfer of the entire family, including Carolyn, 14, Susan, 12, and Jennifer.

Special thanks go to Natalie (Mrs. Fairhead) who did such a wonderful job while writing part of the Sidelights column.

Sideline 'Teaching' Hailed

Athletics Called Unsung Innovator

When the football coaches get together on the sidelines to discuss a play, does the average fan see this as an example of teaching innovation?

It seems unlikely. Yet it is and it's just one of a half dozen teaching innovations first tried out in athletics.

At least that's the opinion of Howard Lester, director of physical education for High School District 214 and a former football coach at Arlington High School.

LESTER, now coordinator of all physical education and sports programs for the school district, thinks athletics doesn't get the credit it deserves.

Athletics, as a subject of instruction, has pioneered, he says, in introducing:

—The first extended school-day program.

—The first program of interscholastic competition, now also provided in Illinois in music, dramatics, speech—and mathematics.

—The first accelerated program for youngsters with special talents in that field, singling out the most athletically-inclined for competition with other youngsters of the same ability.

—THE FIRST team teaching, probably tried out first by the school that assigned one man to coach the linemen while another fellow coached the backs.

—The first extra-curricular program providing scholarship incentives, by forbidding participation of youngsters who don't do well in school.

—The first use of ability grouping, now accepted practice in many high school academic courses.

LESTER'S not entirely sure that athletics should be forbidden to youngsters with low grades. "There're two schools of thought on this, you know," the District 214 administrator adds. "Some think each activity has value for itself. But I'd hate to see school thrown aside. Requiring good grades stimulates boys to do better in school."

Lester says all the studies they've done show that the average boy in athletic programs has better grades than the boy who doesn't participate. Similar findings have been cited for Northwestern University teams, he says.

"WE DON'T claim to be original in this," Lester adds, "but in sports we've done a good deal to encourage use of visual teaching aids. We've been the first to extensively use movies and television in teaching—and now find a Polaroid camera useful in showing a boy pictures of the way he's doing—or should be doing — some particular thing."

The former Arlington coach says he's not sure whether sports was the first program to provide extra pay for extra teaching duties, but suspects it was.

Such extra pay is also the rule now for teachers who supervise lunchrooms, coach speech teams or direct school plays.

INNOVATION is not the only reason, Lester says, that athletics should get more credit, attention, and support.

He considers it a spur to providing healthier teens.

"Your daddy and I pitched hay, pushed a lawn mower and walked a long way to and from school and work when we were kids," says Lester. "That's not so today. Watch some time and see how most grade school youngsters get to school. They come in cars."

"The only place where teenagers learn physical fitness and dexterity today is in P.E.," says Lester. "In the type of area we live in, if these boys and girls aren't taught these things in high school they probably won't learn them at all."

SIDELINE SCENE last Saturday does more than just show Forest View High School gridders and their coaches. Howard Lester, director of physical education for High School District 214, points to such scenes as an example of athletics role in introducing new teaching techniques. Group here points up sports as the first use of team teaching, declares Lester. (Staff Photo)

10 Make the Cast of "Anne Frank"

By LAURINDA DiSALVO

In the fall play, "The Dairy of Anne Frank," 179 students from Forest View High School tried out, 49 were called back, and 10 made the actual cast.

These 10 students and their rolls are Anne Frank, Pat Tenerowicz; Mrs. Frank, Charlotte Derwin; Margot Frank, Terri Hysell; Miep, Linda Glass; Peter, Mike Knapp; Mr. Frank, Bob Farber; Mr. Van Daan, Bob Klopp; Mr. Dirssel, Larry Green, Mr. Kraler, Dave Cook; and Mrs. Van Daan, Delores Longo.

THE TWO-HOUR, full-length story is centered around 10 people. Its theme is about the Jewish period in Holland during World War II. It is seen through the eyes of a 13-year-old girl, Anne Frank.

Directing the play is Harold Peterson with the help of Charles Wilde as assistant director and Robert Stelk as technical director.

"The set is very difficult because there are four different rooms," Peterson said.

He added, "Interest shown in tryouts illustrates popularity in drama."

The tickets will be on sale the last week in October for $1 each. The play will run November 10-12 at 8 p.m. in the Forest View theater. (16Y

Eight Spend Weekend at Illinois U.

A weekend at the University of Illinois last week was enjoyed by eight Palatine High School seniors. The agenda included housing, meals, transportation, a campus tour, and the Michigan State-Illinois football game.

The eight students who signed up for the trip on Sept. 26 were John Doyle, Linda Meadors, Karen Bock, Christy Wallace, Terry Dragoo, Ann McConachie, Louise Sutton and Linda Bowman.

THE TRIP was sponsored by the Illinois Parks and Recreation Society and the University of Illinois to encourage recruits into a career in park recreation.

Fred Hall, assistant director of the Palatine Park District and a U. of I. alumnus, drove down to the university and joined the visitors.

Two busloads of students from the area left early Friday and arrived at the campus around noon. There each student was assigned to a university student who guided the activities and snared dormitories with them.

After a tour of the student union, a session at a university class and a banquet, the high school students spent Friday evening as they pleased.

Saturday they visited the Children's Prairie Farm, attended a paraplegic football game, toured the university's block-long library, and saw the game. (16Y

Study Township Youth Programs

A study of ways other townships use excess funds to combat youth problems is under consideration by the Wheeling Township board of auditors.

The study was suggested at Tuesday's meeting by Richard Cowen, township attorney.

He noted that under the statutes townships are empowered to establish committees on youth to deal with problems of juvenile delinquency.

"THAT IS AN excellent suggestion," said township supervisor Albert C. Peters, one of three board of auditor members at the meeting.

Auditor Robert Cagann agreed. He noted that the Cook County Township Officials meeting Sept. 21 at the Pick-Congress Hotel, Chicago, auditors had heard an explanation of Bremen Township's youth commission activities.

ALSO INTERESTED in the idea was Herbert A. Anderson of Wheeling, one of two citizens attending the meeting.

"This seems to me a much wiser investment than the Over 50 Club," said Anderson, referring to excess funds voted for elder citizens at each of the past two town meetings. "If you spend $10,000 on old folks, why not spend $10,000 on young people?"

COWEN SAID the statutes provide that township committees on youth may work with the Illinois Youth Commission's division of community services to develop programs to curb juvenile delinquency.

He was asked by Peters to bring it up again at the Nov. 1 meeting when Merle Willis and Mrs. Ethel Kolcerus — auditors absent Monday — can attend.

Palatine and Leyden are among townships using excess funds to underwrite youth programs.

A suggestion for a similar youth committee was made last March at the Elk Grove Township budget hearing by Mrs. Ralph Waterhouse of Mount Prospect, but no action was taken on the suggestion. (ACM

Name Mrs. Todd Chairman for Cong. Rumsfeld

Peter R. Sawers, campaign manager for Cong. Donald Rumsfeld (R-13) announced the appointment of Mrs. Howard Todd, 310 MacArthur Drive, Mount Prospect, as Wheeling Township chairman of Rumsfeld's re-election campaign.

Mrs. Todd, an 11-year resident of Wheeling Township, has been active in the Wheeling Township Regular Republican organizations and has served as vice president of the Wheeling Young Republicans. She is also active in the Mount Prospect Art League, the Northwest Meadows Homeowner's Association, and the Foreign Student Exchange Council of Prospect High.

Mrs. Todd was recommended for this post by Committeeman Eugene Schlickman of Wheeling Township and she will act as liaison with the Township Regular Republican organizations. (ACME

Boy Found Injured In Street

A 12-year-old Arlington Heights boy Monday was found injured and lying on Patton Avenue near Grove Street in Arlington Heights.

The boy, Edward Paul, 1214 N. Race Ave., told police he had been delivering telegrams for Western Union but remembers nothing after being on Grove Street.

POLICE SAID a woman found the boy and took him and his bicycle home. He was treated at Northwest Community Hospital. (A

Manager Attends Crusade Rally

An Arlington Heights resident, Philip W. Cushing of 116 N. Phelps Ave., has joined representatives from 100 major Chicago area companies in a "Parade of Trademarks" which featured the opening rally for the 1966 Metropolitan Crusade of Mercy last week in Chicago.

Cushing, employment manager of the Charles Bruning Co., Mount Prospect, and other paraders were Metro Crusade guests at a luncheon held in the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

The rally recognized corporate and individual contributors who contribute annually more than $8 million. (A

Report Expected On Board Vacancy

A committee report is expected tonight on the progress in finding a former school board member to fill a vacancy on the Elementary District 25 School Board.

Committee chairman Charles Bennett said the report probably would recommend the appointment of one of several past board members being considered for the post.

THE VACANCY was created by the recent death of board member Mrs. Marian Malcolmson.

Bennett said a past board member is being sought because that person would be more familiar with problems of the school district.

"We are not setting someone up as a preferred candidate for the next school board election," he stressed.

Term of the appointment will expire in April, 1967. (A

Dr. Schroeder Wins Cup at Toastmasters

A new "first" was scored at the Arlington Heights Toastmasters' Club last week when Dr. Frank Schroeder in his first competition won the evening's cup for the best Table Topics response.

This part of the Toastmaster program involved an impromptu one-minute discussion of a problem. Dr. Schroeder's subject, as posed by Table Topics-master Bernie Clark, was "Why I won an Academy Award for my performance in the movie, 'I Walked on All Fours' ".

Toastmasters meets for two hours on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Community Room. Next meeting is Oct. 12.

Thomas Street Paving on Agenda-Again

Paving of Thomas Street will soon be discussed — again — by Arlington Heights and township officials.

Wheeling Township Road Commissioner Lawrence Carrozza said Tuesday he plans to set up a meeting on the matter within the week.

Officials of the two governmental bodies are jointly involved because Thomas Street between Arlington Heights and Wilke Roads falls both within village and unincorporated territory. They could at the meeting clear up conflicting reasons for delay of the much-needed improvement project.

Carrozza said Tuesday he could "start tomorrow" on westerly sections of the road if village officials were ready.

BOARD OF Local Improvements member Harold Klingner told Paddock Publications Tuesday evening that the village is hamstrung because needed surveys by the Cook County Department of Highways — involved because the township will share the paving project — are not ready.

Steps being taken to secure right-of-way from the Lutheran Home for the Aged, whose land borders a section of Thomas on the south, have also not been completed.

Two letters regarding the Thomas Street paving project, now expected to be started in the spring of 1967, were read at Tuesday's Wheeling Township board of auditors meeting.

One, sent Sept. 9 from C. A. Benowicz, district engineer for the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, to village consultants Consoer Townsend noted that motor fuel tax funds are being sought by Arlington Heights for a half-street. He said such use of MFT funds would be acceptable only if word was received that the township would be paving the other half.

THE OTHER letter, sent to Cook County Superintendent of Highways Andrew Plummer by Carrozza's attorney, Fred Weiszmann, asks the county department to expedite the township's request for motor fuel tax funds for Thomas Street paving.

The township plans to use the $45,000 in FT funds allotted it this year to pave its share of Thomas Street's western section. Paving of the township's eastern share, the north half of Thomas between Arlington Heights Road and Dunton Avenue, will be financed from the regular township road levy. The village plans to handle its share of the improvement as a special assessment project. (A

3-Point Safety Program Needs Support–Powell

Speaking as guest of honor at a luncheon at Randhurst Town Hall arranged as part of a week long "Salute to Illinois" by the Randhurst Merchants Association, Secretary of State Paul Powell called on citizens to inform their legislators of their desires on a three point safety program he will put forward at the next legislative session.

The program calls for safety inspection and certification of all used cars prior to resale; periodic safety inspection of all motor vehicles; and raising the minimum driving age from 16 to 18 years, except for 16- and 17-year-olds who have passed approved drivers courses.

Powell in referring to the voluntary safety programs conducted during the summer in 55 Illinois communities stated: "The final figures show that 50 per cent of the cars checked were found more or less seriously defective. And the cars checked through the safety lines were owned by people who either expected them to pass or who were genuinely interested in finding out the condition of their cars."

Powell stressed the need for used car certification stating, "The vast majority of used car dealers are legitimate, responsible business men, but there are a few who will do anything to make a fast buck."

HE POINTED out that the responsible dealers would not fear inspection which would junk "rubber-tired coffins."

The raising of the minimum age, he said, should not be viewed as a penalty for youth, but rather as an emphasis on the efficacy of driver education and an encouragement to young people to pass the available courses in the state's high schools.

In calling for citizen cooperation in the passage of his program, Powell said, "Legislative bodies have a way of waiting until the people have shown a clear choice of the direction they wish to go. They want an expression of the needs and desires of their constituents. I want to ask you to give them that expression. (A15

See 'Pressing' Problem in Handling Retarded Adults

Influence of Families Less

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

Attention must swing to the mentally retarded adult—the child grown up. In as few as seven years, this will be a pressing problem for society to handle, predicted Ralph von Osinski, president of the Illinois Association for the Mentally Retarded, in a recent interview.

The present population of mentally retarded children will be adult or reaching adulthood. While the family can handle the child, it may not be able to handle the adult, von Osinski said. In Illinois some research on this problem is just beginning so an intermediate range program can be started, von Osinski noted.

THE LAST session of the Illinois Legislature produced "terrific strides—three years put in one year of accomplishment," von Osinski said. House Bill 1407 means public school systems throughout the state will have to have a comprehensive plan for education of all handicapped children by 1967. Its implementation is assured in 1969.

Von Osinski observed that the federal government this year has given the state money for planning a comprehensive program for the mentally retarded and handicapped—on a long range basis.

In 1950 when the Illinois Association for the Mentally Retarded was formed, all Illinois' public schools provided only 462 educable mentally handicapped classes; no trainable mentally handicapped classes existed. This Sept. 1, 425 educable mentally handicapped classes were in operation; 160 trainable mentally handicapped classes also were in session.

PROGRESS COMES when a school like the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children in Rolling Meadows gets an Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation grant to study 25 young adults to determine their work and employment potential. In 1950 the division of vocational rehabilitation had done no work with the retarded.

The association is working to get a state residential institution for the mentally retarded located in the Chicago area, von Osinski said. The only facilities now are located in Dixon and Lincoln.

The association this week opened a downstate office.

Federal money is coming into the state for construction of facilities at places like Clearbrook School and Little City in Palatine Township.

Von Osinski explains the association helps in lobbying for legislation for the mentally retarded. It tries to coordinate and help with community organization and planning for mentally retarded. It supports public and professional education and works with parents and local associations for the retarded. Work for the prevention of retardation also is an objective of the association. In November, for example, the IAMR will urge measle vaccination. It worked to make hospitals responsible for phenylketonuria (PKU) tests.

THE ASSOCIATION had a budget last year of $84,260.40 from dues, support from location association, direct contributions, sale of publications, and grants for special projects.

Von Osinski believes Illinois now rates in the upper third in the nation in public school programming for mentally retarded. While progressing, it is still in the bottom one third in rating for residential institutions, he added.

Peoples' attitude toward mental retardation has changed, von Osinski believes. They no longer look down on the mentally retarded though acceptance sometimes depends on a person's close association with someone mentally retarded, he said. Employment is opening and von Osinski considers it a healthy sign that the Chicago Post Office employed 18 mentally retarded persons on a trial basis and not on civil service.

A GROWING number of experts believe intelligence is not fixed at birth and can be significantly increased with proper environment. This is an optimistic note for von Osinski. He noted the high performance level of the Lincoln School band and suggested that those working on mental retardation must look at it partially as an environmental problem.

Some units of the Illinois Association for the Mentally Retarded have opened day nurseries and diagnostic centers to study so called "slow learners."

As president of the association, von Osinski, 342 Seminole Lane, Carol Stream, admits "you can't let anyone think you're tiring." An articulate but soft spoken man, he was elected to his volunteer post because of his "get things done" record. He had been regional director for the northwest region.

MODEST IN taking credit for association accomplishments, von Osinski encourages members of the executive board to participate in ceremonial and recognition activities.

His greatest function as von Osinski sees it, is one of seeing the broad, over-all view in mental retardation activities. He has had to deal with the local groups throughout the state that often think no one understands them. Caught up in their own problems and activities, these groups often fear relinquishing any of their control.

Since taking office in July 1965 for a two year term, von Osinski has tried to build an association board recruited for specific talent rather than its luminary names. The 17 man board now includes "a little of everything" with toxicologist, farmer, accountant, housewives, and vice president of a construction company.

Von Osinski is the associate editor of "Quality Assurance," a trade magazine published by the Hitchcock Publishing Co. of Wheaton.

The father of three children, von Osinski got into work on mental retardation in 1957 when he moved from Indiana to Illinois and found no public school program for his mentally retarded son. After overtures to the Elgin School District, von Osinski found himself with 50 other people working on the same problem and so his involvement began.

IT SEEMS natural to be busy, von Osinski admits, since he was deeply involved in 4-H work and CYO activities as a teenager.

In a week that wasn't atypical, von Osinski attended a convention of the National Association of the Mentally Retarded, appeared at a dedication of a facility in Dwight, Ill., met with the Chicago association, handled a board meeting, and talked to a group in Hinsdale.

He usually sets aside Friday afternoon and evening for staff planning and direction. He clarified the role of the professional staff very soon after he took office.

Von Osinski "had a close hand in the layout" of a brochure the association will publish to explain its purpose and budget. "I'm going to be known as the president who was the spender," von Osinski said with a smile but this follows his belief action is important. (A-15

Task Force School Proposals To be Heard at Area Meetings

Proposals of the Illinois Task Force on Education, whose final report—due in December—is expected to recommend major changes in the state school picture, will be discussed at four area meetings this week.

On Saturday, blue-ribbon lineup of educators and public officials will report on Task Force progress at an all-day meeting in the National College of Education auditorium, 2840 Sheridan Road, Evanston.

The Task Force's work so far also will be a topic for discussion next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at meetings of the Tri-County Division of the Illinois Association of School Boards.

STATE REP. Harold A. Katz, a member of the Task Force, will be host to the Evanston meeting. He has assured Paddock Publications that interested northwest suburban residents will be welcome at the session.

Meetings of the Tri-County Division, metropolitan-wide organization of the IASB, are set for 6 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday at Homewood-Flossmoor Community High School, Flossmoor; Wednesday at Adlai Stevenson Consolidated High School, Prairie View, and Thursday at Proviso Township High School West in Hillside.

Work of the Task Force—cosponsored by Gov. Otto Kerner, the state superintendent of public instruction and the School Problems Commission—will be discussed at the Homewood-Flossmoor meeting by State Rep. Anthony Scariano of Park Forest.

At the other two Tri-County meetings, the Task Force report will be given by State Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh of Champaign. Both Clabaugh and Scariano are serving on the Task Force committee.

THE TASK force also will be the subject of one of seven group discussions at the Tri-County meetings.

Discussing Task Force work with Clabaugh or Scariano at that time will be John H. O'Neill, associate superintendent of the office of public instruction, and Miriam K. Ringo, assistant to Gov. Kerner.

Other special interest groups scheduled for the IASB divisional meetings will discuss the proposed Revenue Amendment's impact on school financing, the new federally financed regional education research laboratory, professional negotiations and collective bargaining, use of lay community resources for curriculum enrichment, junior college progress, and the proposed Operation Wingspread exchange of inner-city and suburban students.

Rep. Katz has planned to have Saturday's meeting at Evanston focus on the most controversial aspects of the Task Force plans — proposed changes in school administrative structure — during the morning session starting at 9 a.m.

Discussing Task Force work in those areas will be Dr. William P. McLure, University of Illinois professor who is executive director of the Task Force; Dr. Paul J. Misner, Task Force vice chairman and a Western Michigan University professor; Dr. B. J. Chandler, dean of Northwestern University school of education; Harold W. Norman, Glenview attorney with wide experience in school law, and Rep. Scariano.

IN THE afternoon session Saturday, Task Force recommendations regarding nonpublic school agencies will be discussed at 1:30 p.m. by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William E. McManus, superintendent of schools for the Catholic archdiocese.

At 2:30 p.m. tentative changes in pre-school, elementary and secondary schooling will be discussed by Dr. Misner and Guy E. Cornwell, associate director of the Illinois Association of School Boards.

At 3:30 p.m. Task Force tentative proposals for educational innovations will be discussed by Charles Benton, president of Encyclopaedia Brittanica Films, Inc. (A-15

See 'Pressing' Problem in Handling Retarded Adults

Influence of Families Less

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

Attention must swing to the mentally retarded adult—the child grown up. In as few as seven years, this will be a pressing problem for society to handle, predicted Ralph von Osinski, president of the Illinois Association for the Mentally Retarded, in a recent interview.

The present population of mentally retarded children will be adult or reaching adulthood. While the family can handle the child, it may not be able to handle the adult, von Osinski said. In Illinois some research on this problem is just beginning so an intermediate range program can be started, von Osinski noted.

THE LAST session of the Illinois Legislature produced "terrific strides—three years put in one year of accomplishment," von Osinski said. House Bill 1407 means public school systems throughout the state will have to have a comprehensive plan for education of all handicapped children by 1967. Its implementation is assured in 1969.

Von Osinski observed that the federal government this year has given the state money for planning a comprehensive program for the mentally retarded and handicapped—on a long range basis.

In 1950 when the Illinois Association for the Mentally Retarded was formed, all Illinois' public schools provided only 462 educable mentally handicapped classes; no trainable mentally handicapped classes existed. This Sept. 1, 425 educable mentally handicapped classes were in operation; 160 trainable mentally handicapped classes also were in session.

PROGRESS COMES when a school like the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children in Rolling Meadows gets an Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation grant to study 25 young adults to determine their work and employment potential. In 1950 the division of vocational rehabilitation had done no work with the retarded.

The association is working to get a state residential institution for the mentally retarded located in the Chicago area, von Osinski said. The only facilities now are located in Dixon and Lincoln.

The association this week opened a downstate office.

Federal money is coming into the state for construction of facilities at places like Clearbrook School and Little City in Palatine Township.

Von Osinski explains the association helps in lobbying for legislation for the mentally retarded. It tries to coordinate and help with community organization and planning for mentally retarded. It supports public and professional education and works with parents and local associations for the retarded. Work for the prevention of retardation also is an objective of the association. In November, for example, the IAMR will urge measle vaccination. It worked to make hospitals responsible for phenylketonuria (PKU) tests.

THE ASSOCIATION had a budget last year of $84,260.40 from dues, support from location association, direct contributions, sale of publications, and grants for special projects.

Von Osinski believes Illinois now rates in the upper third in the nation in public school programming for mentally retarded. While progressing, it is still in the bottom one third in rating for residential institutions, he added.

Peoples' attitude toward mental retardation has changed, von Osinski believes. They no longer look down on the mentally retarded though acceptance sometimes depends on a person's close association with someone mentally retarded, he said. Employment is opening and von Osinski considers it a healthy sign that the Chicago Post Office employed 18 mentally retarded persons on a trial basis and not on civil service.

A GROWING number of experts believe intelligence is not fixed at birth and can be significantly increased with proper environment. This is an optimistic note for von Osinski. He noted the high performance level of the Lincoln School band and suggested that those working on mental retardation must look at it partially as an environmental problem.

Some units of the Illinois Association for the Mentally Retarded have opened day nurseries and diagnostic centers to study so called "slow learners."

As president of the association, von Osinski, 342 Seminole Lane, Carol Stream, admits "you can't let anyone think you're tiring." An articulate but soft spoken man, he was elected to his volunteer post because of his "get things done" record. He had been regional director for the northwest region.

MODEST IN taking credit for association accomplishments, von Osinski encourages members of the executive board to participate in ceremonial and recognition activities.

His greatest function as von Osinski sees it, is one of seeing the broad, over-all view in mental retardation activities. He has had to deal with the local groups throughout the state that often think no one understands them. Caught up in their own problems and activities, these groups often fear relinquishing any of their control.

Since taking office in July 1965 for a two year term, von Osinski has tried to build an association board recruited for specific talent rather than its luminary names. The 17 man board now includes "a little of everything" with toxicologist, farmer, accountant, housewives, and vice president of a construction company.

Von Osinski is the associate editor of "Quality Assurance," a trade magazine published by the Hitchcock Publishing Co. of Wheaton.

The father of three children, von Osinski got into work on mental retardation in 1957 when he moved from Indiana to Illinois and found no public school program for his mentally retarded son. After overtures to the Elgin School District, von Osinski found himself with 50 other people working on the same problem and so his involvement began.

IT SEEMS natural to be busy, von Osinski admits, since he was deeply involved in 4-H work and CYO activities as a teenager.

In a week that wasn't atypical, von Osinski attended a convention of the National Association of the Mentally Retarded, appeared at a dedication of a facility in Dwight, Ill., met with the Chicago association, handled a board meeting, and talked to a group in Hinsdale.

He usually sets aside Friday afternoon and evening for staff planning and direction. He clarified the role of the professional staff very soon after he took office.

Von Osinski "had a close hand in the layout" of a brochure the association will publish to explain its purpose and budget. "I'm going to be known as the president who was the spender," von Osinski said with a smile but this follows his belief action is important.

Task Force School Proposals To be Heard at Area Meetings

Proposals of the Illinois Task Force on Education, whose final report—due in December—is expected to recommend major changes in the state school picture, will be discussed at four area meetings this week.

On Saturday, blue-ribbon lineup of educators and public officials will report on Task Force progress at an all-day meeting in the National College of Education auditorium, 2840 Sheridan Road, Evanston.

The Task Force's work so far also will be a topic for discussion next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at meetings of the Tri-County Division of the Illinois Association of School Boards.

STATE REP. Harold A. Katz, a member of the Task Force, will be host to the Evanston meeting. He has assured Paddock Publications that interested northwest suburban residents will be welcome at the session.

Meetings of the Tri-County Division, metropolitan-wide organization of the IASB, are set for 6 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday at Homewood-Flossmoor Community High School, Flossmoor; Wednesday at Adlai Stevenson Consolidated High School, Prairie View, and Thursday at Proviso Township High School West in Hillside.

Work of the Task Force—cosponsored by Gov. Otto Kerner, the state superintendent of public instruction and the School Problems Commission—will be discussed at the Homewood-Flossmoor meeting by State Rep. Anthony Scariano of Park Forest.

At the other two Tri-County meetings, the Task Force report will be given by State Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh of Champaign. Both Clabaugh and Scariano are serving on the Task Force committee.

THE TASK force also will be the subject of one of seven group discussions at the Tri-County meetings.

Discussing Task Force work with Clabaugh or Scariano at that time will be John H. O'Neill, associate superintendent of the office of public instruction, and Miriam K. Ringo, assistant to Gov. Kerner.

Other special interest groups scheduled for the IASB divisional meetings will discuss the proposed Revenue Amendment's impact on school financing, the new federally financed regional education research laboratory, professional negotiations and collective bargaining, use of lay community resources for curriculum enrichment, junior college progress, and the proposed Operation Wingspread exchange of inner-city and suburban students.

Rep. Katz has planned to have Saturday's meeting at Evanston focus on the most controversial aspects of the Task Force plans — proposed changes in school administrative structure — during the morning session starting at 9 a.m.

Discussing Task Force work in those areas will be Dr. William P. McLure, University of Illinois professor who is executive director of the Task Force; Dr. Paul J. Misner, Task Force vice chairman and a Western Michigan University professor; Dr. B. J. Chandler, dean of Northwestern University school of education; Harold W. Norman, Glenview attorney with wide experience in school law, and Rep. Scariano.

IN THE afternoon session Saturday, Task Force recommendations regarding nonpublic school agencies will be discussed at 1:30 p.m. by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William E. McManus, superintendent of schools for the Catholic archdiocese.

At 2:30 p.m. tentative changes in pre-school, elementary and secondary schooling will be discussed by Dr. Misner and Guy E. Cornwell, associate director of the Illinois Association of School Boards.

At 3:30 p.m. Task Force tentative proposals for educational innovations will be discussed by Charles Benton, president of Encyclopaedia Brittanica Films, Inc.

Congressional Office Moved To Evanston

Cong. Donald Rumsfeld (R-13th) this week announced the relocation of his 13th Congressional District office from 545 Lincoln, Winnetka, to 2530 Crawford, Evanston.

Rumsfeld noted that the new office location is nearer to the population center of the 13th District and therefore more convenient for district residents.

The Rumsfeld office in Evanston is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on other occasions arranged by appointment. The office telephone is 328-2011. (B10

Progress Not Problems Uppermost: McCabe

Trouble spots in the economy should not blind us to the tremendous progress this nation has made in the economic sphere during the administrations of Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, James McCabe, 13th District Democratic candidate for Congress, told a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis at Morton Grove.

"Every businessman knows he'll have some difficult problems when his business is running near full capacity that he won't have when he's limping along; and the same thing is true of the economy," McCabe told the Kiwanians.

"But in each case, there's no doubt which situation one would prefer," McCabe said, adding "from 1960 to the present, we have enjoyed unequaled prosperity, unemployment has been reduced from about 7 per cent during the period of the past Republican administration to less than 3.9 per cent now despite the fact that our nation's World War II vintage babies are now grown adults and pouring into the labor markets.

"The tax cut has a great deal to do with generating this favorable growth pattern; it stimulated the economy and led to virtually full employment. It is interesting to note that for all the apparent good the tax cut has accomplished, Congressman Rumsfeld voted against this bill which placed dollars into everyone's pocket," McCabe stated.

"The nation's standard of living rose much more rapidly compared to the Eisenhower Administration, and we have managed to avoid the recessions that plagued that period and that slowed the nation's growth leaving large numbers of people unemployed and cutting sharply into disposable income,' McCabe asserted.

"However, we cannot rest on our accomplishments," McCabe said, "government spending, for example, can be and is being effectively cut to further improve the nation's over-all position. The proposals recently sent to Congress by President Johnson—affecting the suspension of accelerated depreciation allowances and investment tax credit—will play a significant role in cutting inflationary pressure," McCabe stated. Diagnostic Center: All It Needs Are The Kids

All they need are the kids.

The diagnostic learning center, located at Elk Grove High School, is ready to begin operations, according to Director Robert Bright.

Highly-sophisticated learning equipment and office furniture have been installed in the center's three-room complex at the high school.

The four learning specialists are traveling to area schools to talk with principals and become acquainted with facilities in each building.

Program announcements and referral procedures, compiled by the staff earlier this fall, have been distributed to the participating public and parochial school systems.

The federal government has given the go-ahead sign for remodeling plans to transform classrooms into offices and meeting rooms for the center.

BRIGHT SAID THE staff would begin working with children having severe learning problems as soon as they were referred to the center by school principals.

Diagnosis and prescription are the two basic phases of operation at the center, according to Bright.

The staff—including a diagnostician, guidance counselor, learning specialist, and psychologist—will first attempt to uncover the "cause" of a child's learning problems.

The second part will involve developing an educational program to overcome the problem. A key link in this phase, according to Bright, will be the learning specialist who will work directly with classroom teachers in developing programs for individual children.

THE CENTER, A model project financed by a $193,000 federal grant, is sponsored by Arlington Heights Elementary District 25.

Other schools participating in the program are public and private schools in Palatine, Elk Grove, and Wheeling Townships.

"We will be working through programs existing in the schools," Bright said, and cited instructional resource centers as an example.

He said where there were no programs for children with learning problems, the center would help build a program.

"Because this is a model center, our purpose will be to show other schools in the United States how to work with youngsters learning problems," Bright said.

"IN ADDITION, we hope to come up with descriptions of children who can be helped in classrooms with this additional aid," he said.

Bright pointed out that there were two types of children with severe learning difficulties. First, those who can be helped by present programs and classroom teachers. Second, students who need intensive help through psychiatrists, and special tutors.

"I think by coming up with these descriptions, we will lead toward development in education of special programs for children on an individual basis," he added.

Bright continued, "Severe learning problems are complex. Our job will be to find out why a youngster is not learning and then to make him fully aware of his potential and free in his choice of what to do."

Maximizing possibilities for a youngster to learn is a major goal of the center, Bright said.

THE CENTER will be available to students in kindergarten to 12th grades. About 600 children out of the total 65,700 student population in the area are expected to use the services of the center.

Bright said there was still a need for one additional learning specialist. Specialists have been selected on the basis of successful elementary teaching, curriculum studies, and an ability to work with other teachers and with children having learning problems, according to Bright.

Though the center itself is a referral agency, it will refer cases requiring remedial or therapeutic help to other agencies.

BRIGHT SAID PART of the organization has been to contact family agencies and charity groups for this purpose.

An open house for the center is slated later in October when remodeling has been completed.

Progress Not Problems Uppermost: McCabe

Trouble spots in the economy should not blind us to the tremendous progress this nation has made in the economic sphere during the administrations of Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, James McCabe, 13th District Democratic candidate for Congress, told a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis at Morton Grove.

"Every businessman knows he'll have some difficult problems when his business is running near full capacity that he won't have when he's limping along; and the same thing is true of the economy," McCabe told the Kiwanians.

"But in each case, there's no doubt which situation one would prefer," McCabe said, adding "from 1960 to the present, we have enjoyed unequaled prosperity, unemployment has been reduced from about 7 per cent during the period of the past Republican administration to less than 3.9 per cent now despite the fact that our nation's World War II vintage babies are now grown adults and pouring into the labor markets.

"The tax cut has a great deal to do with generating this favorable growth pattern; it stimulated the economy and led to virtually full employment. It is interesting to note that for all the apparent good the tax cut has accomplished, Congressman Rumsfeld voted against this bill which placed dollars into everyone's pocket," McCabe stated.

"The nation's standard of living rose much more rapidly compared to the Eisenhower Administration, and we have managed to avoid the recessions that plagued that period and that slowed the nation's growth leaving large numbers of people unemployed and cutting sharply into disposable income,' McCabe asserted.

"However, we cannot rest on our accomplishments," McCabe said, "government spending, for example, can be and is being effectively cut to further improve the nation's over-all position. The proposals recently sent to Congress by President Johnson—affecting the suspension of accelerated depreciation allowances and investment tax credit—will play a significant role in cutting inflationary pressure," McCabe stated. Diagnostic Center: All It Needs Are The Kids

All they need are the kids. The diagnostic learning center, located at Elk Grove High School, is ready to begin operations, according to Director Robert Bright.

Highly-sophisticated learning equipment and office furniture have been installed in the center's three-room complex at the high school.

The four learning specialists are traveling to area schools to talk with principals and become acquainted with facilities in each building.

Program announcements and referral procedures, compiled by the staff earlier this fall, have been distributed to the participating public and parochial school systems.

The federal government has given the go-ahead sign for remodeling plans to transform classrooms into offices and meeting rooms for the center.

BRIGHT SAID THE staff would begin working with children having severe learning problems as soon as they were referred to the center by school principals.

Diagnosis and prescription are the two basic phases of operation at the center, according to Bright.

The staff—including a diagnostician, guidance counselor, learning specialist, and psychologist—will first attempt to uncover the "cause" of a child's learning problems.

The second part will involve developing an educational program to overcome the problem. A key link in this phase, according to Bright, will be the learning specialist who will work directly with classroom teachers in developing programs for individual children.

THE CENTER, A model project financed by a $193,000 federal grant, is sponsored by Arlington Heights Elementary District 25.

Other schools participating in the program are public and private schools in Palatine, Elk Grove, and Wheeling Townships.

"We will be working through programs existing in the schools," Bright said, and cited instructional resource centers as an example.

He said where there were no programs for children with learning problems, the center would help build a program.

"Because this is a model center, our purpose will be to show other schools in the United States how to work with youngsters learning problems," Bright said.

"IN ADDITION, we hope to come up with descriptions of children who can be helped in classrooms with this additional aid," he said.

Bright pointed out that there were two types of children with severe learning difficulties. First, those who can be helped by present programs and classroom teachers. Second, students who need intensive help through psychiatrists, and special tutors.

"I think by coming up with these descriptions, we will lead toward development in education of special programs for children on an individual basis," he added.

Bright continued, "Severe learning problems are complex. Our job will be to find out why a youngster is not learning and then to make him fully aware of his potential and free in his choice of what to do."

Maximizing possibilities for a youngster to learn is a major goal of the center, Bright said.

THE CENTER will be available to students in kindergarten to 12th grades. About 600 children out of the total 65,700 student population in the area are expected to use the services of the center.

Bright said there was still a need for one additional learning specialist. Specialists have been selected on the basis of successful elementary teaching, curriculum studies, and an ability to work with other teachers and with children having learning problems, according to Bright.

Though the center itself is a referral agency, it will refer cases requiring remedial or therapeutic help to other agencies.

BRIGHT SAID PART of the organization has been to contact family agencies and charity groups for this purpose.

An open house for the center is slated later in October when remodeling has been completed.

Fifth Annual Art Festival Oct. 15

By MAGGIE IRWIN

We know you enjoyed the magnificent exhibits and displays put on by the leading industries in Illinois, honoring our "Salute to Illinois." We wish to thank all those who participated in making this event so outstanding, and our special thanks to you, your comments made our efforts worth while. Although the exhibits are now gone, the colorful flags and pennants as well as the seal of the State of Illinois will remain on the mall for another week.

The brisk fall days are fast approaching and the Randhurst mall, dressed in the warm vibrant colors of the season, is getting set for our 5th Annual Art Festival. We really are excited about this event, as the top artists in the nation have been selected to present their efforts. There is nothing like a new painting or sculpture to spark up the decor of your home, and now is your opportunity to purchase one. The paintings and sculptures are as diversified as the artists who present them and whatever your artistic interest may be, we know that you will find something to please you. This is a juried show and you can rest assured that the selection presented on the mall is the top of the line.

Some of the prominent artists exhibiting are: George Hall whose metal sculptures are excellent, rated as one of the best; Bob Bowman, caricaturist, who incidentally will do your portrait on the spot; Walter Bower, Grant Kenworth, Gene Kramer, Betty Bieg, Betty Boyl, Margaret Peterson, Diana Weber, Pierre Dick, Hedvic Vlasak, Arlene Kargacos, all excell in oils.

Some of the artists who work in water colors are: Ruth Healy, Dale Wilson, Enid Petersen, Denise Koch and Carl Vergurght. Many of these artists have paintings hanging in well-known public places. This is an excellent opportunity for you to meet these artists in person.

We trust we have sparked your interest enough in our 5th Annual Art Festival to mark on your calendar the October 15th from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 16, from noon to 5 p.m. For those of you who have never attended an art show on our covered mall, the Randhurst Merchants' Association cordially invites you, and hopes you will enjoy a relaxing time in the comfortable climate of Randhurst

In honor of Fire Prevention Week the budding artists of the surrounding schools have submitted posters representing their ideas in how we all can help in preventing fires. The winning posters, as well as others, can be seen on the Randhurst mall starting today, Thursday. (RH

Organ Concert by Bruce Meils Set

Organ music lovers are invited to enjoy an evening of organ music, "Hammond Organ Teachers Showcase," next Tuesday at 8 p.m., at Town Hall in Randhurst, Route 83 at Rand Road, featuring Bruce Meils in an organ variety program. Admission is free and refreshments will be served.

Meils has his B.S. degree in music from Bradley University and has done additional work at Northwestern University and San Francisco College. He has appeared in the finest supper clubs on the west coast and has played in several San Francisco hotels. He has done television work in St. Louis and while in service, he had his own television program in Korea. Twice each year Lyon-Healy presents members of its organ teaching staff in these programs for the public. (Rh

Alexanders Win Color TV Set

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alexander of 802 Ironwood Drive, Mount Prospect, are the owners of a new Zenith color television set which was on display during the Sinclair Dinoland exhibit at Randhurst Shopping Center from June 29th through July 4. The television was presented on behalf of the Sinclair Dealer organization.

The Sinclair prehistoric Dinosaurs, which were on display at the New York World's Fair, are now on tour throughout the country and were brought to the Chicago Metropolitan area on behalf of your local Sinclair dealer.

Alexander, superintendant of processing for Jewel Companies in Barrington, received a coupon at the exhibit and turned it in at Bob Conner's Sinclair station in Barrington. He received a free Dinosaur booklet from the Dealer which depicted the history of each animal. The coupons were later collected and a drawing was held. Dealer Conner also received a portable television set. (Rh

Topps Store Has $1 Million Display

Visitors to the Rolling Meadows Topps Discount Store will view one of the most unusual art shows every exhibited. Each painting is a specially commissioned work, created by some of the finest commercial artists in this country. The exhibition is valued at approximately $1 million.

"We want to demonstrate to Topps customers that we are very much aware of the variety of their interests," the manager of Topps stated. "Topps wants to do more than provide its friends with things to buy.... no matter how competitive we may be in our discount program." One of the original paintings from this exclusive exhibit will be given to one of the viewers. Visitors to Topps will be asked to name their favorite painting. Each painting will be identified by number, and at the end of the exhibit, a drawing of viewers registration slips will be made. The winner will be awarded the painting of his or her choice.

Among the artists represented are Jack Schoenherr, official artist for New York's Museum of Natural History, George Gross, whose portrait of John F. Kennedy recently appeared on the cover of Coronet Magazine, and Victor Kalin, leading magazine and adventure illustrator.

Painting subjects range from simple American scenes to awesome gothics, and from romantic scenes to great battles. The works are primarily oils, with a few examples of the more modern acrylics punctuating the collection.

The collection is scheduled to arrive on Oct. 7 and will be on display until Oct. 9. (B10

Rumsfeld, McCabe Lead Off Program

Congressman Donald Rumsfeld and his Democratic opponent, James McCabe, will have the lead-off spots Friday at the League of Women Voters 8 p.m. candidates meeting at Prospect High School.

Originally, the two U. S. representative candidates were to appear later on the program. But Rumsfeld asked for an earlier spot because he must return to Washington, D. C., for a congressional session Saturday.

The candidates meeting, open to the public, will take place in the Little Theater at Prospect High. Co-sponsoring the voter service program are the Leagues of Women Voters of Palatine, Barrington and Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Frank Moore, president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters, will welcome the group. Then she will turn her gavel over to Mrs. James Stephens, Barrington LWV member who will moderate the meeting.

MRS. STEPHENS, a former Barrington library board and elementary District 4 school board member, will introduce Rumsfeld, McCabe, and the other eight major candidates appearing at the meeting—the four candidates for Third District state representative, the two men seeking the Third District state senator's seat, and the two candidates for president of the Cook County Board of Commissioners.

Audience questions directed at the candidates will be screened by an LWV committee that includes Mrs. Harold Stone and Mrs. William Davis of Palatine, Mrs. Walter Meyer of Barrington and Mrs. John Muller of Arlington Heights.

Serving as pages will be Mrs. Daryl Frey and Mrs. James Philips of Barrington, Mrs. Donald Brandt of North Barrington, Mrs. J. S. Munson of Palatine, Mrs. Robert Collins and Mrs. Joseph Laurinec of Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Harvey Baron of Mount Prospect.

Mrs. Hal Cress of Arlington Heights will serve as timer.

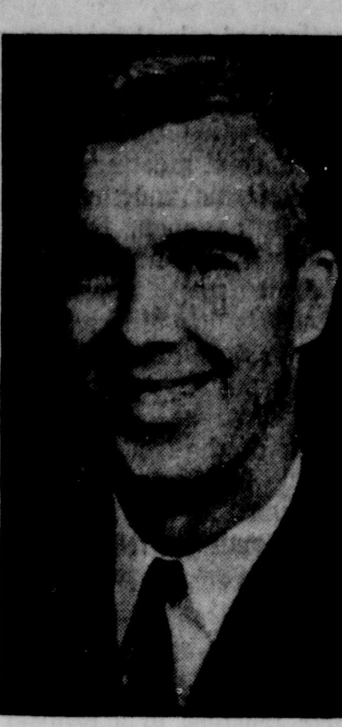
Arrangements for the meeting were made by Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Brandt and Mrs. George Ireland of Arlington Heights.

The meeting is sponsored by the three LWV's as a citizen service.

The nonpartisan League of Women Voters never supports or opposes any party or candidate for political office but does sponsor candidates meetings and provide voter information to help citizens become better informed. (B10

New Staffer to Forge Link Between College, Public

Residents of Wheeling, Schaumburg, Elk Grove and Palatine Townships can expect to start getting better acquainted with their new junior college.



JOHN H. UPTON

William Rainey Harper Junior College has a new staff member who is to establish the link betwen the college and public and make it truly a "community" college.

John H. Upton, 34, has been hired as director of institutional development and community relations.

He is not only to make Harper College a part of the thought and heart of the district, he is to advise on financial aid which will make the school worthy of its regard.

EVENTUALLY, the position will be split between two persons.

Upton explains the combination of public relations with financial advisement as a generalist's position.

"It's not likely to have experts in these two areas, so a generalist might do better with both."

Upton is writing his doctor's dissertation on community college administration.

"My field has been community colleges, one of the areas in the junior college field that has not been explored," he said.

Upton will be responsible for knowing every facet of the rapidly developing institution and keeping the public informed of this. He will also be chief advisor on state and federal aid to education which pertains to the college district.

HIS EARLY work has been "boning up" on the college and state and federal programs. Coming from a staff meeting, he picked up a stack of aid-to-education programs.

"I'm not aware yet how many we can apply under," Upton said. "We'll look into every single program that has something for us."

When classes open, the colleges will be eligible for certain aids for various fields, but now he is concentrating mainly on building funds, he said.

This aid is not "extra" money, he emphasized.

"We would find it difficult to develop sound programs if we can't get access to funds the district doesn't supply," Upton said. "The more we can take advantage of in outside aid, the better courses we can offer."

HE SAID IT costs from $15,000 to $30,000 to buy equipment for science laboratories and technology programs and neither will fill the function of the other.

The costs of academics are high and the college will have to have programs to meet all needs of the community if it is to be a community college, he said.

His public relations position will be to announce new programs as they are set up and determine ways the college can interact with the community aside from the classroom.

Upton will be responsible for all publications that leave the college. Catalogs and brochures developed in other departments will come to his office for editing.

THE PUBLICATIONS immediately planned are an information brochure, a viewbook on the over-all college and a catalog of courses.

He will represent the college in certain community contacts, and will be responsible for contacting news media about news from the college. He is keeping a scrapbook of all activities to be kept as a history of the one-year old institution.

Upton said of his various tasks, "This position may be called assistant to the president. I may get all kinds of jobs that don't fit into other positions."

Upton came to the Chicago area from a community college, Western College, at Yuma, where he taught one year.

AS AN undergraduate, he majored in English at the University of Michigan. He returned to Michigan for a master's degree in business administration and has completed all but his dissertation toward a doctor's degree in higher education.

Upton said he learned of the Harper College opening when he returned to Michigan this summer to write his dissertation.

"I hoped to have it done by the end of the year but it doesn't look like it will get done," he said. (B10

Discuss Voter Registration

The Oct. 11 closing date for voter registration was the main topic of discussion last Saturday when Republican committeemen from the 3rd legislative district met at the Holiday Inn in Rolling Meadows to review plans for the up-coming general election.

The committeemen reported that their various GOP organizations were achieving excellent results in getting new voters signed up to vote in the Nov. 8 general election. (B-10

HE SAID IT costs from $15,000 to $30,000 to buy equipment for science laboratories and technology programs and neither will fill the function of the other.

The costs of academics are high and the college will have to have programs to meet all needs of the community if it is to be a community college, he said.

His public relations position will be to announce new programs as they are set up and determine ways the college can interact with the community aside from the classroom.

Upton will be responsible for all publications that leave the college. Catalogs and brochures developed in other departments will come to his office for editing.

THE PUBLICATIONS immediately planned are an information brochure, a viewbook on the over-all college and a catalog of courses.

He will represent the college in certain community contacts, and will be responsible for contacting news media about news from the college. He is keeping a scrapbook of all activities to be kept as a history of the one-year old institution.

Upton said of his various tasks, "This position may be called assistant to the president. I may get all kinds of jobs that don't fit into other positions."

Upton came to the Chicago area from a community college, Western College, at Yuma, where he taught one year.

AS AN undergraduate, he majored in English at the University of Michigan. He returned to Michigan for a master's degree in business administration and has completed all but his dissertation toward a doctor's degree in higher education.

Upton said he learned of the Harper College opening when he returned to Michigan this summer to write his dissertation.

"I hoped to have it done by the end of the year but it doesn't look like it will get done," he said. (B10

Discuss Voter Registration

The Oct. 11 closing date for voter registration was the main topic of discussion last Saturday when Republican committeemen from the 3rd legislative district met at the Holiday Inn in Rolling Meadows to review plans for the up-coming general election.

The committeemen reported that their various GOP organizations were achieving excellent results in getting new voters signed up to vote in the Nov. 8 general election. (B-10

Wheeling Township Trustees Ask Schools To Submit Deeds

Wheeling Township school trustees responsibility in holding title to all school lands was emphasized Monday at the semi-annual meeting of that board.

Trustees August Stavros and Dr. Chester S. Cole asked that school districts turn over to the township school treasurer, E. C. McAuliff of Mount Prospect, all titles and deeds to school lands.

THEY ALSO noted the legal necessity for public auction in any sale of unused school property.

Trustees indicated that giving the treasurer all deeds to school lands will make it possible for him to see that real estate taxes owed on unused school-owned lands be paid promptly. Stavros noted that in some other townships school lands have been sold for back taxes.

The two trustees said that in the past year a school district in the township had considered selling land without public auction. They did not identify the school district.

TALKING OF the private land sale, Dr. Cole said, "It almost happened — but not quite. The school district would have taken a loss of several hundred thousand dollars if they'd sold without public bids."

School records show that the only large parcel of school land sold recently was owned by High School District 214 at the corner of Hintz and Buffalo Grove Roads. Jack Martin, assistant to District 214 superintendent Edward H. Gilbert, said Tuesday that the school district had had one early offer to sell the land at a lower price. "But we never had any intention of selling it except at public auction," he added.

MINUTES OF five special meetings of school trustees were read at Monday's meeting, held in District 214's Slichenmyer Administration Center.

The special meetings, only one of which was announced to the press in advance, included:

—May 25, when township school trustees approved the treasurer's low-bid surety bond for a $3.4 million District 214 bond issue and appointed certified public accountant Donald Bark to do the treasurer's audit.

—June 29, when lowest bidder American Motors Insurance's surety bonds for $125,000, $205,000 and $230,000 were authorized.

—JULY 18, when attorneys were appointed to represent the school trustees in a request for detachment from Wheeling of the District 214 property, purchased by Zale Construction.

—July 25, when a United Pacific surety bond was okayed for the treasurer for a $500,000 District 25 bond issue.

—Sept. 19, when school trustees acted to designate the Bank of Elk Grove a depository, at the request of District 214.

Banks currently being used for deposit of school funds disbursed by the township school treasurer include the First Arlington National Bank, The Bank of Arlington Heights, the Bank of Rolling Meadows, the Bank of Elk Grove, Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago.

ALSO THE First National Bank of Chicago, the First National Bank of Mount Prospect, Harris Trust and Savings, Mount Prospect State Bank, the Northern Trust Company, Midwest Bank and Trust Company and Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank.

Added since the June 30 audit, in addition to the Bank of Elk Grove, have been the Midwest Bank and Trust and First National Bank of Chicago.

School Treasurer Costs Jump $5,480

Operation of the Wheeling Township school treasurer's office is budgeted this year at $5,840 more than last year's audited cost of the office.

The budget given township school trustees at their semi-annual meeting Monday by school treasurer E. C. McAuliff, a certified public accountant, calls for expenditure of $24,859 during 1966-67.

McAULIFF NOTED that most of the increase comes from the $4,000 increase voted the school treasurer by township school trustees in April.

Also provided in the budget is $4,800 for clerical salaries for the office. The audit shows that $3,986 was spent for clerical help during the 1965-66 fiscal year.

The audit, prepared by Arlington Heights CPA Donald E. Bark, includes a comment that "visits to the schools revealed that the purchasing systems, and systems for receiving and handling student fees, were generally satisfactory."

BY LAW — in Cook County only — all monies received by school districts must be received and reimbursed by a township school treasurer. Also, by law — in Cook County only — title to all school lands is held by township school trustees.

The office of township school trustee and township school treasurer have been abolished in all but Cook County. Unsuccessful efforts were made in 1963 and 1965 General Assembly sessions to have the two offices — considered unnecessary by many school officials — abolished in Cook County too.

WHAT IS GLOMERULONEPHRITIS?

This type of kidney disease is usually caused by infectious germs. Often, the patient has had an acute sore throat or an upper respiratory infection. The germs apparently get into the kidneys by way of the blood stream. The glomeruli, which are the filtering portion of the kidneys, strain out the germs which can multiply quickly.

This formerly hard-to-cure disease can now be successfully treated by the new anti-infective drugs we stock. But, diagnosis and treatment must not be delayed or these germs can cause permanent harm. It is wise to consult a physician at the beginning of any urinary discomfort symptoms.

New Hobby Shop Open In Arlington

An interest in the ancient practice of handmade artwork and crafts was the inspiration which launched a new hobby shop in Arlington Heights.

Bee's Boutique Gift Shop, 10 S. Dunton Ave., will hold its grand opening Saturday. The tiny shop specializes in a variety of merchandise—from a handsome rug fabricated from breadwrappers to paintings done by local artists.

MRS. BEE Ridderling, proprietor of the gift shop, explained that many of the articles are handcrafted by elderly and handicapped persons. She exhibits and sells the goods on a consignment basis.

One of the features of the shop are articles made of stone. Semi-precious stone jewelry, a table inlaid with rocks, and ash trays are part of a rehabilitation project at a Center for Alcoholics in Phoenix, Ariz.

OTHER ITEMS include ashtrays made from slagged bottles by an 80-year-old man, wall decorations constructed from natural woods, flower arrangements made by a doctor's wife, and ceramic pieces designed by Mrs. Ridderling.

Mrs. Ridderling said the gift shop presently exhibits the work of 20 hobbyists from both the local area and other states. She can take orders for the larger items.

THE HOBBYIST pointed out that articles are priced according to the value of the material and the amount of work put into them. "But most hobbyists put much more into an item than they can get back monetarily," she said.

She pointed out that she has been interested in working with handicrafts as long as she could remember. Formerly she had given lessons in making gifts.

Mrs. Ridderling said a primary aim of the shop was to give elderly and handicapped people a place to display their wares.

THE GIFT SHOP will be operated by the Ridderling family. This includes two children, Becky and Bill, who, Mrs. Ridderling said, "help in making hardcrafted items. Mr. Ridderling formerly operated Dunton Court Cleaners.

The gift shop, located behind Marge's Apparel Shop, is open Monday thrugh Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. (B10

LWV Sponsors Speakers Bureau on Revenue Vote

The League of Women Voters is offering to supply local organizations with speakers who can explain the proposed Revenue Article changes.

The LWV is prepared to present anything from a full program to a five-minute explanation of the Blue Ballot amendments, which the State's voters will be asked to approve or reject Nov. 8.

Mrs. George Schroeder of Arlington Heights, chairman of the League's Speakers Bureau, has sent letters to PTA's, civic organizations and women's clubs offering the Revenue Article explanation.

SPEAKERS may be booked by calling her at 392-0145.

Organizations that have already planned programs using League speakers include the Wheeling Community Council, who heard Mrs. Ernest Beal of Mount Prospect discuss the Revenue Amendment on Tuesday, and the Sunset Park PTA, to whom Mrs. Russell Gardner of Arlington Heights will speak this evening.

Mrs. Schroeder said the LWV is prepared to either present objective explanation of the ballot or appear to explain its statewide opposition to the Revenue Amendment's approval.

THE ILLINOIS League of Women Voters after a thorough study of state revenue needs and ways to meet it, has decided to urge a "No" vote on the amendment.

Mrs. Schroeder has available for free distribution a reprint from the state LWV newsletter, "The Illinois Voter," explaining the proposed Revenue Article changes.

Another pamphlet, "Questions and Answers on the Revenue Blue Ballot," is also available for persons interested in the LWV's reasons for opposing the amendment. (ACME

Two Graduates Get Candy Striper Caps

Two Willowbrook High School graduate received candy striper caps, recently in the new Deike medical center at Elmhurst Memorial hospital.

Presented with awards in recognition of 300 hours of voluntary service were Beth Brooks and Linda Collingham.

Willowbrook girls who also were recognized for services are Joan Friton, Jackie Heideman, Peggy Klein, Cindy Weber, Joan Wilson, and Kathy Brinkman, all seniors. Another graduate, Jo Ann Giwoyna, also won this honor.

APPLICATIONS for the candy stripe program at the hospital are accepted throughout the year, with training programs in session in June and December.

To be eligible, girls have to be 16 years old and maintain a satisfactory scholastic average during the school year. Applications must be signed by a parent.

After the girls are chosen by a personal interview, they go through an orientation training program before being assigned a job at the hospital.

Candy stripers are required to give a minimum of eight hours of volunteer services during the school year and attend medical career conferences weekly. (11Y

Two Graduates Get Candy Striper Caps

Two Willowbrook High School graduate received candy striper caps, recently in the new Deike medical center at Elmhurst Memorial hospital.

Presented with awards in recognition of 300 hours of voluntary service were Beth Brooks and Linda Collingham.

Willowbrook girls who also were recognized for services are Joan Friton, Jackie Heideman, Peggy Klein, Cindy Weber, Joan Wilson, and Kathy Brinkman, all seniors. Another graduate, Jo Ann Giwoyna, also won this honor.

APPLICATIONS for the candy stripe program at the hospital are accepted throughout the year, with training programs in session in June and December.

To be eligible, girls have to be 16 years old and maintain a satisfactory scholastic average during the school year. Applications must be signed by a parent.

After the girls are chosen by a personal interview, they go through an orientation training program before being assigned a job at the hospital.

Candy stripers are required to give a minimum of eight hours of volunteer services during the school year and attend medical career conferences weekly. (11Y

District 214 Seeks Estimate on Five Year Teaching Costs

What will High School District 214 spend for teachers salaries in the next five years?

That was the key question Monday as the school board's salary committee met in Slichenmyer Administration Center to consider teacher and administrator pay schedules for 1967-68.

Attending the meeting were board members Arthur Aronson, T. Earl Thompson, Richard Bachhuber and Hal Armstrong; Supt. Edward H. Gilbert, business manager Francis Coleman, personnel director Nelson Lowry and Forest View principal Larry Jenness.

COLEMAN was asked to work up five-year cost estimates, using a teachers salary schedule proposed by the District 214 Teachers Association.

When Coleman has the figures ready, the board will meet as a salary committee agan and then set a date for a joint meeting with the Teachers Association salary group.

The proposed schedule calls for salary increases totaling $197,000 in 1967-68. The already budgeted-for increases provide an average raise of about $375 per teacher, with the salary of a beginning bachelor's degree teacher pegged at $5900, a raise of $140 over the current year.

ADOPTION OF the proposed salary has been recommended to the board by both Dr. Gilbert and former superintendent Harold L. Slichenmyer, who retired July 30.

In Monday's free-wheeling discussion, board members also talked over possible ways to provide extra pay — above the schedule levels — for outstanding classroom teachers.

AMONG POSSIBILITIES discussed were:

—Adding a salary "track," as Maine Township's high school district does now, for teachers with a master's degree plus 64 additional hours of college work.

—Providing a range of pay at each salary step.

—Giving the administration authority to hold a poor teacher at last year's salary level or jump outstanding teachers up an extra salary step.

THE SCHOOL DISTRICT now has four "tracks" in its basic teachers' salary schedule for teachers with bachelor's degree, master's degree, master's plus 32 hours of work, and Ph.D.

Board exploration of salary schedule with some built-in flexibility was urged by Jenness, who noted that under the present schedule there is a levelling off of classroom teachers pay at "around age 38 or 39."

POSSIBLE Teachers Association opposition to schedule flexibility was discussed.

Dr. Gilbert noted that all professional teachers groups — the National Education Association and the American Federation of Teachers alike — oppose merit pay.

Jenness told the board he considered flexible pay proposals discussed by the board Monday to represent "a compromise" between the district's past step-by-step pay schedules and merit pay. (ACME

Linda Nitz, S Elk Grove Road, celebrated her 15th birthday Sept. 23 with a party for Janet, Joyce, Kathy and Lori Olson, Kathy Ogino and sister, Jackie.

She celebrated in the evening with a dinner party. Her guests were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Newlands of Chicago and Joseph Nitz of Elk Grove; aunts, Mrs. Eleanor Newlands and Mrs. John Clancy of Chicago; and cousins, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Moffett, who recently moved here from California.

On Sunday Joseph Nitz took the John Nitz family to Sweden House in Arlington Heights for dinner.

MRS. SIGNE Larson of Chicago is visiting her son and family, the Roy Larsons, S. Busse Road.

Get well wishes go to Julia Luczak, S Arlington Heights Road, home after undergoing surgery in Edgewater Hospital, and to Georgette Dunker, Elayne Court.

This week the Otto Gorgius family, S. Busse Road, attended two wedding anniversary parties. On Tuesday Mrs. Gorgius and Laurie drove to Lake Villa to attend a special mass at Prince of Peace Church for the 55th wedding anniversary of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Wilhelm. Family and friends later gathered at the Sand Lake home of the Wilhelms for brunch.

ON SATURDAY Mr. and Mrs. Gorgius attended a surprise 25th anniversary party given by Joanne Dinella and Eleanor Scalzo, both of Chicago, and Jeannette Dinella of Mount Prospect, for Loraine's cousins, the Ed Dinellas, at their home in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Zibrat of Cape Cod, Mass., spent four days visiting her sister and family, the George Nasons, S. Busse Road. Friday evening they all dined at Plentywood Farm in Bensenville.

Birthday greetings this week to Robert Lee, Buddy Kirkwood, Thomas Mueller, Karen Wulff, Charles Zoia, Charles Kirkwood, Mary Jane Smalenberger, Beth Hughes, Lorence Bartelt, Scott Gozdecki, Susan Wickline and Kay Skoufas.

On October 8 a happy anniversary wish goes to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Di Domenico.

COLONIAL HEIGHTS

The James McAuliffs, Myrtle Drive, have welcomed another grandchild, Kristen, infant daughter of the Kenneth Gidewalls of Clarendon Hills. While his mother and sister were in the hospital in Hinsdale, Kenton, 22-months, stayed with the McAuliffs for two weeks.

Bobbie (Roberta) Howerton, Myrtle Drive, had a special birthday celebration this year when she and her girl friend, Nancy Paturalski of Arlington Heights left from O'Hare Field on Sept. 23. The girls spent ten days in the New York City area staying with Nancy's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Paturalski in West Babylon, N. Y. They enjoyed viewing the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State Building and Rockefeller Center.

THE DONALD Daniel family, Estates Drive, hosted a dinner party in their home on Sept. 25. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guskey and their six children from Prospect Heights. Sept. 24 found Barbara and Don enjoying a company retirement party at Dohl's Morton House in Morton Grove for Mr. O. Apple. Thirty couples attended.

Sunday the Daniels picnicked at Schiller Park Forest preserve with the Burt Walledom family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Wunar and Christie, Martha Lane, spent Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Florence, Ala., visiting Robert's father, Joseph Wunar. The 80 degree weather and swimming added to their enjoyment of the trip. Robert found piloting the four-seater Comanche Piper plane on the trip home an exciting experience.

Suburbia Today

A happy marriage is one in which the husband notices an improvement in his wife's cooking as the years go by.

Saturday evening the Carl Baardsen family, Estates Drive, were guests of the Joseph Howvers in Oak Lawn. On Sunday Mrs. Joseph Paylo and children visited the Baardsens and the children enjoyed an outing in Busse Woods. The elks were the main attraction of the afternoon.

ON SUNDAY Mrs. Dave Anderson, Kim Avenue, visited Mrs. Theresa Drelicharz of Des Plaines in Holy Family Hospital, where she is recuperating from recent surgery. Steven, Kenneth and Mr. Anderson enjoyed seeing "Born Free" and "Singing Nun" at the Cinema Sunday afternoon.

The John Long family, Martha Lane, spent the weekend with the Dan Sarenak family in northern Wisconsin. They helped close up the Sarenak summer home at Chetek and caught a lot of fish. The Longs especially enjoyed seeing the magnificent autumn colors of the trees.

Mrs. Frank J. Lowe, Martha Lane, and Mrs. Frank McCleer and Mrs. O. Page, both of Crestwood Drive, enjoyed watching Sears models present the latest in attire Wednesday, evening, when the Women's Club of Our Lady of the Wayside Church in Arlington Heights presented "Trunk Full of Fashions" at Flick-Reedy in Bensenville.

Danny, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Neitzel Jr., Martha Lane, had a quiet fifth birthday Sept. 23, as he had spent the previous day in Northwest Hospital with a tonsillectomy. After a quick recovery Danny enjoyed a belated party at his home Oct. 1 for his playmates, Laura and Randy Pagliuca, Kevin Lowe, Bobby Cameron and Margaret Hunter.

2 Bus Contracts Up For Approval

Bus contracts will be up for approval at High School District 214's board meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Slichenmyer Administration Center, 799 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Drafts of the two contracts—with Davidsmeyer Bus Service and Cook County School Bus Co.—are being circulated this week to school board members.

Awarding of a transportation contract to Davidsmeyer, who hauls Elk Grove High School students, was approved this summer. The Cook County Co. contract is an addendum to one previously held with the bus company. It includes expanded definitions of bus service terms and revised requirements for reimbursement to the school district when busses are late or are not supplied in the agreed-upon numbers.

THE SCHOOL BOARD also will be asked to approve a policy permitting exchange of high school district teachers with other schools in the United States or abroad.

Dr. Edward H. Gilbert, superintendent, said suggestion of the policy was spurred by a high school art teacher's request for permission to apply for a foreign exchange.

Representatives of the architectural firm of Berger Kelley Unteed and Associates will attend the meeting.

They will recommend awarding of bids for blacktopping the driveway area in front of the new Prospect High School fieldhouse foyer.

The contract for the blacktopping is now held by John Lindstrom, whose firm is building the foyer, but both Lindstrom and the architects believe heavier blacktopping is needed for the driveway. (ACME

Notes from Arlington Acres

Two new families being made to feel at home in Arlington Acres are the newly wed Haberichters, Bill and Janet, now a home at 512 S. Prindle. Bill is with Lauterburg and Oehler.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Shorr moved from Chicago to a home at 509 S. Forrest. Their children are Tammy, 4, and Bobby, 3.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lucchesi, 408 S. Forrest, marked their 46th wedding anniversary Sept. 30. The celebration was kept very simple, in spite of the fact that it was also Mrs. Lucchesi's birthday.

Other anniversary celebrants included Mr. and Mrs. H. Bruce Rasmussen, 432 S. Waterman, married 32 years Sept. 26, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schneider, 424 S. Prindle, who took note of their Sept. 27 wedding date by dining in the Loop with friends from Evanston.

The Schneiders' daughter, Shelley, extended her best wishes in person, while their twin sons, Ed and George, sent greetings from Macomb, where they are sophomores at Western Illinois. They were remembered, too, by their "other son" Bill Henry, with the Marines on Okinawa, who at the same time advised them that he has applied for a transfer to Viet Nam.

MR. AND MRS. Stanley Merchant, 513 S. Forrest, are passing on the news of a letter from former next door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Hulse, who have found the house they hoped for in Lexington, Ky., and feel they will enjoy the new surroundings.

Dennis Wendt, son of the Larry Wendts, 2023 E. Grove, is happy to share his third birthday, Sept. 24, and all future birthday parties with his new sister, Julie Michele, whom his mother just brought home from the hospital.

The Sept. 29 birthday of Mike Dombrow, 428 S. Prindle, was celebrated at a quiet dinner at home, marred only by the absence of an older brother, Greg and his wife.

The latest news on the young Dombrows comes from Ft. Bragg, where Greg, as a member of the airborne division, has been engaged in a "Blue Chip" demonstration of jumping for a group of VIP's.

Connie Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schultz, 528 S. Waterman, celebrated her 15th birthday Sept. 26 at a dinner for the immediate family.

Connie's dad is currently spending several days in Northwest Community Hospital undergoing tests.

A happy birthday was wished to Margie Bruce, 441 S. Gibbons, at a get-together of several co-workers after office hours last Wednesday.

KEVIN O'DONNELL, son of the Raymond O'Donnells, 405 S. Gibbons, celebrated his 17th birthday Sept. 29 by organizing a scavenger hunt Saturday evening for two dozen friends. The hunters returned to the O'Donnell home to compare loot and to enjoy snacks and music.

The Birthday Club, in compensating for the dearth of "causes celebre" in the past two months, held two parties within one week. Wednesday of last week Mrs. Ron Brown was hostess to the members in honor of the Sept. 23 birthday of Mrs. Robert Novy, who in turn gave a like party this Wednesday for Mrs. John Brunsfeld for her Sept. 26 birthday. All parties involved, hostesses, guests of honor and guests are residents of the 400 block S. Phelps.

Two area fishermen, Roy Stoehr, 441 S. Prindle and Frank Marshall, 432 S. Forrest, took off Thursday evening with Al May of Hawthorn Woods and Howard Schultz of Des Plaines for a four-day fishing excursion at Stoddard, Wis. Although their luck ran spotty, they made enough of a catch to supply themselves during their stay and to bring some home to prove their prowess.

L. Q. YOWELL, 441 S. Forrest, president of the Community Council, acted as moderator at the general meeting Thursday evening to discuss the pros and cons of village government as opposed to city government for Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Eevrett Needleman, 422 S. Gibbons, gave a coffee a week ago Wednesday evening to introduce several new neighbors to women in the immediate area. Guests living in the boundaries of Arlington Acres included Catherine O'Donnell, Eloise Brittain, Mary Ann Switzer, Dorothy Ahrens, Arlyn Miner, Lorraine Mertens, Carol Siebold, Mayme Ehlen and Peggy Bruce, all of whom live in the 400 block S. Gibbons. (A

53 Appointed to School Citizens Advisory Body

Fifty-three Mount Prospect residents were appointed Monday to sub-committees of the newly-created Citizens' Advisory Committee for Mount Prospect School District 57.

The appointments were made by Frank Jantac, committee chairman. A former school board president, Jantac was appointed to this position last week by the current president, William Krampert.

Also at Monday's meeting, the school board officially asked the committee to "assist the board in developing facilities and financial plans for the district."

Filling out the 70-member committee are the seven school board members and the 10 school administrators.

JANTAC NAMED the following sub-committee chairmen: Mrs. R. C. Becker, enrollment; Eugene Trandel, buildings; Harold Gulliksen, finance; and Mr. and Mrs. U. H. Yates, public relations.

Members of the enrollment committee are Rame Bull, Mrs. Glenn Feifarek, Theodore Francsis, John Gatto, Henry Graef, Mrs. C. McCabe, Mrs. Harold McNabb, Robert Morgan, Mrs. W. R. Mottweiler, Jr., Robert Nordli, John Page, Mrs. Willis Proudfoot, Robert Russell, Eric Sahlberg, and Mrs. Robert Voigtmann.

Serving on the building committee are Wade Abbott, Robert E. Anderson, Andrew Bootz, George R. Brauchle, Don B. Carson, Stephen Caruso, Robert DiVall, Richard Ferguson, Thomas Grafton, Jr., Edward Hofert, William McElligat, Mrs. Charles A. Nelson, Fred Reimann, Robert Spotswood, Ralph Walberg, Robert T. Wood, and Malcolm Young.

Finance committee members are William Ames, Donald Bartlett, Lester Brown, J. C. Busenhart, George R. Busse, Robert Gewecke, Mrs. Charles B. Green, David Hanna, Roger Johnston, Vernon McMurry, Mrs. William Reinhardt, Mrs. Richard Rehusch, Austin Ridenour, Mrs. Leo Rotelli, James Ruff, Mrs. Richard Schultz, Mrs. Carleton Shaffer, and Mrs. J. P. Trottier, Jr.

MEMBERS OF the public relations committee are Mrs. Walter Borg, Jr., Mrs. Steve Daich, Mrs. Donald Elmore, Mrs. Richard Ferguson, Mrs. James French, Mrs. Lee Gunter, Jr., Mrs. Ludwig Hirz, Mrs. Philo Kane, Jr., Robert Kauth, Mrs. Charles Kimball, Mrs. Joseph Marsiglia, George Reiter, and Mrs. Roy Zander.

Krampert said, "This committee represents a cross section of every area and facet of the community to the best of my ability." It includes representatives from each school and from many organizations in the community.

Last week Krampert recruited the committee members from lists of names submitted to him by school principals and school board members. He termed the response "extremely gratifying."

Krampert also invited village representatives and the presidents of the seven Mount Prospect homeowner associations to attend Monday's meeting. This was the organizational meeting of the committee. It followed the regular school board meeting.

"Anyone else interested in serving on a committee is welcome to let us know," he added. (M

Teacher Group Holds Dinner

The River Trails Education Association (RTEA) hosted a dinner meeting Thursday, to welcome new teachers to School District 26.

Almost 75 faculty members attended the affair, held at the River Trails Junior High School. Miss Madalyn Bernath was in charge of the dinner which preceded the business meeting.

FRED THAYER, president of the association, introduced the officers for the current year. They include Mary Belle Jarrett, president elect; Kay Lonsby, treasurer, and Dale Rosenfield, secretary.

Miss Lonsby organized and introduced a series of satirical skits and songs which were presented by members of the faculty. (M(G

Chest Pains

John Sidor, 65, of Norridge, complained of chest pains while approaching the 17th tee at Mount Prospect Country Club Sunday afternoon and was rushed to Holy Family Hospital in the fire department ambulance.

Eagle Scout Award Made To Knudsen

After participating in Scouting in Texas and California, Kris Knudsen of 932 Tower Drive, Mount Prospect, recently earned his Eagle Scout award as a member of troop 155, sponsored by the Lincoln School PTA.

The Eagle award was presented at court of honor ceremonies conducted by Scout officials.

KRIS ENTERED the Boy Scout program in Houston, Texas, in 1961. He continued through the ranks in two troops in Fresno, Calif., before his family moved to Mount Prospect three years ago.

He has served as a patrol leader, summer camp leader and as an aid in junior leader training while working for the 21 merit badges needed to attain Eagle ranking. His brother, Rick, earned ranking earlier this year.

Kris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Knudsen. (M

Tire Stolen

Notes from Arlington Acres

Two new families being made to feel at home in Arlington Acres are the newly wed Haberichters, Bill and Janet, now a home at 512 S. Prindle. Bill is with Lauterburg and Oehler.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Shorr moved from Chicago to a home at 509 S. Forrest. Their children are Tammy, 4, and Bobby, 3.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lucchesi, 408 S. Forrest, marked their 46th wedding anniversary Sept. 30. The celebration was kept very simple, in spite of the fact that it was also Mrs. Lucchesi's birthday.

Other anniversary celebrants included Mr. and Mrs. H. Bruce Rasmussen, 432 S. Waterman, married 32 years Sept. 26, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schneider, 424 S. Prindle, who took note of their Sept. 27 wedding date by dining in the Loop with friends from Evanston.

The Schneiders' daughter, Shelley, extended her best wishes in person, while their twin sons, Ed and George, sent greetings from Macomb, where they are sophomores at Western Illinois. They were remembered, too, by their "other son" Bill Henry, with the Marines on Okinawa, who at the same time advised them that he has applied for a transfer to Viet Nam.

MR. AND MRS. Stanley Merchant, 513 S. Forrest, are passing on the news of a letter from former next door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Hulse, who have found the house they hoped for in Lexington, Ky., and feel they will enjoy the new surroundings.

Dennis Wendt, son of the Larry Wendts, 2023 E. Grove, is happy to share his third birthday, Sept. 24, and all future birthday parties with his new sister, Julie Michele, whom his mother just brought home from the hospital.

The Sept. 29 birthday of Mike Dombrow, 428 S. Prindle, was celebrated at a quiet dinner at home, marred only by the absence of an older brother, Greg and his wife.

The latest news on the young Dombrows comes from Ft. Bragg, where Greg, as a member of the airborne division, has been engaged in a "Blue Chip" demonstration of jumping for a group of VIP's.

Connie Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schultz, 528 S. Waterman, celebrated her 15th birthday Sept. 26 at a dinner for the immediate family.

Connie's dad is currently spending several days in Northwest Community Hospital undergoing tests.

A happy birthday was wished to Margie Bruce, 441 S. Gibbons, at a get-together of several co-workers after office hours last Wednesday.

KEVIN O'DONNELL, son of the Raymond O'Donnells, 405 S. Gibbons, celebrated his 17th birthday Sept. 29 by organizing a scavenger hunt Saturday evening for two dozen friends. The hunters returned to the O'Donnell home to compare loot and to enjoy snacks and music.

The Birthday Club, in compensating for the dearth of "causes celebre" in the past two months, held two parties within one week. Wednesday of last week Mrs. Ron Brown was hostess to the members in honor of the Sept. 23 birthday of Mrs. Robert Novy, who in turn gave a like party this Wednesday for Mrs. John Brunsfeld for her Sept. 26 birthday. All parties involved, hostesses, guests of honor and guests are residents of the 400 block S. Phelps.

Two area fishermen, Roy Stoehr, 441 S. Prindle and Frank Marshall, 432 S. Forrest, took off Thursday evening with Al May of Hawthorn Woods and Howard Schultz of Des Plaines for a four-day fishing excursion at Stoddard, Wis. Although their luck ran spotty, they made enough of a catch to supply themselves during their stay and to bring some home to prove their prowess.

L. Q. YOWELL, 441 S. Forrest, president of the Community Council, acted as moderator at the general meeting Thursday evening to discuss the pros and cons of village government as opposed to city government for Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Eevrett Needleman, 422 S. Gibbons, gave a coffee a week ago Wednesday evening to introduce several new neighbors to women in the immediate area. Guests living in the boundaries of Arlington Acres included Catherine O'Donnell, Eloise Brittain, Mary Ann Switzer, Dorothy Ahrens, Arlyn Miner, Lorraine Mertens, Carol Siebold, Mayme Ehlen and Peggy Bruce, all of whom live in the 400 block S. Gibbons. (A

VIRGINIA TERRACE

Jack and Irene Kennedy, 1424 N. Illinois, returned Friday from a three-week vacation in the West. Most of the vacation was spent in California, where the Kennedys visited San Francisco and Los Angeles. Two highlights included visiting the set of "Beverly Hillbillies" (a friend of the family works on the set), and seeing "Hollywood Palace" being taped for future TV showing. A four-day stay in Tucson was also enjoyed by the couple.

A surprise 25th wedding anniversary party was given for Dom and Mary Massa, 1710 W. Olive, on Sunday. Instrumental in bringing more than 30 relatives together for the party were Dom's sisters, Flora Riva and Lena Obert, both of Chicago. Among the guests were Dom's brother and wife, the George Massas of Edwardsville, Ill. Others came from the Chicago area. Carl Massa, of Rolling Meadows, and Kenny Massa also helped their parents celebrate.

James Patrick, son of the Jack Brahms, 1401 N. Chicago, was baptized last Sunday, at St. James Catholic Church. Sponsors for James were his uncle, James Brahm of Warwick, R.I., and his aunt, Patricia Bichl of Chicago. A baptismal party will be given at a future date.

ATTENDING A wedding in Flossmoor Saturday were Ralph and Barbara Wiederhold, 1322 N. Chicago. The groom was a co-worker of Ralph. The Wiederholds also attended the reception at Cherry Hill Country Club.

While their parents attended the wedding, the Wiederhold children visited their grandparents, the W. H. Alexanders, in Park Ridge. Kyle and his grandfather attended the Northwestern football game.

Saturday night Richard and Kathy Krause, 1418 N. Illinois, helped friends celebrate their wedding anniversary. They went to the Playboy club in Chicago after first having dinner at Angelo's in Niles.

Teddy Misch, son of the Bill Misches, 1329 N. Wilke, celebrated his fifth birthday at an after-school party on Sept. 29. Party-goers included Tom Shellander, Jimmy and Paul Platte, Michael Duda, Wayne Herndon, and Bill Handley.

SUNDAY A family party was given in Teddy's honor. Attending were his grandparents, the Vernon Misches of Rolling Meadows; his great-grandmother, Mrs. George Mitchell of Chicago; and his aunt, uncle, and two cousins, the Clayton Bebber family of Wonder Lake.

Bob and Mary Chernesky and children, Kathy, Susan, and Tom, 1228 N. Chicago, spent from Thursday to Sunday vacationing at Wisconsin Dells. While at the Dells, Susan Chernesky celebrated her fourth birthday, which was Oct. 2.

Beginning the Park District playschool at Hasbrook Park on Tuesday were Chrissie Murphy, Bobby Buonincontro, Michelle Landry, Denise Roser, Tom Shellander, Nicky and Karen Karavatos, and Vicki Gleeson.

The Terrace bids farewell to George and Patty Edwards and sons, Glenn and Gary. The Edwardses moved from 1200 N. Chicago toHoffman Estates on Sept. 25. They had lived in the Terrace for two years.

ON SATURDAY, Sept. 24, Paul and Jan Krewer, 1256 N. Illinois, went to a party at the home of a family friend in Lincolnwood. There they saw many friends of high school days whom they hadn't seen for some time. The following day, the Ronald Leavitts of Lincolnwood visited the Krewers.

Lisa Sheets, daughter of the Glenn Sheetses, 1421 N. Wilke, began classes at the Village Nursery School Wednesday.

Arriving to spend several days with the Bob Nelsons, 1251 N. Race, were Bob's sister and husband, the Paul Smiths of Erie, Pa. The Smiths' son graduated Friday from Great Lakes. They attended the ceremonies and then returned to Arlington to vacation.

Jim Murphy, 1326 N. Chicago, was in a party of football fans who attended the Northwestern vs. Notre Dame game Saturday.

SPENDING THE weekend in Lexington, Ky., were Rich and Judy Koopman, 1216 N. Chicago. On Saturday the Koopmans attended the wedding of Jim Mott, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Mott of Mount Prospect, and Betty Shelton of Kentucky. Rich was a member of the wedding party.

Celebrating his second birthday Oct. 1 was Paul Turlo, son of the Julius Turlos, 1205 N. Illinois. Helping Paul celebrate were his half-brother, Chester, Chester's girl friend, Suzanne, and Paul's younger brother, Peter.

Dianna Salzman, daughter of the Art Salzmans, 1215 N. Wilke, celebrated her second birthday at a family party Saturday. She was 2 Sept. 29. Enjoying a belated celebration of his third birthday was brother, Steven, who was 3 Aug. 5. Guests were an aunt, uncle, and cousins, the David Wolinskys of Morton Grove. Older brother, Robby, was also part of the celebration.

DURING THE past week the Bill Joneses have entered their Afghan hound in two dog shows and have celebrated two family birthdays. On Sept. 24 their dog took second place in Open Dog at the Fox River Valley Kennel Club show at the Quaker Oats Research Farm in Barrington. Last Sunday the dog placed very high in a match at Rock Falls. He placed first in best of breed and took second place honors in the competition of all hounds; 11 breeds were represented.

Bill Jones celebrated his birthday Sept. 25. Freya's father, Charles Peterson of Lake Forest, came to help the family celebrate. On Sept. 27, the Jones family went to Chicago to the home of Bill's parents, the George Wilhelms, where they celebrated his mother's birthday. Tuesday, Bill's parents moved to Lighthouse Point, Fla.

Werner and Leona Becker, 1440 N. Race, went to Lodi, Wis., Sunday to visit the Neil Walters, Leona's niece and family. Jeff Walter celebrated his sixth birthday that day. The family lived in Arlington before moving to Lodi. A number of relatives and friends from Arlington Heights went to help Jeff celebrate.

On Sunday, Sept. 25, John and Bonnie Carlson, 1327 N. Illinois, and the Bill Poole family, 1329 N. Chicago, went to Chicago, where they toured the Shedd Aquarium and Field Museum.

On Thursday Bonnie celebrated her birthday at a family party given in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Poole. (A

FROM RIDGE PARK

To celebrate Greg's 12th birthday, Ronnie and Dick Lanzon took Greg and his friend, David Jenkins, to Brazer's for dinner Sept. 26 followed by cake and ice cream at 814 N. Patton.

The David Jenkins' were at the Lanzons' home Sept. 29 for coffee and cake to help celebrate Billy's first birthday.

The Les Carlsons, 812 N. Ridge, held a family celebration Sept. 13 for Coralee's seventh birthday. On the 17th, a children's party was held for the occasion. Guests included Susie Ringel, Coreen Sundquist, Barbara Bensinger, Sandy Elenz, Lisa Jordan and Arlinda Slimer.

Sunday the Carlson family celebrated Danette's birthday with the assistance of Myrtle Jessogne and her daughters, Debbie and Diana, of Arlington Heights.

BOBBY JENSEN was treated to dinner at the Red Balloon by his parents, Vern and Gwen, for his 15th birthday. The Jensens live at 935 N. Kasper.

The George Wojtkiewiczs, 920 N. Ridge, and the Norb Lejas of Arlington Heights celebrated their wedding anniversaries together with dinner at the William Tell Restaurant in Chicago on Oct. 1.

A family celebration was held at 1003 N. Kennicott, home of the Al Kleins, on Sept. 23 for Steve's 11th birthday.

The William Lees, 1012 N. Ridge, are enjoying a visit with their son, Bill, who is home for two weeks, on leave from his duties in the Army. When his stay is over, he will embark for Viet Nam.

Bill arrived home too late to join the family at the celebration honoring his brother, John, who was 5 Sept. 14.

Games and refreshments helped make Christopher Marquis' sixth birthday a success Sept. 24. Guests ringing the doorbell at 824 N. Patton were Mark Hawkinson, Ronald Kujala, Johnny Korti and Doug Lanzon.

On Oct. 2, Pat and Donald Marquis were guests of Ruck Steger for brunch at the Exmoor Country Club in Highland Park.

A FIRST BIRTHDAY was celebrated at the Henry Szymanski home, 1005 N. Illinois, for Margaret Helen on Sept. 17. Guests included her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Szymanski Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bazquez, and great-grandmother, Mrs. Anna Szymanski, all of Chicago, aunts, uncles and cousins and close friends from Sycamore, the LeRoy Anderson family and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McConnell.

The Charles Toots, 901 N. Princeton, entertained with a picnic dinner Sept. 6 for the sixth birthday of their son, Christopher, with 14 of his friends attending.

This past weekend the family went to Rockford, Mich., where they stayed with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Conner. Besides visiting, they picked apples and tagged Christmas trees, including choosing their own tree for this year.

There was a full house at the Ronald Gierlachs', 922 N. Princeton, on Oct. 4. The twins, Edward and Lisa, were 2 and arriving with congratulations were their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cholke of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gierlach of Skokie, great-grandmother, Mrs. Pauline Lowe of Chicago, aunts and uncles the Robert Cholkes of River Grove and the Richard Habers of Chicago, and great-aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gierlach of Skokie.

A speedy recovery is wished for Frank Veseky, 927 N. Kaspar, who is in Northwest Community Hospital with pneumonia. He is missed very much especially by the children at Olive School, as he has been the crossing guard at Arlington Heights Road and Olive for nine years.

No longer living at 1015 N. Kaspar are the Philip Sylvesters. Their new address is 1716 W. Frederick.

FROM SHERWOOD

The annual Sherwood Association annual meeting was held at the home of the past president, Richard Bronwell, 1117 Burgoyne Road on Sept. 25 with 65 people attending. After taking up old business, the members elected the new board for the coming year. (A

Air Force 'Really Rough!'

The only Arlington Heights girl to choose an Air Force career this year, Gloria Bisman, reports home that it's really rough, but she loves it.

Gloria, 18, was graduated from Forest View High School last June and is now in basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. She will get her next assignment in about two weeks.

"Gloria wanted to do something worthwhile other than go to college," her mother, Mrs. Robert Duncan, 2234 Goebbert Road, explained. "She considered all branches of the military and finally decided to join the WAF's because they set the highest requirements."

"WE'RE very proud of her," Mrs. Duncan continued, noting that Gloria received her first stripe just last week.

Gloria's letter to her mother described the training program at the Texas base.

"I'm going to tell you the truth," the young WAF wrote, "It is really rough. One couldn't possibly imagine it unless he went through it! At times I really hate it, but there are times I feel so proud and really love it . . . I will be proud to say I am working for my country . . ." (A

Priest Offers Prescription for Survival in Modern Age

by SALLY LEIGHTON

About 300 persons Tuesday heard the Rev. John W. Stafford, offer a strong but measured prescription for survival in an ecumenical age—the attitudes of patience, humility and love.

Opening a series of adult education features at St. Viator High School Tuesday with a talk entitled "The Need For Psychological Adjustment To A New Understanding Of Christianity," Fr. Stafford described the times:

"Our age is an age of exploration, in the kingdom of the mind as well as in the vast reaches of the material world . . . It would be unlikely, therefore, that in an age of scrutiny, Christianity would not be attempting a more complete understanding of itself."

Citing the long and careful efforts of Protestants, Anglicans, and Orthodox to rethink their traditional positions, as well as the profound impact of the second Ecumenical Council on the world, Fr. Stafford emphasized the need to adjust to changes.

Growing out of shared insights and separate studies have been some ideas Christians feel are dangerous, such as "situation ethics," he said. This concept should hold no fears, the speaker held, for the Christian who has "internalized" the law of love, so that his actions grow out of mature morality rather than external, rote law.

"One suspects," he explained, "that all the scribes and pharisees did not live in the time of Our Lord. They have been with us over the centuries, and a few are still around who take a wooden and almost inhuman view of law . . . whose observance will make men happy or good or at least decent."

Speaking with great optimism of the fruits of dialogue already apparent from limited efforts, Fr. Stafford stressed the need for evergrowing conversations between all men of good will if the vision of The Ecumenical Council is to reach all levels.

In addition to such searching, Fr. Stafford saw as crucial in bringing about change the direct involvement of many Christians in "the burning issues of our day—poverty, discrimination, the systematic denial of the privileges due every human being, and all manner of crime against justice or charity." This, he feels, has forced "a rethinking of notions of Christianity which would limit it to going to Church on Sunday and to the avoidance of major crimes like adultery, murder, and armed robbery."

"There is also today a change in the concept of authority," said Fr. Stafford, the "head of 200 Viatorians. "It is now looked on more as a service than a privilege . . . not the totalitarian authority of a dictator who bears no relation to Christ. The Spirit breathes where he will, and it is now seen that His breathing is not limited to those in the seats of the mighty."

Patience is primary in his estimation because long-standing ills cannot be changed overnight. Humility is necessary because faced with the mystery of its limitations a great mind must be humbler, he said. The sense of love which, as he noted, many felt as the special gift of Pope John to the world, has always been the sign of Christians. "The 'good news' must be lived in love."

After the lecture, a spirited series of questions ensued ranging from queries on the availability of a Bible for use by the three major faiths, to the problems of dealing with children "who come home from Catholic institutions questioning dogma their parents learned as children."

The Viatorian Fathers' series, "New Horizons" will continue on Tuesday, Oct. 11, with the film, "Lonely Are The Brave," which will be followed by group discussion. Season tickets for the series of 13 events are $6 a person, or $1 per session. (A

$1 Million Grant OKd for Teachers

Elk Grove School District 59 has a promise of approximately $1 million in federal funds to finance three years of operation of a teacher training and development center.

The school district will begin its first year's operation in January with an estimated $270,000, Mrs. Gloria Kinney, district 59 project director announced Monday. An annual budget of $400,000 will be "negotiated" for the second and third years, she said.

The teacher training and development center will demonstrate innovative teaching and give particular training for teachers, administrators, and specialists who become involved in the demonstration program.

MRS. KINNEY'S and Acting Supt. Ludwig Bodzewski's trip last Thursday t the U. S. Office of Education in Washington, D. C. cleared the red tape from the federal funds for this year's operation.

The budget of about $270,000—cut from 9400,000—reflects the lower costs resulting from the later start and the elimination of a program for college student teachers.

Officials in the U. S. Office of Education believe the student teacher program should be financed with funds from the higher education act and not the elementary and secondary education act under which the proposal was made.

A Kettering Foundation grant of $500 will allow continuation of a modified student practice teaching program already started in cooperation with Illinois Chicago Teachers College North, Mrs. Kinney said.

The procedures for evaluation of the project will not be the same as those described in the original proposal or the addendum proposal. Federal officials found the first evaluation proposal inadequate and the seond too ambitious; a middle ground was chosen.

"WE HAVE A few more kinks to iron out," Mrs. Kinney told the school board Monday evening, "but these are minor." The federal office wanted equipment such as printing presses and televisions purchased instead of rented. The district will submit bids on this equipment. Approval of the project then will be back dated to Oct. 1.

Mrs. Kinney, Dr. Joseph Ellis of Northern Illinois University, and Beecham Robinson are assigned to this teacher training and development project. Other staff shifts will be made later, according to Mrs. Kinney.

Mrs. Kinney will begin meeting with elementary and high school superintendents to get their recommendations for members of an advisory group, The advisory group to help with policy and direction will include representation from superintendents, college and university professors, teachers, business and industry personnel, lay people, and Midwest Regional Laboratory staff members.

POSIBLE objection to use of University o Texas personnel in the program did not materialize Mrs. Kinney said. The project probably would use personnel for a locally produced model of team teaching and science teaching as developed at the University of Texas and in a Texas school system.

Dr. Roger Bardwell, former District 59 superintendent, was present Monday when the announcement of the approval of federal funds was made.

"It's a big thrill" to hear of the acceptance, Bardwell said. The project may be one of the biggest ones funded by the federal government, he added.

Bardwell long has held the belief the local school system is in a better position to close the gap between theory and teaching practices.

THE PROPOSAL for the teacher training and development center was made in May. It followed planning financed by a federal grant of approximately $21,000 received in January. Ideas were solicited from educators in local school systems and universities across the nation.

Area school systems and Midwest universities will be involved in this program. (A (M

$2,000 Goal In Lions Club Sale

The Arlington Heights Lions Club will be selling candy to raise funds to help the blind tomorrow and Saurday.

Lion member Victor Beisler said the candy has been purchased by local merchants. The monies from the merchants and the candy sale itself will be combined for the final donation.

Last year the Lions netted $1,700 from the sale. This year's goal is a net minimum of $2,000.

BEISLER LISTED the beneficiaries of the candy sale as: Leader Dogs for the Blind, Hadley School for the Blind, Dialogue Recorded Service for the Blind, Camp Lions for Visually Handicapped Children and local activities for the blind.

Two of the local activities are Wheeling School Program for Visually Handicapped Children and Township High School Fund for Visually Handicapped Children, he said.

Walter Daube, 528 S. Ridge Ave., is chairman of the sale. He is assisted by George Sandy, 515 S. Chestnut Ave., and Georg Stanchfield, 607 E. Orchard Lane. (A Wayne Newton's first religious album for Capitol was inspired by the reaction he received several months ago when he sang Old Rugged Cross during a guest appearance on TV's Bonanza. . .Since the program's initial showing, Wayne has devoted most of his spare time to choosing 11 other religious/inspirational songs for the newly released album titled Old Rugged Cross . . . The 11, in addition to the title song, are It Is No Secret What God Can Do, Somebody Bigger Than You and I, Who At My Door Is Standing, The Gifts of God, Whispering Hope, Just a Closer Walk With Thee, What a Friend We Have in Jesus, Rock of Ages, Take My Hand, Precious Lord, The Power of Prayer and The Lord's Prayer.

Gordon MacRae's first pop-type album in almost two years features the vocalist singing some of today's current hits including two composed by Beatles' John Lennon and Paul McCartney, Yesterday and Michelle . . . Collaborating with MacRae on the album, entitled If She Walked Into My Life, are three of the country's top arranger-conductors: Marian Evans, Norman Leyden and Van Alexander . . . The songs, in addition to those penned by The Beatles and the title tune are Somewhere, Young, and Warm and Wonderful, The Impossible Dream, Strangers in the Night, I Want to Be With You, The Shadow of Your Smile, Dear Heart and Who Can I Turn To?

The Best of the Lettermen is an album that contains exactly what its title describes — the best known and most popular of all the songs The Lettermen have recorded during their career with Capitol . . . Among these are some of the early Lettermen favorites as well as some of their more recent efforts.

VIRGINIA TERRACE

Jack and Irene Kennedy, 1424 N. Illinois, returned Friday from a three-week vacation in the West. Most of the vacation was spent in California, where the Kennedys visited San Francisco and Los Angeles. Two highlights included visiting the set of "Beverly Hillbillies" (a friend of the family works on the set), and seeing "Hollywood Palace" being taped for future TV showing. A four-day stay in Tucson was also enjoyed by the couple.

A surprise 25th wedding anniversary party was given for Dom and Mary Massa, 1710 W. Olive, on Sunday. Instrumental in bringing more than 30 relatives together for the party were Dom's sisters, Flora Riva and Lena Obert, both of Chicago. Among the guests were Dom's brother and wife, the George Massas of Edwardsville, Ill. Others came from the Chicago area. Carl Massa, of Rolling Meadows, and Kenny Massa also helped their parents celebrate.

James Patrick, son of the Jack Brahms, 1401 N. Chicago, was baptized last Sunday, at St. James Catholic Church. Sponsors for James were his uncle, James Brahm of Warwick, R.I., and his aunt, Patricia Bichl of Chicago. A baptismal party will be given at a future date.

ATTENDING A wedding in Flossmoor Saturday were Ralph and Barbara Wiederhold, 1322 N. Chicago. The groom was a co-worker of Ralph. The Wiederholds also attended the reception at Cherry Hill Country Club.

While their parents attended the wedding, the Wiederhold children visited their grandparents, the W. H. Alexanders, in Park Ridge. Kyle and his grandfather attended the Northwestern football game.

Saturday night Richard and Kathy Krause, 1418 N. Illinois, helped friends celebrate their wedding anniversary. They went to the Playboy club in Chicago after first having dinner at Angelo's in Niles.

Teddy Misch, son of the Bill Misches, 1329 N. Wilke, celebrated his fifth birthday at an after-school party on Sept. 29. Party-goers included Tom Shellander, Jimmy and Paul Platte, Michael Duda, Wayne Herndon, and Bill Handley.

SUNDAY A family party was given in Teddy's honor. Attending were his grandparents, the Vernon Misches of Rolling Meadows; his great-grandmother, Mrs. George Mitchell of Chicago; and his aunt, uncle, and two cousins, the Clayton Bebber family of Wonder Lake.

Bob and Mary Chernesky and children, Kathy, Susan, and Tom, 1228 N. Chicago, spent from Thursday to Sunday vacationing at Wisconsin Dells. While at the Dells, Susan Chernesky celebrated her fourth birthday, which was Oct. 2.

Beginning the Park District playschool at Hasbrook Park on Tuesday were Chrissie Murphy, Bobby Buonincontro, Michelle Landry, Denise Roser, Tom Shellander, Nicky and Karen Karavatos, and Vicki Gleeson.

The Terrace bids farewell to George and Patty Edwards and sons, Glenn and Gary. The Edwardses moved from 1200 N. Chicago toHoffman Estates on Sept. 25. They had lived in the Terrace for two years.

ON SATURDAY, Sept. 24, Paul and Jan Krewer, 1256 N. Illinois, went to a party at the home of a family friend in Lincolnwood. There they saw many friends of high school days whom they hadn't seen for some time. The following day, the Ronald Leavitts of Lincolnwood visited the Krewers.

Lisa Sheets, daughter of the Glenn Sheetses, 1421 N. Wilke, began classes at the Village Nursery School Wednesday.

Arriving to spend several days with the Bob Nelsons, 1251 N. Race, were Bob's sister and husband, the Paul Smiths of Erie, Pa. The Smiths' son graduated Friday from Great Lakes. They attended the ceremonies and then returned to Arlington to vacation.

Jim Murphy, 1326 N. Chicago, was in a party of football fans who attended the Northwestern vs. Notre Dame game Saturday.

SPENDING THE weekend in Lexington, Ky., were Rich and Judy Koopman, 1216 N. Chicago. On Saturday the Koopmans attended the wedding of Jim Mott, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Mott of Mount Prospect, and Betty Shelton of Kentucky. Rich was a member of the wedding party.

Celebrating his second birthday Oct. 1 was Paul Turlo, son of the Julius Turlos, 1205 N. Illinois. Helping Paul celebrate were his half-brother, Chester, Chester's girl friend, Suzanne, and Paul's younger brother, Peter.

Dianna Salzman, daughter of the Art Salzmans, 1215 N. Wilke, celebrated her second birthday at a family party Saturday. She was 2 Sept. 29. Enjoying a belated celebration of his third birthday was brother, Steven, who was 3 Aug. 5. Guests were an aunt, uncle, and cousins, the David Wolinskys of Morton Grove. Older brother, Robby, was also part of the celebration.

DURING THE past week the Bill Joneses have entered their Afghan hound in two dog shows and have celebrated two family birthdays. On Sept. 24 their dog took second place in Open Dog at the Fox River Valley Kennel Club show at the Quaker Oats Research Farm in Barrington. Last Sunday the dog placed very high in a match at Rock Falls. He placed first in best of breed and took second place honors in the competition of all hounds; 11 breeds were represented.

Bill Jones celebrated his birthday Sept. 25. Freya's father, Charles Peterson of Lake Forest, came to help the family celebrate. On Sept. 27, the Jones family went to Chicago to the home of Bill's parents, the George Wilhelms, where they celebrated his mother's birthday. Tuesday, Bill's parents moved to Lighthouse Point, Fla.

Werner and Leona Becker, 1440 N. Race, went to Lodi, Wis., Sunday to visit the Neil Walters, Leona's niece and family. Jeff Walter celebrated his sixth birthday that day. The family lived in Arlington before moving to Lodi. A number of relatives and friends from Arlington Heights went to help Jeff celebrate.

On Sunday, Sept. 25, John and Bonnie Carlson, 1327 N. Illinois, and the Bill Poole family, 1329 N. Chicago, went to Chicago, where they toured the Shedd Aquarium and Field Museum.

On Thursday Bonnie celebrated her birthday at a family party given in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Poole. (A

Air Force 'Really Rough!'

The only Arlington Heights girl to choose an Air Force career this year, Gloria Bisman, reports home that it's really rough, but she loves it.

Gloria, 18, was graduated from Forest View High School last June and is now in basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. She will get her next assignment in about two weeks.

"Gloria wanted to do something worthwhile other than go to college," her mother, Mrs. Robert Duncan, 2234 Goebbert Road, explained. "She considered all branches of the military and finally decided to join the WAF's because they set the highest requirements."

"WE'RE very proud of her," Mrs. Duncan continued, noting that Gloria received her first stripe just last week.

Gloria's letter to her mother described the training program at the Texas base.

"I'm going to tell you the truth," the young WAF wrote, "It is really rough. One couldn't possibly imagine it unless he went through it! At times I really hate it, but there are times I feel so proud and really love it . . . I will be proud to say I am working for my country . . ." (A

Priest Offers Prescription for Survival in Modern Age

by SALLY LEIGHTON

About 300 persons Tuesday heard the Rev. John W. Stafford, offer a strong but measured prescription for survival in an ecumenical age—the attitudes of patience, humility and love.

Opening a series of adult education features at St. Viator High School Tuesday with a talk entitled "The Need For Psychological Adjustment To A New Understanding Of Christianity," Fr. Stafford described the times:

"Our age is an age of exploration, in the kingdom of the mind as well as in the vast reaches of the material world . . . It would be unlikely, therefore, that in an age of scrutiny, Christianity would not be attempting a more complete understanding of itself."

Citing the long and careful efforts of Protestants, Anglicans, and Orthodox to rethink their traditional positions, as well as the profound impact of the second Ecumenical Council on the world, Fr. Stafford emphasized the need to adjust to changes.

Growing out of shared insights and separate studies have been some ideas Christians feel are dangerous, such as "situation ethics," he said. Local Youth Could Win $25,000 Prize

A Mount Prospect youth could win $25,000 toward his education or career in an essay contest on peace sponsored by the Mount Prospect Lions Club.

The contest is offering a total of $50,000 in prizes by the Lions International. In addition to the $25,000 first prize, eight semi-final awards of $1,000 each plus travel expenses to the awards presentation will be given.

More than 20,000 local, district and multiple district awards will be given.

W. R. Wingfield, president of the Mount Prospect Lions Club said, "We are hopeful one of our young people will win this world-wide award."

THE CONTEST is open to young people who will be 14 but less than 22 years old as of Jan. 15. The deadline for submitting essays is Dec. 10. The contest's purpose is to develop a formula for world peace.

Entries should be in essay form, not over 5,000 words. Judging will be 75 per cent on content, 10 per cent each on organization and style and five per cent on mechanics.

Three judges from the club will select a winner to be entered in a district contest. District winners will advance to the world finals.

THE FINAL judging will be at the 'Lions International 50th annual convention to be in July, 1967, in Chicago.

Treat Kids to Show As Reading Reward

Live, professional children's theater will be the library "treat" for Mount Prospect children who successfully completed Summer Reading Club requirements.

On Saturday, Oct. 22, the Robin Hood Players will present "The Canterville Ghost," a play about an American family who buys an old, haunted English castle. The drama has been adapted by Darwin Reid Payne from the Oscar Wilde story.

Only children who finished the Summer Reading Club program are eligible to see the show. There are 463 White Rabbits (grades 1-3) and 393 Mad Hatters (grades 4-8) who successfully turned in all their required book reports.

NAMES OF those who qualify will be posted, by schools, in the Mount Prospect Library. A special box office system for distributing tickets has been set up by Mrs. Gladys Ackley, children's librarian.

Box office hours are 3:30-5:30 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, Oct. 10 through 13. In addition, tickets are available from the box office Wednesday, Oct. 12, from 7-9 p.m. Children must present their library cards to get their tickets.

"The Canterville Ghost" will be given at 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. performances Saturday, Oct. 22, at the Central Junior High School gym. Emerson Street doors will open at 8:45 a.m. and 10:15 a.m. that day.

The Robin Hood Players are a Chicago-based group of actors directed by Broadway veteran Bill Silverman. All members of the group have a minimum of five years' professional experience.

"IT'S A GOOD program," said Mrs. Ackley, who expressed enthusiasm about the large number of local children who are eligible to enjoy the show. "This is the library's way of saying we appreciated their participation in the Summer Reading Club program."

This year's SRC, largest in library history, required white rabbits who were in grades 1-3 during the school term to read and report on 10 books. Mad Hatters, who were enrolled in grades 4-8, had a 12-book requirement.

Mrs. Ackley praised the Friends of the Library organization for their help with the summer program, and their supervision of the coming play. Coordinating volunteers were Mrs. Jack Perz, 318 N. Elmhurst Ave., and Mrs. Thor G. Rune, 518 N. Elmhurst.

Woman Injured In 2-Car Crash

Mrs. Ruth M. Gross, 36, of 313 N. School St., Mount Prospect, told police she would see her own doctor when she reported injuries to her neck in a two-car accident at Main Street and Memory Lane Thursday morning.

Mrs. Gross told police she was slowing to make a left turn onto Memory Lane when her car was struck from behind by an auto driven by George R. Kendall, 46, of 1768 Highland Ave., Northbrook. Both cars were southbound on Main Street.

Kendall was ticketed for failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision. (M

F. D. R. GIVES A SPEECH THAT TURNS OUT TO EXPRESS THE REAL PURPOSE—THE REAL MEANING—OF U. S.

Franklin Roosevelt gave a message to Congress Jan. 6, 1941 which became one of the great messages in the history of mankind.

In this message Roosevelt enunciated the Four Freedoms. He said:

1. People should be free to worship God in their own way.
2. People should have freedom of speech.
3. People should be free from want.
4. People should be free from fear.

Roosevelt's purpose in stating the Four Freedoms was to give hope to those caught in World War II. But the Four Freedoms have a deeper significance than that.

If a person from another country—or if an American—should ask what America stands for, the Four Freedoms are the answer; they are what we stand for; they are what we want for ourselves and our children, and our job will always be to do everything we can to perpetuate them.

Fred Reimann, the new principal of Sunset Park School, who also is principal of Lions Park School, will be introduced to the PTA members as will Douglas Williams, assistant principal at Sunset Park.

Mrs. Russell Gardner of the League of Women Voters will speak on the new state revenue article to be voted on Nov. 8.

Refreshments will be served by sixth grade room mothers.

Seal Broken On Box Car

Charles Bruning Co. officials found the door of a box car open and the car's contents protruding through the door when the car was shuttled onto the company's siding last Friday.

The seal had been broken somewhere between Mount Prospect and Two Rivers, Wis., where the Hamilton Manufacturing Co. had loaded the office furniture destined for Bruning Co.

It was not known if any of the office items were missing.

Coats, License Stolen from Car

Frank J. McGann of South Bend, Ind., lost two coats and his drivers license when thieves broke into his car in Mount Prospect last week. McGann told police the car was parked on N. Louis Street. He had his drivers license in the glove compartment, he said. (M

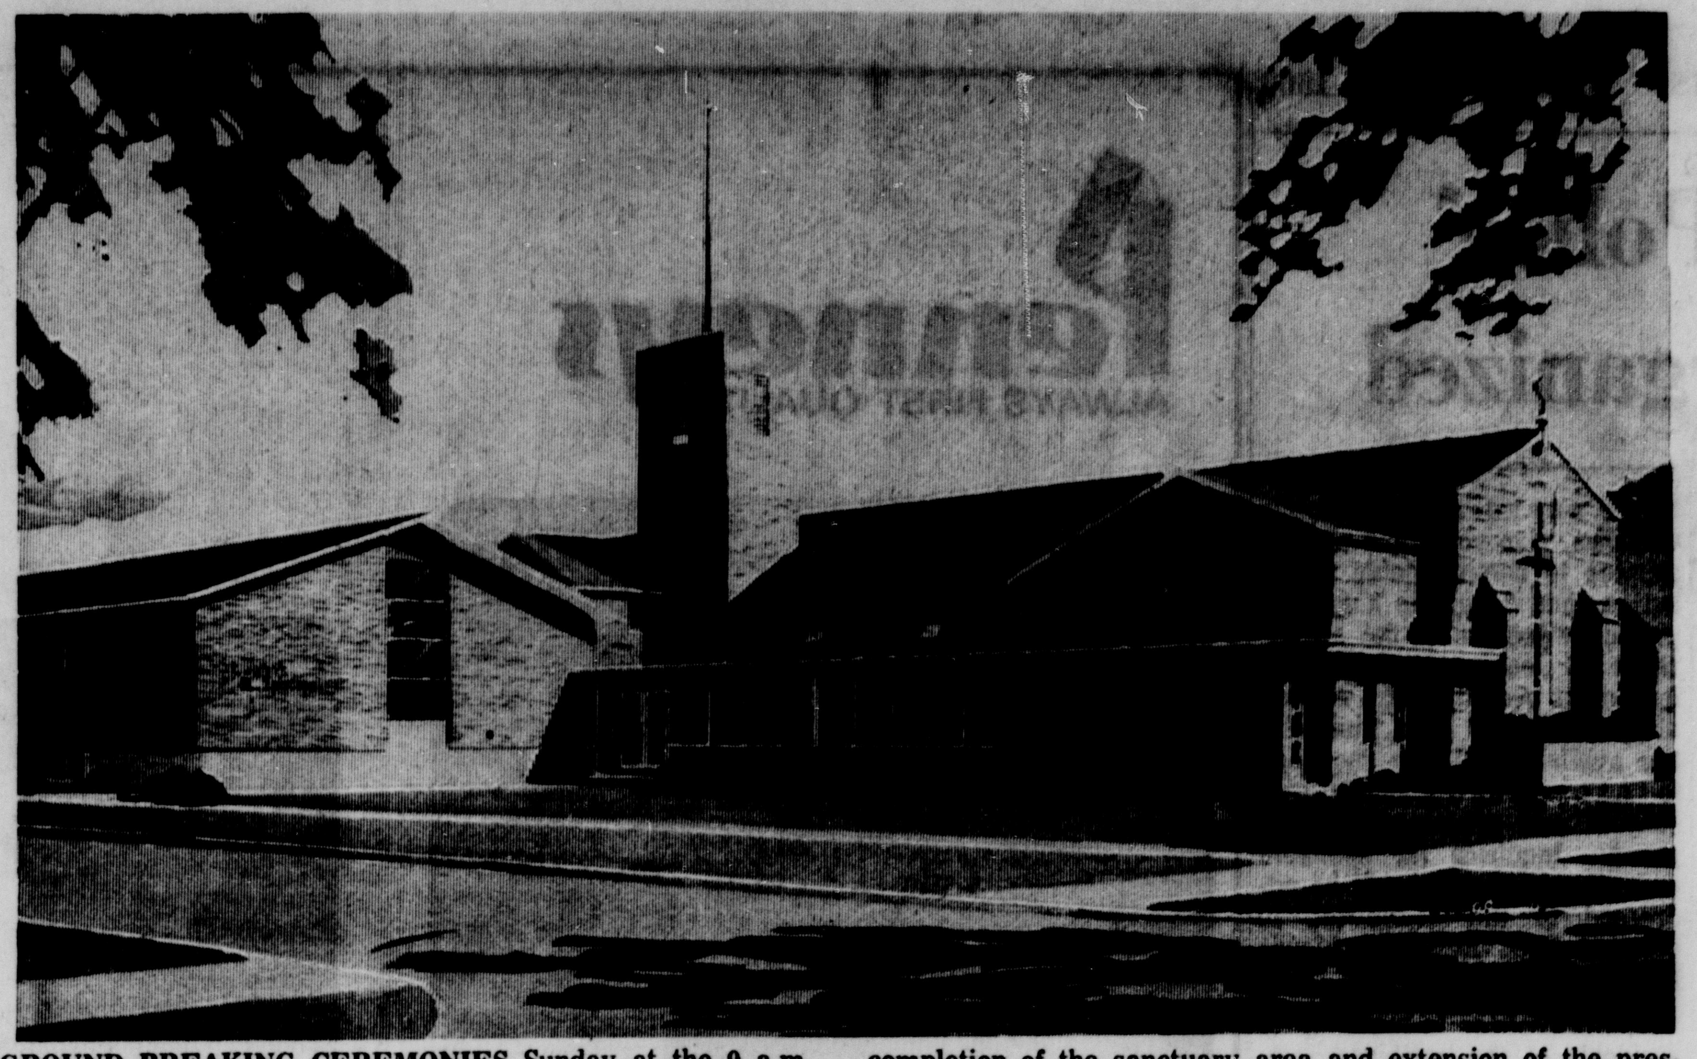
Hold Closed Meeting of Police Dept.

A closed-door meeting with the entire Mount Prospect police department was held Friday in the village hall courtroom by Village Mgr. John Mongan.

Mongan, who was given full authority in hiring and firing all village department heads earlier this year by the village board, refused to reveal what was discussed at the meeting.

Police Chief Newell Esmond said five patrolmen were kept on alert during the meeting to answer any emergency calls.

Many members of the department reported it was an ordinary meeting with department policies outlined by Mongan.



GROUND BREAKING CEREMONIES Sunday at the 9 a.m. Eucharist will mark the beginning of a $30,000 building improvement program at St. John's Episcopal Church, 200 N. Main St., Mount Prospect. Improvements will include a new sacristy area, a choir loft overlooking the sanctuary, completion of the sanctuary area and extension of the present nave windows. These features are the first phase of a master plan designed by Harold R. Lutz and Associates, Chicago, represented by this architect's drawing. Completion is expected in four months.

Pizza Charter

Vend-A-Pizza, Inc., Mount Prospect, has been issued a corporation charter by Secretary of State Paul Powell. Stephen J. Solley and John Flowers are listed as incorporators. They are authorized to issue 50,000 shares of no par value common stock. Correspondent for the firm is Robert F. Meersman, 16 W. Northwest Highway, Mount Prospect.

Registration for Parks on Monday

Registration for three Mount Prospect Park District classes will be held Monday at district offices, 600 See-Gwun Ave., Mount Prospect.

Registration fee is $7.50 for 10 sessions in knitting and adult beginning and advanced art. Classes begin the week following registration. Complete information can be obtained by calling the district office at CL 5-5380.

Man Found Guilty of DWI Charge

Donald L. Prims, 27, of 2101 Quail Lane, Rolling Meadows, was fined $100 and costs by Judge Paul O'Malley in Evanston court Monday after being found guilty on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Prims had been arrested by Mount Prospect police July 23 after his car ran into the back of another vehicle on Rand Road.

He had originally asked for a jury trial and his case was transferred to Evanston. But Monday he waived trial by jury and asked for a bench trial before Judge O'Malley.

Village Atty. Robert Moore prosecuted the case against Prims, with arresting officer James Creamer and patrolman Ray Lessner appearing as witnesses.

The guilty verdict on a driving while intoxicated charge brings an automatic revocation of Prims' driver's license.

Wheel Gone

A right front wheel was stolen from Mrs. Marshall Mallak's car last Thursday while the vehicle was parked in front of her home at 224 E. Highland Ave., Mount Prospect. She set her loss at $30, police reported.

Tire Theft

Another spare tire was stolen from the trunk of a car in Mount Prospect late Saturday night.

Joseph A. Garzonetti of Chicago told police the tire, valued at $50, was taken from his car parked in the Thunderbird Bowl parking lot on Rand Road.

Attack on Tire

Francis Moriarity of 512 N. Elm St., Mount Prospect, told police Friday that someone had apparently driven three nails into a new tire on his car sometime while his wife was shopping.

The nails were spaced perfectly, he said, about one inch apart. (M

Fall Program at Bible Church Told

Ken Langguth, director of the Awana youth program in the Mount Prospect Bible Church, has announced a full fall, winter and spring program for boys and girls ages eight through 18.

The Awana Youth Clubs this season will be meeting on an every-other-week basis. Club nights will be Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays, according to the following schedule: "Chums," girls 8 - 10, every other Friday; "Pals," boys 8 - 10, every other Friday; "Guards," girls 11 - 13 every other Tuesday. "Pioneers," boys 11 - 13, every other Tuesday. Clubs meet from 7 to 9 in the evening. The "Highschoolers" meet at 7:30 p.m. the first and third Mondays of each month. All groups have started their fall programs.

The Awana Youth program centers around the week-night meeting and auxiliary activities. The Bible Church believes the necessary complement to a healthy Sunday School is a program of week-night meetings.

The Awana Youth program began in 1957 at the Mount Prospect Bible Church. The first group to meet were the Highschoolers, with about 20 in attendance and two leaders. The total attendance of all five groups average nearly 400 children and 30 leaders every two weeks, at the present time.

Bus service is available by calling the church at 439-3337. The average pick-up by buses per club week is nearly 200.

The church gymnasium where all clubs meet is located at 505 W. Golf Road, two blocks west of Route 83, in Mount Prospect.

Urge ZIP Code Use

Mount Prospect residents will have an opportunity to ZIP Code their mailing lists during October, Postmaster Theodore C. Geocaris announced this week.

Letter carriers will deliver "no postage needed" cards to each residential delivery stop beginning Oct. 10. The cards will have blanks for addresses used most often, for which residents do not know the ZIP Code.

"THIS WILL be a good time to get the ZIP numbers for Christmas mailing lists," Geocaris said.

After filling in the street number, city and state, the cards are to be mailed back to the postmaster. When the numbers are filled in the cards will be returned to the sender. Only addresses, not names of correspondents, should be listed on the cards. (M

Local Youth Could Win $25,000 Prize

A Mount Prospect youth could win $25,000 toward his education or career in an essay contest on peace sponsored by the Mount Prospect Lions Club.

The contest is offering a total of $50,000 in prizes by the Lions International. In addition to the $25,000 first prize, eight semi-final awards of $1,000 each plus travel expenses to the awards presentation will be given.

More than 20,000 local, district and multiple district awards will be given.

W. R. Wingfield, president of the Mount Prospect Lions Club said, "We are hopeful one of our young people will win this world-wide award."

THE CONTEST is open to young people who will be 14 but less than 22 years old as of Jan. 15. The deadline for submitting essays is Dec. 10. The contest's purpose is to develop a formula for world peace.

Entries should be in essay form, not over 5,000 words. Judging will be 75 per cent on content, 10 per cent each on organization and style and five per cent on mechanics.

Three judges from the club will select a winner to be entered in a district contest. District winners will advance to the world finals.

THE FINAL judging will be at the Lions International 50th annual convention to be in July, 1967, in Chicago.

Youths wishing more information on the contest should contact Wingfield or other members of the Mount Prospect Lions Club. Essays should also be submitted to them. (M

'Support Police' Group Organized

The formation of the "Northwest Suburban Committee to Support Your Local Police" has been announced by its chairman, Peyton B. Hinkle of Palatine. Two formation meetings have been held to establish the purpose and objectives of the committee and to formulate plans for activities.

Formation of the committee is "for the purpose of encouraging all citizens to cooperate with local police in their efforts to maintain law and order while protecting the public's interests and safety, to develop a better public understanding of those forces which threaten to weaken local law enforcement and to provide public recognition for services rendered which exemplify the utmost in dedication and sacrifice on the part of police officers." "Support Your Local Police" is a slogan of the John Birch Society.

As a part of their activities, tribute "Support Your Local Police" decals for display in home, store and automobile windows, give vocal and written support to commendable police actions and "promote a greater public awareness of the advantages of local police law enforcement over that of a regional police force." Also, members are available for film showings to interested organizations, schools and private and civic groups. Inquiries for speakers and film showings should be addressed to the committee in care of P.O. Box 30, Mount Prospect.

The committee is made up of residents of the northwest suburbs and includes as members of the executive committee: Howard Harnden, Mount Prospect; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gjoen, Schaumburg; Mr. and Mrs. George Hanson, John Minneci, and Rodney Sonnenberg, all of Arlington Heights; David Holcomb, Des Plaines; Warren Shoholm, Hoffman Estates; Eugene Engelen, Park Ridge; Edward Rodriguez, Wheeling, and Hinkle. Marier of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Walter McFarland of Elk Grove Village and Mrs. Joseph McIntyre of Hoffman Estates.

Named as unit leaders by Mrs Frank Psota of Arlington Heights, organization chairman for the LWV, were Mrs. Harner, afternoon unit; Mrs. Dwight Walton of Arlington Heights, morning unit, and Mrs. Cress, evening unit.

Discussion leaders will be Mrs Baron, evening unit, Mrs. A. Vidmar of Arlington Heights, morning unit, and Mrs. Charles Price of Mount Prospect, evening unit. (ACME

Presbyterian Men Planning Retreat

The Men's Council of the First Presbyterian Church, 302 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, will retreat to Deer Grove Saturday.

The event held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. will be based on the theme "Christian Ethics on the Job."

J. Vernon Lloyd, general attorney for Montgomery Ward and Co., Chicago, and James E. Dittus, director of the department of business affairs of the Chicago Presbytery, will address the group.

Following the two keynote speakers, six group leaders will take over and everyone will have an opportunity to participate.

Cost of the event is $1, which includes a lunch of "hot 'n spicy" Pennsylvania-style stew. Call CL 3-0492 for reservations.

Open House Planned For Donald Prince

Donald Prince, Democratic candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, will be guest of honor Sunday at an open house in the home of E. Erie Jones, 262 N. Linden, Palatine.

The open house is set for 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Jones, a former superintendent and school board member and currently educational consultant to Fridstein and Fitch, said he had sent out invitations to the open house but that other interested persons also would be welcome.

"I am very anxious that as many people as possible meet this exceptionally well qualified man," Jones said of Prince, an Illinois State University education professor.

"IN MY OPINION the most important person being elected in November in addition to our senator is the superintendent of public instruction. It's not a very glamorous office but a very important one, and one which Don Prince is exceptionally well qualified for," the Palatine school man stated.

Jones added that he planned to take Prince — a Methodist Sunday School teacher when he's not campaigning — to church with him Sunday at the First Methodist Church in Palatine.

Prince, a resident of Normal, is seeking the office now held by State Supt. Ray Page, who is running for re-election on the Republican ticket. (B10

Area Leaders Seek Control Over Zoning

The Northwest Municipal Conference last week joined the ranks of those groups seeking to stop county zoning control over areas within 1.5 miles of a municipality.

The resolution passed by the conference was similar to resolutions passed by a number of northwest suburbs and the Illinois Municipal League. The conference reserved the right to amend the resolution at its October meeting.

The need for amendment was emphasized by Palatine Village Pres. David Yeats.

Yeats, who abstained from voting on the resolution, said that his objection was that it did not spell out specifically who would have power in these unincorporated areas.

He expressed particular concern over lands within 1.5 miles of two or more municipalities, large tracts of land cut up by the 1.5 mile line and boundaries changed by annexation.

Conference members agreed that they could amend their resolution stating their ideas on how these zoning problems should be handled before sending it to the state assembly.

'Support Police' Group Organized

The formation of the "Northwest Suburban Committee to Support Your Local Police" has been announced by its chairman, Peyton B. Hinkle of Palatine. Two formation meetings have been held to establish the purpose and objectives of the committee and to formulate plans for activities.

Formation of the committee is "for the purpose of encouraging all citizens to cooperate with local police in their efforts to maintain law and order while protecting the public's interests and safety, to develop a better public understanding of those forces which threaten to weaken local law enforcement and to provide public recognition for services rendered which exemplify the utmost in dedication and sacrifice on the part of police officers." "Support Your Local Police" is a slogan of the John Birch Society.

As a part of their activities, tribute "Support Your Local Police" decals for display in home, store and automobile windows, give vocal and written support to commendable police actions and "promote a greater public awareness of the advantages of local police law enforcement over that of a regional police force." Also, members are available for film showings to interested organizations, schools and private and civic groups. Inquiries for speakers and film showings should be addressed to the committee in care of P.O. Box 30, Mount Prospect.

The committee is made up of residents of the northwest suburbs and includes as members of the executive committee: Howard Harnden, Mount Prospect; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gjoen, Schaumburg; Mr. and Mrs. George Hanson, John Minneci, and Rodney Sonnenberg, all of Arlington Heights; David Holcomb, Des Plaines; Warren Shoholm, Hoffman Estates; Eugene Engelen, Park Ridge; Edward Rodriguez, Wheeling, and Hinkle. Youth Work Topic For LWV Meetings

Work of the Illinois Youth Commission and the state's Department of Children and Family Services will be discussed next week at League of Women Voters unit meetings.

On Monday an LWV unit will meet at 1 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Earl Burdsall, 1719 Woodview Dr., Prospect Heights.

On Tuesday, the morning unit will meet in the Congregational United Church of Christ, Kirchoff and Kennicott, Arlington Heights, at 9:15 a.m. Babysitting will be provided.

Mrs. Hal Cress, 922 N. Yale Ave., Arlington Heights, will be hostess to the Wednesday evening unit meeting, set for 7:45 p.m.

'The Car Of Absolute Exclusiveness"

Of the flood of inquiries which our announcement of this model has brought, not one has said less for the car than that it is the most beautiful and classy of the 1912 models.

It is, however, not so much the point of the appearance of the car that accounts for its marvelously rapid sale, as is the fact that careful study of the principles and quality of its mechanical construction more than bears out good impressions formed from a glance at its exterior; FOR THE NORWALK'S BEAUTY AND INDIVIDUALITY IS MORE THAN "SKIN DEEP."

QUALITY, sourcing from the foundation of Material and Workmanship, the kind that's bolted, riveted, built in, as on all Norwalk Cars, is made of prime consideration.

Engineering Ingenuity and Careful Manufacturing Methods builded on this excellent groundwork, insure a mechanism, the different elements of which are in perfect balance and absolute harmony.

Its two Fundamental Principles, Underslung, and Continuous, Abundant Six-Cylinder Power (combined by the way, for the first time in the Norwalk) and such other points as its High (40 inch) Wheels, Extra Large Tires, Double or Twin Ignition System, etc. are the result of natural evolution and along the line of the most progressive ideas in car construction.

Safety Officer Stresses Needed Motorcycle Laws

The National Safety Council this week released a list of safety proposals designed to combat the rising number of motorcycle fatalities throughout the nation.

Heading the recommendations were special licensing procedures, prohibition of side-saddle riding and improved vehicle design.

"Deaths of motorcycle riders jumped to 1,580 during 1965, a 41 per cent increase from the 1,118 deaths in 1964," noted Harry Porter Jr., the council's director of traffic safety.

"With the number of cycles on our roads increasing rapidly, there is an immediate need for a comprehensive accident prevention program. Without one, cycle deaths might well total 3,000 a year by 1970, when it is expected there will be nearly 5 million cycles registered in the United States."

THE COUNCIL said there is a definite need for a special license for cycle operators, to be issued only after special written and road tests. To date, only five states require such a license.

Consideration also should be given, Porter said, to possible probationary licenses for new cyclists — perhaps limiting beginners to cycles of a particular size or ruling them off certain roads or restricting their driving to specified hours.

"There is absolutely no reason to assume that an automobile driver can safely handle a cycle," he added.

In addition to condemning side-saddle riding as "patently unsafe," the council official stated that "unless a cycle is designed and equipped for a passenger — including a permanent passenger seat, footrests and hand-holds — passengers should not be allowed at all."

Further, he added that because cycles are motor vehicles within the jurisdiction of the new federal Traffic Safety Act, "we can look forward to the day when every cycle sold will have to meet minimum safety standards."

HE STRESSED the need for better means of protecting cycle riders, such as better cycle brakes, skid resistant tires and research to find the best colors for cyclists' vehicles and clothing.

"These riders need much more visibility than they usually have. There is quite a bit of evidence that motorists often don't see a cycle and its rider until it's too late to avoid an accident," he said.

Other council-recommended safety measures include periodic vehicle inspection to ensure that cycles are maintained in safe condition, more responsibility in cycle advertising — to de-emphasize speed and glamor and to stress the fact that cycles are motor vehicles, subject to the same rules of the road as cars — and to promotion of a share-the-road sense among automobile and cycle drivers.

PORTER suggested local training programs for would-be cyclists, which might be conducted by local dealers, authorized cycle clubs, local safety councils or other civic groups.

These should include competent instruction in safe driving techniques, proper attitudes, vehicle maintenance and use of such necessary equipment as helmets and sturdy clothing that can protect against cuts and bruises in case of accident.

Cadillac to Unveil 1967 Luxury Cars

New Cadillacs for 1967 will be on display in dealer showrooms beginning today, Thursday, with a completely new luxury car, the front-wheel-drive Fleetwood Eldorado, highlighting the 12 model line-up.

The new Eldorado, the only car in the world offering front-wheel-drive, variable ratio steering and automatic level control as standard equipment, is being built on its own special assembly line at Cadillac's Detroit plant. Its length is 221 inches, its height 53.3 inches, and its wheelbase 120 inches.

THE ELDORADO features crisp, tailored lines with a long hood, distinctive roof and short rear deck. Front ventipanes are eliminated and the rear windows slide back into the roof structure. The concealed twin headlamps are revealed when the vacuum-operated grille covers swing down, while the rectangular parking lamps are incorporated in the bumper. In the rear, tail lamps are designed into the fenders and back-up lamps are fitted into the bumper.

A special safety feature is a red warning light on the dash panel which indicates any malfunction of the dual power brake system. In addition, the upper portion of the all-new instrument panel is fully padded and all controls have been relocated, recessed and padded.

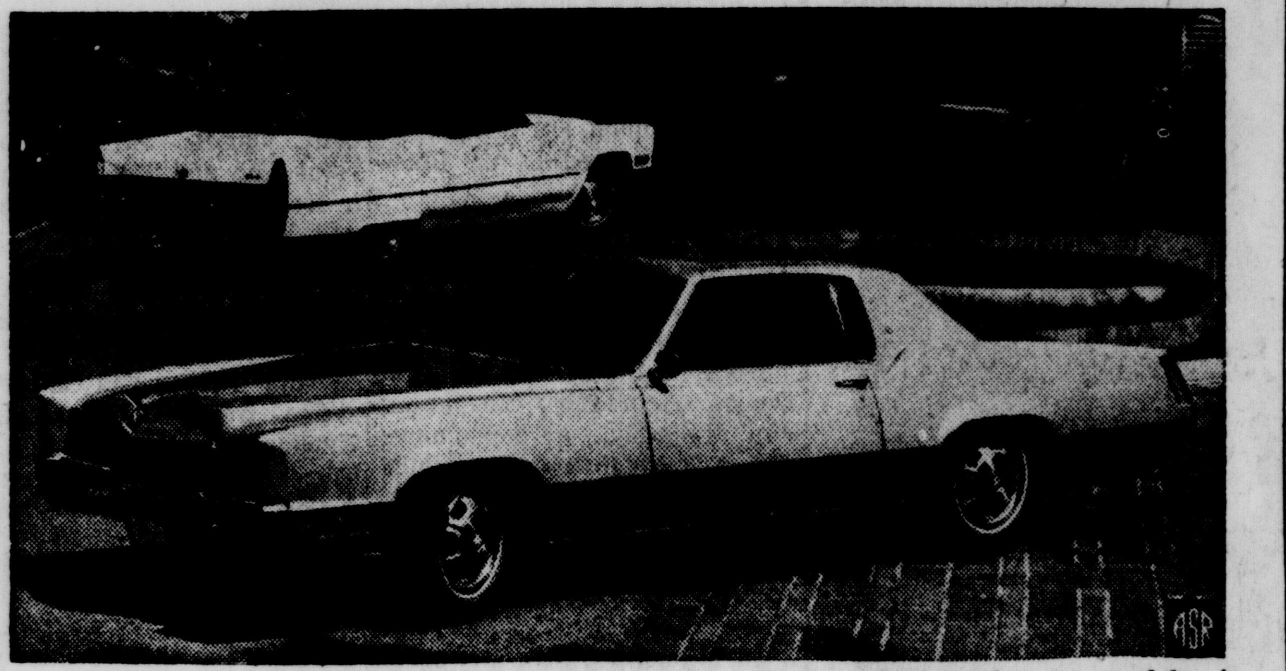
The turn signal control includes a new lane-change signal which activates when the lever is held in place and shuts off when released, as well as the normal signal which cancels automatically after the turn is completed.

Other 1967 Cadillac models retain their 1965 dimensions and the traditional Cadillac flavor with cross-hatch grille design and vertically mounted twin headlamps, but achieve a broad, bold look by wider spacing of the grille elements and a longer appearance resulting from the new silhouette. The two and four-door hardtop models feature a distinctive new roof structure.

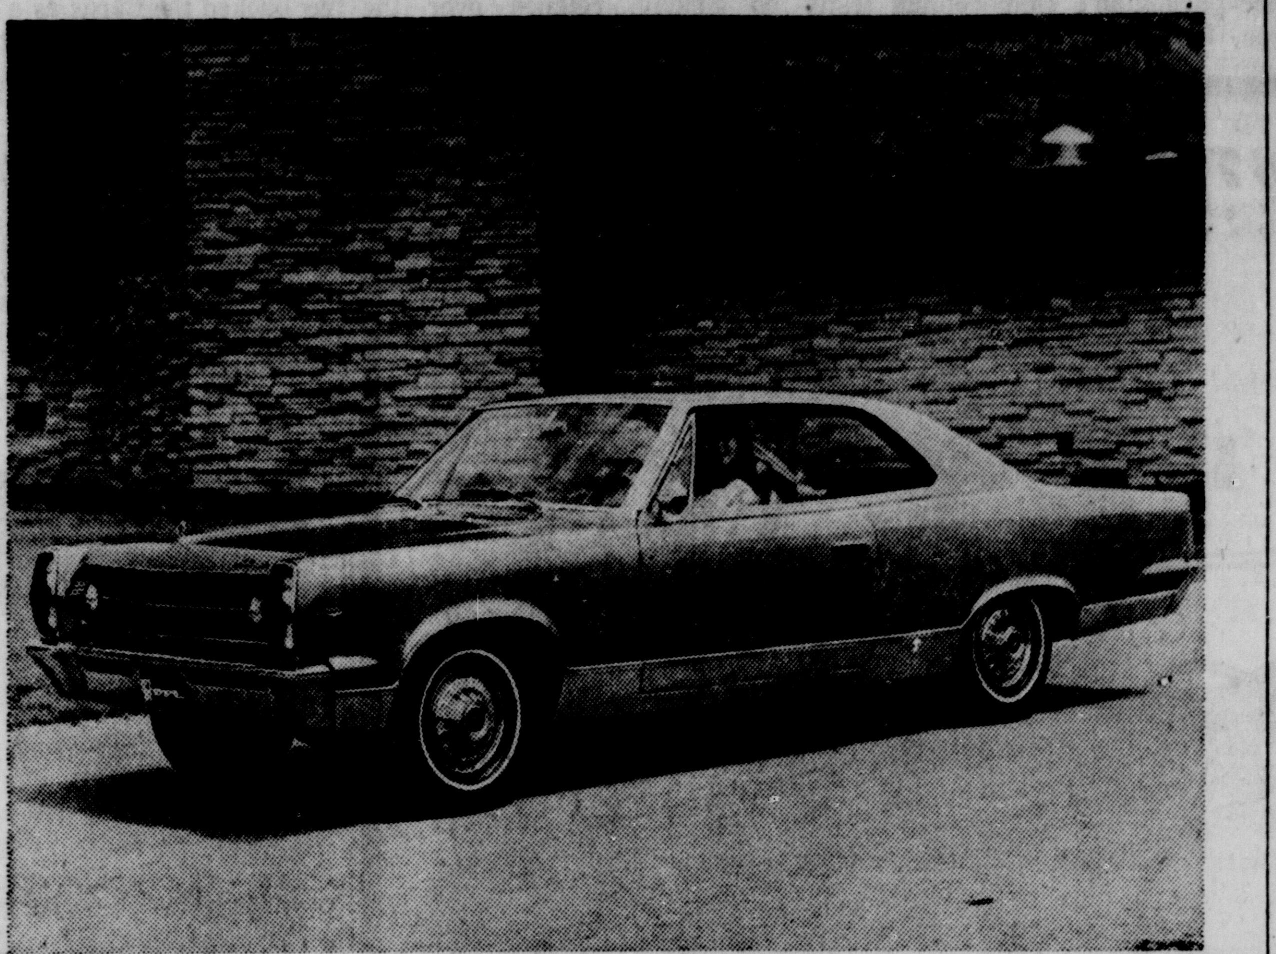
SAFETY IS A primary consideration at Cadillac, according to Calvin J. Werner, general manager of Cadillac Motor Car Division and General Motors vice president. Werner said that prominent among the safety improvements is "an energy-absorbing steering wheel used in combination with an energy-absorbing steering column. The wheel deflects under severe body impact and cushions the driver against a padded surface inside the circumference of the wheel. At the same time the impact collapses a section of the steering column."

All models also feature a hazard-warning signal which flashes all four directional lights in case of emergency.

Other 1967 Cadillac features include improvements in the 340 horsepower V-8 engine, greater oil economy and a redesigned climate control which provides five individually controlled air outlets for improved air flow and distribution. (CR



A COMPLETELY new luxury personal car—the front-wheel-drive Fleetwood Eldorado (foreground)—is featured in the 1967 Cadillac line being shown at dealers for the first time today. Styling of the other 11 models, including the De Ville convertible (background), is new for 1967, though retaining the traditional "Cadillac look."



TWO "UP SWEEP" horizontal paint stripes at the belt line add distinction to the all-new 1967 Ambassador DPL hardtop and convertible models. The DPL models also have "rally" turn signal-park lights in the grille. Wheelbase has been increased from 116 to 118 inches, with a 2½-inch increase in over-all length of the auto.

Roar of Crowd Greets Royal Couple of '66

By SHELLY HAMILTON

Students flooded in, filling up the rows of empty bleachers. Court members floated down the aisle. The students' nervous anxiety became apparent as the crowd's roar became a hushed whisper of excitement.

Gregory Busch, master of ceremonies, began his announcement of the king and queen, "We proclaim that on this the 30th day of September in the year 1966, the students of Arlington . . ."

SOMEHOW the only words the crowd could hear were Larry Malcolmson and Sue Chodera . . . king and queen of Arlington's Homecoming festivities.

The members of court were nominated by the senior class. On Tuesday the court was presented to the school. At this time the entire student body voted for one king and one queen.

The king and queen, announced Friday, reigned over the Homecoming football game and Homecoming dance.

During their three years at Arlington, Larry and Sue have both been active pushers of school spirit. Sue was alternate cheerleader her freshman year and will have served as regular for three years while Larry has backed the Cards as a member of Arlington's sports teams.

But sports have not limited Larry's school activities. He is also a member of Tux Club, Striders Club, and is a sports editor for the Arlington Cardinal.

As of now, his aspirations are to become either a sports writer or a sports announcer.

LARRY'S bedroom is decorated with pictures of professional athletes, which only typifies his enthusiasm for sports. He especially enjoys the closeness of team members when they're making an allout effort to win or when the guys are joking and clowning during workouts.

Sue, aside from being a cheerleader, has also participated in class board. Currently she is corresponding secretary for Student Council.

Sue's interest in sewing, she admits, was inherited from her mother. Most of Sue's sewing projects include skirts but from time to time she will attempt something more difficult.

SUE'S FUTURE is directed toward medicine. She believes that just wanting to help people is not enough to becoming a doctor. An interest in the science of medicine is an all-important ingredient.

Summarizing her weekend as Homecoming Queen, Sue related, "Being Homecoming Queen has really meant a lot to me. I was always intrigued with coronation, but being a part of it was really an honor. Homecoming 1966 will long be remembered."

Foreign Student Tells of Studies

By JAN KLAS

Stella Ruiz, foreign student from Bogota, Colombia, came to the United States July 1.

She studied in a school called the Colegio Americano (American School) which has an enrollment of 1,000 students, ranging from kindergarten to the senior year in high school. The school year there begins Feb. 3 and ends Nov. 20.

There are seven periods during the day, each 50 minutes long with an hour for lunch. The classes begin at 7:50 a.m. and end at noon; then, from 1 p.m. until 3:50 p.m., she added.

"IN THE MORNINGS and in the afternoon we have 15 minutes to rest or for what we call recreation, when all the boys go out to their yard to play or rest, and the girls go to their yard to play and rest too," Stella said.

Most of the students in Colombia have uniforms. The boys wear theirs only on special occasions, but the senior, junior, and sophomore boys must wear ties all the time. The girls wear uniforms all the time and an apron during the day.

"When I first came to this country, I did not like it, but now I like it and I like the school very much," Stella added.

Willowbrook Has 'Em from All Over

Willowbrook High School has transfer students from 16 states and two foreign countries.

From California are freshmen Rick Brinegar, Gary Bitts, Denise Hall and Sandra Stolzy and senior Mary Brinegar.

Texas is the former home of Denise Achzehner, freshman; Jim Halladay, a sophomore; Jan Achzehner and Sue Halladay, juniors; and Nanci Achzehner and Sharon Leavitt, seniors.

Jerry Cass, a freshman, and Sandy Thompson, a junior, hail from Minnesota. Missouri sends Willowbrook Wayne and Marilyn Jones, freshman and senior respectively, Connie Trail, senior; and Bob Leahy, junior.

Students coming from Ohio are freshman Bill Nufer and Bev Lindley and Angie Schenk, both juniors. From Colorado come Lee and Terri De Roech, a freshman and a sophomore, and junior Rick Beauchamp.

Other transferred sophomores are Mike Kitun from Kansas, Mary Thermos from Iowa and Martha Webber and Cathy Considine from Michigan. Larry Kennan from Pennsylvania, and Tom Sallee from Tennessee, are juniors new to Willowbrook.

Bob Benjaminson, Wisconsin; Malanie Buthman, Arkansas; and Kathy Elston, Florida, are all here for their senior year.

Tim Stabell, a sophomore, is from Kinshasa, West Congo. Kwan Chim Leung and Wai Tung Chan are from Hong Kong.

Roar of Crowd Greets Royal Couple of '66

By SHELLY HAMILTON

Students flooded in, filling up the rows of empty bleachers. Court members floated down the aisle. The students' nervous anxiety became apparent as the crowd's roar became a hushed whisper of excitement.

Gregory Busch, master of ceremonies, began his announcement of the king and queen, "We proclaim that on this the 30th day of September in the year 1966, the students of Arlington . . ."

SOMEHOW the only words the crowd could hear were Larry Malcolmson and Sue Chodera . . . king and queen of Arlington's Homecoming festivities.

The members of court were nominated by the senior class. On Tuesday the court was presented to the school. At this time the entire student body voted for one king and one queen.

The king and queen, announced Friday, reigned over the Homecoming football game and Homecoming dance.

During their three years at Arlington, Larry and Sue have both been active pushers of school spirit. Sue was alternate cheerleader her freshman year and will have served as regular for three years while Larry has backed the Cards as a member of Arlington's sports teams.

But sports have not limited Larry's school activities. He is also a member of Tux Club, Striders Club, and is a sports editor for the Arlington Cardinal.

As of now, his aspirations are to become either a sports writer or a sports announcer.

LARRY'S bedroom is decorated with pictures of professional athletes, which only typifies his enthusiasm for sports. He especially enjoys the closeness of team members when they're making an allout effort to win or when the guys are joking and clowning during workouts.

Sue, aside from being a cheerleader, has also participated in class board. Currently she is corresponding secretary for Student Council.

Sue's interest in sewing, she admits, was inherited from her mother. Most of Sue's sewing projects include skirts but from time to time she will attempt something more difficult.

SUE'S FUTURE is directed toward medicine. She believes that just wanting to help people is not enough to becoming a doctor. An interest in the science of medicine is an all-important ingredient.

Summarizing her weekend as Homecoming Queen, Sue related, "Being Homecoming Queen has really meant a lot to me. I was always intrigued with coronation, but being a part of it was really an honor. Homecoming 1966 will long be remembered." (11Y

By JAN KLAS

Stella Ruiz, foreign student from Bogota, Colombia, came to the United States July 1.

She studied in a school called the Colegio Americano (American School) which has an enrollment of 1,000 students, ranging from kindergarten to the senior year in high school. The school year there begins Feb. 3 and ends Nov. 20.

There are seven periods during the day, each 50 minutes long with an hour for lunch. The classes begin at 7:50 a.m. and end at noon; then, from 1 p.m. until 3:50 p.m., she added.

"IN THE MORNINGS and in the afternoon we have 15 minutes to rest or for what we call recreation, when all the boys go out to their yard to play or rest, and the girls go to their yard to play and rest too," Stella said.

Most of the students in Colombia have uniforms. The boys wear theirs only on special occasions, but the senior, junior, and sophomore boys must wear ties all the time. The girls wear uniforms all the time and an apron during the day.

"When I first came to this country, I did not like it, but now I like it and I like the school very much," Stella added. (16Y

Teens Urged to Think Safety in New Contest

New drivers, particularly teen-agers, hold the major promise for a reversal in the high accident and fatality rates on our streets and highways, believes Gerald W. Cavanagh, president of the Chicago Motor Club. With this in mind, the motor club, in cooperation with the Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar, has approved a plan to encourage traffic safety among Illinois high school seniors.

The Chicago Motor Club has announced that it will award five $500 scholarships to winners of a traffic safety essay contest for high school seniors to be sponsored by the Editors' Seminar. A Seminar committee will have charge of the contest and announce the winners of the Chicago Motor Club scholarship grants.

Willard S. Hansen, seminar president and editor of the Champaign News-Gazette, in approving the $2,500 scholarship grant from the Chicago Motor Club, said that the member newspapers would help promote the contest in Illinois high schools.

HANSEN LAUDED the Chicago Motor Club for making the scholarship grants available. "Presentation of these scholarship grants by the Chicago Motor Club is in keeping with that organization's long history of dedication to traffic safety," he said. "The seminar feels that the club's scholarship grant is an intelligent approach to accident prevention because it is encouraging the coming generation of drivers to think about safety on our streets and highways."

Hansen said that the following contest rules make it easy for every high school senior to enter an original traffic safety essay.

—The essay length is limited to 1,000 words. The high school senior mails it, with entry blank, to Seminar Headquarters, 66 E. South Water St., Chicago, Ill. 60601. Essays must be received by Dec. 31, 1966.

—A SEMINAR screening committee will pick the best essays to send to the students' local newspapers for publication. Contest rules require that an essay be published in the entrant's local newspaper to be eligible for final scholarship consideration.

—The local newspaper returns a tearsheet of the published essay to seminar headquarters. To be eligible for scholarship and other awards the published essays must be returned by March 1, 1967.

—A special committee of educators to be named by the seminar will select the five scholastic winners from all essays which have been published. All other published essays will earn special honorable mention awards.

—Scholarship awards will be presented at the 10th annual seminar meeting in Springfield next April 14. (CR

Foremost Tires At Golf Mill

America's newest brand of tires, Foremost, distributed by J. C. Penney Co., are on sale at the company's new auto center at Golf Mill, near the Penney store.

The tires are backed by three years of testing and performance trials. The new line is a product of one of the most comprehensive testing programs in history, according to Eldon O. Ray, manager of the store.

THREE YEARS were needed to formulate the basic designs of the four models of tires that will be sold at the company's first auto center in this area. Penney's new line of tires, batteries and auto accessories will be marketed through retail outlets and through the company's recently initiated catalog sales division.

"Our supplier, one of America's leading manufacturers," Ray noted, "put the tires through their paces on laboratory machinery, on private test tracks and in hundreds of thousands of miles of testing under actual road conditions. Then Penney ran thousands of more test miles to assure the consumer a top return in value, safety and performance."

The manager said the tests included runs on cleated "torture wheels" that punish tires with impact after impact to measure resistance to injury, runs on dynamometers at speeds that tend to tear tires apart from sheer centrifugal force, hour-after-hour of speeds in excess of 100 mph on private tracks and week-after-week of running on roads and highways with surfaces ranging from asphalt to rubber-cutting gravel.

AMERICA'S NEWEST BRAND OF TIRES, Foremost, are on sale at the new auto center of J. C. Penney Co. at Golf Mill shopping center.

It does all the work, but on Saturday night which one goes to the party?

Once upon a time there was an ugly little bug. It could go about 27 miles on just one gallon of gas. It could go about 40,000 miles on just one set of tires. And it could park in tiny little crevices no bigger than a bug.

It was just right for taking father to the train or the kids to school. Or to take mother to the grocery store, drugstore, dime store and all the enchanting places mothers go when everyone else is working.

The ugly little bug was just like one of the family. But alas, it wasn't beautiful.

So for any important occasion the poor ugly little bug would be replaced. By a big beautiful chariot, drawn by 300 horses!

Then, after a time, a curious thing happened. The ugly little bug (which was made very sturdily) never got uglier.

But the big beautiful chariot didn't exactly get more beautiful. In fact, in a few years its beauty began to fade. Until, lo and behold, the ugly little bug didn't look as ugly as the big beautiful chariot! The moral being: if you want to show you've gotten somewhere, get a big beautiful chariot. But if you simply want to get somewhere, get a bug.

11 More Join The Highlights Staff

Eleven more students from seven area high schools joined the Paddock Publications' High School Highlights staff last week.

FROM ARLINGTON High School: Linda Jarocki, a junior, who moved to Arlington Heights about a month ago from Hinsdale. She is a member of the S Club and works on the school newspaper. She collects stamps, plays the piano and likes sports.

PADDOCK PUBLICATIONS
Auto Section

Her future plans include college and work in some field of English. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jarocki, 1415 N. Douglas in Arlington Heights.

Also from Arlington High School, Peggy Ann Kerr, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin F. Kerr, 1616 N. Douglas in Arlington Heights.

Peggy recently moved to Arlington Heights from Park Ridge. Her interests include newspaper work and individual speech events. She is a member of Future Teachers of America, Spanish Club and Triple S.

Peggy enjoys reading and music, especially Spanish (reading) and pop (music). She will major in either elementary education or journalism in college.

FROM CONANT High School: Joe Marquart, a senior, who plans to attend Drake University in Des Moines where he hopes to major in either journalism or political science. Last year he was second vice president of Student Council and this year he is a senator and chairman of the Student Relations Committee.

Joe belongs to the Drama Club and National Thespian Society. He is vice president of the Drama Club and has participated in three plays. He is a contributing writer of the school newspaper.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marquart, 223 West Berkley, Hoffman Estates.

FROM FENTON High School: John Millard, a senior, who is editor-in-chief of his school newspaper, sports editor of the yearbook, secretary of Quill and Scroll journalistic honor society and a member of the school chapter of National Honor Society.

John is interested in sports, journalism and history. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Millard, 1222 W. Nordic Street in Bensenville.

Bob Wright, a senior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Wright, 233 Dalewood Street in Wood Dale. He is the sports editor of the school newspaper, president of the senior class, a member of the student literary magazine and a Student Council member.

Bob's interests are dance band, tennis, writing and drama.

FROM ADDISON Trail High School: Marilyn Moeller, a senior, is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret G. Moeller, 641 E. Belmont Road in Addison. She is editor-in-chief of the school newspaper and a member of the German Club. She was transferred to Addison Trail from York High School where she was a reporter for two years on the school newspaper.

Marilyn is interested in poetry, folk music and sports cars. She plays the guitar and likes creative writing. She plans on working after high school graduation to earn money to travel and eventually enter the Old Town School of Folk Music.

FROM SACRED Heart of Mary High School: Mary O'Leary, a senior, is co-editor of her school newspaper, writes the Sidelights column for Paddock Publications and works part-time at the Jewel Food Store in Prospect Heights.

Mary plays the guitar and likes to swim and skin dive. She plans to study journalism in college and to work in this profession.

FROM PALATINE High School: Christi Ebert, a sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ebert, 616 Hawk Lane, Palatine. She is a member of the school newspaper and yearbook staffs, co-chairman of the Tickets and Program Committee of the Drama Club and a member of the Student Human Relations Council and the Medical Careers Club.

Also, she is a member of Senior Girl Scouts and treasurer of her church youth group. She likes skiing, guitar playing, writing, sailing and drama. She plans to be a doctor.

Sharon Orchard, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Orchard, 958 Arrowhead Drive in Palatine. She is a member of Palatine's German Club, Russian Club and newspaper and yearbook staffs.

Sharon's future plans include a journalism profession. She enjoys creative writing.

FROM ELK GROVE High School: Sandie Novelli is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent N. Novelli, 1198 Bosworth Lane, Elk Grove Village. She is interested in creative writing and enjoys swimming and water skiing.

Her activities include being news editor of the school newspaper and a member of the Creative Writing Club and German Club. She works Saturday afternoons as a candystriper at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights. She plans to attend the University of Wisconsin and to become a doctor or psychiatrist.

Shirley Serini is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Serini, 500 Magnolia Lane, Elk Grove Village. She is interested in writing, public speaking and sports events.

Shirley is a reporter, feature writer and assistant advertising manager for her school newspaper. Also, she is on the debate team. She plans to attend college, majoring in English, journalism or sociology.

Sandy De Palma is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted V. De Palma, Rt. 1, Lincoln Lane, Roselle. She is interested in writing and enjoys participating in sports. She is editor of the school newspaper and a member of the Creative Writing Club and French Club.

Five Named to Cast of Berlin Musical

By BILL EVEN

Five of the six major roles in the St. Viator - Sacred Heart production of Irving Berlin's "Annie Get Your Gun" were filled last week during three days of double casting sessions.

This will be the first combined musical between the two schools and is scheduled for opening February 2.

In the tryouts held for the lead role of Annie Oakley, Senior Kathy Mueller and Junior Cathy Mongan from Sacred Heart were chosen from 28 candidates.

The lead male role of Frank Butler went to Paul Rocca and Ken Kurowski, both seniors at St. Viator.

THE SECONDARY roles of Winnie and Tommy will be played by sophomore Monica Martin and senior Mary Frances Stamm of SHM, Tommy by juniors Jack Niemet and Tom Carr of St. Viator.

Dolly, Winnie's mother in the musical, was cast to junior Sue Barnes and senior Pat Moser of SHM.

Tryouts will be completed this week with actors to be chosen for the roles of Buffalo Bill, Charlie Davenport, Pawnee Bill and the minor characters and crowd scenes. (16Y

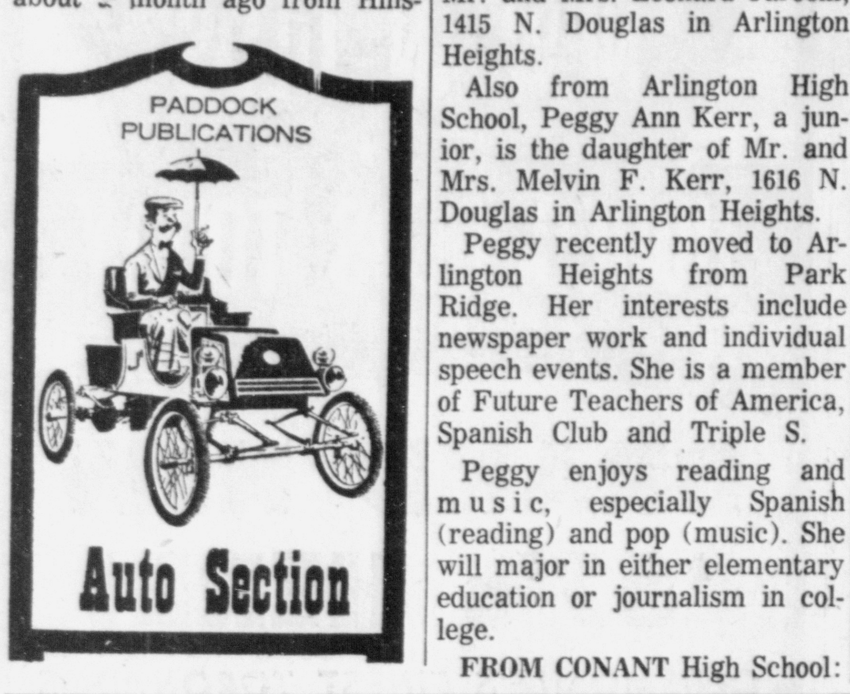
11 More Join The Highlights Staff

Eleven more students from seven area high schools joined the Paddock Publications' High School Highlights staff last week.

FROM ARLINGTON High School: Linda Jarocki, a junior, who moved to Arlington Heights about a month ago from Hinsdale. She is a member of the S Club and works on the school newspaper. She collects stamps, plays the piano and likes sports.



Her future plans include college and work in some field of English. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jarocki, 1415 N. Douglas in Arlington Heights.

Also from Arlington High School, Peggy Ann Kerr, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin F. Kerr, 1616 N. Douglas in Arlington Heights.

Peggy recently moved to Arlington Heights from Park Ridge. Her interests include newspaper work and individual speech events. She is a member of Future Teachers of America, Spanish Club and Triple S.

Peggy enjoys reading and music, especially Spanish (reading) and pop (music). She will major in either elementary education or journalism in college.

FROM CONANT High School: Joe Marquart, a senior, who plans to attend Drake University in Des Moines where he hopes to major in either journalism or political science. Last year he was second vice president of Student Council and this year he is a senator and chairman of the Student Relations Committee.

Joe belongs to the Drama Club and National Thespian Society. He is vice president of the Drama Club and has participated in three plays. He is a contributing writer of the school newspaper.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marquart, 223 West Berkley, Hoffman Estates.

FROM FENTON High School: John Millard, a senior, who is editor-in-chief of his school newspaper, sports editor of the yearbook, secretary of Quill and Scroll journalistic honor society and a member of the school chapter of National Honor Society.

John is interested in sports, journalism and history. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Millard, 1222 W. Nordic Street in Bensenville.

Bob Wright, a senior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Wright, 233 Dalewood Street in Wood Dale. He is the sports editor of the school newspaper, president of the senior class, a member of the student literary magazine and a Student Council member.

Bob's interests are dance band, tennis, writing and drama.

FROM ADDISON Trail High School: Marilyn Moeller, a senior, is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret G. Moeller, 641 E. Belmont Road in Addison. She is editor-in-chief of the school newspaper and a member of the German Club. She was transferred to Addison Trail from York High School where she was a reporter for two years on the school newspaper.

Marilyn is interested in poetry, folk music and sports cars. She plays the guitar and likes creative writing. She plans on working after high school graduation to earn money to travel and eventually enter the Old Town School of Folk Music.

FROM SACRED Heart of Mary High School: Mary O'Leary, a senior, is co-editor of her school newspaper, writes the Sidelights column for Paddock Publications and works part-time at the Jewel Food Store in Prospect Heights.

Mary plays the guitar and likes to swim and skin dive. She plans to study journalism in college and to work in this profession.

FROM PALATINE High School: Christi Ebert, a sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ebert, 616 Hawk Lane, Palatine. She is a member of the school newspaper and yearbook staffs, cochairman of the Tickets and Program Committee of the Drama Club and a member of the Student Human Relations Council and the Medical Careers Club.

Also, she is a member of Senior Girl Scouts and treasurer of her church youth group. She likes skiing, guitar playing, writing, sailing and drama. She plans to be a doctor.

Sharon Orchard, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Orchard, 958 Arrowhead Drive in Palatine. She is a member of Palatine's German Club, Russian Club and newspaper and yearbook staffs.

Sharon's future plans include a journalism profession. She enjoys creative writing.

FROM ELK GROVE High School: Sandie Novelli is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent N. Novelli, 1198 Bosworth Lane, Elk Grove Village. She is interested in creative writing and enjoys swimming and water skiing.

Her activities include being news editor of the school newspaper and a member of the Creative Writing Club and German Club. She works Saturday afternoons as a candystriper at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights. She plans to attend the University of Wisconsin and to become a doctor or psychiatrist.

Shirley Serini is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Serini, 500 Magnolia Lane, Elk Grove Village. She is interested in writing, public speaking and sports events.

Shirley is a reporter, feature writer and assistant advertising manager for her school newspaper. Also, she is on the debate team. She plans to attend college, majoring in English, journalism or sociology.

Sandy De Palma is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted V. De Palma, Rt. 1, Lincoln Lane, Roselle. She is interested in writing and enjoys participating in sports. She is editor of the school newspaper and a member of the Creative Writing Club and French Club.

"Dixie Daze" This Weekend

By PAT BLASTIK

Willowbrook High School's biggest weekend of the year is here.

The theme of this year's homecoming is "Daze of Dixie." Homecoming festivities start at 7 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) with "Swanee," a pep rally, at which the king and queen will be chosen from a court of four boys and four girls.

Heading the pep rally is Sue Tattershall, who will be assisted by Kathy Schofield.

The parade, "The Mason Dixon Line Up," will leave Willowbrook at 10 a.m. Included in the parade are the class and club floats and cars, Pompon girls, cheerleaders, Willowbrook's marching band, and the court.

Judging of the parade entries is done before the parade leaves Willowbrook. Prizes to be awarded are: $10 for the best class float; $10, $7, and $3 respectively for first, second, and third place competition; and an honorary prize for the most beautiful float.

JUDGES AWARD honorable mention where they see fit. "The best float in the parade," will be honored by its sponsor's name being the first on a plaque to be started for classification.

The plaque will be put in a special place to honor all future best floats. Wally Lopatka is parade chairman.

Saturday's homecoming football game will be played against West Leyden. Dawna Hauptfuehrer and committee will decorate the field.

Willowbrook's marching band, directed by Richard Kamm, will perform at halftime. Jim Wesolowski is chairman of entertainment.

The junior varsity game starts at noon and the varsity game follows.

After the varsity game there will be a tribute to Willowbrook's graduates at an alumni tea in the faculty lounge. The chairman is Val Tvrdik.

Theme of the semi-formal dance Saturday night, from 8 to 11 is "Gone With the Wind." John Allen's band will perform.

TICKETS WILL be sold during the lunch periods of the previous week and at the door. The price is 75 cents or could be purchased with an activity pass.

Dance chairman is Bob Ulrich. Laura Castle is in charge of bids; Jan Karmoski, invitations; and Terry Patten, refreshments.

Chris Hauri, homecoming chairman, hopes "for the most dazzling 'Daze of Dixie' possible." (11Y

School in Argentina: March to November

by JAN KLAS

How would you like to go to school from March 16 until November 30? Well, this is what Elva Boglione, AFS student at Forest View High School, did in her country, San Francisco, Argentina.

Seven years of primary school and then it's off to high school for five years.

The first three years of high school are the basic years; the last two years are for specialized training. At the end of five years of high school a student may get a job or specialize in his particular area.

School starts at 8 a.m. and ends at 1 p.m. Each student takes 14 subjects, but all these are not covered every day.

ELVA ATTENDS the Catholic school Colegio Immaculada Concepcion. This school is primary, high school and college combined. The primary grades go in the afternoon, the high school students go in the morning, and college classes are held in the evening.

All courses are chosen by the directors, but a student gets a choice of French or English as an extra language.

After her high school education is completed, Elva may teach the primary grades or she may go on to college to receive a diploma.

There are no extra-curricular activities connected with the school, but dances, swimming, volley ball, basketball, soccer, ping pong and tennis are enjoyed by all at clubs.

Also in Argentina, dating in couples is out. The teen-agers can go out in groups to clubs for dancing, games, or movies, Elva said.

They enjoy the same type of music in Argentina as we do here and they dance as we do. They have combos, but the musicians don't have the long hair.

When summer comes, Elva relaxes because she gets all her spending money from her parents as do most young people in Argentina. (16Y

School in Argentina: March to November

by JAN KLAS

How would you like to go to school from March 16 until November 30? Well, this is what Elva Boglione, AFS student at Forest View High School, did in her country, San Francisco, Argentina.

Seven years of primary school and then it's off to high school for five years.

The first three years of high school are the basic years; the last two years are for specialized training. At the end of five years of high school a student may get a job or specialize in his particular area.

School starts at 8 a.m. and ends at 1 p.m. Each student takes 14 subjects, but all these are not covered every day.

ELVA ATTENDS the Catholic school Colegio Immaculada Concepcion. This school is primary, high school and college combined. The primary grades go in the afternoon, the high school students go in the morning, and college classes are held in the evening.

All courses are chosen by the directors, but a student gets a choice of French or English as an extra language.

After her high school education is completed, Elva may teach the primary grades or she may go on to college to receive a diploma.

There are no extra-curricular activities connected with the school, but dances, swimming, volley ball, basketball, soccer, ping pong and tennis are enjoyed by all at clubs.

Also in Argentina, dating in couples is out. The teen-agers can go out in groups to clubs for dancing, games, or movies, Elva said.

They enjoy the same type of music in Argentina as we do here and they dance as we do. They have combos, but the musicians don't have the long hair.

When summer comes, Elva relaxes because she gets all her spending money from her parents as do most young people in Argentina. (16Y

Willowbrook Plans Assembly Programs

Willowbrook High School is planning a full schedule of assemblies during the '66 - '67 school year.

Assemblies will meet third period. There are three groups, A, B, C, which are arranged for English classes, social studies classes, and science classes respectively. There will be four assemblies for each group.

Deedi Kertsman, a concert harpist, played the harp for group B September 19.

"The Wonderful World of Words," a reading assembly by J. B. Flesher, will be presented to group A November 17.

GROUP C will have an assembly Dec. 1, on physical fitness by Dan Schneider; February 15 on American Field Service; March 7 on electronics, and April 27 a program by the Willowbrook concert band.

Concert trumpeter Chester Civiertnia will lead an assembly for group A January 17, and February 16 the American Field Service, and May 4 the Willowbrook Choir will be presented to the students.

Group B's other three assemblies are February 14, American Field Service; March 2, Henri French, international humorist, and May 18, Willowbrook's concert orchestra.

Miss Doris White, speech teacher, arranges assemblies.

$500 Scholarship in Essay Contest

An original essay on traffic safety can earn an area high school senior a $500 scholarship to the college or university of his or her choice.

The Chicago Motor Club has announced that it will award five $500 scholarships to winners of a traffic safety essay contest for high school seniors to be sponsored by the Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar.

The essays must reach seminar headquarters in Chicago before Dec. 31, accompanied by an official entry blank.

A seminar committee will select the best essays and mail them to the writers' local newspaper for publication. Those that are printed before March 1, 1967, are then eligible for final judging. The winners will be announced at the Seminar's 10th annual session to be held in Springfield, April 14, 1967.

A Future in His Car

by MEREDYTH BUCKHOLZ

THIS IS THE CAR that won Leonard Pergander of Forest View High School an honorable mention and $25 in the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild National Competition. (16Y

You may think there isn't a future in building models, but Leonard Pergander disagrees.

Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild National competition of the 1965-66 season has presented Leonard, a senior at Forest View High School, with an honorable mention Award of $25 for a model car he entered in the contest.

Leonard's model entry was in competition for one of 1,078 awards totaling $117,000, of which $38,000 is in University Scholarships. The level of the quality of craftsmanship and originality of design was extremely high, competition officials reported.

ADMINISTRATOR OF the Craftsman's Guild, C. W. McClellan, said: "We feel that Leonard has attempted and accomplished a task well worth the praise of his school and community. We at the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild are proud of him, as I know you are."

Leonard entered the same type of competition two years ago in the junior division.

Leonard feels that "The Fisher Body Craftsman Guild is an organization that develops craftsmanship and creative ability among boys. It's amazing how a car like this can be built, but it's a task that every boy can do." (16Y

Palatine Homecoming Smacks of the Sea

by SHARON ORCHARD

Palatine High School's Homecoming theme, "Captains of the Sea," promises originality in the subject of floats. More difficult than past themes, it is causing clubs to exercise their imaginations.

Co-chairmen Mark Powell and Beata Abbs have announced the planned procedure and committee heads.

Debbie Clark and Donna Berg are managing the royal rally, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow (Friday). The rally, which is the first event of the celebrations, will be held outdoors if the weather permits.

Bob Young, Bill Gill, and Brian Scholl are handling bonfire arrangements. The bonfire will be ignited at 8:30 p.m. near the tennis courts.

THE FLOAT PARADE will assemble at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Palatine High. It will proceed down Wood Street to Brockway, south on Brockway to Palatine Road, east to Plum Grove Road, north to Colfax, east to Schubert, and south on Schubert to the starting point.

With Prospect High School as an opponent, the Fremd junior varsity game will begin at noon and the varsity game will begin at 2 p.m. During a 35-minute intermission, traditional homecoming events will be held.

The social committee, headed by Debbie Belt and Sue Peterson, is planning the homecoming dance to be held in the Fremd cafeteria Saturday evening from 8 to 11. Cost of the dance is $1.50 per couple.

Among the float themes are "Captains of the C" by the a capella choir, "Ship of Good Hope" by the Medical Careers Club, and "We'll Octopii the Knights" by the combined language clubs.

The junior class is doing "Moby Dick," and the seniors are doing "Captain Crunch." Each of Fremd's three classes will have a float. Slogan for the business careers club is "Pirates Pull for You," and the GAA slogan is "Sink 'Um." The science and auto clubs and FHA are portraying "No Ah Score for Knights."

THERE WILL be an American Field Service (AFS) float featuring Inge Bremer, student from West Germany; and the Boosters, parents of athletes, will have two cars in the parade. The Palatine High and Sanborn Grade School bands will play. The American Legion color guard will lead off the parade.

Grady Johnson's band has been hired to play at the dance where decorations will give the effect of a world under the sea.

The bandstand will resemble a sunken ship, and the queen and her attendants will be seated in giant clam shells. Hovering above the queen's throne will be a giant octopus. (16Y

RAMBLER AMERICAN!

NOW TYPHOON V-8 THUNDER COMES TO RAMBLER AMERICAN!

RAMBLER AMERICAN! Now—Typhoon V-8 Thunder comes to America's low-price economy champ. Choose the Six that's a Pure Oil Acceleration Champ, or a 290-cube Typhoon V-8 that unleashes 225 h.p. Try it with a 4-speed stick and specially tuned suspension. Safety features for now: energy-absorbing steering column, "lane-changer" turn signals, others.

Great New Warranty:
5-YEAR OR 50,000-MILE WARRANTY
5/50,000
ON ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN

In addition to 2-year or 24,000-mile warranty on the entire automobile, American Motors Corporation warrants the engine block, head and internal parts, water pump, intake manifold, transmission case and internal parts (expect manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle, differential and rear wheel bearings of its 1967 cars to be free from decets in material or workmanship for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first. The owner must change the engine oil and install new oil filter every six (6) months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, clean oil filler cap (filtered type) and carburetor air cleaner element every 4,000 miles and replace it every 24,000 miles and furnish evidence of this service to an Authorized American Motors Dealer every six (6) months and have him certify its receipt and the car's mileage. Further, American Motors Corporation so warrants the remainder of each car for 2 years or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, except tires (warranted by tire manufacturer). Any part so defective, will be repaired or replaced, in accordance with the applicable portion of the warranty, without charge at an Authorized American Motors Dealership. Owners are responsible for deterioration, misuse and normal maintenance. Quality built in—so the value stays in.

'Imagination' Called Key to Wards Catalog

Imaginative "fun" gifts, "mod" fashions, "pop" art, exotic accessories, imported giftware and people-like electronic toys are jam-packed into the season's newest bellweather of Christmas—the 484 page Montgomery Ward Christmas catalog—being distributed this week to six million households.

"This year's holiday gift selection of toys, dolls, games and novel and fun items for the entire family required a record 180 catalog pages of illustrations," Charles W. Wood, the company's merchandising vice president announced.

For the harassed business executive who practices marksmanship on wastebaskets, there is a miniature basketball backboard and hoop that attaches to the wastebasket. As a nostalgic improvement on the water pitcher, there is an old-fashioned hand bar pump. On the exotic side, gifts for men include antique Spanish sabres, Turkish water pipes and a cigarette lighter and identification bracelet, each with a built-in watch.

Different but personal, gifts for women include an electric hairbrush, electric comb, a watch in a ring, a portable electric dryer and "Princess Smart Belles"—exercising weights to keep the figure slim and trim.

There are 125 pages of fashions, accessories and apparel for women, girls, men and children in cotton, silk, dacron, leather and suede and very much in evidence is the new and popular Carnaby Street mod look. Mod "His 'n Her" matching Navy pea coats and corduroy sport coats are designed by Jonathan Burn and John Steiner of London. The catalog presents a special mod shop for little boys in sizes 3 to 6x.

The 180 page toy section includes toys that educate and amuse and many that can be heard as well as seen. They squeak, roar, rattle, ring, chirp, chime, chatter, chug, yip, beep and tick. There are radio controlled cars and airplanes, a gasoline driven "Hovercraft" that actually does hover ¾ of an inch off the ground, a musical railroad, and a big ear listening post that works on the same principle as missle tracking antennas.

Dolls—there are 30 pages to choose from—are an especially talented and active lot this year. They whisper, recite nursery rhymes, change from a smile to a pout, sneeze, roller skate, cry when pinched, and smile when tickled. Then, there is the Dawk—a doll that does nothing at all. It just stands in silent protest. (BB

Department Stores Called Biggest Liquor Competitors

"Most liquor retailers don't realize that during the holiday rush their strongest competition is coming from department stores, grocery stores and specialty shows not other liquor stores."

That's the opinion of marketing consultant Harvey Hirsch who spoke before more than 70 owners of Foremost Liquor Stores at their holiday merchandising meeting.

Hirsch, a marketing consultant with Fry Consultants, Inc., told the Foremost retailers that "holiday volume is primarily gift volume and the successful liquor store owner must come up with a marketing plan which is competitive with that of other gift sources."

HIRSCH ADDED that "the retailing year revolves around Christmas sales. But, the small retailer very often overlooks the fact that the success of his Christmas season can have an impact on the success of the following year."

Hirsch told the Foremost owners that small retailers must key their Christmas merchandising programs to carry over into increased sales the rest of the year.

"YOU MUST not allow yourself to rest easy after a successful holiday season," Hirsch said. "The only way to improve sales during the rest of the year is to maintain the excitement and competitiveness that sparked your holiday program. You have to realize that you are constantly competing for consumer spending and must take into account the year round that there are many categories of consumers——each with his distinct needs. If you are able to meet these individual needs, the holiday customer is likely to become a year-round customer." (BB

Scholarships Available to Employes, Kids

Norman A. Stepelton, president of National Tea Co., today announced a college scholarship program for company employes and children of employes.

He said that more than 100 scholarships, ranging from $250 to $1,000, will be awarded. The program is designed for part-time employes, who make up about half of the working force of National Tea's stores, for full-time employes who are 24 years of age or under, and for children of full-time employes.

Stepelton said scholarship applications have already been distributed to employees in more than 900 company stores in 20 states, and other company employees in offices, warehouses, manufacturing plants, produce plants and bakeries.

"The winners will be selected solely on the basis of ability," he said, "but the amount of each award will be determined by the individual's family financial situation."

In applying for a scholarship, National employes will take the scholastic aptitude test (S.A.T.) given at testing centers throughout the country during the fall school term. The S.A.T. is used by more than 600 colleges for admission purposes.

Hughes To Speak on Profit Plans

Russ Hughes, 210 E. Orchard Lane, Arlington Heights, CPA, managing partner of Hughes, Mueller and Co., certified public accountants, with offices in Chicago and Elgin, will speak to Rockford area businessmen Oct. 12 in a seminar sponsored by the Northern Chapter of the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants. The seminar will include four speakers presenting papers on profit planning, business financing, insurance and law.

The subject of Hughes' speech is, "Profit Planning Is More Than A Numbers Game." According to Hughes, "The management skills and personality traits of the chief executive of the local business are often more important to its success and growth than the sophistication of operating methods and techniques."

He is chairman of the public service and information committee of the 4,700 member Illinois Society of CPA's and is a member of the American Institute of CPA's. He also serves as secretary of the Fox Falley Credit and Financial Management Group and is president-elect of the Elgin Rotary Club.

Department Stores Called Biggest Liquor Competitors

"Most liquor retailers don't realize that during the holiday rush their strongest competition is coming from department stores, grocery stores and specialty shows not other liquor stores."

That's the opinion of marketing consultant Harvey Hirsch who spoke before more than 70 owners of Foremost Liquor Stores at their holiday merchandising meeting.

Hirsch, a marketing consultant with Fry Consultants, Inc., told the Foremost retailers that "holiday volume is primarily gift volume and the successful liquor store owner must come up with a marketing plan which is competitive with that of other gift sources."

HIRSCH ADDED that "the retailing year revolves around Christmas sales. But, the small retailer very often overlooks the fact that the success of his Christmas season can have an impact on the success of the following year."

Hirsch told the Foremost owners that small retailers must key their Christmas merchandising programs to carry over into increased sales the rest of the year.

"YOU MUST not allow yourself to rest easy after a successful holiday season," Hirsch said. "The only way to improve sales during the rest of the year is to maintain the excitement and competitiveness that sparked your holiday program. You have to realize that you are constantly competing for consumer spending and must take into account the year round that there are many categories of consumers——each with his distinct needs. If you are able to meet these individual needs, the holiday customer is likely to become a year-round customer." (BB

The Law Serves You

A Public Service of the ILLINOIS STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

The legal process involved in adoption of a child now is easier and takes less time than ever, the Illinois State Bar Association states in a revised pamphlet entitled "Adoption — A Family Matter of Legal Importance."

According to the ISBA, Illinois adoption laws encourage early placement of the child with the adopting parents. In some cases, the Association states, the court may take jurisdiction of the child within hours after birth, an arrangement which permits the adopting parents to receive the child directly from the hospital nursery.

Here are some of the points the ISBA makes in the pamphlet:

1. THERE IS no single source of children for adoption. A child may be obtained directly from the natural parents or legal guardian. However, the most common source for securing a child is through a licensed public or private agency authorized to place children for adoption.
2. No agency will attempt to place a child for adoption until he is legally available for adoption and the natural parents have fully surrendered the child and their rights to the child to the agency.
3. A licensed adoption agency requires that a child live with the adopting parents for a short period to test the new relationship. If all goes well, the child becomes available for adoption.
4. Any minor child may be adopted but if the child is 14 years of age or older he must agree to it. Under Illinois law, an adult may be adopted under certain conditions.
5. IT IS sometimes advisable for adopting parents to consider the adoption of an older child. And because of the lesser demand for them, older children are more readily available for adoption than are infant children.

The pamphlet lists the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, with offices in Springfield and Chicago, as one of the sources from which names of adoption agencies can be obtained. Requests for free copies of the pamphlet should be addressed to: Illinois State Bar Association, P.O. Box 2360, Springfield, Ill. 62705. (BB

Here are some of the points the ISBA makes in the pamphlet:

1. THERE IS no single source of children for adoption. A child may be obtained directly from the natural parents or legal guardian. However, the most common source for securing a child is through a licensed public or private agency authorized to place children for adoption.
2. No agency will attempt to place a child for adoption until he is legally available for adoption and the natural parents have fully surrendered the child and their rights to the child to the agency.
3. A licensed adoption agency requires that a child live with the adopting parents for a short period to test the new relationship. If all goes well, the child becomes available for adoption.
4. Any minor child may be adopted but if the child is 14 years of age or older he must agree to it. Under Illinois law, an adult may be adopted under certain conditions.
5. IT IS sometimes advisable for adopting parents to consider the adoption of an older child. And because of the lesser demand for them, older children are more readily available for adoption than are infant children.

The pamphlet lists the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, with offices in Springfield and Chicago, as one of the sources from which names of adoption agencies can be obtained. Requests for free copies of the pamphlet should be addressed to: Illinois State Bar Association, P.O. Box 2360, Springfield, Ill. 62705. (BB

As recently as five years ago the word "condominium" was practically unknown in this country. Today it's on everyone's lips. The condominium commotion is no flash in the pan, and if you don't know much about them, learn, because it's the way millions of us are going to live, and soon.

Condominium ownership (for it is a type of home ownership, not a form of architecture) has been used for centuries in Europe, but until recently the closest we got to it here was the co-operative. Then, the 1961 Housing Act made condominiums possible, and state after state passed the enabling statutes required. If your state hasn't done so, it probably will soon.

This column is inundated with questions about condominiums. Here are a few:

Q.—WHAT IS the difference between a condominium and a co-operative?—L.T.

A.—When you buy a condominium apartment you own it. In a co-operative you are a lessee of an apartment that is connected to a share of stock you own in a corporation. In a condominium, your mortgage is completely independent from all other unit owners and tailored to your own needs. You may have a small or a large mortgage or you may buy for all cash. You have no responsibility for your neighbor's mortgage, and you don't ever have to think about whether he's keeping up his payments. It can't affect you.

Q.—Why should I assume all the responsibilities of owning an apartment instead of just renting one?—T.S.

A.—There are so many advantages that condominiums are sprouting like mushrooms. For example, you may deduct municipal, school and other real estate taxes from the income you show on your Federal and State income tax returns. And apartment ownership is a hedge against inflation, because real estate values tend to increase in an inflationary period. While you enjoy apartment living, you are also making an investment, and your equity goes up every month as a real saving. You always have an asset against which you may borrow money in an emergency.

And that's just the starter. You aren't subject to the whim of a landlord. There is no landlord to prohibit pictures nailed to the wall or polka dot paint if you want it. You aren't held to a lease. You can sell or rent the unit anytime you wish, and there is nothing to prohibit you from making a profit.

You have something to say in the management of the building, and condominium owners take pride in the units they own. As owners of the land, the foundations, the walls and hallways and recreational facilities, they are naturally more careful of their property than if they were renters. You are a lot less likely to find scribblings on the hall walls and careless vandalism in condominiums.

Q.—I LIVE in a small town. I'd like to live in a condominium but they seem to be restricted to big cities. Is this true?—Mrs. A. B.

A.—Of course condominiums are more common in cities now, but they're new. Wait, and there is bound to be one near you, for the condominium concept will work anywhere.

Q.—IF EACH condominium is taxed separately, how do I know I might not have a higher tax to pay?—H.T.

A.—A typical state condominium law states that "in no event shall the aggregate of the assessments of the units, plus their common interests, exceed the total valuation of the property assessed as a parcel."

Q.—If there's no landlord, would I dare leave on vacation? —T.L.D

A.—Owners elect a board of managers, which directs condominium affairs. You're eligible to be on the board yourself. All services are the responsibility of the board, and you don't have to worry about heating, insurance, gardening, water charges, janitor service or repairs of common elements. It's all included in your monthly payment. You should feel easier about leaving on vacation from a condominium than from a house.

Bristol Court Homes Available in 6 Plans

"We wanted Bristol Court to have every conceivable luxury feature," says Jim Sellergren of Sellergren, Inc., "and we like to think we've succeeded. We've got the right setting—the right location—and the right kind of residences. And we're offering features that no other builder has been able to offer."

Ten dwelling units occupy three acres of a hilly, wooded 14-acre site—landscaped and maintained by a full-time staff. It is minutes away from downtown Park Ridge, commuter trains, O'Hare Field and recreation and shopping areas.

Six different floorplan arrangements are offered in one- and two-bedroom styles. All residences will be served by elevators and will be centrally heated and air conditioned. Building features include walk-in bays at all windows and garage parking at ground level.

Sellergren, Inc., the builders, also own Sellergren Interiors, an interior design firm, and Sellergren's staff of designers will be made available to Bristol Court residents. In fact, each resident unit can be customized to the taste of the resident: colonial, contemporary, traditional—any style or period.

Fully-furnished model apartments are open. Bristol Court is located at Dee and Talcott roads in the southwest side of Park Ridge. Hours are from 9:30 a.m. Monday through Saturday, from noon Sunday.

Entry Foyer Stressed In Runnymeade Models

The entry foyer has "arrived" at Runnymeade. All three furnished models in Mor-Well Builders' new Mount Prospect area community boast large reception room. None is smaller than 100 square feet, and two are a full two stories high complete with balconies overlooking the front door from a second floor gallery.

The Spanish style Cordoba split-level has a two-story foyer dominated by a projecting semi-circular platform atop the oak-railed staircase. Massive triangular planters flank a separate short broad stairway from the entry to the home's 20-foot living room. The foyer also leads to the large paneled family room at the rear. Priced at $36,250, the three level Cordoba has four bedrooms, 2½ baths, a two-car garage and a convenient ground floor laundry-utility room.

A similarly dramatic two-story entrance hall is a feature of the Colonial Stonebridge model, which is priced at $36,950. This home has four bedrooms, 2½ baths, separate living and formal dining rooms, a breakfast room, 20-foot family room, basement and a two-car garage.

THE RENFIELD, lowest-priced of the three models, has a traditional Colonial-style exterior that belies the contemporary layout of a multi-level interior centered on the 13-by-8-foot foyer.

The home has a two-level living-dining room beneath a cathedral ceiling. The dining section is on a balcony overlooking the living room. Priced at $31,750, the Renfield has three bedrooms, two baths, family room, basement and a two-car garage.

All Runnymeade homes include a kitchen with custom cabinets, built-in oven, range, dishwasher and waste disposer; ceramic tiled baths with cultured marble-topped vanities; paneled, finished family room with insulated glass patio doors; oak hardwood floors and oak stair rails.

EACH HOME'S price also includes the fully improved homesite with concrete driveway.

The Runnymeade models located just south of Euclid (Lake) Avenue on River Road (Route 45), are open for inspection every day of the week from 10 a.m. until dark. (RE

DRIVE OUT THIS WEEKEND AND SEE THE COLOR, THE BEAUTY, THE MAGIC AS YOU'VE NEVER SEEN IT BEFORE

A BEAUTIFUL,

SPRING-FED LAKE

Lake Redstone is spring-fed . . . a big, beautiful lake with 17½ miles of breathtaking shoreline. Its quiet waters are perfect for swimming, water sports, and fishing (or winter ice-skating and ice-boating).

A PERFECT LOCATION

Lake Redstone is in the heart of the most popular Chicagoland vacation area . . . near The Wisconsin Dells and Baraboo, but away from the commercialized areas. U. S. I-90, the superhighway that links Lake Redstone with Chicago, is a fast, safe, stoplight-free expressway all the way to the Loop.

A SECOND-HOME HEAVEN

Lake Redstone is the ideal place for your second home: it's an environment completely different from routine urban-suburban living. Four seasons of the year, you can drive up Friday after work, spend a happy, carefree weekend at the lake, and drive back Monday morning refreshed and relaxed.

Lake Redstone

Where You Can Own Land Now for the Second Home of Your Dreams...and Only Three Hours from Chicago

IT'S FUN TO VISIT LAKE REDSTONE

Stroll down the unusual "Talking Nature Trail"

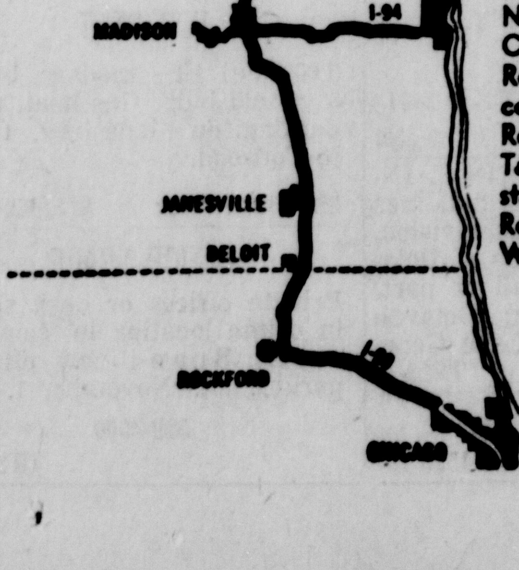
Ride the rustic buckboard back to the property office.

See the lake from the comfortable decks of our pontoon boats.

Enjoy magnificent vistas of incomparable beauty.

WHEN WINTER COMES . . . Lake Redstone is a winter wonderland, with a ski-hill toboggan hill, and other winter sports. (Incidentally, the snow is clean and white.)

These are all unretouched photos of actual scenes taken at Lake Redstone



Just follow I-90 (which begins as the Kennedy-Northwest Expressway in Chicago) to Wisconsin Route 23 (second Wisconsin Dells turnoff, Reedsburg & Lake Delton). Take 23 to Route 33, then stay on 33 through Reedsburg to La Valle, Wis.

PROPERTY OFFICE OPEN DAILY, 10 A.M. TO DUSK

NOTICE! PROPERTY VALUES AT LAKE REDSTONE ARE INCREASING.

A BEAUTIFUL,
SPRING-FED LAKE

Lake Redstone is spring-fed . . . a big, beautiful lake with 17½ miles of breathtaking shoreline. Its quiet waters are perfect for swimming, water sports, and fishing (or winter ice-skating and ice-boating).

A PERFECT LOCATION

Lake Redstone is in the heart of the most popular Chicagoland vacation area . . . near The Wisconsin Dells and Baraboo, but away from the commercialized areas. U. S. I-90, the superhighway that links Lake Redstone with Chicago, is a fast, safe, stoplight-free expressway all the way to the Loop.

A SECOND-HOME HEAVEN

Lake Redstone is the ideal place for your second home: it's an environment completely different from routine urban-suburban living. Four seasons of the year, you can drive up Friday after work, spend a happy, carefree weekend at the lake, and drive back Monday morning refreshed and relaxed.

It's the 'Zingiest'

Corduroy: Fabric for Fall

Whatever style you pick for your fall wardrobe—whether it's Mod, Western or military—you can be sure it's "in" if it's in cotton corduroy.

Always a natural favorite for fall, corduroy is even more so this year—so much so, in fact, that mills can't keep up with the demand from fashion designers and piecegoods departments.

Why all the excitement about a fabric that has been around since the days of the American Revolution? For one thing, corduroy takes beautifully to the contemporary lines of fashion that require a full-bodied fabric. It interprets the Mod styling, the Western influence or the military trend with equal aplomb.

BUT MORE than that, corduroy has taken on new dimensions. At a time when the fashion world has gone daft over prints, corduroy has met the challenge and come up with some of the season's zingiest. Stripes, florals, geometrics, paisleys. . .you name it and you'll find it in corduroy.

Another reason for corduroy's dominance is the wealth of its wales. Where only one or two different wales used to prevail, now there's an abundance of varieties. One major textile firm, for example, produces 26 distinct types—ranging from fine wales (21 to the inch) to bulky ones (four to the inch). In between, there are the corduroys that combine thick and thin ribs for an unusual look—and some with wavy or novelty-cut ribs for a sculptured effect.

Add to this the different weights of corduroy, and it's easy to see why the fabric is enjoying so much popularity this season. The lighter weights have a lustrous, velvety appearance, while the heavier weights come in deep colors which appear unusually rich and vibrant due to the loft.

WITH CORDUROY sales increasing so much, stores report some of the most frequently asked questions are:

How can you keep corduroy new looking? All-cotton corduroy is one of the original easy-care fabrics that can be both washed and dried by machine with little or no ironing required.

To give corduroy a better appearance after washing, however, the National Cotton Council suggests that you gently brush the pile downward with a soft brush while the fabric is still damp. Or give it a light once-over with the iron on the wrong side. Put a cotton terry towel on the ironing board to cushion the pile and keep it from matting.

Another laundry tip from the Council: to keep lint from clinging to the pile, turn corduroy garments inside out before laundering.

CORDUROY garments with non-washable linings and trimmings or heavy garments like coats or jackets should be dry cleaned.

Will the colors run? Most corduroys are colorfast, but some may run and should washed separately. Check the label before buying to make sure. A simple color test is to take a white handkerchief and rub the surface of the fabric briskly. If the color comes off, you can expect it to rub off on other clothing.

How do you sew it? Since corduroy is a pile fabric, the most important rule is: make sure the pile runs in the same direction for all pattern pieces. Otherwise, your garment will appear to be made of different shades of fabric because of the reflection of light. To make sure, brush your hand lightly over the fabric to feel the difference.

THE PRINTED SUIT, a summer fashion hit from coast to coast, gets a fresh new look this fall in cotton corduroy. Always a fall favorite, corduroy takes on new dimensions this season, coming in a variety of prints, wale widths and weights.

How Women Feel About 'The Pill'

By BILLIE BACHHUBER

Results of studies and investigations into the use of the birth control pill are filtering through to the public in magazine and newspaper articles. According to statistics compiled by one group study, a large percentage of young married women wholeheartedly support use of "the pill."

Indications are there are various side effects in taking "the pill," some undesirable and others amusing, pleasing or profitable, according to your particular viewpoint.

U. S. brassiere manufacturers recently stated that the average brassiere size, which had remained more or less static for many years, has taken a giant leap forward. "The pill?" Apparently that was suggestion enough to send hopeful ladies all over the country stampeding to their doctors to request "the pill."

A NATIONAL magazine published an article by an M.D. that assured older women they need never grow old. "The pill" supposedly will keep them wrinkle-free, firm and vigorous practically forever.

Asked to express themselves on "the pill," northwest suburban women varied in their opinions from enthusiastic endorsement to decided opposition. Some felt it had not yet had sufficient testing to be sure of its effects.

One suburban woman in her middle years laughed as she remarked, "Well, I don't think the birth control pill has anything to do with the expanding size of ladies' brassieres. I think there are other good reasons for that. The younger generation of girls is taller and bigger than their mothers.

"AS FAR AS I personally am concerned," she added, "I wear a larger size than I did because I have gained weight."

Another woman commented, I think the automatic washers and dryers shrink the fabric so we are buying larger sizes. As far as that 'young and vigorous' bit goes, who needs it? I am happy to let nature take its course!"

A tall and striking-appearing young matron, whose proportions Mrs. America would envy, admitted she uses the birth control pill for health reasons. Her measurement has increased considerably since she began using "the pill," she said, and her doctor of several years' standing attributes the increase to "the pill."

Expressing doubts because of lack of evidence over the long run use of the pill were several women of various ages.

ONE MOTHER of four commented, "It's too soon to tell how 'the pill' is going to affect women in the long run. I am not going to be part of the experiment."

Looking slightly embarrassed, a young grandmother remarked, "I think I would be tempted to take it if I were in my 20's or 30's. As it is, I find myself worrying about so many young women taking "the pill," when we really aren't sure of what it might do to them.

"It's supposed to be safe, but will we really know until 20 or so years from now?"

"If I were a young woman, I wouldn't risk taking them," declared a women in her mid-forties who had radical breast surgery several years ago.

A NON-USER herself and a college graduate, she cited the case of two acquaintances, one a newly-married woman and the other near menopausal age, who allegedly developed breast cancer several months after starting to take "the pill." Each had a physical check-up before starting usage and took the pills under doctor's care, the woman said.

"The medical profession hasn't had time to test properly the hazards involved," she asserted, "and I'm against using it."

The same conservative view was expressed by another woman of middle age. "I wouldn't want to be used as a guinea pig, and I feel I would like to see the pill used throughout a woman's child-bearing years with no ill effects on either mother or babies before I'd want my daughter to use it."

A FRIEND of this woman disagreed. "I'm all for the pill, and I wish the church (Roman Catholic) would approve it. I hope by the time my daughters are married there will be a definitely proven safe way to plan your family that is church-approved."

Enthusiastic endorsement also came from a young expectant mother.

"I took 'the pill' for two years with absolutely no side effects whatsoever," she said. "It almost immediately regulated an irregular menstrual cycle, and when we decided we wanted a baby, I stopped taking it. In two months I was pregnant.

"I intend resuming use of 'the pill' as soon as my doctor okays it," she added.

"THE PILL has a definite place in our modern society," replied a registered nurse. "There are parents who desire and need the 98 per cent safe method provided by 'the pill' to space their families, and there's no other method that even comes close to that except total abstinence."

She said she was a non-user herself because of a heart problem.

"One of the side effects is fluid retention, and that makes the heart work harder," the nurse explained.

She said she did take 'the pill' briefly to help prevent miscarriage and suffered nausea, which she had not experienced in two previous pregnancies.

A dissenting voice among the young married women was a glamorous looking cosmotologist.

"I'M AFRAID of them," she admitted.

She cited the experience of her sister who wanted to limit her family after four children and took "the pill." She became nauseated, but her doctor said that might be mental attitude and advised continued use. The sister finally had to give up "the pill when she could not overcome the nausea, and almost immediately she became pregnant.

Most unfavorable comment came either from non-users or women of middle age. Young married women who use "the pill' were its most enthusiastic supporters.

The 22-year-old mother of two small children reported a slight mental depression for three months upon first using "the pill" but not subsequent ill effects. The marital relationship now is more relaxed and content and family life better adjusted as a result, she commented.

GIVEN permission by her parish priest to use the pill, a Roman Catholic user, who has had three Caesarian births, reported no side effects at all. After two years of use, she is "very pleased" with results, she said. The marital relationship is more calm and she also felt this influenced home life advantageously.

A 21-year-old mother of three small children plans to use the pill as soon as her doctor says it is all right. She had reservations at first but now feels it is safe and believes using "the pill" will help not only the family relationship but the budget.

One enthusiastic user who suffered no side effects said she is concerned about its effects on future generations.

A 28-YEAR-OLD mother of two who is taking advantage of the recent listing of the three-year ban for pill users said she is "ecstatic" about "the pill." She believes women who receive aid for dependent children should be given the birth control pill instead. She said she would rather pay taxes for prevention than contribute to support of illegitimate children.

The last word comes from a middle-aged mother of a larger than average sized family.

"When I was younger I sometimes felt there were many more worthwhile and interesting things to do than raising a family. Now that our older children have departed 'the nest,' I thank God our home still is filled with the laughter, involvement and excitement of growing youngsters.

"I honestly believe it's a real and valuable contribution to society to raise a well-adjusted, tolerant and responsible family."

They're Few in Number but Growing

The Suburban Policewoman: Chic and Sympathetic

YOUTH CAN BE AN ASSET in dealing with juveniles, believes Joan Hujanen, Mount Prospect's first policewoman and one of the few women in the northwest suburban area who is a full-fledged police officer. Because she is young, says Miss Hujanen, she can "empathize" with young people in trouble with the law who come under her jurisdiction. Petticoat police officers, however, are still a rarity, and area police chiefs are divided in their opinion as to the benefit of having women working as regular police officers.

(Staff photo)

by BETTY FORRESTER
Staff Writer

Few suburban police officers wear petticoats, but the distaff side of the police forces is growing.

Unlike the stern police-stereotype, the northwest suburban policewoman is generally a chic, sympathetic young woman who has combined the art of understanding young people with a knowledge of the law and a stamp of legal authority to be used when needed.

"I think you'll be seeing more and more policewomen in the suburbs," Miss Joan Hujanen, a six-year veteran on the Mount Prospect police force, commented recently.

MOUNT PROSPECT'S first policewoman, Miss Hujanen is one of very few women in the northwest suburbs who has the full authority of a police officer. A second full-fledged policewoman is Miss Virginia Rakocinski, Skokie.

Among the other suburbs with policewomen are Wilmette, Aurora, Northfield and Oak Park. Addison, Itasca, Rolling Meadows, Wood Dale, Wheeling and a number of other communities have women working in their station radio rooms. Most suburban communities use police matrons occasionally to handle women prisoners, and a large number of communities have hired women as crossing guards, meter maids and radio operators.

SUPERIOR IN rank to the now-common meter maid, crossing guard, matron and radio operator, the suburban policewoman is usually given the title of detective and assigned to juvenile work.

"There are certain areas in police work where a woman can work better than a man," Miss Rakocinski said, noting that some youths respond better to a policewoman than to a policeman.

Miss Hujanen, commenting on the fact that she and a number of other policewomen in the suburbs are quite young, said she felt it was definitely an asset to be young when working with juveniles.

"YOU AREN'T so old that you've forgotten what it's like to be young," she said, noting that she could empathize with many of the young people who came into the Mount Prospect station.

Miss Rakocinski said she has had the same police training as the men on the Skokie force. At the time she attended the police academy in Chicago, she was the only woman in a class of 300 police trainees.

In Skokie, Miss Rakocinski has the rank of detective and spends most of her time solving juvenile problems. However, she said, she is sometimes called upon to accompany a patrolman in making an arrest and does some work with adult women offenders.

Explaining her role on the Mount Prospect force, Miss Hujanen said her "non-typical, typical" day consists of some patrol work, station adjustments, investigation of complaints about juveniles and occasional work with women prisoners.

Although both policewomen said their work is legal rather than social, they admitted that some of what they do borders on social work. Miss Rakocinski pointed out that about 90 per cent of Skokie's juvenile problems are solved in the police station rather than through court procedures. Many times youths are referred to social agencies rather than to family court, she said.

"ALTHOUGH police don't like to have their work labeled 'social work,' sometimes they must fill welfare functions," Miss Hujanen said.

Both women agreed that the training they had had in the social sciences helped them with their work. Miss Rakocinski, a chemistry major while in college, had worked with young people in her church before joining the Skokie police force two years ago. Since that time she has taken some special, police-oriented social science courses.

Miss Hujanen is now completing work on her bachelor's degree in psychology at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb. She said she plans to do graduate work in psychology too.

A NUMBER of police chiefs from the northwest suburbs said they felt policewomen would definitely be an asset to their police forces. Most, however, said that present budgetary demands prevented them from hiring women.

"This is a field women could definitely get into, especially in detective and investigative work," said Wheeling Police Chief M. O. Horcher, when asked if he felt there was a place for women on the suburban police force. "The main problem," he said, "would arise in the routine patrol work."

Wood Dale Police Chief Ray Wood said there was "very definitely" a need for women in juvenile work. "The need is always there, omnipresent," he said, adding that the problem was one of finding funds to hire policewomen.

SCHAUMBURG Police Chief Martin J. Conroy noted, "As the department grows there will probably be a call for policewomen, but certainly not at this point where we have only six police officers."

Itasca police said that there were not enough cases of women breaking the law to warrant hiring a full-time policewoman.

Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Calderwood said he was against the idea of policewomen working with juveniles. He said that although his department had talked about hiring women, he felt that there would be too much repetition in the handling of juveniles if the village were to have women juvenile officers.

"The youngsters have their mothers and women teachers taking care of them," he said. "Some psychologists and sociologists feel there is too much intervention of women in juvenile problems. We feel this is a place for a man to step in."

How Women Feel About 'The Pill'

By BILLIE BACHHUBER

Results of studies and investigations into the use of the birth control pill are filtering through to the public in magazine and newspaper articles. According to statistics compiled by one group study, a large percentage of young married women wholeheartedly support use of "the pill."

Indications are there are various side effects in taking "the pill," some undesirable and others amusing, pleasing or profitable, according to your particular viewpoint.

U. S. brassiere manufacturers recently stated that the average brassiere size, which had remained more or less static for many years, has taken a giant leap forward. "The pill?" Apparently that was suggestion enough to send hopeful ladies all over the country stampeding to their doctors to request "the pill."

A NATIONAL magazine published an article by an M.D. that assured older women they need never grow old. "The pill" supposedly will keep them wrinkle-free, firm and vigorous practically forever.

Asked to express themselves on "the pill," northwest suburban women varied in their opinions from enthusiastic endorsement to decided opposition. Some felt it had not yet had sufficient testing to be sure of its effects.

One suburban woman in her middle years laughed as she remarked, "Well, I don't think the birth control pill has anything to do with the expanding size of ladies' brassieres. I think there are other good reasons for that. The younger generation of girls is taller and bigger than their mothers.

"AS FAR AS I personally am concerned," she added, "I wear a larger size than I did because I have gained weight."

Another woman commented, I think the automatic washers and dryers shrink the fabric so we are buying larger sizes. As far as that 'young and vigorous' bit goes, who needs it? I am happy to let nature take its course!"

A tall and striking-appearing young matron, whose proportions Mrs. America would envy, admitted she uses the birth control pill for health reasons. Her measurement has increased considerably since she began using "the pill," she said, and her doctor of several years' standing attributes the increase to "the pill."

Expressing doubts because of lack of evidence over the long run use of the pill were several women of various ages.

ONE MOTHER of four commented, "It's too soon to tell how 'the pill' is going to affect women in the long run. I am not going to be part of the experiment."

Looking slightly embarrassed, a young grandmother remarked, "I think I would be tempted to take it if I were in my 20's or 30's. As it is, I find myself worrying about so many young women taking "the pill," when we really aren't sure of what it might do to them.

"It's supposed to be safe, but will we really know until 20 or so years from now?"

"If I were a young woman, I wouldn't risk taking them," declared a women in her mid-forties who had radical breast surgery several years ago.

A NON-USER herself and a college graduate, she cited the case of two acquaintances, one a newly-married woman and the other near menopausal age, who allegedly developed breast cancer several months after starting to take "the pill." Each had a physical check-up before starting usage and took the pills under doctor's care, the woman said.

"The medical profession hasn't had time to test properly the hazards involved," she asserted, "and I'm against using it."

The same conservative view was expressed by another woman of middle age. "I wouldn't want to be used as a guinea pig, and I feel I would like to see the pill used throughout a woman's child-bearing years with no ill effects on either mother or babies before I'd want my daughter to use it."

A FRIEND of this woman disagreed. "I'm all for the pill, and I wish the church (Roman Catholic) would approve it. I hope by the time my daughters are married there will be a definitely proven safe way to plan your family that is church-approved."

Enthusiastic endorsement also came from a young expectant mother.

"I took 'the pill' for two years with absolutely no side effects whatsoever," she said. "It almost immediately regulated an irregular menstrual cycle, and when we decided we wanted a baby, I stopped taking it. In two months I was pregnant.

"I intend resuming use of 'the pill' as soon as my doctor okays it," she added.

"THE PILL has a definite place in our modern society," replied a registered nurse. "There are parents who desire and need the 98 per cent safe method provided by 'the pill' to space their families, and there's no other method that even comes close to that except total abstinence."

She said she was a non-user herself because of a heart problem.

"One of the side effects is fluid retention, and that makes the heart work harder," the nurse explained.

She said she did take 'the pill' briefly to help prevent miscarriage and suffered nausea, which she had not experienced in two previous pregnancies.

A dissenting voice among the young married women was a glamorous looking cosmotologist.

"I'M AFRAID of them," she admitted.

She cited the experience of her sister who wanted to limit her family after four children and took "the pill." She became nauseated, but her doctor said that might be mental attitude and advised continued use. The sister finally had to give up "the pill when she could not overcome the nausea, and almost immediately she became pregnant.

Most unfavorable comment came either from non-users or women of middle age. Young married women who use "the pill' were its most enthusiastic supporters.

The 22-year-old mother of two small children reported a slight mental depression for three months upon first using "the pill" but not subsequent ill effects. The marital relationship now is more relaxed and content and family life better adjusted as a result, she commented.

GIVEN permission by her parish priest to use the pill, a Roman Catholic user, who has had three Caesarian births, reported no side effects at all. After two years of use, she is "very pleased" with results, she said. The marital relationship is more calm and she also felt this influenced home life advantageously.

A 21-year-old mother of three small children plans to use the pill as soon as her doctor says it is all right. She had reservations at first but now feels it is safe and believes using "the pill" will help not only the family relationship but the budget.

One enthusiastic user who suffered no side effects said she is concerned about its effects on future generations.

A 28-YEAR-OLD mother of two who is taking advantage of the recent listing of the three-year ban for pill users said she is "ecstatic" about "the pill." She believes women who receive aid for dependent children should be given the birth control pill instead. She said she would rather pay taxes for prevention than contribute to support of illegitimate children.

The last word comes from a middle-aged mother of a larger than average sized family.

"When I was younger I sometimes felt there were many more worthwhile and interesting things to do than raising a family. Now that our older children have departed 'the nest,' I thank God our home still is filled with the laughter, involvement and excitement of growing youngsters.

"I honestly believe it's a real and valuable contribution to society to raise a well-adjusted, tolerant and responsible family."

They're Few in Number but Growing

The Suburban Policewoman: Chic and Sympathetic

YOUTH CAN BE AN ASSET in dealing with juveniles, believes Joan Hujanen, Mount Prospect's first policewoman and one of the few women in the northwest suburban area who is a full-fledged police officer. Because she is young, says Miss Hujanen, she can "empathize" with young people in trouble with the law who come under her jurisdiction. Petticoat police officers, however, are still a rarity, and area police chiefs are divided in their opinion as to the benefit of having women working as regular police officers.

Few suburban police officers wear petticoats, but the distaff side of the police forces is growing.

Unlike the stern police-stereotype, the northwest suburban policewoman is generally a chic, sympathetic young woman who has combined the art of understanding young people with a knowledge of the law and a stamp of legal authority to be used when needed.

"I think you'll be seeing more and more policewomen in the suburbs," Miss Joan Hujanen, a six-year veteran on the Mount Prospect police force, commented recently.

MOUNT PROSPECT'S first policewoman, Miss Hujanen is one of very few women in the northwest suburbs who has the full authority of a police officer. A second full-fledged policewoman is Miss Virginia Rakocinski, Skokie.

Among the other suburbs with policewomen are Wilmette, Aurora, Northfield and Oak Park. Addison, Itasca, Rolling Meadows, Wood Dale, Wheeling and a number of other communities have women working in their station radio rooms. Most suburban communities use police matrons occasionally to handle women prisoners, and a large number of communities have hired women as crossing guards, meter maids and radio operators.

SUPERIOR IN rank to the now-common meter maid, crossing guard, matron and radio operator, the suburban policewoman is usually given the title of detective and assigned to juvenile work.

"There are certain areas in police work where a woman can work better than a man," Miss Rakocinski said, noting that some youths respond better to a policewoman than to a policeman.

Miss Hujanen, commenting on the fact that she and a number of other policewomen in the suburbs are quite young, said she felt it was definitely an asset to be young when working with juveniles.

"YOU AREN'T so old that you've forgotten what it's like to be young," she said, noting that she could empathize with many of the young people who came into the Mount Prospect station.

Miss Rakocinski said she has had the same police training as the men on the Skokie force. At the time she attended the police academy in Chicago, she was the only woman in a class of 300 police trainees.

In Skokie, Miss Rakocinski has the rank of detective and spends most of her time solving juvenile problems. However, she said, she is sometimes called upon to accompany a patrolman in making an arrest and does some work with adult women offenders.

Explaining her role on the Mount Prospect force, Miss Hujanen said her "non-typical, typical" day consists of some patrol work, station adjustments, investigation of complaints about juveniles and occasional work with women prisoners.

Although both policewomen said their work is legal rather than social, they admitted that some of what they do borders on social work. Miss Rakocinski pointed out that about 90 per cent of Skokie's juvenile problems are solved in the police station rather than through court procedures. Many times youths are referred to social agencies rather than to family court, she said.

"ALTHOUGH police don't like to have their work labeled 'social work,' sometimes they must fill welfare functions," Miss Hujanen said.

Both women agreed that the training they had had in the social sciences helped them with their work. Miss Rakocinski, a chemistry major while in college, had worked with young people in her church before joining the Skokie police force two years ago. Since that time she has taken some special, police-oriented social science courses.

Miss Hujanen is now completing work on her bachelor's degree in psychology at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb. She said she plans to do graduate work in psychology too.

A NUMBER of police chiefs from the northwest suburbs said they felt policewomen would definitely be an asset to their police forces. Most, however, said that present budgetary demands prevented them from hiring women.

"This is a field women could definitely get into, especially in detective and investigative work," said Wheeling Police Chief M. O. Horcher, when asked if he felt there was a place for women on the suburban police force. "The main problem," he said, "would arise in the routine patrol work."

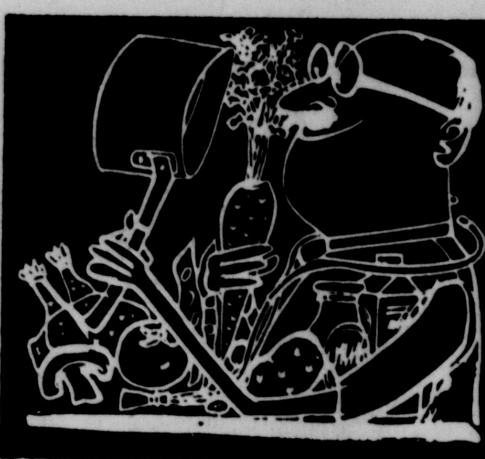
Wood Dale Police Chief Ray Wood said there was "very definitely" a need for women in juvenile work. "The need is always there, omnipresent," he said, adding that the problem was one of finding funds to hire policewomen.

SCHAUMBURG Police Chief Martin J. Conroy noted, "As the department grows there will probably be a call for policewomen, but certainly not at this point where we have only six police officers."

Itasca police said that there were not enough cases of women breaking the law to warrant hiring a full-time policewoman.

Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Calderwood said he was against the idea of policewomen working with juveniles. He said that although his department had talked about hiring women, he felt that there would be too much repetition in the handling of juveniles if the village were to have women juvenile officers.

"The youngsters have their mothers and women teachers taking care of them," he said. "Some psychologists and sociologists feel there is too much intervention of women in juvenile problems. We feel this is a place for a man to step in."



Doctor in the Kitchen

by Dr. W. W. Bauer

Twenty years ago this month the United States launched a national program of the greatest significance to the growing children of our nation. It was the National School Lunch Program.

Long before that, concerned physicians and public health workers, as well as educators, had realized that poor nutrition in children was not only a danger to their health but a detriment to their learning capacity.

Many local efforts were made to meet the challenge. The distribution of milk at the morning recess time was one of the first. Pediatricians objected to this on the ground that it interfered with appetite for lunch.

TEACHERS and public health nurses observed that many children came to school without breakfast, for a variety of reasons, including just plain shiftlessness of parents in some instances. Distribution of milk was therefore undertaken, in many areas, just before the opening of school in the morning.

As school and home became more and more distant and more and more parents worked all day, it became evident that more than just milk was required. Many children brought lunches which were woefully inadequate nutritionally, though often appetite-satisfying enough. Educators and public health workers deplored the lack of educational impact in the mere distribution of milk, despite the fact that this partially filled a serious deficiency.

So was born the National School Lunch Program, administered through the U.S. Department of Agriculture and state departments of education. Federal funds reimburse the local communities for part of the cost of the food, most of which is purchased locally. Some foods are purchased by the Department of Agriculture, and some surplus foods are also distributed from this source.

All schools, private as well as public, are eligible, provided they operate on a nonprofit basis. The school lunch, too, must be operated on this basis. The lunch must conform to the established standard, providing one third of the day's nutritional needs for a 9 to 12-year-old boy. This means:

One-half pint fluid whole milk as a beverage;

Two ounces of lean meat, poultry or fish; or

Two ounces of cheese,or one egg, or ½ cup cooked dry beans or peas, or four tablespoons of peanut butter, or

An equivalent quantity of any combination of the above-listed foods served in a main dish;

A ¾-cup serving of two or more vegetables or fruits or both, or full-strength fruit or vegetable juice may be substituted for ¼ of this requirement.

With increasing numbers of children taking their noon meal at the school, the importance of such a lunch is obvious. Even more important, perhaps, is the educational opportunity presented and the nutrition habits formed when children experience the pleasure of good eating and improvement in their health.

National School Lunch week, observed each October by Presidential Proclamation, is a significant recognition of a monumental contribution to the nation's health through its greatest wealth — its children.

Arboretum Is Garden Club Tour

A field trip to the Morton Arboretum is being planned by the conservation and garden committee of the Arlington Heights Woman's Club for Thursday, Oct. 13.

Members and guests will leave by bus at 9:30 a.m. from Arlington Market and return at 3 p.m.

Nancy Boston Is Aug. 27 Bride of Dennis Blakely

A blind date three years ago—but not with each other — brought about the meeting of Nancy Boston of Prospect Heights and Dennis Blakely of Roselle and later led to romance and their marriage on Aug. 27. It was a double date in which each was with another person but a "change of partners" followed in future dates.

The bride, daughter of the William Bostons of 202 Lonsdale, Prospect Heights, came down the aisle of St. Alphonsus Church for the double ring ceremony which took place at 2 in the afternoon.

THE GROOM, son of Mrs. Rose Vege of Roselle and Delbert Blakely of Mount Prospect, met her at the altar to exchange vows before their families and friends.

The couple was attended by the bride's sister, Diane Boston, as maid of honor and the groom's brother, Delbert Blakely Jr. of Roselle, as best man. Also in the wedding party were the groom's sister, Pamela Blakely, and Jill Blank of Wheeling as bridesmaids and ushers William Boston Jr., brother of the bride, and Jack Kriesse of Des Plaines.

THE BRIDE wore a floor-length sheath dress of white antique satin, enhanced with lace appliques set with teardrop crystals. The appliques edged the oval neckline and the slim skirt. A cape of imported French lace with a scalloped edging flowed from the back of the shoulders.

A clover-shaped lace crown set with crystals and pearls held her short illusion veil in place, and she carried Amazon lilies in a cascade arrangement. As "something old" she also carried a sterling silver rosary which had been her grandmother's.

The bridal attendants were all gowned alike in yellow linen A-line dresses, the bodices covered with white daisy appliques. To match their gowns, which were floor-length, the girls carried white and yellow daisies.

AS MRS. BOSTON witnessed her daughter's wedding, she wore an olive green organdy dress with matching coat and had a yellow cymbidium corsage. Mrs. Vege wore a pink crepe dress with a white bodice, and her corsage was of pink cymbidiums.

A buffet dinner and dancing at Mount Prospect VFW Hall followed for the newlyweds and their 250 guests. The couple then left for a week's wedding trip to Niagara Falls.

They are living in Schiller Park, while the bride works for Goodyear Tire Co., Elk Grove, and the groom for Blakely Motors in Chicago. Both were graduated from Prospect High School. (Jenart (S

Hello Hostess

by MARY KAY ROBBINS

"A family going on vacation deserves a lot of credit," proclaimed our favorite summer ad. By the time you read this, all those credit card bills from vacation will be in — and, hopefully, paid. But now we are still unpacking from a trip through the west and southwest: one month, 6,647 miles and about six million calories. (Travel is so broadening!)

And what's it like to be a guest in the West? Perfectly delightful.

Here are a few highlights — strictly personal impressions that might be of interest to you as a hostess.

CARE AND FLAIR characterize California entertaining. Your hostess spends less effort showing you what a wonderful cook and homemaker she is, more showing you how glad she is to see you.

Meals may be as simple as sandwiches and salad — but served in unusual ways and in unusual places. On a backyard deck, for instance, overlooking the lights of Los Angeles. Or from a surfboard, doubling as buffet table at a beach picnic.

Open House is a way of life. The handsomest houses feature one giant room used for cooking, dining, family living and entertaining. And the hospitality is as open as the planning.

ALSO NOTED: A Twist to Whist by the college students around Pomona. Yes, Whist — your grandmother probably played it. Everywhere, games, games, games. Dominoes, Monopoly and other old standards. Plus such recent entries as "Indian," a wild, wild poker game that's wildly popular around San Antonio.

Mexico-a-go-go . . . tempting items from south of the border, vended in street stalls or the smartest shops. Colorful pinatas —one, a Batman. Papier mache jewelry and table accessories. And huge, handmade paper flowers:. frankly fake, fakely fabulous and almost impossible to resist.

Help for the hostess everywhere. One-stop party shops. Long lists of party services in the phone book yellow pages. Party parlors and Funtier rooms at restaurants and parks. Even party wagons that bring refreshments and entertainment right to you. One advertises: "You furnish the guests; we'll do the rest."

But the Best of the West — or any trip — is getting home. And we agree completely with the returning vacationer who mailed his hosts picture postcards showing attractions of his own hometown. The message: "Having a wonderful time — so glad to be back here."

R.S.V.P.: And did you have a FUNderful time on your vacation? We wish you'd share any good ideas you picked up — now games, centerpieces or trends in entertaining. Just write, "Hello, Hostess." C/o this newspaper.

PARTY LINE: An experienced hostess suggests:

"We find that a large get-together starts off livelier when guests are part of the party. Beforehand, we write out tags, each listing a small duty. A guest draws a tag from a hat and writes his name under the message, pinning it on himself. Some jobs are: 'I'll hang up your wraps' or 'Call me if anything spills.' Other pleasant chores are 'I'm serving dessert' or 'I'll introduce you to someone you don't know.' Not to mention, 'Lucky me, I'm not doing anything.' "

These sound like a fine idea for almost any gathering. You know, giving a shy guest a small responsibility is the easiest way to put him at his ease.

GAME OF THE WEEK: Carrier Pigeon Relay — Give each team member a drinking straw. Give the first in line pieces of tissue paper (about 3 by 5 inches). Player must keep the paper on end of his straw by inhaling as he runs across room and back, flapping his arms like wings. The "message" is transferred to next team member without using the hands. A blind date three years ago—but not with each other — brought about the meeting of Nancy Boston of Prospect Heights and Dennis Blakely of Roselle and later led to romance and their marriage on Aug. 27. It was a double date in which each was with another person but a "change of partners" followed in future dates.

The bride, daughter of the William Bostons of 202 Lonsdale, Prospect Heights, came down the aisle of St. Alphonsus Church for the double ring ceremony which took place at 2 in the afternoon.

THE GROOM, son of Mrs. Rose Vege of Roselle and Delbert Blakely of Mount Prospect, met her at the altar to exchange vows before their families and friends.

The couple was attended by the bride's sister, Diane Boston, as maid of honor and the groom's brother, Delbert Blakely Jr. of Roselle, as best man. Also in the wedding party were the groom's sister, Pamela Blakely, and Jill Blank of Wheeling as bridesmaids and ushers William Boston Jr., brother of the bride, and Jack Kriesse of Des Plaines.

THE BRIDE wore a floor-length sheath dress of white antique satin, enhanced with lace appliques set with teardrop crystals. The appliques edged the oval neckline and the slim skirt. A cape of imported French lace with a scalloped edging flowed from the back of the shoulders.

A clover-shaped lace crown set with crystals and pearls held her short illusion veil in place, and she carried Amazon lilies in a cascade arrangement. As "something old" she also carried a sterling silver rosary which had been her grandmother's.

The bridal attendants were all gowned alike in yellow linen A-line dresses, the bodices covered with white daisy appliques. To match their gowns, which were floor-length, the girls carried white and yellow daisies.

AS MRS. BOSTON witnessed her daughter's wedding, she wore an olive green organdy dress with matching coat and had a yellow cymbidium corsage. Mrs. Vege wore a pink crepe dress with a white bodice, and her corsage was of pink cymbidiums.

A buffet dinner and dancing at Mount Prospect VFW Hall followed for the newlyweds and their 250 guests. The couple then left for a week's wedding trip to Niagara Falls.

They are living in Schiller Park, while the bride works for Goodyear Tire Co., Elk Grove, and the groom for Blakely Motors in Chicago. Both were graduated from Prospect High School. (Jenart (S

Hello Hostess

by MARY KAY ROBBINS

"A family going on vacation deserves a lot of credit," proclaimed our favorite summer ad. By the time you read this, all those credit card bills from vacation will be in — and, hopefully, paid. But now we are still unpacking from a trip through the west and southwest: one month, 6,647 miles and about six million calories. (Travel is so broadening!)

And what's it like to be a guest in the West? Perfectly delightful.

Here are a few highlights — strictly personal impressions that might be of interest to you as a hostess.

CARE AND FLAIR characterize California entertaining. Your hostess spends less effort showing you what a wonderful cook and homemaker she is, more showing you how glad she is to see you.

Meals may be as simple as sandwiches and salad — but served in unusual ways and in unusual places. On a backyard deck, for instance, overlooking the lights of Los Angeles. Or from a surfboard, doubling as buffet table at a beach picnic.

Open House is a way of life. The handsomest houses feature one giant room used for cooking, dining, family living and entertaining. And the hospitality is as open as the planning.

ALSO NOTED: A Twist to Whist by the college students around Pomona. Yes, Whist — your grandmother probably played it. Everywhere, games, games, games. Dominoes, Monopoly and other old standards. Plus such recent entries as "Indian," a wild, wild poker game that's wildly popular around San Antonio.

Mexico-a-go-go . . . tempting items from south of the border, vended in street stalls or the smartest shops. Colorful pinatas —one, a Batman. Papier mache jewelry and table accessories. And huge, handmade paper flowers:. frankly fake, fakely fabulous and almost impossible to resist.

Help for the hostess everywhere. One-stop party shops. Long lists of party services in the phone book yellow pages. Party parlors and Funtier rooms at restaurants and parks. Even party wagons that bring refreshments and entertainment right to you. One advertises: "You furnish the guests; we'll do the rest."

But the Best of the West — or any trip — is getting home. And we agree completely with the returning vacationer who mailed his hosts picture postcards showing attractions of his own hometown. The message: "Having a wonderful time — so glad to be back here."

R.S.V.P.: And did you have a FUNderful time on your vacation? We wish you'd share any good ideas you picked up — now games, centerpieces or trends in entertaining. Just write, "Hello, Hostess." C/o this newspaper.

PARTY LINE: An experienced hostess suggests:

"We find that a large get-together starts off livelier when guests are part of the party. Beforehand, we write out tags, each listing a small duty. A guest draws a tag from a hat and writes his name under the message, pinning it on himself. Some jobs are: 'I'll hang up your wraps' or 'Call me if anything spills.' Other pleasant chores are 'I'm serving dessert' or 'I'll introduce you to someone you don't know.' Not to mention, 'Lucky me, I'm not doing anything.' "

These sound like a fine idea for almost any gathering. You know, giving a shy guest a small responsibility is the easiest way to put him at his ease.

GAME OF THE WEEK: Carrier Pigeon Relay — Give each team member a drinking straw. Give the first in line pieces of tissue paper (about 3 by 5 inches). Player must keep the paper on end of his straw by inhaling as he runs across room and back, flapping his arms like wings. The "message" is transferred to next team member without using the hands. Blueberry Dessert Is Similar to Cheese Cake

RANDY AND CHARLENE WEIDNER of Arlington Heights look approvingly at their mother, Mrs. Leonard V. Weidner, as she serves them one of their favorite desserts, a delicious Blueberry Refrigerator Cake. Easy to prepare, this cake has a creamy cheese and whipped cream layer which is topped by canned blueberry pie filling. It is an excellent dessert for any festive occasion.

Effective Finale To Lasagna Dinner

by LOIS SEILER

A rich dessert that is light in texture and has a delicious flavor is Mrs. Leonard V. Weidner's Blueberry Refrigerator Cake.

"This dessert is similar to a cheese cake," Mrs. Weidner explained.

She prepares a graham cracker crust and assembles the cake in layers using a rich cream cheese-whipped cream mixture and canned blueberry pie filling. Some of the graham cracker crumb mixture is reserved to sprinkle over the top.

Refrigerated overnight, the blueberry cake is elegant to serve as a luncheon or bridge dessert. It can also be used effectively as a finale for one of this good cook's favorite dinners which features Lasagna.

This appealing and popular Italian dish is assembled in layers using cooked lasagna noodles, a creamy cheese-egg mixture, a well-seasoned tomato-meat sauce and mozzarella cheese.

A SAVORY and hearty casserole, it can be made in advance and frozen. It need only be defrosted and baked for a half hour before serving. Mrs. Weidner recommends a tossed salad and garlic bread as accompaniments.

Because she works part-time at the telephone company as a junior supervisor in addition to caring for her home and six children, Helen Weidner especially enjoys recipes such as these that can be prepared well in advance. The lasagna and blueberry refrigerator dessert are ideal for company and require no last-minute fuss. And both are always a great success.

The Weidner family lives at 1511 N. Wilke Road in Arlington Heights. Their children are: Donna, 19, who is employed by the telephone company and will enter her freshman year at Southern Illinois University in February; Sharon, 17, a senior at Sacred Heart Academy; Gary, 14½, who is a sophomore at St. Viators; Charlene, 13, an eighth grader at St. Thomas of Villanova in Palatine; Rickey, 11, in sixth grade at St. Thomas, and Randy, 7, a second grader at Paddock School.

Mrs. Weidner is a member of the Ladies Sodality at St. Thomas of Villanova.

BLUEBERRY REFRIGERATOR CAKE

2½ cups graham cracker crumbs
½ cup butter, melted
½ cup confectioner's sugar
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1 egg
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
1 can blueberry pie filling

Mix together the crumbs, butter and ¼ cup of the confectioners' sugar. Reserve ½ cup of the crumb mixture for topping. Press remaining mixture on the bottom of a 9 by 13 by 2-inch pan.

Beat cheese, egg, milk, vanilla and remaining sugar together until light and fluffy. Blend whipped cream in gently.

Spread half of the creamed mixture in pan, spoon pie filling over all and top with remaining cheese mixture. Sprinkle reserved crumbs on top. Chill for several hours or overnight. Serves 12.

LASAGNA

2 pounds ground beef
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon whole basil
1½ teaspoons salt
1 1-pound can or two cups tomatoes
2 6-ounce cans or 1-1/3 cups tomato paste
10 ounces lasagna noodles
3 cups fresh Ricotta cheese or creamy cottage cheese
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons parsley flakes
2 beaten eggs
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 pound mozzarella cheese, grated

Make the meat sauce by browning the ground beef slowly. Spoon off fat. Add the garlic, basil, 1½ teaspoons salt, tomatoes and tomato paste. Simmer, uncovered, a half hour, stirring now and then.

In the meantime, cook lasagna noodles in a large amount of boiling salted water. This may take 15 to 20 minutes. Drain, rinse in cold water.

Prepare the cheese filling by combining the Ricotta or cottage cheese, Parmesan cheese, parsley, eggs, salt and pepper.

Place half of the cooked noodles in a greased, 9 by 13 by 2-inch baking dish. Spread half of the cheese filling over noodles. Cover with half of the mozzarella cheese, then half of the meat sauce. Repeat layers. Sprinkle the top with mozzarella cheese and Parmesan cheese.

Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for 30 minutes. Let stand for 10 minutes before cutting in squares; filling will set slightly. Serves 12.

Bounce Berry Bread

America's native cranberry has had many names. The Indians called it Sassamanesh; the Pilgrims called it "crane" berry, or "bounce" berry. Now that the fresh cranberry season is in full swing, try the berry with the bounce in this lively quick bread.

QUICK CRANBERRY BREAD

(Makes 1 9x5-inch loaf

¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1¼ cups milk
3 cups biscuit mix
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ cups fresh cranberries, coarsely chopped
½ cup chopped nuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine brown sugar, egg and milk in mixing bowl; beat until blended. Stir in biscuit mix and spices. Beat for 30 seconds. Fold in cranberries and nuts. Spoon mixture into a well-greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 45 to 50 minutes, or until loaf tests done. Turn bread out to cool. Cool thoroughly before slicing. Flower girl was the bride's 5-year-old niece, Jody Burgin of Long Grove, who wore a light blue dress and carried yellow daisies.

THE BRIDE'S mother wore a lime green brocade suit and the groom's mother a rust silk dress for the evening ceremony. A reception followed for 32 guests at Hobson House in Long Grove.

After a 3-day honeymoon at Pheasant Run, the newlyweds left for Macomb, Ill., to attend Western Illinois University. The bride is majoring in elementary education and the groom is in pre-law. (S

'Boutique Noel' Is Slated for Oct. 21

The Pink Lady Gift Shop at Northwest Community Hospital will celebrate this year's holiday season in its new, enlarged quarters.

As a prelude to the Christmas season, the Pink Lady will present its annual "Boutique Noel" Friday, Oct. 21, from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the lobby of the hospital in Arlington Heights.

According to Mrs. James E. Mason of Arlington Heights, volunteer manager of the Pink Lady, the enlarged facilities will permit this year's "Boutique Noel" to offer an even wider and more varied selection of gift items than in previous years.

THE EVER POPULAR bake sale, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Walter Haberichter of Arlington Heights, will again be held in conjunction with the "Boutique Noel." Mrs. Elvin Foster of Palatine and her workers will display hand craft articles.

"Calculated Risks," a unique cook book featuring the favorite recipes of local members of the community, will be on sale, and orders will be taken for the Auxiliary's Christmas cards. Mrs. L. J. Deno of Mount Prospect and Mrs. Edwin Bruning of Palatine will be in charge of these projects.

All proceeds from the "Boutique Noel" will be applied against the Auxiliary's pledge to the hospital Building Fund.

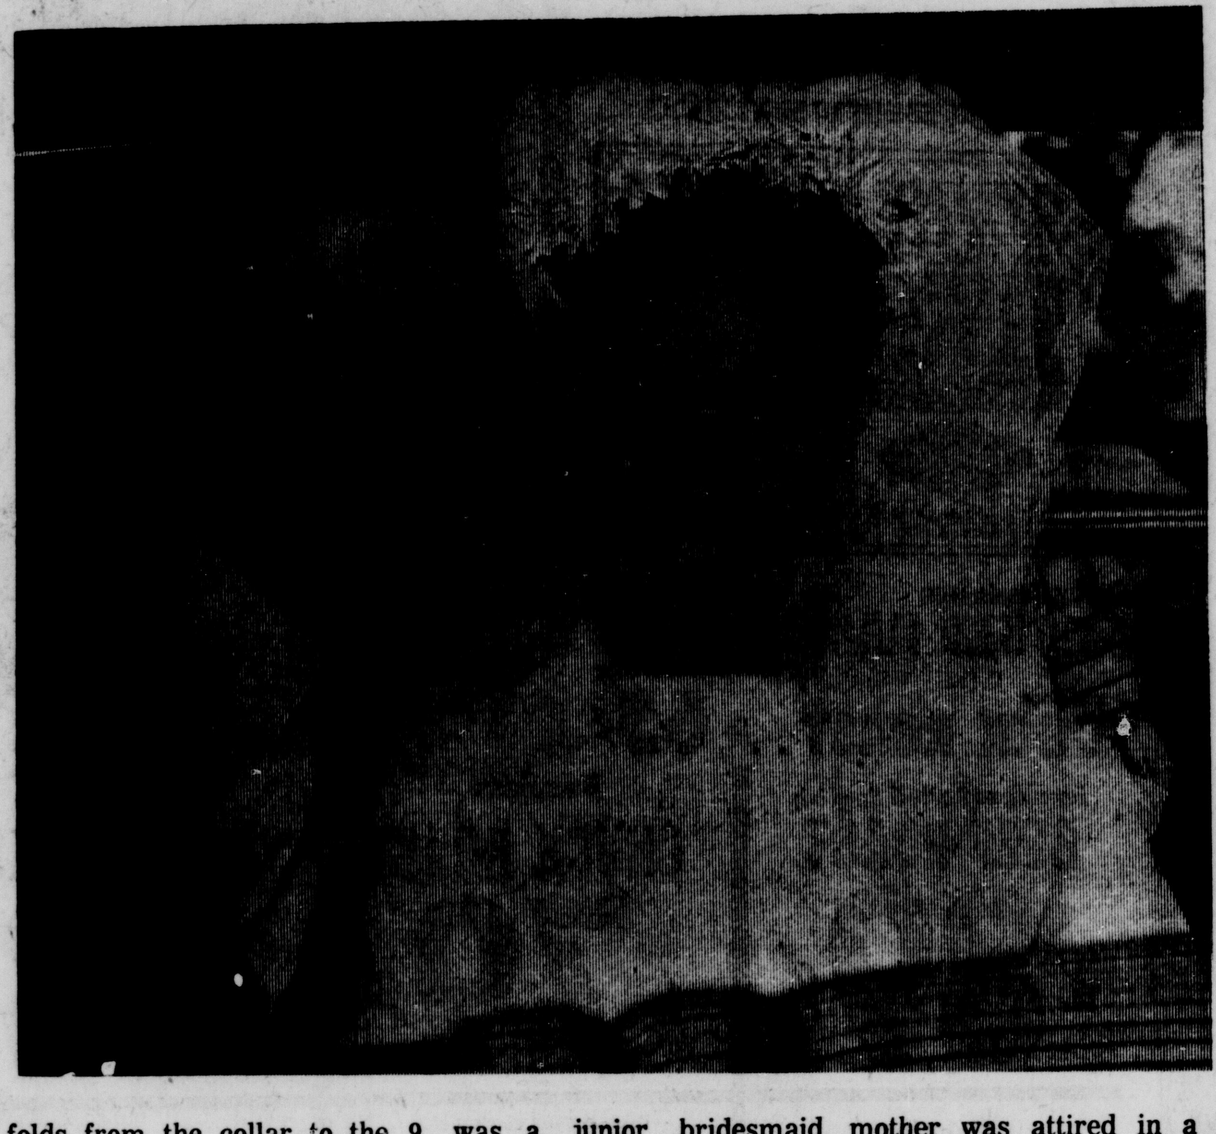
Arlington Couple Will Share Grandparents' Anniversary



Two couples shared the spotlight at a recent wedding in Faith Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, and the reception which followed at Palatine Fireman's Hall. The bridal pair, both Arlington Heights residents, were Dawn Bless and James J. Hansen, who chose to be married on the 45th wedding anniversary of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Christ of Chicago.

The anniversary couple were seated in a front pew to witness their granddaughter's marriage and later shared congratulations with the bridal pair for "many happy years to come."

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bless, 615 W. Vine, and the groom's parents, the C. S. Hansens, reside at 1517 W. Fremont.

The 4 o'clock ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edgar Behrens. As the bride stood at the altar, she wore a white satin-backed crepe gown with a stand-up roll collar, three-quarter sleeves and a sheath skirt. A cathedral train hung in folds from the collar to the floor.

A hairband of white feather mums and stephanotis held her floor-length veil in place. Glamellias and stephanotis composed her bouquet.

ALL OF THE bride's attendants were gowned alike in apricot crepe floor-length dresses. They wore matching headpieces of apricot crepe petals and roses and carried bronze mums with English ivy.

Jacquelyn Bless, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and another sister, Darlene, who is 9, was a junior bridesmaid. There were also three bridesmaids, Claudia Hansen, a sister of the groom, Mrs. Carla Fredrickson and Dorothy Anderson, all of Arlington Heights.

An Arlington Heights friend of the groom, Michael McKernan, was his best man, and ushers were David Baughman of Indianapolis, Michael Marble of Wilmette and Donald Coleman of Chicago.

GREETING 175 guests at the buffet supper and evening of dancing which followed the single ring rites, the bride's mother was attired in a gold 3-piece ensemble and had a brown orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose a beige silk suit with avocado accessories and had a green orchid pinned to her shoulder.

A graduate of Arlington High School, the bride works for Evanston Hospital Association. The groom has his bachelor's degree from Northwestern University and is a senior at Northwestern's Medical School.

The couple is living at 1416 W. Central St. in Evanston.

Karen Stitt, Earl Snodgrass Go to College as Mr. and Mrs.

An Arlington Heights couple were married in Our Saviour's Lutheran Church on Aug. 27, uniting the families of Karen Joy Stitt and Earl William Snodgrass. The bride is the daughter of John Stitt of St. Louis and Mrs. Mary Morrison Stitt of 2118 E. Miner St., Arlington Heights, and the groom's parents are the Earl W. Snodgrasses of 15 E. Fairview.

After a 2-week honeymoon at a cottage on Lake Ontario, the couple are living in Kenosha, Wis., while the groom completes his senior year at Carthage College. The bride attended Northwestern University for two years and is continuing her studies at Carthage. She is a Prospect High School graduate, and he attended Arlington High School.

THE BRIDE chose Carol Baughman of Arlington Heights as her maid of honor, and among the four other attendants were her sister, Bonnie Stitt, Lynn Snodgrass, the groom's sister, and Kathy Zahn of Chicago as bridesmaids and another of the bride's sisters, Carolyn Ann Stitt, as junior bridesmaid.

William Brunka of Freeport was best man, and ushers were the bride's brother, John Stitt Jr., Lyn Johnson of Palatine and Steven Hadland of Plum Grove Estates.

THE EVENING rites were performed by candlelight after the bride entered the sanctuary on the arm of her father. She wore a white peau de soie gown with chantilly lace appliques set with seed pearls scattered on the basque waist and floor-length skirt, which extended to a chapel train.

She wore a matching headpiece with an illusion veil and carried a cascade of white roses.

HER ATTENDANTS were all gowned alike in empire dresses which featured a melon bodice and peach colored skirt. The girls carried coral glamellias.

An aqua jacket dress was worn by the bride's mother for the ceremony and reception which followed at the church. She wore a white orchid at her shoulder and had aqua accessories. The groom's mother wore yellow lace with a matching coat, yellow accessories and had a yellow rose corsage.

Club's Art Scholarship Winner to Speak Monday

Miss Cathy Turcotte, recipient of a scholarship from the Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's Club this summer, will be guest speaker at the Monday, Oct. 10, meeting of the Juniors. Miss Turcotte attended a one-week session of Federated Art School held at Allerton House in Monticello, and will tell the Juniors of her activities and accomplishments.

Final plans will be made for the 12th annual dinner dance which will have as its theme "The Harvest Moon Ball," to be held at Old Orchard Country Club Saturday, Oct. 15. A buffet dinner will be served at 8 p.m. and music will be provided by the High Tones. Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Rudolph Schneider, 392-0488.

Guests are welcome to attend these meetings, held at Clearbrook Center in Rolling Meadows. For further information those interested may contact Mrs. Charles Morgan, membership chairman, 255-7089.

Former Area Man Takes Cary Bride

An Arlington High graduate, Richard Rossiter, son of former Arlington Heights residents, the William Rossiters of Oxford, Mich., returned to Illinois last month to claim as his bride, Miss Susan Wiegel, daughter of the Gottfried Wiegels of Cary.

The service took place Sept. 17 in Cary's Methodist Church where Rev. Gordon R. Shafer performed the double ring ceremony at 2 p.m. in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride chose a street-lenghth white chantilly lace gown with matching illusion veil, and she held a nosegay of white chrysanthemums, stephanotis and ivy which surrounded a going-away corsage of pink rose buds.

ATTENDING THE bride was her sister, Ramona, and attending the groom was Bert Christensen of Arlington Heights. The maid of honor wore a pink silk shantung sheath with matching veil, and the girls' mother chose an avocado green suit with black accessories. Mrs. Rossiter chose a paisley print silk Surah dress with aqua blue accessories.

A buffet dinner and wedding cake were served at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. After a brief honeymoon, the couple is residing in Oxford and the groom will continue his engineering course at Oakland Community College at Union Lake. (S

Ens. Gary Chessman Weds in Pensacola

Married Sept. 3 in the chapel at the U. S. Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla., were Miss Necia Hart of Bloomington and Ensign Gary Chessman of Palatine. Providing a military arch of swords as the couple left the chapel were Ensigns William Starbeck, Roy Gibbs, William Koster, Robert Boiton and William Bythe, who are all in flight training with the bridegroom at the air station.

The bride is the daughter of the William S. Harts of Bloomington, and the groom's parents are the H. L. Chessmans of 327 S. Greenwood, Palatine.

FOR HER WEDDING the bride wore an empire gown of candlelight silk alpaca, featuring a scooped neckline and Alencon lace sleeves on the fitted bodice and an A-line skirt with a full chapel train.

Her ivory illusion veil was held in place with a flat silk alpaca bow, and her bouquet was composed of white carnations and lilies of the valley.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Melinda Hart, who wore a burnished gold peau de soie empire gown, and Ensign Patrick Buck was best man.

A luncheon reception following the ceremony took place in the officers' club at Pensacola. (S

Karen Stitt, Earl Snodgrass Go to College as Mr. and Mrs.

An Arlington Heights couple were married in Our Saviour's Lutheran Church on Aug. 27, uniting the families of Karen Joy Stitt and Earl William Snodgrass. The bride is the daughter of John Stitt of St. Louis and Mrs. Mary Morrison Stitt of 2118 E. Miner St., Arlington Heights, and the groom's parents are the Earl W. Snodgrasses of 15 E. Fairview.

After a 2-week honeymoon at a cottage on Lake Ontario, the couple are living in Kenosha, Wis., while the groom completes his senior year at Carthage College. The bride attended Northwestern University for two years and is continuing her studies at Carthage. She is a Prospect High School graduate, and he attended Arlington High School.

THE BRIDE chose Carol Baughman of Arlington Heights as her maid of honor, and among the four other attendants were her sister, Bonnie Stitt, Lynn Snodgrass, the groom's sister, and Kathy Zahn of Chicago as bridesmaids and another of the bride's sisters, Carolyn Ann Stitt, as junior bridesmaid.

William Brunka of Freeport was best man, and ushers were the bride's brother, John Stitt Jr., Lyn Johnson of Palatine and Steven Hadland of Plum Grove Estates.

THE EVENING rites were performed by candlelight after the bride entered the sanctuary on the arm of her father. She wore a white peau de soie gown with chantilly lace appliques set with seed pearls scattered on the basque waist and floor-length skirt, which extended to a chapel train.

She wore a matching headpiece with an illusion veil and carried a cascade of white roses.

HER ATTENDANTS were all gowned alike in empire dresses which featured a melon bodice and peach colored skirt. The girls carried coral glamellias.

An aqua jacket dress was worn by the bride's mother for the ceremony and reception which followed at the church. She wore a white orchid at her shoulder and had aqua accessories. The groom's mother wore yellow lace with a matching coat, yellow accessories and had a yellow rose corsage.

Club's Art Scholarship Winner to Speak Monday

Miss Cathy Turcotte, recipient of a scholarship from the Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's Club this summer, will be guest speaker at the Monday, Oct. 10, meeting of the Juniors. Miss Turcotte attended a one-week session of Federated Art School held at Allerton House in Monticello, and will tell the Juniors of her activities and accomplishments.

Final plans will be made for the 12th annual dinner dance which will have as its theme "The Harvest Moon Ball," to be held at Old Orchard Country Club Saturday, Oct. 15. A buffet dinner will be served at 8 p.m. and music will be provided by the High Tones. Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Rudolph Schneider, 392-0488.

Guests are welcome to attend these meetings, held at Clearbrook Center in Rolling Meadows. For further information those interested may contact Mrs. Charles Morgan, membership chairman, 255-7089.

Former Area Man Takes Cary Bride

An Arlington High graduate, Richard Rossiter, son of former Arlington Heights residents, the William Rossiters of Oxford, Mich., returned to Illinois last month to claim as his bride, Miss Susan Wiegel, daughter of the Gottfried Wiegels of Cary.

The service took place Sept. 17 in Cary's Methodist Church where Rev. Gordon R. Shafer performed the double ring ceremony at 2 p.m. in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride chose a street-lenghth white chantilly lace gown with matching illusion veil, and she held a nosegay of white chrysanthemums, stephanotis and ivy which surrounded a going-away corsage of pink rose buds.

ATTENDING THE bride was her sister, Ramona, and attending the groom was Bert Christensen of Arlington Heights. The maid of honor wore a pink silk shantung sheath with matching veil, and the girls' mother chose an avocado green suit with black accessories. Mrs. Rossiter chose a paisley print silk Surah dress with aqua blue accessories.

A buffet dinner and wedding cake were served at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. After a brief honeymoon, the couple is residing in Oxford and the groom will continue his engineering course at Oakland Community College at Union Lake. (S

Ens. Gary Chessman Weds in Pensacola

Married Sept. 3 in the chapel at the U. S. Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla., were Miss Necia Hart of Bloomington and Ensign Gary Chessman of Palatine. Providing a military arch of swords as the couple left the chapel were Ensigns William Starbeck, Roy Gibbs, William Koster, Robert Boiton and William Bythe, who are all in flight training with the bridegroom at the air station.

The bride is the daughter of the William S. Harts of Bloomington, and the groom's parents are the H. L. Chessmans of 327 S. Greenwood, Palatine.

FOR HER WEDDING the bride wore an empire gown of candlelight silk alpaca, featuring a scooped neckline and Alencon lace sleeves on the fitted bodice and an A-line skirt with a full chapel train.

Her ivory illusion veil was held in place with a flat silk alpaca bow, and her bouquet was composed of white carnations and lilies of the valley.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Melinda Hart, who wore a burnished gold peau de soie empire gown, and Ensign Patrick Buck was best man.

A luncheon reception following the ceremony took place in the officers' club at Pensacola. (S

PALATINE

Palatine Order of Eastern Star members are preparing for their Fall Festival bazaar which takes place Saturday, Oct. 8, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The location is Palatine Masonic Temple, 1 N. Plum Grove Road.

Three large booths will display a variety of items for sale. One will show Christmas gifts, another baked goods and another a country store. Also on sale will be hats, shifts, purses and other handmade articles and a table of white elephants.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

The Old Bray House, a landmark in Arlington Heights, will be the setting for a rummage sale on Oct. 7-8.

Chapter HN of the PEO Sisterhood is sponsoring the sale. Proceeds will go to the Arlington Heights Historical Society and for scholarships to a PEO-affiliated junior college.

The Old Bray House is located at 506 N. Dunton. Sale hours on Friday, Oct. 7, will be from 6 to 8 p.m. and on Saturday, Oct. 8, from 9 a.m. to noon.

PARK RIDGE

The annual fall rummage sale of St. Anselm's Episcopal Church, Park Ridge, will be a 2-day affair, Oct. 7 and 8. Hours Friday, Oct. 7, will be 1 to 6:30 p.m. and from 9:30 to noon Saturday.

The sale will include clothing, toys, books and household articles.

The church is located at 1600 N. Greenwood.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Arlington Heights Nurses' Club will hold its annual rummage sale Friday and Saturday, Oct. 14-15, in the local Legion Hall, 121 N. Douglas. Friday hours will be from 7 to 9 p.m.; Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

A specialty shop will be featured, as well as booths of toys, clothing, books and household items.

Proceeds will go toward maintenance of the club's Lending Closet, to the student scholarship fund and other community health projects.

MOUNT PROSPECT

A "Barn Sale" will be sponsored on Saturday, Oct. 8, by Mount Prospect Chapter of the Lutheran Welfare Services of Illinois. Location of the barn is one-half block north of Golf Road on Candota Avenue, Mount Prospect.

Worthwhile articles for the home, workshop and garden have been gathered for the sale.

Entire proceeds will be given to children's homes which the Mount Prospect group supports. These include Augustana Nursery, Receiving Home for Children in Maywood, Edison Park Home for Children and Nachusa Lutheran Home for Children near Dixon.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Chapter 992 OES in Arlington Heights is planning a rummage sale for Saturday, Oct. 8, from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. The sale takes place in Arlington Masonic Temple, 1104 S. Arlington Heights Road.

PALATINE

The Ladies Aid of Immanuel Lutheran Church School will hold a rummage sale Saturday, Oct. 15, in the school, N. Plum Grove and Lincoln Street. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

A Christmas bazaar and luncheon is also slated for Wednesday, Nov. 2, beginning at 11:30 a.m. with lunch at noon.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

A "Quality Resale Shop" will be featured at the BAT-A-RAMA carnival which Dryden School PTA will sponsor on Saturday, Oct. 8, at the school. The shop will display like-new items donated on a consignment basis — from clothing, boots, toys and garden articles to antiques, furniture and sports equipment.

The carnival and resale shop will be open from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

ROSELLE

St. Walter Council of Catholic Women, Roselle, will hold a rummage sale from 9 a.m. to noon Monday, Oct. 10, in the Upper Parish Hall. Rolls and coffee will be available in the Lower Hall.

Anyone wishing to contribute clothing, household items or toys may bring them to the hall from 6 to 9 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 9.

BARRINGTON

Barrington Auxiliary of the Chicago Maternity Center will sponsor its third annual Antique Show and Sale Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 12, 13 and 14 in the Knights of Columbus Barn on Highway 14 and Kelsey Road.

Wednesday and Thursday hours will be 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Friday hours 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Luncheon will be served from 11 to 2.

Second in Series Set by La Leche

Is a woman's body different today from what it was years ago when breastfeeding was the rule rather than the exception?

Why do so many mothers feel they don't have enough milk? Is the modern woman too nervous and high-strung to nurse her baby? Can the mother who is Rh negative nurse her baby? What about the mother who has a caesarean section?

These and many other problems or difficulties concerning breastfeeding will be discussed at the second in a series of four monthly meetings of the La Leche League of Arlington Heights. Subject of this second meeting, to be held Tuesday, Oct. 11, is "The Art of Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties." The meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Raymond Hornbostel, 2112 E. St. James, Arlington Heights.

"ANYONE INTERESTED in nursing may attend. One need not be pregnant or nursing; however, women who are pregnant are encouraged to begin the series before the baby arrives," said Mrs. Hornbostel.

Women missing the first in the series may obtain this information in January when a new series will begin.

"Members of the League, having successfully nursed their babies, are dedicated to helping other mothers give and enjoy giving happiness and security to their babies through breastfeeding," commented Mrs. Thomas Kientzle, leader of the League. Further information about the League may be obtained by calling Mrs. Kientzle at 392-8555. (S

Bride Linnea Guritz Was 'Sweetheart of Theta Xi'

When Gerald Thomas Fritz of Mount Carroll, Ill., took the former Linnea Elizabeth Guritz of Elk Grove Village as his bride, he was marrying his college sweetheart who was also the "1966 Sweetheart of Theta Xi."

The groom is a June graduate of Western Illinois University, where he was affiliated with Theta Xi Fraternity, and his bride has completed three years at Western.

She was a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority and was Theta Xi Sweetheart during her junior year.

The newlyweds are now living in Iowa City while the groom attends graduate school at the University of Iowa.

FOR THEIR Sept. 3 candlelight wedding in the Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit, Elk Grove, the bride was attended by her three sisters and the groom by his two brothers and one of his fraternity brothers.

Patricia Guritz was maid of honor, and Kristina and Mary Beth Guritz served as bridesmaids. They and the bride are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall Guritz, 545 Verde, Elk Grove Village.

THE GROOM and his two brothers, Jackie and Larry Fritz, who served as ushers for the 6:30 p.m. ceremony, are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fritz of Mount Carroll.

Also in the wedding party was John Nee of Milledgeville, Ill., who was his fraternity brother's best man.

AS THE BRIDE came down the aisle, she wore a white peau de soie sheath gown styled with an Alencon lace bodice. She had a matching pillbox headpiece attached to a cascade of white carnations and roses.

HER THREE attendants were attired in two-toned pink linen floor-length dresses, empire styled, with short trains. Each carried pink carnations and wore a gold bracelet, gift from the bride and groom.

Blue linen with a matching lace coat was chosen for the bride's mother's ensemble, and Mrs. Fritz appeared in a beige knit dress with moss green accessories. Each had a double cymbidium corsage.

A buffet dinner was served to 150 guests at the Maitre 'd in Elk Grove following the double ring rites. Later the couple left for a 12-day honeymoon in Daytona Beach, Fla.

The bride is a graduate of Prospect High School.

Second in Series Set by La Leche

Is a woman's body different today from what it was years ago when breastfeeding was the rule rather than the exception?

Why do so many mothers feel they don't have enough milk? Is the modern woman too nervous and high-strung to nurse her baby? Can the mother who is Rh negative nurse her baby? What about the mother who has a caesarean section?

These and many other problems or difficulties concerning breastfeeding will be discussed at the second in a series of four monthly meetings of the La Leche League of Arlington Heights. Subject of this second meeting, to be held Tuesday, Oct. 11, is "The Art of Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties." The meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Raymond Hornbostel, 2112 E. St. James, Arlington Heights.

"ANYONE INTERESTED in nursing may attend. One need not be pregnant or nursing; however, women who are pregnant are encouraged to begin the series before the baby arrives," said Mrs. Hornbostel.

Women missing the first in the series may obtain this information in January when a new series will begin.

"Members of the League, having successfully nursed their babies, are dedicated to helping other mothers give and enjoy giving happiness and security to their babies through breastfeeding," commented Mrs. Thomas Kientzle, leader of the League. Further information about the League may be obtained by calling Mrs. Kientzle at 392-8555. (S

Pink Tent Shades Guests At Kuranz-Beach Nuptials

Under a pink tent set up near the first tee on her parents' private golf course, a former Prospect Heights girl, Mary Patricia Kuranz, daughter of the John L. Kuranzes of Barrington, and her bridegroom, Marshall Albert Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Beach of Laguna Beach, Calif., received the good wishes of 250 guests following their wedding in Barrington's St. Anne Church.

The day, Sept. 10, was warm and sunny, and guests sat around the family pool at pink-covered tables decorated with centerpieces of pink mums and roses. Pink mum plants were also arranged around the tent, and to further carry out the pink theme, flags on the 5-hole course were also in pink and mothers of the bridal pair received in pink gowns.

Rev. Alexander Thane officiated at the 2 o'clock service in a setting of white mums with white ribbons and greens marking the pews.

FOR HER marriage the bride chose a gown of French point d'esprit with empire bodice. Both the gown and train were trimmed with Viennese lace and her shoulder-length veil was attached to an organza bow, also trimmed with Viennese lace. Lillies of the valley and stephanotis made up her bridal bouquet.

Mr. Kuranz gave his daughter in marriage.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Maureen Kuranz, and bridesmaids were Patricia Willging of Mount Prospect, Mrs. Charles Thillman of Crystal Lake and Carolyn Bergerson of Minneapolis, a college roommate of the bride.

Their gowns were of pale blue organza over blue taffeta, fashioned with empire bodices and A-line skirts. The elbow-length sleeves of their gowns were encircled with white eyelet laced with blue ribbon and their headpieces were blue organza pillboxes, also encircled with white eyelet and ribbon lacing. Tiny pink rosebuds attached to the ends of ankle-length streamers cascaded from the headpieces, and they carried nosegays of pink rosebuds and baby's breath set on circles of ruffled white eyelet.

THREE-YEAR-OLD Sally Jo Taylor of Evanston, daughter of former Prospect Heights residents, the Sam Taylors, served as flower girl for the wedding, and the bride's cousin, 5-year-old Patrick Henry Kuranz of Mequon, Wis. served as ring bearer. Sally Jo's gown was identical to the bridesmaids' gowns, but in her hair she wore a headband trimmed in white eyelet. Her bouquet was a smaller version of the older girls' nosegays.

Young Patrick wore a white suit with short pants and white knee socks.

Mrs. Kuranz' gown was in Siamese pink chiffon over crepe with jeweled shoulders and sleeve. She wore matching accessories and pinned a pink corsage on her purse. Mrs. Beach chose a gown in pale pink crepe with shoulders and sleeves of ribbon and lace. Her headpiece was a large flat bow and her corsage was of cymbidiums, also in pale pink.

BEST MAN to the groom was James Halvorsen of Albuquerque, N.M., a classmate of the groom. Ushers were George Lipp of Ventura, Calif., the bride's brother, John David Kuranz, and the groom's brother, Albert Beach of Laguna Beach.

Serving as altar boys were Thomas O'Brien and Ron Reckamp, friends of the bride's brother.

Following the afternoon reception and evening buffet supper, the newlyweds left immediately for Albuquerque where both are seniors at the University of New Mexico. They plan to honeymoon in Mexico City during Christmas vacation.

The bride attended Regina High School in Wilmette and Marian Central High School in Woodstock. She also studied at the University of Colorado and in Prealpina, Switzerland.

Slide Program Is Slated for B&PW

Club history and finance are slated for the regular monthly meeting of Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club to be held Thursday, Oct. 13th, at Arlington Carousel. A social hour will begin at 5:30 with dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Phyllis Gardner, historian, will present a color slide program showing the club's programs, projects and activities for the last five years. "This type program has been beneficial to new members since they can see what has been done and have a better understanding of the organization and all members look forward to and enjoy this 'fun' program," commented Mrs. Gardner. Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Charlotte Shaughnessy are planning additional entertainment for the members.

IN CONJUNCTION with the slide program, Mrs. Enola Watson, finance chairman, will present the annual budget during this closed meeting.

During the seven years that the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club has been in existence, it has been represented by employed women residing in Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Barrington. Further information on B & PW activities and future meetings may be obtained by contacting the membership committee: Mrs. Jayne Shutt, 392-1717 or Mrs. Betty Schlaver, CL 3-7202.

The club is headed by Mrs. Ruth Hofmeister, president, who represented the club at the recent second anniversary dinner of the Crystal Lake Business and Professional Women's Club.

Marguerite Dalton's Bridal Attire Includes Keepsake

When Marguerite Grace Dalton of Arlington Heights came down the aisle of Our Lady of the Wayside Church for her Sept. 3 marriage to Donald John Smith of Lake Forest, she also wore her grandmother's wedding ring on a chain necklace as "something old." The bride is named for her grandmother, Mrs. Marguerite J. Dalton, and chose to wear the ring in honor of her namesake.

The bride is the daughter of the James A. Daltons of 522 S. Dunton, and the groom's father is Archie J. Smith of Lake Forest.

The 12:30 p.m. ceremony was double ring and was performed by the Rev. Harold T. O'Hara. Later 150 guests greeted the couple at a reception at the Holiday Inn in Rolling Meadows.

For her wedding day, the bride wore a white peau de soie gown with a scooped neckline, kabuki sleeves and a slim skirt adorned with re-embroidered Alencon lace motifs. The floor-length hem was edged with lace, which was studded with pearls, and a detachable train also featured the lace motif.

A PILLBOX OF peau de soie trimmed with lace and pearls held the bride's silk illusion veil in place. Her bouquet was composed of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Judith Hoffman of Arlington Heights was maid of honor, wearing a turquoise blue crepe floor-length dress with a headpiece to match, and she carried a nosegay of turquoise carnations. Miss Hoffman is a cousin of the bride.

Dressed in gowns of powder blue, turquoise and peacock blue crepe were four bridesmaids, Susan Doyle of Detroit, Pamela Short and Marilou Hogate, both of Arlington Heights, and the bride's sister, Kathy Dalton. A leaf embroidery adorned the bodice of each dress and a turquoise train flowed from the back waistline. Each girl wore a peacock blue headpiece and carried a nosegay of turquoise carnations.

Raymond Fini of Lake Forest attended the groom as best man, and ushers included Ehron Jones and Thomas Verbeke, both of Lake Forest, Jay Davis of Arlington Heights, a cousin of the bride, and Robert Kroll of Milwaukee.

THE BRIDE'S 8-year-old sister was also in the wedding party, wearing a light turquoise floor-length dress for her role as flower girl.

The bride's mother was attired in blue to complement the attendants' dresses, hers in a sapphire blue lace with matching accessories. She had a corsage of phalaenopsis orchids pinned to her shoulder.

After a week's cruise on Lake Michigan as their wedding trip, the newlyweds are living in DeKalb where the groom is a senior at Northern Illinois University.

The bride was graduated from Arlington High School and then attended Western Michigan University for two years. She will be working for De Kalb County Credit Bureau while living in that city.

Hope School, Program for Lions Ladies

Lions Ladies of Elk Grove Village will present a program on Hope School For The Blind and Multi-handicapped at their next monthly meeting. The Hope School is located in Springfield, Ill.

Last year's proceeds from the Lions Ladies fashion show were just recently donated to the school to help pay for the cost of portable swimming pools for the children.

The dinner meeting will be held at Old Orchard Country Club in Mount Prospect Monday Oct. 10, at 7:30 p.m. (S

New Care Project Is Project of Area Juniors

HOPE and CARE are two projects that all Junior Clubs in the Seventh District of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs will support this year along with all Junior clubs throughout the nation in the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Area clubs participating are: Arlington Heights, Atise, Elk Grove Village, Hanover Park, Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg and Wheeling Junior Woman's Club.

The new CARE project, Gateway to Friendship, is to be used to aid Philippine families who are leaving overcrowded urban areas and unproductive land to settle in villages known as barrios.

"The Philippine Rural Reconstruction Movement trains college graduates who dedicate themselves to helping their fellow countrymen; however, technical advice and modern methods cannot be implemented without modern tools," commented a spokesman. "The Junior project money will provide tools, cement block-making machines and construction material to build schools, community centers and model homes. Seed packages and livestock will be necessary to increase food production. By using the equipment provided by this project, barrio men, women and children will learn how much they can do for themselves," added the speaker.

CLUB MEMBERS are selling "Friendship Bracelets" which represent these tools to make money to support CARE.

Project HOPE — Health Opportunities for People Everywhere, is a hospital ship that assists in the operation of the medical teaching and training program in foreign countries.

The HOPE ship has made visits to Indonesia, South Viet Nam, Peru, Ecuador and the Republic of Guinea. The ship will return in November from a 10-month stay in Nicaragua. 1967 is the year of HOPE in Colombia and for 10 months the ship will be stationed in the port of Cartagena. (S

Park Sets Holiday Workshop

A Holiday Workshop will be offered by the Arlington Heights Park District for the 1966 fall and winter season. Mrs. Dorothy Carnell will direct three classes at Hasbrook, Pioneer and Recreation Park Fieldhouses. There will be two evening classes and one afternoon.

Arrangements and decorations for the home will be created under the guidance and suggestion of Mrs. Carnell. Women will be asked to provide some of their own supplies, which are easily found in the home. A fee will help cover cost of materials.

The emphasis will be on Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas arrangements that can be easily transformed for each season.

Women may contact the park district office, CL 3-0620, to register for the course. A complete outline of the course will be provided at the first classes, Tuesday, Oct. 18, and Thursday, Oct. 20. (S

Pastor to Talk To Dorcas Aid

Dorcas Aid of St. Peter Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 11, in Noack Hall of the church at 7:30 p.m. for a devotional discussion conducted by Pastor Robert O. Bartz.

Included in the business session will be plans for the forthcoming birthday dinner and Nov. 11 bazaar and luncheon. "We cordially invite all ladies of St. Peter congregation to join us," states the president of the Dorcas Aid, Mrs. Henry Leark. (S

AAUW to Hear Talk By Fellowship Winner

In support of the annual book fair, American Association of University Women will hear Miss Ipek Aksugar, an AAUW international fellow from Turkey at the Thursday, Oct. 13, meeting at Pioneer Park, Arlington Heights.

Proceeds from the used book fair are for the AAUW Fellowships Fund of which Miss Aksugar is a recipient. Members will also view an exhibit from the Association Fellowships offices in Washington.

Books of all kinds are still being sought for the sale to be held at Randhurst Nov. 18 and 19. Co-chairmen Mrs. Francis Egan and Mrs. Loren Korte and other members of the AAUW branch have been working all summer collecting books, records and sheet music.

Persons wishing to donate any of these may call or send a postcard to Mrs. Egan, 910 N. Princeton, Arlington Heights, 392-5882, or Mrs. Korte, 821 N. Harvard, Arlington Heights, 392-2615.

Linda Mittag Becomes Mrs. James Fruehling

A week's honeymoon at The Abbey at Lake Geneva followed the double ring ceremony for an Arlington Heights couple. The bride is the former Linda Loretta Mittag, daughter of the Herbert C. Mittags of 302 N. Gibbons, and the groom is James Alan Fruehling, whose parents are the Ivor F. Fruehlings of 1323 N. Vail.

The bridal pair were married at 4 in the afternoon on Aug. 27 in St. Peter Lutheran Church, with the Rev. Robert Bartz officiating. Dinner and dancing followed the ceremony at Long Grove Country Club, where the newlyweds greeted 160 guests.

THE BRIDE chose a white silk peau de soie gown accented with appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace on the empire bodice and the chapel train. Her triple veil was ballerina length and cascaded from a headpiece of peau de soie petals set with seed pearls. For double good luck she had a sixpence tucked in each shoe.

Her bridal bouquet was composed of Japhette orchids, white Sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley with smilax.

Her sister, Mrs. A. J. Corirossi of Rockford, served as matron of honor, coming down the aisle after five bridesmaids. They included Mrs. T. B. Wade of Rolling Meadows and Pam Fruehling, sisters of the groom, Joan Wilcox and Lyn Johnson, both of Arlington Heights, and Julie Gannaway of Albuquerque, a Kappa Delta sorority sister of the bride.

ALL WERE gowned alike in pale blue linen dresses, floor-length with a bodice of ivory lace and a French blue velvet sash at the high waistline. They wore pale blue organza petal crowns in their hair and carried blue Majestic daisies, tinted cornflowers and smilax.

Escorting the bridal attendants were Anton Sadler of Arlington Heights, who served as best man, and ushers Thomas Wade, Tony Corirossi, Kenneth Sherman of Wheeling, Scott Hunter of Elk Grove, Wis., and Robert Huston of Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Also in the wedding party was Peggy Fruehling, the groom's 8-year-old sister, who came down the aisle as flower girl. She was attired in a floor-lenth pale blue linen dress styled identically to the adults' attire and carried a miniature bouquet of daisies, cornflowers and smilax.

Mark Corirossi, 8, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

MRS. MITTAG wore a dusty pink silk peau sheath dress with a pink orchid and pale red Garnet rose corsage as she witnessed her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Fruehling chose a jade green chiffon with an aqua cymbidium and turquoise Sweetheart rose corsage.

Among the out-of-town guests at the festivities were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. F. E. King of Salt Lake City and the groom's grandparents, the Jesse Fruehlings of Fort Madison, Iowa.

The newlyweds are both Arlington High School graduates and then attended Coe College, Cedar Rapids. She has completed two years there and is now working in Arlington Heights for Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co. Mr. Fruehling had a year at Coe and is now at Northwestern University.

They are "at home" in Mount Prospect. (Jenart (S

Bride Judith L. Jansen Adds Sentimental Touch

In making arrangements for the wedding of Judith L. Jansen of Rolling Meadows and Robert A. Edrington of Des Plaines, plans included several sentimental touches which the bride requested.

All of the floral bouquets for the Sept. 3 ceremony in Faith Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, were made by her father, William Jansen, 2411 Meadow Drive, who is manager of Kinsch Village Flowers of Palatine.

The wedding cake was topped with the same decoration used at the bride's parents' wedding, and as "something old" the bride wore a lavaliere given to her grandmother, Mrs. J. Mack of Chicago, by Mr. Mack. The grandparents were among the guests at the 6:30 rites and the reception which followed at Arlington VFW Hall.

A WHITE organza dress with a long circular train was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The neckline was trimmed with pearls and beading, and appliques of lace set with the beading enhanced the full train. A headpiece which matched the motif of the gown held the bride's shoulder-length veil in place, and she carried white vanda orchids, jaffet orchids and stephanotis.

Carol Sorensen of Wheeling was maid of honor, wearing an aqua linen floor-length dress and carrying yellow plumeria and stephanotis. Two bridesmaids, Jane Simon of Arlington Heights and Nancy Kick of Roselle, were gowned exactly like the maid of honor.

THE GROOM, son of Mrs. Florence Edrington of Muncie, Ind., chose Ronald Wagner of Des Plaines as his best man. Seating the guests were the bride's brothers, Jarold Jansen of Rolling Meadows and William Jansen who attends the University of Nebraska.

ALSO IN the wedding party were Donna Duber, 7, as flower girl and Steven Duber, 6, as ring bearer. The two children, both of Chicago, are cousins of the bride, and Steven is also her godchild.

For the festivities, the bride's mother wore a gold lame dress and the groom's mother a peacock blue crepe ensemble. Both had cymbidium corsages.

The newlyweds had a week's honeymoon at Mackinac Island, Niagara Falls and Canada and are now living at 400 W. Touhy, Des Plaines.

The bride attended Arlington and Forest View High Schools and Northern Illinois University. She and her husband are employed at Bruning Co. in Mount

Pink Tent Shades Guests At Kuranz-Beach Nuptials

Under a pink tent set up near the first tee on her parents' private golf course, a former Prospect Heights girl, Mary Patricia Kuranz, daughter of the John L. Kuranzes of Barrington, and her bridegroom, Marshall Albert Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Beach of Laguna Beach, Calif., received the good wishes of 250 guests following their wedding in Barrington's St. Anne Church.

The day, Sept. 10, was warm and sunny, and guests sat around the family pool at pink-covered tables decorated with centerpieces of pink mums and roses. Pink mum plants were also arranged around the tent, and to further carry out the pink theme, flags on the 5-hole course were also in pink and mothers of the bridal pair received in pink gowns.

Rev. Alexander Thane officiated at the 2 o'clock service in a setting of white mums with white ribbons and greens marking the pews.

FOR HER marriage the bride chose a gown of French point d'esprit with empire bodice. Both the gown and train were trimmed with Viennese lace and her shoulder-length veil was attached to an organza bow, also trimmed with Viennese lace. Lillies of the valley and stephanotis made up her bridal bouquet.

Mr. Kuranz gave his daughter in marriage.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Maureen Kuranz, and bridesmaids were Patricia Willging of Mount Prospect, Mrs. Charles Thillman of Crystal Lake and Carolyn Bergerson of Minneapolis, a college roommate of the bride.

Their gowns were of pale blue organza over blue taffeta, fashioned with empire bodices and A-line skirts. The elbow-length sleeves of their gowns were encircled with white eyelet laced with blue ribbon and their headpieces were blue organza pillboxes, also encircled with white eyelet and ribbon lacing. Tiny pink rosebuds attached to the ends of ankle-length streamers cascaded from the headpieces, and they carried nosegays of pink rosebuds and baby's breath set on circles of ruffled white eyelet.

THREE-YEAR-OLD Sally Jo Taylor of Evanston, daughter of former Prospect Heights residents, the Sam Taylors, served as flower girl for the wedding, and the bride's cousin, 5-year-old Patrick Henry Kuranz of Mequon, Wis. served as ring bearer. Sally Jo's gown was identical to the bridesmaids' gowns, but in her hair she wore a headband trimmed in white eyelet. Her bouquet was a smaller version of the older girls' nosegays.

Young Patrick wore a white suit with short pants and white knee socks.

Mrs. Kuranz' gown was in Siamese pink chiffon over crepe with jeweled shoulders and sleeve. She wore matching accessories and pinned a pink corsage on her purse. Mrs. Beach chose a gown in pale pink crepe with shoulders and sleeves of ribbon and lace. Her headpiece was a large flat bow and her corsage was of cymbidiums, also in pale pink.

BEST MAN to the groom was James Halvorsen of Albuquerque, N.M., a classmate of the groom. Ushers were George Lipp of Ventura, Calif., the bride's brother, John David Kuranz, and the groom's brother, Albert Beach of Laguna Beach.

Serving as altar boys were Thomas O'Brien and Ron Reckamp, friends of the bride's brother.

Following the afternoon reception and evening buffet supper, the newlyweds left immediately for Albuquerque where both are seniors at the University of New Mexico. They plan to honeymoon in Mexico City during Christmas vacation.

The bride attended Regina High School in Wilmette and Marian Central High School in Woodstock. She also studied at the University of Colorado and in Prealpina, Switzerland.

Slide Program Is Slated for B&PW

Club history and finance are slated for the regular monthly meeting of Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club to be held Thursday, Oct. 13th, at Arlington Carousel. A social hour will begin at 5:30 with dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Phyllis Gardner, historian, will present a color slide program showing the club's programs, projects and activities for the last five years. "This type program has been beneficial to new members since they can see what has been done and have a better understanding of the organization and all members look forward to and enjoy this 'fun' program," commented Mrs. Gardner. Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Charlotte Shaughnessy are planning additional entertainment for the members.

IN CONJUNCTION with the slide program, Mrs. Enola Watson, finance chairman, will present the annual budget during this closed meeting.

During the seven years that the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club has been in existence, it has been represented by employed women residing in Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Barrington. Further information on B & PW activities and future meetings may be obtained by contacting the membership committee: Mrs. Jayne Shutt, 392-1717 or Mrs. Betty Schlaver, CL 3-7202.

The club is headed by Mrs. Ruth Hofmeister, president, who represented the club at the recent second anniversary dinner of the Crystal Lake Business and Professional Women's Club.

Marguerite Dalton's Bridal Attire Includes Keepsake

When Marguerite Grace Dalton of Arlington Heights came down the aisle of Our Lady of the Wayside Church for her Sept. 3 marriage to Donald John Smith of Lake Forest, she also wore her grandmother's wedding ring on a chain necklace as "something old." The bride is named for her grandmother, Mrs. Marguerite J. Dalton, and chose to wear the ring in honor of her namesake.

The bride is the daughter of the James A. Daltons of 522 S. Dunton, and the groom's father is Archie J. Smith of Lake Forest.

The 12:30 p.m. ceremony was double ring and was performed by the Rev. Harold T. O'Hara. Later 150 guests greeted the couple at a reception at the Holiday Inn in Rolling Meadows.

For her wedding day, the bride wore a white peau de soie gown with a scooped neckline, kabuki sleeves and a slim skirt adorned with re-embroidered Alencon lace motifs. The floor-length hem was edged with lace, which was studded with pearls, and a detachable train also featured the lace motif.

A PILLBOX OF peau de soie trimmed with lace and pearls held the bride's silk illusion veil in place. Her bouquet was composed of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Judith Hoffman of Arlington Heights was maid of honor, wearing a turquoise blue crepe floor-length dress with a headpiece to match, and she carried a nosegay of turquoise carnations. Miss Hoffman is a cousin of the bride.

Dressed in gowns of powder blue, turquoise and peacock blue crepe were four bridesmaids, Susan Doyle of Detroit, Pamela Short and Marilou Hogate, both of Arlington Heights, and the bride's sister, Kathy Dalton. A leaf embroidery adorned the bodice of each dress and a turquoise train flowed from the back waistline. Each girl wore a peacock blue headpiece and carried a nosegay of turquoise carnations.

Raymond Fini of Lake Forest attended the groom as best man, and ushers included Ehron Jones and Thomas Verbeke, both of Lake Forest, Jay Davis of Arlington Heights, a cousin of the bride, and Robert Kroll of Milwaukee.

THE BRIDE'S 8-year-old sister was also in the wedding party, wearing a light turquoise floor-length dress for her role as flower girl.

The bride's mother was attired in blue to complement the attendants' dresses, hers in a sapphire blue lace with matching accessories. She had a corsage of phalaenopsis orchids pinned to her shoulder.

After a week's cruise on Lake Michigan as their wedding trip, the newlyweds are living in DeKalb where the groom is a senior at Northern Illinois University.

The bride was graduated from Arlington High School and then attended Western Michigan University for two years. She will be working for De Kalb County Credit Bureau while living in that city.

New Care Project Is Project of Area Juniors

HOPE and CARE are two projects that all Junior Clubs in the Seventh District of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs will support this year along with all Junior clubs throughout the nation in the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Area clubs participating are: Arlington Heights, Atise, Elk Grove Village, Hanover Park, Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg and Wheeling Junior Woman's Club.

The new CARE project, Gateway to Friendship, is to be used to aid Philippine families who are leaving overcrowded urban areas and unproductive land to settle in villages known as barrios.

"The Philippine Rural Reconstruction Movement trains college graduates who dedicate themselves to helping their fellow countrymen; however, technical advice and modern methods cannot be implemented without modern tools," commented a spokesman. "The Junior project money will provide tools, cement block-making machines and construction material to build schools, community centers and model homes. Seed packages and livestock will be necessary to increase food production. By using the equipment provided by this project, barrio men, women and children will learn how much they can do for themselves," added the speaker.

CLUB MEMBERS are selling "Friendship Bracelets" which represent these tools to make money to support CARE.

Project HOPE — Health Opportunities for People Everywhere, is a hospital ship that assists in the operation of the medical teaching and training program in foreign countries.

The HOPE ship has made visits to Indonesia, South Viet Nam, Peru, Ecuador and the Republic of Guinea. The ship will return in November from a 10-month stay in Nicaragua. 1967 is the year of HOPE in Colombia and for 10 months the ship will be stationed in the port of Cartagena. (S

Park Sets Holiday Workshop

A Holiday Workshop will be offered by the Arlington Heights Park District for the 1966 fall and winter season. Mrs. Dorothy Carnell will direct three classes at Hasbrook, Pioneer and Recreation Park Fieldhouses. There will be two evening classes and one afternoon.

Arrangements and decorations for the home will be created under the guidance and suggestion of Mrs. Carnell. Women will be asked to provide some of their own supplies, which are easily found in the home. A fee will help cover cost of materials.

The emphasis will be on Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas arrangements that can be easily transformed for each season.

Women may contact the park district office, CL 3-0620, to register for the course. A complete outline of the course will be provided at the first classes, Tuesday, Oct. 18, and Thursday, Oct. 20. (S

Linda Mittag Becomes Mrs. James Fruehling

A week's honeymoon at The Abbey at Lake Geneva followed the double ring ceremony for an Arlington Heights couple. The bride is the former Linda Loretta Mittag, daughter of the Herbert C. Mittags of 302 N. Gibbons, and the groom is James Alan Fruehling, whose parents are the Ivor F. Fruehlings of 1323 N. Vail.

The bridal pair were married at 4 in the afternoon on Aug. 27 in St. Peter Lutheran Church, with the Rev. Robert Bartz officiating. Dinner and dancing followed the ceremony at Long Grove Country Club, where the newlyweds greeted 160 guests.

THE BRIDE chose a white silk peau de soie gown accented with appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace on the empire bodice and the chapel train. Her triple veil was ballerina length and cascaded from a headpiece of peau de soie petals set with seed pearls. For double good luck she had a sixpence tucked in each shoe.

Her bridal bouquet was composed of Japhette orchids, white Sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley with smilax.

Her sister, Mrs. A. J. Corirossi of Rockford, served as matron of honor, coming down the aisle after five bridesmaids. They included Mrs. T. B. Wade of Rolling Meadows and Pam Fruehling, sisters of the groom, Joan Wilcox and Lyn Johnson, both of Arlington Heights, and Julie Gannaway of Albuquerque, a Kappa Delta sorority sister of the bride.

ALL WERE gowned alike in pale blue linen dresses, floor-length with a bodice of ivory lace and a French blue velvet sash at the high waistline. They wore pale blue organza petal crowns in their hair and carried blue Majestic daisies, tinted cornflowers and smilax.

Escorting the bridal attendants were Anton Sadler of Arlington Heights, who served as best man, and ushers Thomas Wade, Tony Corirossi, Kenneth Sherman of Wheeling, Scott Hunter of Elk Grove, Wis., and Robert Huston of Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Also in the wedding party was Peggy Fruehling, the groom's 8-year-old sister, who came down the aisle as flower girl. She was attired in a floor-lenth pale blue linen dress styled identically to the adults' attire and carried a miniature bouquet of daisies, cornflowers and smilax.

Mark Corirossi, 8, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

MRS. MITTAG wore a dusty pink silk peau sheath dress with a pink orchid and pale red Garnet rose corsage as she witnessed her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Fruehling chose a jade green chiffon with an aqua cymbidium and turquoise Sweetheart rose corsage.

Among the out-of-town guests at the festivities were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. F. E. King of Salt Lake City and the groom's grandparents, the Jesse Fruehlings of Fort Madison, Iowa.

The newlyweds are both Arlington High School graduates and then attended Coe College, Cedar Rapids. She has completed two years there and is now working in Arlington Heights for Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co. Mr. Fruehling had a year at Coe and is now at Northwestern University.

They are "at home" in Mount Prospect. (Jenart (S

Bride Judith L. Jansen Adds Sentimental Touch

In making arrangements for the wedding of Judith L. Jansen of Rolling Meadows and Robert A. Edrington of Des Plaines, plans included several sentimental touches which the bride requested.

All of the floral bouquets for the Sept. 3 ceremony in Faith Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, were made by her father, William Jansen, 2411 Meadow Drive, who is manager of Kinsch Village Flowers of Palatine.

The wedding cake was topped with the same decoration used at the bride's parents' wedding, and as "something old" the bride wore a lavaliere given to her grandmother, Mrs. J. Mack of Chicago, by Mr. Mack. The grandparents were among the guests at the 6:30 rites and the reception which followed at Arlington VFW Hall.

A WHITE organza dress with a long circular train was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The neckline was trimmed with pearls and beading, and appliques of lace set with the beading enhanced the full train. A headpiece which matched the motif of the gown held the bride's shoulder-length veil in place, and she carried white vanda orchids, jaffet orchids and stephanotis.

Carol Sorensen of Wheeling was maid of honor, wearing an aqua linen floor-length dress and carrying yellow plumeria and stephanotis. Two bridesmaids, Jane Simon of Arlington Heights and Nancy Kick of Roselle, were gowned exactly like the maid of honor.

THE GROOM, son of Mrs. Florence Edrington of Muncie, Ind., chose Ronald Wagner of Des Plaines as his best man. Seating the guests were the bride's brothers, Jarold Jansen of Rolling Meadows and William Jansen who attends the University of Nebraska.

ALSO IN the wedding party were Donna Duber, 7, as flower girl and Steven Duber, 6, as ring bearer. The two children, both of Chicago, are cousins of the bride, and Steven is also her godchild.

For the festivities, the bride's mother wore a gold lame dress and the groom's mother a peacock blue crepe ensemble. Both had cymbidium corsages.

The newlyweds had a week's honeymoon at Mackinac Island, Niagara Falls and Canada and are now living at 400 W. Touhy, Des Plaines.

The bride attended Arlington and Forest View High Schools and Northern Illinois University. She and her husband are employed at Bruning Co. in Mount

Arlington Newlyweds Living in 'Home Town'

Still living in Arlington Heights and employed locally after their Aug. 27 wedding in St. John united Church of Christ are the former Janis Lois Rezabeck of 1508 W. St. James Place and William John Haberichter of 22 N. Kennicott, The couple are both Arlington High School graduates who will be working here in their chosen fields, the bride as a practical nurse at Northwest Community Hospital and the groom as funeral director and embalmer for Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home.

They are living at 512 W. Prindle Ave. after a week's honeymoon at The Abbey at Lake Geneva.

THE BRIDE, daughter of Louis W. Rezabek and the late Mrs. Rezabek, chose a coral and white color scheme for her wedding day, her own bouquet composed of Amazon lilies centered with coral Sweetheart roses. Her attendants were gowned in shrimp colored saki, and each carried a single large flower made up of coral Sweetheart roses surrounded by greens with long velvet stems.

The bride's dress was empire styled in white linen with a scooped neckline, short puffed sleeves and an A-line skirt. The front of the dress was accented with a wide panel of scalloped Venice lace from the neck to the hemline. A chapel train was attached at the back waistline with a lace bow. Her ballerina-length triple-tiered veil flowed from a white organza floral headpiece.

COMING DOWN the aisle in their shrimp saki gowns, which were simply styled with embroidered lace at the elbow-length sleeves, were Mrs. H. E. Lawson of San Mateo, Calif., the bride's sister, as matron of honor and three bridesmaids. Her sister, Judity Rezabek, and Dorothy Ward of Calumet Park were adult attendants and junior bridesmaid was a niece of the bride, Leslie Ann Lawson, 8, of San Mateo.

The Rev. Thomas O'Connor of Barrington stood at the altar with the groom as best man, and seating the guests were Greg Harris of Arlington Heights, a cousin of the bride, Reggie Zimmerman of Reedsburg, Wis., cousin of the groom, and a junior usher, Chris Lawson, 7, the bride's nephew.

THE GROOM is the son of the Walter Haberichters, and for the double ring rites Mrs. Haberichter was attired in a turquoise crepe dress with a lace bodice, turquoise accessories and a corsage of yellow tearoses at her shoulder.

A buffet dinner at the Arlington Heights Elks Club followed the one o'clock ceremony, 150 guests greeting the newlyweds before they left on their honeymoon.

The bride attended Southern Illinois University and was graduated from Niles Township Licensed Practical Nursing School before working at the hospital. Her husband attended Kendall College and Worsham College of Mortuary Science.

Palatine Pair Makes First Home in DeKalb

DeKalb, Ill. is the first home for Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence John Frye, who were married Aug. 27 in St. Simon's Episcopal Church in Arlington Heights. Both from Palatine, the bride is the former Linda Marie Swisher, daughter of the Ronald E. Swishers, 2102 Theda Lane, and the groom is the son of the Russell W. Fryes, 77 S. Potite Road.

The new Mrs. Frye, a June '66 graduate of Palatine High School, is now employed by the telephone company in DeKalb. Her bridegroom is attending Northern Illinois University.

Fr. Samuel Keyes officiated at the 2:30, double ring service in a setting of white gladioli and carnations. Greens and white satin ribbons marked the pews as Mr. Swisher approached the altar with his daughter.

A WHITE organza floor-length gown over taffeta, fashioned with chapel train and lace sleeves was the choice of the bride for her wedding. The gown was fashioned with lace inserts on the fitted bodice, on the front of the skirt, the train and on the scalloped neckline. Her shoulder-length double-tiered veil fell from a headpiece of organza flower petals and she carried a bouquet of white glamellias and stephanotis.

In the bridal party were sisters of both the bride and groom. Susan Swisher was maid of honor and Darlene Frye Lehmann from Evansville, Ind., along with Judy Berglund of Rolling Meadows and Alice Guilfoy of Palatine, were bridesmaids.

Their gowns were fashioned with moss green bodices with sheer long sleeves and mortar colored skirts with train attached to a back bow. Coral carnations, miniature coral roses and ivy made up their cascade bouquets.

THE GROOM'S brother-in-law, George Lehmann, was best man and ushers were James Meyers and Michael Danforth of Palatine and Harvey Fanning of La Grange Park.

The reception for 165 guests was held in the Citation Room of the Arlington Carousel where Mrs. Swisher received in a nile green chiffon and lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white cymbidiums. Mrs. Frye chose a navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. (S (Bak Studios

Area Judges to Exhibit In Japanese Flower Show

Two Mount Prospect women, both nationally accredited flower show judges, will be exhibiting Sunday, Oct. 9, in the 11th annual fall exhibit of Japanese flower arrangements at the McCormick YWCA. Both women, Mrs. Donald Gardner and Mrs. Ralph Sandeen, are members of the Japanese Flower arranging school, Chicago Misho-Kai, sponsor of the show.

Also exhibiting will be Mrs. Donald Mayer of Arlington Heights, who is also studying at the school.

The school, headed by Madame Seiho Arakawa, was founded in Japan in 1761 and teaches the simplicity, elegance and serenity in arrangements as expressed in Japanese style. Both seasonal and regional materials will be used in the exhibition which will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Demonstrations will be given at 2, 4 and 7 p.m. and a continuous workshop will also be held. (S

May Uncover Birth Defects By Skin Study

Dermatoglyphics, the study of skin patterns, seems to be one of the increasingly important ways of detecting birth defects, according to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The crease patterns on an infant's palms and feet are formed during the first three months of pregnancy and remain unchanged thereafter. In normal, healthy infants the palm prints follow a similar pattern. Variations in these patterns, scientists have observed over the past few years, may give clues to disease.

Investigators studying the palm prints of newborns at the University of Minnesota and New York's Downstate Medical Center have detected infants damaged by German measles (rubella) which had been contracted by their mothers in the first three months of pregnancy. There is also some evidence that congenital heart disease might be detected by means of dermatoglyphics. (S

Arlington Newlyweds Living in 'Home Town'

Still living in Arlington Heights and employed locally after their Aug. 27 wedding in St. John united Church of Christ are the former Janis Lois Rezabeck of 1508 W. St. James Place and William John Haberichter of 22 N. Kennicott. The couple are both Arlington High School graduates who will be working here in their chosen fields, the bride as a practical nurse at Northwest Community Hospital and the groom as funeral director and embalmer for Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home.

They are living at 512 W. Prindle Ave. after a week's honeymoon at The Abbey at Lake Geneva.

THE BRIDE, daughter of Louis W. Rezabek and the late Mrs. Rezabek, chose a coral and white color scheme for her wedding day, her own bouquet composed of Amazon lilies centered with coral Sweetheart roses. Her attendants were gowned in shrimp colored saki, and each carried a single large flower made up of coral Sweetheart roses surrounded by greens with long velvet stems.

The bride's dress was empire styled in white linen with a scooped neckline, short puffed sleeves and an A-line skirt. The front of the dress was accented with a wide panel of scalloped Venice lace from the neck to the hemline. A chapel train was attached at the back waistline with a lace bow. Her ballerina-length triple-tiered veil flowed from a white organza floral headpiece.

COMING DOWN the aisle in their shrimp saki gowns, which were simply styled with embroidered lace at the elbow-length sleeves, were Mrs. H. E. Lawson of San Mateo, Calif., the bride's sister, as matron of honor and three bridesmaids. Her sister, Judity Rezabek, and Dorothy Ward of Calumet Park were adult attendants and junior bridesmaid was a niece of the bride, Leslie Ann Lawson, 8, of San Mateo.

The Rev. Thomas O'Connor of Barrington stood at the altar with the groom as best man, and seating the guests were Greg Harris of Arlington Heights, a cousin of the bride, Reggie Zimmerman of Reedsburg, Wis., cousin of the groom, and a junior usher, Chris Lawson, 7, the bride's nephew.

THE GROOM is the son of the Walter Haberichters, and for the double ring rites Mrs. Haberichter was attired in a turquoise crepe dress with a lace bodice, turquoise accessories and a corsage of yellow tearoses at her shoulder.

A buffet dinner at the Arlington Heights Elks Club followed the one o'clock ceremony, 150 guests greeting the newlyweds before they left on their honeymoon.

The bride attended Southern Illinois University and was graduated from Niles Township Licensed Practical Nursing School before working at the hospital. Her husband attended Kendall College and Worsham College of Mortuary Science.

Chapter members held their fall rush party Tuesday evening at the home of Marilou Hogate in Arlington Heights. (S

May Uncover Birth Defects By Skin Study

Dermatoglyphics, the study of skin patterns, seems to be one of the increasingly important ways of detecting birth defects, according to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The crease patterns on an infant's palms and feet are formed during the first three months of pregnancy and remain unchanged thereafter. In normal, healthy infants the palm prints follow a similar pattern. Variations in these patterns, scientists have observed over the past few years, may give clues to disease.

Investigators studying the palm prints of newborns at the University of Minnesota and New York's Downstate Medical Center have detected infants damaged by German measles (rubella) which had been contracted by their mothers in the first three months of pregnancy. There is also some evidence that congenital heart disease might be detected by means of dermatoglyphics. (S

Palatine Pair Makes First Home in DeKalb

DeKalb, Ill. is the first home for Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence John Frye, who were married Aug. 27 in St. Simon's Episcopal Church in Arlington Heights. Both from Palatine, the bride is the former Linda Marie Swisher, daughter of the Ronald E. Swishers, 2102 Theda Lane, and the groom is the son of the Russell W. Fryes, 77 S. Potite Road.

The new Mrs. Frye, a June '66 graduate of Palatine High School, is now employed by the telephone company in DeKalb. Her bridegroom is attending Northern Illinois University.

Fr. Samuel Keyes officiated at the 2:30, double ring service in a setting of white gladioli and carnations. Greens and white satin ribbons marked the pews as Mr. Swisher approached the altar with his daughter.

A WHITE organza floor-length gown over taffeta, fashioned with chapel train and lace sleeves was the choice of the bride for her wedding. The gown was fashioned with lace inserts on the fitted bodice, on the front of the skirt, the train and on the scalloped neckline. Her shoulder-length double-tiered veil fell from a headpiece of organza flower petals and she carried a bouquet of white glamellias and stephanotis.

In the bridal party were sisters of both the bride and groom. Susan Swisher was maid of honor and Darlene Frye Lehmann from Evansville, Ind., along with Judy Berglund of Rolling Meadows and Alice Guilfoy of Palatine, were bridesmaids.

Their gowns were fashioned with moss green bodices with sheer long sleeves and mortar colored skirts with train attached to a back bow. Coral carnations, miniature coral roses and ivy made up their cascade bouquets.

THE GROOM'S brother-in-law, George Lehmann, was best man and ushers were James Meyers and Michael Danforth of Palatine and Harvey Fanning of La Grange Park.

The reception for 165 guests was held in the Citation Room of the Arlington Carousel where Mrs. Swisher received in a nile green chiffon and lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white cymbidiums. Mrs. Frye chose a navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. (S (Bak Studios

Area Judges to Exhibit In Japanese Flower Show

Two Mount Prospect women, both nationally accredited flower show judges, will be exhibiting Sunday, Oct. 9, in the 11th annual fall exhibit of Japanese flower arrangements at the McCormick YWCA. Both women, Mrs. Donald Gardner and Mrs. Ralph Sandeen, are members of the Japanese Flower arranging school, Chicago Misho-Kai, sponsor of the show.

Also exhibiting will be Mrs. Donald Mayer of Arlington Heights, who is also studying at the school.

The school, headed by Madame Seiho Arakawa, was founded in Japan in 1761 and teaches the simplicity, elegance and serenity in arrangements as expressed in Japanese style. Both seasonal and regional materials will be used in the exhibition which will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Demonstrations will be given at 2, 4 and 7 p.m. and a continuous workshop will also be held. (S

It's A Second Set of Twins For Hoffman Estates Couple

A second set of twins have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Bando, new Hoffman Estates residents at 523 Glenlake. Twin sons, Peter Gerald and John Allen, were born to the couple Sept. 30 in Northwest Community Hospital.

The boys will be joining 4-year-old twin sisters, Ann Louise and Ellen Mary, 4, and Joan Ellen, 8, and Carole Ann, 6. Ann and Ellen are identical twins, but the boys are fraternal twins, explained Mrs. Bando. "We are just thrilled to have twin sons," commented Mrs. Bando who gave birth to the boys a week early by Caesarean section. Peter's birth weight was 6 pounds 4 ounces and John's birth weight was 6 pounds 4 ounces.

Because of the early birth, Mr. Bando did not have time to paint the new cribs purchased for the boys. "I guess we should have saved the cribs from the girls," exclaimed Mrs. Bando, "but then we weren't really expecting another double birth until just recently." The Bandos, who know of no twins in their families, claim they are making up for this in their own family.

Grandparents of the children are the Gwerte Bandos and the Noel Vients of Quincy, Mass. The Hoffman Estates Bandos are also from Massachusetts, but have spent the past year in Barrington.

Lisa Geralyn Rio was born Sept. 14 in Oak Park Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald John Rio, 133 Flagstaff Lane, Hoffman Estates. Brothers and sister of the 6 pound 9 ounce baby are Pamela, 8, Michael, 6, and John 3. Grandparents, all of Chicago, are the V. Rios and the J. Muratoris. Lisa's birth weight was 6 pounds 9 ounces.

Juanita Cadena was born Sept. 19 in Elmhurst Memorial Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Juan Cadena of Bartlett. Sister of the 7 pound 2 ounce baby is Maria, 6½.

Julie Michele Wendt, second child for the Larry Dennis Wendts, 2023 E. Grove St., Arlington Heights, was born Sept. 24 in Oak Park Hospital. Julie's birth weight was 7 pounds 1½ ounces. Three-year-old Dennis is the couple's older child. Grandparents of the children are the Elliott Baughans of Forest Park and the William Schwanbecks of Wilmette.

Donna Lisa Wojtowicz's birth Sept. 24 in Oak Park Hospital makes it a trio of girls for the Chester Joseph Wojtowiczes, 207 Lanford Lane, Prospect Heights. Sisters of the 7 pound 3½ ounce baby are Denise, 11, and Deborah, 8. Mrs. Elizabeth Roy of Oak Brook is the grandmother of the girls.

Marianne Alsten is the second daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alsten, 6641 Highland, Hanover Park. Born Sept. 27 in Gottlieb Memorial Hospital, the baby weighed 6 pounds 6 ounces. Barbara, 2½, is Marianne's sister, and the grandparents of the girls are the C. W. Wolfs of Forest Park and the Ray Ehmans of Melrose Park.

Michael Edward Murnane is the first child for the Edward D. Murnanes, 27 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights. Born Sept. 30 in Northwest Community Hospital, Michael weighed 6 pounds 7½ ounces. His grandparents are Edward F. Murnane of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Steffes of Hinsdale.

William James Betke, 8 pound 14 ounce son of the William Betkes, 4983 Wilke Road, Rolling Meadows, was born Sept. 27 in Northwest Community Hospital. The baby is the couple's first child. His grandparents are Mrs. Florence Betke of Palatine, and the Chester Lindquists, also of Palatine. Among his great-grandparents is Mrs. Andrew Lind of Palatine.

Erik Freitag is the name Mr. and Mrs. Henrik Freitag, 1359 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, have chosen for their third child. Born Sept. 29 in Northwest Community Hospital, Erik weighed 7 pounds 14 ounces. He has a brother, Paul Henrik, 2½, and a sister, Lee Ann, one. The Paul Freitags of Denmark and Edward Kenney of London, England are the grandparents of the baby.

Kenneth Morgan Russell, first son and second child for the Jerry Russells, 906 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights, was born Sept. 25 in Northwest Community Hospital. Sister of the 7 pound 10 ounce baby is 2-year-old Jeri-Lynn, and grandparents are Mrs. Lois Russell of Park Ridge and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams of Arlington Heights. The Hobart Bartletts of Prospect Heights are the children's great-grandparents.

Michael Gerard Mullin is the new grandchild for the Harold Bukers of Arlington Heights. Born Sept. 30 in Northwest Community Hospital, he is the the third child for the John V. Mullins of Lombard. Sean, 2, and Kathleen, one, are Michael's brother and sister. His paternal grandparents are the Joseph Mullins of Chicago.

Scott Allen Hathorne, 7 pound 15 ounce son of the Robert Hathornes, 1519 N. Pine, Arlington Heights, was born Sept. 28 in Northwest Community Hospital. Scott has a 4½-year-old brother, Robert, and his grandparents are Mrs. Ruth Hathorne of Waukegan and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hummer of Libertyville.

Melanie Marie Mann was a Sept. 22 arrival for the William Manns of 123 S. Wapella, Mount Prospect. Born in Northwest Community Hospital, she weighed 6 pounds 14 ounces. The baby has a brother, Eric, who is 2½, and the children's grandparents are the Ernest Manns of Polo, Ill., and Mrs. Neta Morris of Dixon.

Mary McCook was born Sept. 23 in Northwest Community Hospital to the Thomas J. McCooks of 1116 N. Douglas, Arlington Heights. She is a sister for 8-year-old twins, Cathy and Terry; Mimi, 5½, and Tommy, 3½. Grandparents of the 6 pound 7½ ounce baby girl are the Joseph McCooks of Garden City, N. Y., and the William Rourkes of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Janice Maria Hartman is the name given to the daughter born Sept. 24 to Mr. and Mrs. Neil R. Hartman of 2185 Elm Ave., Hanover Park. She arrived in Northwest Community Hospital and weighed 8 pounds 3 ounces. Janice has a brother, Clifford, who is 3, and her grandparents are the Richard Hartmans of Atlanta, Ga., and William McNeil and Mrs. Margaret S. Chase, both of Washington, D. C.

Tera Anne Dunlap's birth was recorded Sept. 20 in St. Alexius Hospital, the second daughter of the Scott Dunlaps of 501 S. Dartmouth Lane, Weathersfield. The 6 pound 12 ounce baby is a sister for 3-year-old Lisa Marie and another granddaughter for the Ralph Whites of Long Island and Mrs. Anne Dunlap of Maryland, N. Y.

James Edward Grainger was born Sept. 20 to Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Grainger of Wauconda. Grandson of the Edward Graingers of Palatine, the baby was born in Highland Park Hospital. Other children in the family are Jackie, 7, and Patty, 3. Maternal grandparents are Mrs. Lucille Hovet of Island Lake and Robert Hovet of Des Plaines.

Christine Marie Perricone is the second daughter for the Ralph Perricones, 110 N. Wolf, Wheeling. Born Sept. 20 in Highland Park Hospital, the baby's sister is 21-month-old Cheryl Lynn. Grandparents of the girls are the Arthur Truelsens of Prospect Heights and the Santo Perricones of Arlington Heights.

Take Baby's First Cold Seriously

A baby's first cold should be taken seriously because it can easily lead to complications.

A cold may bring on a fever that can rise to 101 to 105 degrees, especially in children under two years of age. If such a fever continues, there is danger of dehydration, and this can lead to critical illness.

A doctor generally will prescribe an increased intake of fluids to replace those burned up by fever.

Besides dehydration, baby's first and later colds can open the door to secondary infections.

Here are some practical hints about caring for a baby with a cold:

Whether the baby is in crib or playpen, keep the nursery at even, moderate temperature. When the room is being aired, move the baby to another room.

Don't bundle up baby in more than the usual amount of covering. This only serves to overheat him.

There's no need for special diet unless the doctor recommends it.

You may bathe the baby as usual but keep the room at the right temperature.

Most important to remember, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Keep baby away from persons with colds and out of public places during cold epidemics. If he catches one anyway, consult your doctor at least by telephone. (S

FALLING LEAVES put Inverness women in the mood for their fashion show, "Passprot to Autumn," which will be held Thursday, Oct. 13, in the Inverness Golf Club. Sponsoring the affair is the Inverness Woman's Club. Mrs. William Morris and Mrs. Leonard DeCoster, committee members, do their part by gathering branches, while Mrs. Chester Wettstein Jr., chairman, and Mrs. Fred Nicklas, president of the club, wield their rakes.

Bride's Brother and Cousins Perform Stonich-Parise Rite

When Frances Ann Stonich of Park Ridge became the bride of Arnold Roy Parise of Arlington Heights on Aug. 27 in Our Lady of the Wayside Church, it was strictly a "family affair" in which the bride's brother performed the ceremony, assisted by two of her cousins.

The Rev. Raymond Stonich of Elmhurst officiated at the 10 a.m. rites, and also at the altar to take part in the Mass were the Rev. Raymond Rypel of St. Peter, Minn., and the Rev. Raymond Lukoskie of Kewanee, Ill.

The bride, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Stonich of Braidwood, Ill., was given in marriage by her uncle, M. A. Lukoskie of Superior, Wis. The groom is the son of the John Parises of 2706 Briarwood Drive West, Arlington Heights.

THE BRIDE, a graduate of St. Francis Hospital School of Nursing, is a nurse in the Arlington office of Doctors McGill, Leone and McGill. Her husband, a graduate of Austin High School, is attending the College of Advanced Traffic in Chicago and working for Amoco Chemicals Corp.

Their wedding party was composed of relatives of the couple, with the exception of a friend, Louis Leone, of Mount Prospect, who was among the ushers, and Margaret Leone, 5, who served as flower girl.

MATRON OF honor was Mrs. Vito Parise of Des Plaines, an aunt of the groom, and three of the bride's cousins, Mrs. Robert Kiep of Joliet, and Kathleen and Patricia O'Malley of St. Paul, Minn. were bridesmaids.

All of the bridal attendants were gowned alike in white crepe empire-styled dresses edged at the high waistline with a narrow burgundy velvet sash. They wore burgundy velvet bows in their hair, and their flowers were pink elegance, tea leaves, ivy and burgundy grapes.

The adult attendants carried cascade bouquets; the flower girl carried her flowers in a small basket.

AS THE BRIDE entered the sanctuary, she wore a white peau de soie gown with a scooped neckline, long sleeves and a full-length skirt with detachable train. A pearl and bead floral motif trimmed the bodice. The bride wore a headpiece of peau, accented with pearlized orange blossoms, to hold her triple veil in place.

At her neckline she wore a single strand of pearls and also earrings of pearls and diamonds, both gifts from the groom.

Her bouquet was a cascade of white glamellias, stephanotis, ivy and white pearlized grapes.

VITO PARISE, the groom's uncle, was best man, and seating the guests were John Lukoskie of Bloomington and Joseph Oczak of St. Paul, both cousins of the bride, along with Mr. Leone of Mount Prospect.

A noon luncheon at Itasca Country Club feted the couple. Greeting 300 guests, the bride's aunt wore a shocking pink wool ensemble and had a white shasta mum corsage. The groom's mother wore a vivid blue silk organza dress trimmed with blue sequins and her corsage was of phalaenopsis orchids.

AMONG THE special guests for the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Iver Evans of Largo, Fla., grandparents of the groom.

The newlyweds departed for a 2-week honeymoon in Nassau and are now back in this area living with the Parise family until their new home in Palatine is ready for occupancy. (Jenart

Susan Anderson Becomes Richard Barstow's Bride

Living in Arlington Heights since their Sept. 10 wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Barstow. The bride is the former Susan K. Anderson, daughter of the Norman B. Andersons of 167 N. Highland, Inverness, and the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. D. K. Barstow of St. Louis, Mich.

Their nuptials took place in the First Methodist Church of Palatine at 7:30 p.m., with the Rev. C. Albert Chamberlain officiating. A reception followed at Inverness Golf Club.

AS SHE CAME down the aisle on the arm of her father, the bride was attired in a white brocade gown which ended in a chapel train. A matching brocade headpiece held her shoulder-length veil, and she carried a bouquet of jaffet orchids, stephanotis and English ivy.

Her attendants were Diana Woodward of Streator, Ill., as maid of honor and three bridesmaids, Mrs. Werner Pauli of Rolling Meadows, a cousin of the bride; Mrs. Louis Watson of Peoria and Sharon Borgmeier of Arlington Heights.

THE GIRLS WERE dressed alike in deep pink floor-length dresses and carried bouquets of pink amaryllis with grens.

Best man was the groom's brother, Thomas R. Barstow of Detroit, and seating the guests were the bride's brother, Michael Anderson; George Harrington of Chicago, Stanley Rogers of Euclid, Ohio, and James Rose of Chicago, a cousin of the bride.

She is a Palatine High School graduate who later attended Knox College in Galesburg and Western College for Women in Oxford, Ohio. Her husband also went to school in Oxford, attending Miami University.

Kathleen Crittenden Is Now Mrs. Thomas J. Owen

When the new fall term began at Northern Illinois University in September, two of the collegians returned as man and wife, the former Kathleen Crittenden of Palatine and Thomas J. Owen, of Oak Park. The couple were married Aug. 27 in St. Thomas of Villanova Church, Palatine, and after a week's honeymoon in northern Michigan they returned to classes. The bride is a junior, and the groom a senior in business administration.

The daughter of the Harold R. Crittendens of 1314 S. Norman Drive, the bride was given in marriage by her father. With her white bouquet taffeta dress, which was accented at the empire waistline with appliques of daisies, she carried a bouquet of white daisies with yellow roses. The dress had a full-length train and was complemented by a floral headpiece and a 3-tiered elbow-length veil.

HER ATTENDANTS also carried yellow daisies, used as accent to their turquoise floor-length dresses and matching headpieces.

Maid of honor was Susan Sanders of Palatine, and bridesmaids included the groom's sister, Mary Ann Owen of Oak Park, Judith Harris of Franklin Park and Susan Mason of Elmhurst.

Their escorts were Keith Owen of Denver who was his brother's best man; Arthur Kay, William Ocain and Louis Houder, all of Oak Park.

THE GROOM'S parents are the Thomas J. Owens.

Following the 11 a.m. Mass and nuptials, the couple were feted by 100 guests at a luncheon reception at Arlington Elks Club.

Their new address is 1716 Twonbley Road, DeKalb. (S

Silks or Satins For Symphony Ball

Silk, crepe, satin and chiffon are among topics being discussed these days by members of the Women's Association of Northwest Symphony Orchestra, who will be sponsoring an anniversary ball Saturday, Oct. 15. The affair will open the 15th season for the orchestra, and will be held in Park Ridge Country Club.

For the ball, Mrs. Melvin Coobs of Arlington Heights, who plays cello with the orchestra, has chosen a brocaded A-line skirt and blouse, while Mrs. Richard Stamm of Mount Prospect, co-chairman of the ball, has chosen a velvet skirt with richly brocaded blouse.

MEMBERS HAVE also been discussing the pleasures and difficulties of persuading the gentlemen to wear formal dress, but have stated that a dark business suit will be as welcome as black tie.

The ball will begin with cocktails at 7 followed by dinner at 8:30 and dancing. Charles Kessler of Arlington Heights, a member of the Symphony, will be in the orchestra providing the dance music.

Mission Study Program Includes Inner City Tour

Forty Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights women boarded a bus Sept. 28 to visit the inner city as part of their mission study program, "The City—God's Gift to the Church." The group represented the United Presbyterian Women of the Community Presbyterian Church in Mount Prospect.

The all-day trip included conducted tours of Christopher House, Christian Industrial League, Firman House and Peniel Center, all settlement houses that receive help from the organization.

A HIGHLIGHT was participation in a sandwich lunch with members of the MOM's organization, who provided the coffee. The two groups met at the Robert Taylor Housing project, 4037 S. Federal as a result of plans made by Mary Margaret Kuivinen, World Service chairman of the Mount Prospect women's organization.

Mrs. Charles Houchins is president of the UPW of Community Presbyterian Church. (S

Inverness Women Plan Fall Show

"Passport to Autumn," a luncheon and fashion show, will be given by the Woman's Club of Inverness Thursday, Oct. 13, at the Inverness Golf Club. Chairman of the show, which will feature fashions by Bea Dorsey of Dundee, is Mrs. Chester Wettstein Jr.

Working on Mrs. Wettstein's committee are Mrs. E. Gunderson, Mrs. E. W. Richardson, Mrs. William Morris, Mrs. Fredric Wood, Mrs. Leonard DeCoster, Mrs. Talbert Haslett and Mrs. Joseph Raufeisen. Mrs. R. O. Jaeger is in charge of the luncheon.

The Community House of Inverness and scholarships given for conservation, music and art will benefit from this ways and means project. (S

It's A Second Set of Twins For Hoffman Estates Couple

A second set of twins have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Bando, new Hoffman Estates residents at 523 Glenlake. Twin sons, Peter Gerald and John Allen, were born to the couple Sept. 30 in Northwest Community Hospital.

The boys will be joining 4-year-old twin sisters, Ann Louise and Ellen Mary, 4, and Joan Ellen, 8, and Carole Ann, 6. Ann and Ellen are identical twins, but the boys are fraternal twins, explained Mrs. Bando. "We are just thrilled to have twin sons," commented Mrs. Bando who gave birth to the boys a week early by Caesarean section. Peter's birth weight was 6 pounds 4 ounces and John's birth weight was 6 pounds 4 ounces.

Because of the early birth, Mr. Bando did not have time to paint the new cribs purchased for the boys. "I guess we should have saved the cribs from the girls," exclaimed Mrs. Bando, "but then we weren't really expecting another double birth until just recently." The Bandos, who know of no twins in their families, claim they are making up for this in their own family.

Grandparents of the children are the Gwerte Bandos and the Noel Vients of Quincy, Mass. The Hoffman Estates Bandos are also from Massachusetts, but have spent the past year in Barrington.

Lisa Geralyn Rio was born Sept. 14 in Oak Park Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald John Rio, 133 Flagstaff Lane, Hoffman Estates. Brothers and sister of the 6 pound 9 ounce baby are Pamela, 8, Michael, 6, and John 3. Grandparents, all of Chicago, are the V. Rios and the J. Muratoris. Lisa's birth weight was 6 pounds 9 ounces.

Juanita Cadena was born Sept. 19 in Elmhurst Memorial Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Juan Cadena of Bartlett. Sister of the 7 pound 2 ounce baby is Maria, 6½.

Julie Michele Wendt, second child for the Larry Dennis Wendts, 2023 E. Grove St., Arlington Heights, was born Sept. 24 in Oak Park Hospital. Julie's birth weight was 7 pounds 1½ ounces. Three-year-old Dennis is the couple's older child. Grandparents of the children are the Elliott Baughans of Forest Park and the William Schwanbecks of Wilmette.

Donna Lisa Wojtowicz's birth Sept. 24 in Oak Park Hospital makes it a trio of girls for the Chester Joseph Wojtowiczes, 207 Lanford Lane, Prospect Heights. Sisters of the 7 pound 3½ ounce baby are Denise, 11, and Deborah, 8. Mrs. Elizabeth Roy of Oak Brook is the grandmother of the girls.

Marianne Alsten is the second daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alsten, 6641 Highland, Hanover Park. Born Sept. 27 in Gottlieb Memorial Hospital, the baby weighed 6 pounds 6 ounces. Barbara, 2½, is Marianne's sister, and the grandparents of the girls are the C. W. Wolfs of Forest Park and the Ray Ehmans of Melrose Park.

Michael Edward Murnane is the first child for the Edward D. Murnanes, 27 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights. Born Sept. 30 in Northwest Community Hospital, Michael weighed 6 pounds 7½ ounces. His grandparents are Edward F. Murnane of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Steffes of Hinsdale.

William James Betke, 8 pound 14 ounce son of the William Betkes, 4983 Wilke Road, Rolling Meadows, was born Sept. 27 in Northwest Community Hospital. The baby is the couple's first child. His grandparents are Mrs. Florence Betke of Palatine, and the Chester Lindquists, also of Palatine. Among his great-grandparents is Mrs. Andrew Lind of Palatine.

Erik Freitag is the name Mr. and Mrs. Henrik Freitag, 1359 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, have chosen for their third child. Born Sept. 29 in Northwest Community Hospital, Erik weighed 7 pounds 14 ounces. He has a brother, Paul Henrik, 2½, and a sister, Lee Ann, one. The Paul Freitags of Denmark and Edward Kenney of London, England are the grandparents of the baby.

Kenneth Morgan Russell, first son and second child for the Jerry Russells, 906 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights, was born Sept. 25 in Northwest Community Hospital. Sister of the 7 pound 10 ounce baby is 2-year-old Jeri-Lynn, and grandparents are Mrs. Lois Russell of Park Ridge and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams of Arlington Heights. The Hobart Bartletts of Prospect Heights are the children's great-grandparents.

Michael Gerard Mullin is the new grandchild for the Harold Bukers of Arlington Heights. Born Sept. 30 in Northwest Community Hospital, he is the the third child for the John V. Mullins of Lombard. Sean, 2, and Kathleen, one, are Michael's brother and sister. His paternal grandparents are the Joseph Mullins of Chicago.

Scott Allen Hathorne, 7 pound 15 ounce son of the Robert Hathornes, 1519 N. Pine, Arlington Heights, was born Sept. 28 in Northwest Community Hospital. Scott has a 4½-year-old brother, Robert, and his grandparents are Mrs. Ruth Hathorne of Waukegan and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hummer of Libertyville.

Living in Arlington Heights since their Sept. 10 wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Barstow. The bride is the former Susan K. Anderson, daughter of the Norman B. Andersons of 167 N. Highland, Inverness, and the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. D. K. Barstow of St. Louis, Mich.

Their nuptials took place in the First Methodist Church of Palatine at 7:30 p.m., with the Rev. C. Albert Chamberlain officiating. A reception followed at Inverness Golf Club.

AS SHE CAME down the aisle on the arm of her father, the bride was attired in a white brocade gown which ended in a chapel train. A matching brocade headpiece held her shoulder-length veil, and she carried a bouquet of jaffet orchids, stephanotis and English ivy.

Her attendants were Diana Woodward of Streator, Ill., as maid of honor and three bridesmaids, Mrs. Werner Pauli of Rolling Meadows, a cousin of the bride; Mrs. Louis Watson of Peoria and Sharon Borgmeier of Arlington Heights.

THE GIRLS WERE dressed alike in deep pink floor-length dresses and carried bouquets of pink amaryllis with grens.

Best man was the groom's brother, Thomas R. Barstow of Detroit, and seating the guests were the bride's brother, Michael Anderson; George Harrington of Chicago, Stanley Rogers of Euclid, Ohio, and James Rose of Chicago, a cousin of the bride.

She is a Palatine High School graduate who later attended Knox College in Galesburg and Western College for Women in Oxford, Ohio. Her husband also went to school in Oxford, attending Miami University.

Silks or Satins For Symphony Ball

Silk, crepe, satin and chiffon are among topics being discussed these days by members of the Women's Association of Northwest Symphony Orchestra, who will be sponsoring an anniversary ball Saturday, Oct. 15. The affair will open the 15th season for the orchestra, and will be held in Park Ridge Country Club.

For the ball, Mrs. Melvin Coobs of Arlington Heights, who plays cello with the orchestra, has chosen a brocaded A-line skirt and blouse, while Mrs. Richard Stamm of Mount Prospect, co-chairman of the ball, has chosen a velvet skirt with richly brocaded blouse.

MEMBERS HAVE also been discussing the pleasures and difficulties of persuading the gentlemen to wear formal dress, but have stated that a dark business suit will be as welcome as black tie.

The ball will begin with cocktails at 7 followed by dinner at 8:30 and dancing. Charles Kessler of Arlington Heights, a member of the Symphony, will be in the orchestra providing the dance music.

Take Baby's First Cold Seriously

A baby's first cold should be taken seriously because it can easily lead to complications.

A cold may bring on a fever that can rise to 101 to 105 degrees, especially in children under two years of age. If such a fever continues, there is danger of dehydration, and this can lead to critical illness.

A doctor generally will prescribe an increased intake of fluids to replace those burned up by fever.

Besides dehydration, baby's first and later colds can open the door to secondary infections.

Here are some practical hints about caring for a baby with a cold:

Whether the baby is in crib or playpen, keep the nursery at even, moderate temperature. When the room is being aired, move the baby to another room.

Don't bundle up baby in more than the usual amount of covering. This only serves to overheat him.

There's no need for special diet unless the doctor recommends it.

You may bathe the baby as usual but keep the room at the right temperature.

Most important to remember, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Keep baby away from persons with colds and out of public places during cold epidemics. If he catches one anyway, consult your doctor at least by telephone. (S

FALLING LEAVES put Inverness women in the mood for their fashion show, "Passprot to Autumn," which will be held Thursday, Oct. 13, in the Inverness Golf Club. Sponsoring the affair is the Inverness Woman's Club. Mrs. William Morris and Mrs. Leonard DeCoster, committee members, do their part by gathering branches, while Mrs. Chester Wettstein Jr., chairman, and Mrs. Fred Nicklas, president of the club, wield their rakes.

Bride's Brother and Cousins Perform Stonich-Parise Rite

When Frances Ann Stonich of Park Ridge became the bride of Arnold Roy Parise of Arlington Heights on Aug. 27 in Our Lady of the Wayside Church, it was strictly a "family affair" in which the bride's brother performed the ceremony, assisted by two of her cousins.

The Rev. Raymond Stonich of Elmhurst officiated at the 10 a.m. rites, and also at the altar to take part in the Mass were the Rev. Raymond Rypel of St. Peter, Minn., and the Rev. Raymond Lukoskie of Kewanee, Ill.

The bride, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Stonich of Braidwood, Ill., was given in marriage by her uncle, M. A. Lukoskie of Superior, Wis. The groom is the son of the John Parises of 2706 Briarwood Drive West, Arlington Heights.

THE BRIDE, a graduate of St. Francis Hospital School of Nursing, is a nurse in the Arlington office of Doctors McGill, Leone and McGill. Her husband, a graduate of Austin High School, is attending the College of Advanced Traffic in Chicago and working for Amoco Chemicals Corp.

Their wedding party was composed of relatives of the couple, with the exception of a friend, Louis Leone, of Mount Prospect, who was among the ushers, and Margaret Leone, 5, who served as flower girl.

MATRON OF honor was Mrs. Vito Parise of Des Plaines, an aunt of the groom, and three of the bride's cousins, Mrs. Robert Kiep of Joliet, and Kathleen and Patricia O'Malley of St. Paul, Minn. were bridesmaids.

All of the bridal attendants were gowned alike in white crepe empire-styled dresses edged at the high waistline with a narrow burgundy velvet sash. They wore burgundy velvet bows in their hair, and their flowers were pink elegance, tea leaves, ivy and burgundy grapes.

The adult attendants carried cascade bouquets; the flower girl carried her flowers in a small basket.

AS THE BRIDE entered the sanctuary, she wore a white peau de soie gown with a scooped neckline, long sleeves and a full-length skirt with detachable train. A pearl and bead floral motif trimmed the bodice. The bride wore a headpiece of peau, accented with pearlized orange blossoms, to hold her triple veil in place.

At her neckline she wore a single strand of pearls and also earrings of pearls and diamonds, both gifts from the groom.

Her bouquet was a cascade of white glamellias, stephanotis, ivy and white pearlized grapes.

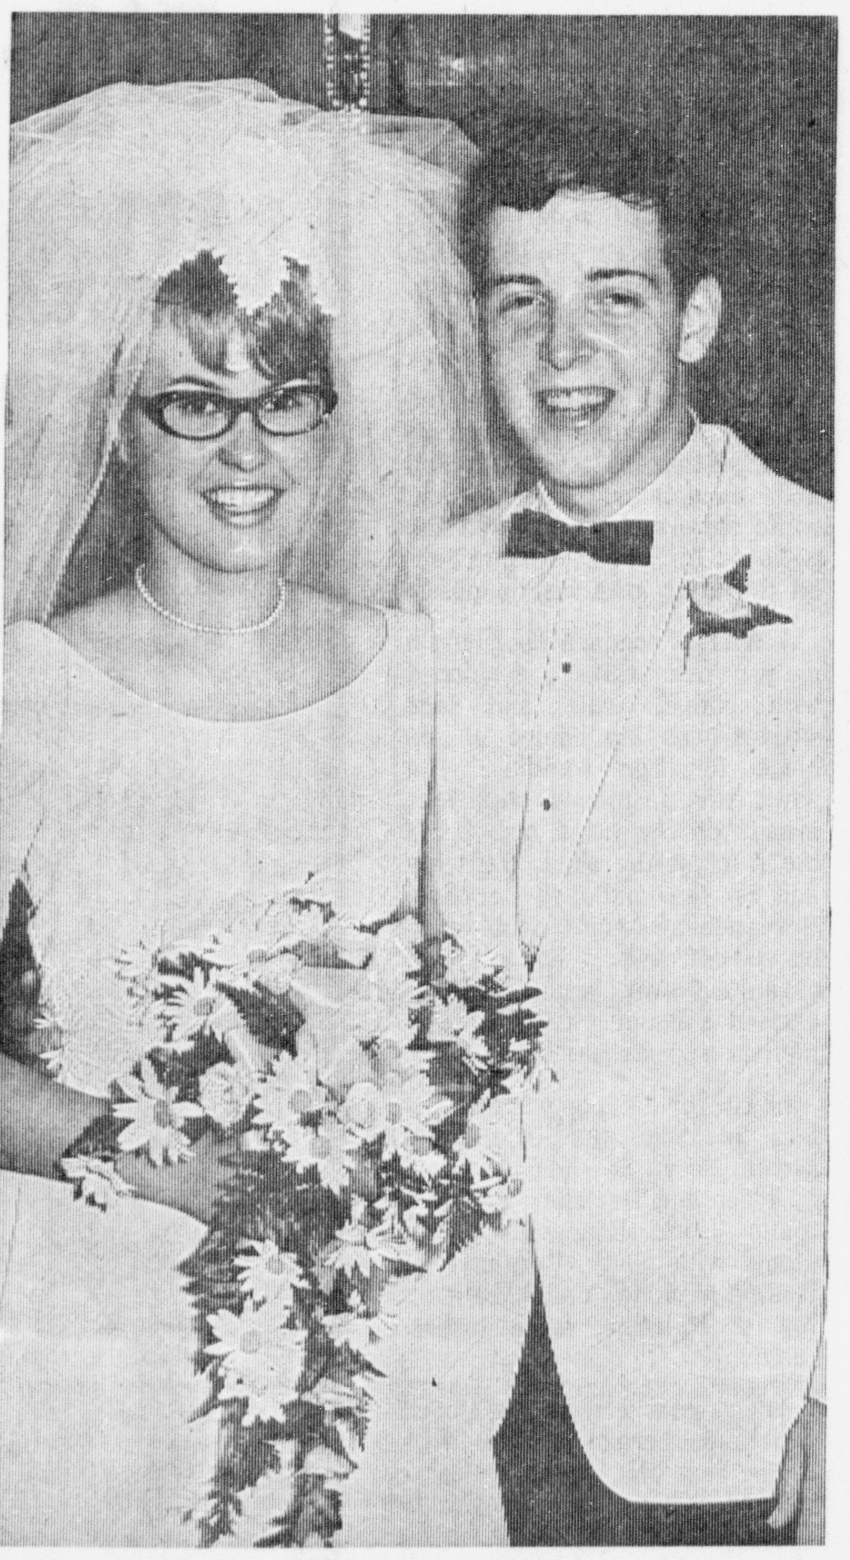
VITO PARISE, the groom's uncle, was best man, and seating the guests were John Lukoskie of Bloomington and Joseph Oczak of St. Paul, both cousins of the bride, along with Mr. Leone of Mount Prospect.

A noon luncheon at Itasca Country Club feted the couple. Greeting 300 guests, the bride's aunt wore a shocking pink wool ensemble and had a white shasta mum corsage. The groom's mother wore a vivid blue silk organza dress trimmed with blue sequins and her corsage was of phalaenopsis orchids.

AMONG THE special guests for the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Iver Evans of Largo, Fla., grandparents of the groom.

The newlyweds departed for a 2-week honeymoon in Nassau and are now back in this area living with the Parise family until their new home in Palatine is ready for occupancy. (Jenart

Kathleen Crittenden Is Now Mrs. Thomas J. Owen



When the new fall term began at Northern Illinois University in September, two of the collegians returned as man and wife, the former Kathleen Crittenden of Palatine and Thomas J. Owen, of Oak Park. The couple were married Aug. 27 in St. Thomas of Villanova Church, Palatine, and after a week's honeymoon in northern Michigan they returned to classes. The bride is a junior, and the groom a senior in business administration.

The daughter of the Harold R. Crittendens of 1314 S. Norman Drive, the bride was given in marriage by her father. With her white bouquet taffeta dress, which was accented at the empire waistline with appliques of daisies, she carried a bouquet of white daisies with yellow roses. The dress had a full-length train and was complemented by a floral headpiece and a 3-tiered elbow-length veil.

HER ATTENDANTS also carried yellow daisies, used as accent to their turquoise floor-length dresses and matching headpieces.

Maid of honor was Susan Sanders of Palatine, and bridesmaids included the groom's sister, Mary Ann Owen of Oak Park, Judith Harris of Franklin Park and Susan Mason of Elmhurst.

Their escorts were Keith Owen of Denver who was his brother's best man; Arthur Kay, William Ocain and Louis Houder, all of Oak Park.

THE GROOM'S parents are the Thomas J. Owens.

Following the 11 a.m. Mass and nuptials, the couple were feted by 100 guests at a luncheon reception at Arlington Elks Club.

Their new address is 1716 Twonbley Road, DeKalb. (S

Mission Study Program Includes Inner City Tour

Forty Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights women boarded a bus Sept. 28 to visit the inner city as part of their mission study program, "The City—God's Gift to the Church." The group represented the United Presbyterian Women of the Community Presbyterian Church in Mount Prospect.

The all-day trip included conducted tours of Christopher House, Christian Industrial League, Firman House and Peniel Center, all settlement houses that receive help from the organization.

A HIGHLIGHT was participation in a sandwich lunch with members of the MOM's organization, who provided the coffee. The two groups met at the Robert Taylor Housing project, 4037 S. Federal as a result of plans made by Mary Margaret Kuivinen, World Service chairman of the Mount Prospect women's organization.

Mrs. Charles Houchins is president of the UPW of Community Presbyterian Church. (S

Inverness Women Plan Fall Show

"Passport to Autumn," a luncheon and fashion show, will be given by the Woman's Club of Inverness Thursday, Oct. 13, at the Inverness Golf Club. Chairman of the show, which will feature fashions by Bea Dorsey of Dundee, is Mrs. Chester Wettstein Jr.

Working on Mrs. Wettstein's committee are Mrs. E. Gunderson, Mrs. E. W. Richardson, Mrs. William Morris, Mrs. Fredric Wood, Mrs. Leonard DeCoster, Mrs. Talbert Haslett and Mrs. Joseph Raufeisen. Mrs. R. O. Jaeger is in charge of the luncheon.

The Community House of Inverness and scholarships given for conservation, music and art will benefit from this ways and means project. (S

Large Bridal Party Serves In Hardison-DeCroes Rites

Six attendants, all gowned alike in lime green chiffon dresses accented with avocado green satin at the waistline, preceded the former Gail Diane Hardison of Arlington Heights down the aisle of Southminster Presbyterian Church for her Sept. 3 wedding. At 12:30 p.m. she exchanged vows with Charles E. DeCroes of Kingsport, Tenn., whom she met while attending Bowling Green University in Bowling Green, Ohio.

The lime chiffon dresses worn by the attendants had a four-inch band of avocado satin at the waist and an avocado chiffon floating panel at the back, extending to the floor. They carried yellow glads for accent.

MAID OF HONOR was the bride's sister, Linda Hardison, and bridesmaids were Karen Roberts of Arlington Heights, Charlotte and Jeanne DeCroes, sisters of the groom, and Phyllis Dornhbos of Atlanta, Ga., a Delta Gamma sorority sister of the bride.

Seven-year-old Nancy Dawson of Arlington Heights served as flower girl, dressed identically to the adult attendants and also carrying yellow glads.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of the J. Brown Hardisons of 347 S. Burton, Arlington Heights, and the groom's parents are the George DeCroeses of Kingsport.

For her wedding day, the bride wore a white peau de soie gown and complemented it with a 3-tiered illusion veil attached to a peau de soie pillbox which was embroidered in lace. The same Alencon lace motif formed a panel which extended from the scooped neckline of the gown to its floor-length hemline. A chapel train attached at the back waistline was also embroidered in lace.

The bride carried a bouquet of gardenias for the single ring ceremony.

Also in the wedding party was Paul Duffie of New York City as best man, Chris Chiames, 6, of Arlington Heights, who carried a white heart-shaped pillow covered in nylon tulle, and four ushers.

SEATING THE guests were David Jones of Dover, Del., Charles Miller of Montpelier, Ohio, Charles Hall of Cleveland and Thomas Hand of Cincinnati. All but Mr. Hand are Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity brothers of the groom.

A champagne fountain highlighted the reception which followed at Villa Venice, and the couple greeted 225 guests before they all were served refreshments and danced to a 3-piece orchestra.

For the afternoon festivities Mrs. Hardison wore a 3-piece avocado suit and had a corsage of green orchids. Mrs. DeCroes chose a blue chiffon dress with a white orchid corsage.

After a week's honeymoon in South Carolina, the newlyweds have returned to the Bowling Green campus where the bride is a junior and the groom a senior. She is a '64 graduate of Arlington High School. (Camelot Studio) (S

Clergyman's Children Attend Linda Pollard on Sept. 24th

Eleven years ago Linda K. Pollard and her brother, David, children of the Howard LaVern Pollards, 223 S. Pine, Arlington Heights, served as flower girl and ring bearer at the wedding of the Dr. R. Franklin Terrys. Last month, on Sept. 24, Kristine and Bradford Terry, children of the Terrys, returned the honor by serving as flower girl and ring bearer at Linda's wedding to Sellman Charles Schulz II, son of the John Charles Schulzes of Evanston.

Dr. Terry, pastor of a congregation in Wallingford, Conn., along with his father, Dr. Ronald E. Terry of Osborne, Kan., officiated at Linda's wedding which took place in the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights. Altar flowers for the 8 p.m. service were white mums and glads.

A FLOOR-length empire gown of French crepe with lace bodice was chosen by the bride for her marriage. The gown featured a sabrina neckline and long sleeves, and had a detachable train of lace with a white French crepe border. Her elbow-length veil was held in place with a beaded lace Dutch cap topped with a bow of French crepe, and she carried a cascade of white orchids, lilies-of-the valley and stephanotis.

From the groom's mother, Linda borrowed a sixpence for her shoe and from her mother a cameo ring worn at her own wedding. With her bouquet she carried her maternal grandmother's linen handkerchief.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Betty Louise Ball who moved to Phoenix from Arlington Heights this past summer. Bridesmaids were Lori Burdett of San Carlos, Calif., Sue Ewing of Woodside, Calif., Barbara Bess of Chicago and Karen Koelling, a cousin from Denver.

Ther floor-length empire gowns, all identical, were of pink linen with scopped necklines and elbow-length sleeves edged in Venice lace. Their flowers were colonial bouquets of pink carnations, the maid of honor's edged in red and lily-of-the-valley. The girls also wore forward headpieces of Venice lace with pink silk illusion veiling to match their gowns.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD Kristine wore a gown to match the bridesmaids' gowns and she carried a basket of rose petals. Her 4-year-old brother, Bradford, wore a white Eton suit and knee socks.

Tom Lambert of Covina Calif., former roommate of the groom, was best man, and ushers were Peter Davis and John and Jim Schulz, brothers of the groom from Evanston, Bruce Bess of Chicago, also a former roommate of the groom, Donald Jones of Kenilworth, and the bride's brothers, David and Stephen Pollard of Arlington Heights.

Following the ceremony, during which Mr. Pollard gave his daughter in marriage, a buffet reception for 250 guests was held in Old Orchard Country Club. Mrs. Pollard received in a floor-length empire gown of pink crepe and corsage of white gardenias, while Mrs. Schulz chose a 2-piece floor-length gown of blue crepe with beaded bodice. Her flowers were also white gardenias.

Among the wedding guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Koelling of Colorado and the groom's grandparents, the Bert Vickerys of Florida and the Sellman Charles Schulzes of Chicago.

AFTER THE wedding Mr. Schulz took his bride to Lakewood, Wis. for four days and then the couple left on a 2-week automobile trip across the country to Los Angeles where they are now residing at 4055 Stevely Ave.

The groom, a graduate of Evanston Township High School, is beginning his junior year as a pre-med student at the University of Southern California. The new Mrs. Schulz is a graduate of Arlington High School and has been employed as a part-time secretary at the USC cinema department. In February she will be attending the university.

Michigan State Graduate Students Married Aug. 27

It was while Jeanette Elaine Budicin of Palatine was attending graduate school at Michigan State University that she met Glen Albert Eskedal of Staten Island, N. Y., and the couple became better acquainted while they were serving as graduating advisers at the university. Their romance culminated in marriage on Aug. 27 in Prospect Heights Baptist Church, and after a honeymoon trip around Lake Michigan they are remaining in Michigan to make their first home.

The bride, daughter of the Anton Budicins of 603 Diane Drive, Palatine, is a graduate of Palatine High School, Wheaton College and has her master's degree from Michigan State. She is teaching art in Ottawa Hills High School, Grand Rapids, where the couple are now residing.

The groom, son of the Tormod Eskedals of Staten Island, has his bachelor's from King's College, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., and his master's from Michigan State. He is now a doctoral candidate at State and is also assistant to the dean of students at Grand Valley State College in Allendale, Mich.

THEIR AFTERNOON wedding was performed by the Rev. Frank E. Longman in a candlelight setting. The ceremony was taped so that it could be played later for the groom's grandparents and other relatives in New York who were not able to be here for the festivities.

Guest soloist was Mrs. John Mason of East Lansing, who just two weeks ago was married and had the bride in her wedding party.

Wearing a candlelight shade of chantilly lace over taffeta, the bride came down the aisle carrying a bouquet of Amazon lilies with ivy and lilies of the valley. Her dress was empire-styled with a floor-length skirt and a taffeta chapel train attached at the back waistline. Her 2-tiered ivory veil was elbow-length, and she wore a strand of cultured pearls, a gift from the groom.

FIVE ATTENDANTS preceded her down the aisle, all gowned alike in two-tone green linen ensembles, the empire waistline of their dresses accented with daisies. They carried contrasting daisies in a cascade arrangement and each wore a black onyx pendant necklace, a gift from the bride.

Maid of honor was Drucilla Namey of Lansing, who carried yellow and white daisies to complement her lime and mint green dress.

Bridesmaids were Lois Morris of Willingboro, N. J.; Carolyn Erickson of St. Paul, Minn.; the groom's sister, Mrs. Margyl Terdal of Traverse City, Mich., and a cousin of the bride, Paulette Ruwe of Rolling Meadows. Their bouquets were composed of yellow and blue daisies entwined with ivy.

THE GROOM'S college roommate, Ralph Lennon of Maryland, came here to be his best man, and seating the guests for the double ring rites were George Wentling of New Yrok, Roy Terdal of Traverse City, John Larsen of Staten Island and John Dahm of Grand Rapids.

Seated in the front pew, the bride's mother was attired in a deep pink silk shantung dress with matching accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids. The groom's mother chose a bright aqua crepe dress with matching accessories and also had a cymbidium corsage.

Among the special guests in the front of the church were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mauch of Benson, Minn., and the bride's aunt, Miss Lydia Mauch of California.

Fresh flowers flown here from Hawaii as a gift from a friend of the bridal pair formed a colorful setting for the dinner reception for 135 guests at the Maitre d' Restaurant in Elk Grove. The bride was also sent a lei of red flowers to wear on her white going-away ensemble.

LUNCHEON AND CARDS will make up a fun afternoon for members of St. James Catholic Women's Guild and their guests on Thursday, Oct. 20, in the Arlington Heights VFW Hall. Getting their tickets out early are Mrs. George Schott, chairman of the event; Mrs. John Irmen and Mrs. Ralph Elwert. Guild members will be preparing a variety of tasty salads for the noon buffet luncheon, and the afternoon will be spent playing card games. Tickets are available from Mrs. Irmen, CL 3-4536.

Here Are the Facts About Emphysema

Emphysema, a chronic lung condition, is more prevalent than lung cancer and tuberculosis combined, according to the Illinois Medical Society.

This serious ailment strikes men more often than women, at a ratio of 10 to 1.

Age is a factor, too. Few people in their 20's and 30's develop emphysema, says the Medical Society. However, the disease comes on so insidiously, a young man may overlook its symptoms of frequent fatigue, shortness of breath and wheezing cough for many years.

THESE SYMPTOMS are caused by gradual changes. Lung tissue begins to lose its elasticity and is less efficient at absorbing oxygen, forcing the victim to breath 20 to 30 times a minute compared with normal breathing of 14 times a minute. That, in turn, makes the heart work faster to supply oxygen to the blood.

Eventually the lungs become overextended, making it hard to expel stale carbon dioxide. At the same time mucus keeps building up in the lungs, no matter how much the victim coughs.

No one knows for sure what causes emphysema, says the Medical Society. But chemical irritants, industrial smoke coupled with respiratory ailments are high on the suspect list.

SO IS SMOKING. Chances of smokers dying of this chronic disease are 500 per cent greater than for non-smokers.

Unfortunately, there's no known cure for emphysema. But there are ways of living with the condition if it's detected and treated early. Under medical supervision, bronchial dialating drugs, antibiotics, oxygen therapy and specific breathing exercises help keep the victim of emphysema active.

THE MEDICAL Society advises the following steps to avoid emphysema:

Seek prompt medical attention for any respiratory ailment, sinus infection, prolonged or repeated chest colds and chronic coughs. They all set the stage for emphysema.

Cultivate good breathing habits, good posture and daily exercise to keep your lungs healthy.

If you must smoke, smoke moderately. (S

Last Minute Details Keep GOP Ball Committee Busy

Members of the committee for the first GOP Annual Ball, to be held at Chevy Chase Country Club Saturday, Oct. 8, are poring over seating charts, finishing decorations and trying to remember to make appointments at the beauty shop and line up sitters for the evening.

John Gillen, general chairman, stated that the expandable facilities at Chevy Chase would make it possible to accept ticket orders for a few more days.

He also announced that Harris Rowe, Republican candidate for state treasurer, has accepted the invitation to the ball. Other Republican leaders who have accepted include Congressman Donald Rumsfeld, Sen. John A. Graham, Cook County Sheriff Richard Ogilvie, and candidates on the state and county tickets.

HOST FOR THE evening is Eugene F. Schlickman, Wheeling township Republican committeeman and candidate for reelection to the Illinois General Assembly.

Ticket chairman is Mrs. John Walsh, CL 5-7377. Tickets may be obtained from her, from any Republican precinct captain, or through the local Republican clubs. (S

Large Bridal Party Serves In Hardison-DeCroes Rites

Six attendants, all gowned alike in lime green chiffon dresses accented with avocado green satin at the waistline, preceded the former Gail Diane Hardison of Arlington Heights down the aisle of Southminster Presbyterian Church for her Sept. 3 wedding. At 12:30 p.m. she exchanged vows with Charles E. DeCroes of Kingsport, Tenn., whom she met while attending Bowling Green University in Bowling Green, Ohio.

The lime chiffon dresses worn by the attendants had a four-inch band of avocado satin at the waist and an avocado chiffon floating panel at the back, extending to the floor. They carried yellow glads for accent.

MAID OF HONOR was the bride's sister, Linda Hardison, and bridesmaids were Karen Roberts of Arlington Heights, Charlotte and Jeanne DeCroes, sisters of the groom, and Phyllis Dornhbos of Atlanta, Ga., a Delta Gamma sorority sister of the bride.

Seven-year-old Nancy Dawson of Arlington Heights served as flower girl, dressed identically to the adult attendants and also carrying yellow glads.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of the J. Brown Hardisons of 347 S. Burton, Arlington Heights, and the groom's parents are the George DeCroeses of Kingsport.

For her wedding day, the bride wore a white peau de soie gown and complemented it with a 3-tiered illusion veil attached to a peau de soie pillbox which was embroidered in lace. The same Alencon lace motif formed a panel which extended from the scooped neckline of the gown to its floor-length hemline. A chapel train attached at the back waistline was also embroidered in lace.

The bride carried a bouquet of gardenias for the single ring ceremony.

Also in the wedding party was Paul Duffie of New York City as best man, Chris Chiames, 6, of Arlington Heights, who carried a white heart-shaped pillow covered in nylon tulle, and four ushers.

SEATING THE guests were David Jones of Dover, Del., Charles Miller of Montpelier, Ohio, Charles Hall of Cleveland and Thomas Hand of Cincinnati. All but Mr. Hand are Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity brothers of the groom.

A champagne fountain highlighted the reception which followed at Villa Venice, and the couple greeted 225 guests before they all were served refreshments and danced to a 3-piece orchestra.

For the afternoon festivities Mrs. Hardison wore a 3-piece avocado suit and had a corsage of green orchids. Mrs. DeCroes chose a blue chiffon dress with a white orchid corsage.

After a week's honeymoon in South Carolina, the newlyweds have returned to the Bowling Green campus where the bride is a junior and the groom a senior. She is a '64 graduate of Arlington High School. (Camelot Studio)

Michigan State Graduate Students Married Aug. 27

It was while Jeanette Elaine Budicin of Palatine was attending graduate school at Michigan State University that she met Glen Albert Eskedal of Staten Island, N. Y., and the couple became better acquainted while they were serving as graduating advisers at the university. Their romance culminated in marriage on Aug. 27 in Prospect Heights Baptist Church, and after a honeymoon trip around Lake Michigan they are remaining in Michigan to make their first home.

The bride, daughter of the Anton Budicins of 603 Diane Drive, Palatine, is a graduate of Palatine High School, Wheaton College and has her master's degree from Michigan State. She is teaching art in Ottawa Hills High School, Grand Rapids, where the couple are now residing.

The groom, son of the Tormod Eskedals of Staten Island, has his bachelor's from King's College, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., and his master's from Michigan State. He is now a doctoral candidate at State and is also assistant to the dean of students at Grand Valley State College in Allendale, Mich.

THEIR AFTERNOON wedding was performed by the Rev. Frank E. Longman in a candlelight setting. The ceremony was taped so that it could be played later for the groom's grandparents and other relatives in New York who were not able to be here for the festivities.

Guest soloist was Mrs. John Mason of East Lansing, who just two weeks ago was married and had the bride in her wedding party.

Wearing a candlelight shade of chantilly lace over taffeta, the bride came down the aisle carrying a bouquet of Amazon lilies with ivy and lilies of the valley. Her dress was empire-styled with a floor-length skirt and a taffeta chapel train attached at the back waistline. Her 2-tiered ivory veil was elbow-length, and she wore a strand of cultured pearls, a gift from the groom.

FIVE ATTENDANTS preceded her down the aisle, all gowned alike in two-tone green linen ensembles, the empire waistline of their dresses accented with daisies. They carried contrasting daisies in a cascade arrangement and each wore a black onyx pendant necklace, a gift from the bride.

Maid of honor was Drucilla Namey of Lansing, who carried yellow and white daisies to complement her lime and mint green dress.

Bridesmaids were Lois Morris of Willingboro, N. J.; Carolyn Erickson of St. Paul, Minn.; the groom's sister, Mrs. Margyl Terdal of Traverse City, Mich., and a cousin of the bride, Paulette Ruwe of Rolling Meadows. Their bouquets were composed of yellow and blue daisies entwined with ivy.

THE GROOM'S college roommate, Ralph Lennon of Maryland, came here to be his best man, and seating the guests for the double ring rites were George Wentling of New Yrok, Roy Terdal of Traverse City, John Larsen of Staten Island and John Dahm of Grand Rapids.

Seated in the front pew, the bride's mother was attired in a deep pink silk shantung dress with matching accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids. The groom's mother chose a bright aqua crepe dress with matching accessories and also had a cymbidium corsage.

Among the special guests in the front of the church were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mauch of Benson, Minn., and the bride's aunt, Miss Lydia Mauch of California.

Fresh flowers flown here from Hawaii as a gift from a friend of the bridal pair formed a colorful setting for the dinner reception for 135 guests at the Maitre d' Restaurant in Elk Grove. The bride was also sent a lei of red flowers to wear on her white going-away ensemble.

LUNCHEON AND CARDS will make up a fun afternoon for members of St. James Catholic Women's Guild and their guests on Thursday, Oct. 20, in the Arlington Heights VFW Hall. Getting their tickets out early are Mrs. George Schott, chairman of the event; Mrs. John Irmen and Mrs. Ralph Elwert. Guild members will be preparing a variety of tasty salads for the noon buffet luncheon, and the afternoon will be spent playing card games. Tickets are available from Mrs. Irmen, CL 3-4536.

Plum Grove Garden Club Lists Winners of Show

Here Are the Facts About Emphysema

Emphysema, a chronic lung condition, is more prevalent than lung cancer and tuberculosis combined, according to the Illinois Medical Society.

This serious ailment strikes men more often than women, at a ratio of 10 to 1.

Age is a factor, too. Few people in their 20's and 30's develop emphysema, says the Medical Society. However, the disease comes on so insidiously, a young man may overlook its symptoms of frequent fatigue, shortness of breath and wheezing cough for many years.

THESE SYMPTOMS are caused by gradual changes. Lung tissue begins to lose its elasticity and is less efficient at absorbing oxygen, forcing the victim to breath 20 to 30 times a minute compared with normal breathing of 14 times a minute. That, in turn, makes the heart work faster to supply oxygen to the blood.

Eventually the lungs become overextended, making it hard to expel stale carbon dioxide. At the same time mucus keeps building up in the lungs, no matter how much the victim coughs.

No one knows for sure what causes emphysema, says the Medical Society. But chemical irritants, industrial smoke coupled with respiratory ailments are high on the suspect list.

SO IS SMOKING. Chances of smokers dying of this chronic disease are 500 per cent greater than for non-smokers.

Unfortunately, there's no known cure for emphysema. But there are ways of living with the condition if it's detected and treated early. Under medical supervision, bronchial dilating drugs, antibiotics, oxygen therapy and specific breathing exercises help keep the victim of emphysema active.

THE MEDICAL Society advises the following steps to avoid emphysema:

Seek prompt medical attention for any respiratory ailment, sinus infection, prolonged or repeated chest colds and chronic coughs. They all set the stage for emphysema.

Cultivate good breathing habits, good posture and daily exercise to keep your lungs healthy.

If you must smoke, smoke moderately.

Clergyman's Children Attend Linda Pollard on Sept. 24th

Eleven years ago Linda K. Pollard and her brother, David, children of the Howard LaVern Pollards, 223 S. Pine, Arlington Heights, served as flower girl and ring bearer at the wedding of the Dr. R. Franklin Terrys. Last month, on Sept. 24, Kristine and Bradford Terry, children of the Terrys, returned the honor by serving as flower girl and ring bearer at Linda's wedding to Sellman Charles Schulz II, son of the John Charles Schulzes of Evanston.

Dr. Terry, pastor of a congregation in Wallingford, Conn., along with his father, Dr. Ronald E. Terry of Osborne, Kan., officiated at Linda's wedding which took place in the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights. Altar flowers for the 8 p.m. service were white mums and glads.

A FLOOR-length empire gown of French crepe with lace bodice was chosen by the bride for her marriage. The gown featured a sabrina neckline and long sleeves, and had a detachable train of lace with a white French crepe border. Her elbow-length veil was held in place with a beaded lace Dutch cap topped with a bow of French crepe, and she carried a cascade of white orchids, lilies-of-the valley and stephanotis.

From the groom's mother, Linda borrowed a sixpence for her shoe and from her mother a cameo ring worn at her own wedding. With her bouquet she carried her maternal grandmother's linen handkerchief.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Betty Louise Ball who moved to Phoenix from Arlington Heights this past summer. Bridesmaids were Lori Burdett of San Carlos, Calif., Sue Ewing of Woodside, Calif., Barbara Bess of Chicago and Karen Koelling, a cousin from Denver.

Ther floor-length empire gowns, all identical, were of pink linen with scopped necklines and elbow-length sleeves edged in Venice lace. Their flowers were colonial bouquets of pink carnations, the maid of honor's edged in red and lily-of-the-valley. The girls also wore forward headpieces of Venice lace with pink silk illusion veiling to match their gowns.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD Kristine wore a gown to match the bridesmaids' gowns and she carried a basket of rose petals. Her 4-year-old brother, Bradford, wore a white Eton suit and knee socks.

Tom Lambert of Covina Calif., former roommate of the groom, was best man, and ushers were Peter Davis and John and Jim Schulz, brothers of the groom from Evanston, Bruce Bess of Chicago, also a former roommate of the groom, Donald Jones of Kenilworth, and the bride's brothers, David and Stephen Pollard of Arlington Heights.

Following the ceremony, during which Mr. Pollard gave his daughter in marriage, a buffet reception for 250 guests was held in Old Orchard Country Club. Mrs. Pollard received in a floor-length empire gown of pink crepe and corsage of white gardenias, while Mrs. Schulz chose a 2-piece floor-length gown of blue crepe with beaded bodice. Her flowers were also white gardenias.

Among the wedding guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Koelling of Colorado and the groom's grandparents, the Bert Vickerys of Florida and the Sellman Charles Schulzes of Chicago.

AFTER THE wedding Mr. Schulz took his bride to Lakewood, Wis. for four days and then the couple left on a 2-week automobile trip across the country to Los Angeles where they are now residing at 4055 Stevely Ave.

The groom, a graduate of Evanston Township High School, is beginning his junior year as a pre-med student at the University of Southern California. The new Mrs. Schulz is a graduate of Arlington High School and has been employed as a part-time secretary at the USC cinema department. In February she will be attending the university.

A Course Added In Landscaping

A course in home landscaping has been added to this semester's adult education curriculum at both Arlington and Barrington high schools.

The course includes every phase of good home landscaping and maintenance, from the selection and placement of the proper items, with proper planting techniques and fertilizing, to lawn establishment and care. It also covers perennial bulbs, flowers and shrubbery, with instruction for their winter care.

Teacher for the evening classes is L. K. Reid, whose background includes a university education and training in the fields of botany, biology and forestry, as well as many years of practical experience gained while operating his own nurseries.

GARDENING TIPS

FROM THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS GARDEN CLUB

Your Garden . . . Day by Day

by MARY B. GOOD

October 6

Designer's Corner: For the best possible color effect, concentrate, don't scatter, plantings . . . Something to keep in mind when putting in those crocus, snowdrops, daffodils, etc.

October 7

It's not too late to pick bouquets of parsley for use in cooking. Dry in trays until crisp, then store in closed jars to preserve oils.

October 8

Scourged by fairy ring that's difficult to eradicate? Control its spread by punching holes around the outside perimeter (where the grass is greener), then fill holes with a mercurial fungicide. Note: Bluegrass is subject to burning. Test a small patch before treating the whole ring.

October 9

"Oh, Adam was a gardener, and
God who made him sees
That half a proper gardener's work
Is done upon his knees."

Rudyard Kipling "The Glory of the Garden"

October 10

Statice and lunaria make excellent everlasting flowers, along with strawflowers, but don't overwork them by trying to keep them indefinitely.

October 11

Fill in bare spots in the garden with a pot or two of blooming chrysanthemum. Remember to avoid crowding as yellowing of lower leaves will result.

October 12

See that evergreens have plenty of water going into the season to come. They will take winter better with less injury.

Page's Federal Aid Attitude Criticized

Dr. Donald M. Prince, the Democratic candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, today pointed out that the incumbent superintendent, Ray Page, "has been campaigning against the 'expensive volleys' of federal programs but has not hesitated to use the same ammunition when it is politically helpful."

The Bloomington educator, speaker to a Menard County Democratic dinner, specifically pointed to repeated criticism by his opponent of federal programs.

"While the incumbent issues political news releases criticizing federal programs, he does not hesitate to obtain political advantage when those same programs suit his purposes." Dr Prince said.

"For instance, last week he issued a news release on his approval of $8,033,558 in projects for Illinois schools; not once in the release did he mention that the money was from the federal government or that the projects were initiated due to federal legislation.

"ONE CANNOT be too impressed with a politician who tries to take credit for increased school aid expenditures without identifying the source on the one hand and who criticizes that source — the federal government — for spending such money on the other hand."

Dr. Prince said such actions are typical of the inconsistency of the incumbent.

"The people of Illinois deserve to know what they may expect from a state superintendent," Dr. Prince said. "It is unfortunate that the old adage about the weather has also been true about my opponent's administration. — If you don't like a decision, just wait a minute or walk a mile. It will change."

Dr. Prince, head of the Department of Educational Administration at Illinois State University, has served as the elected president of two statewide educational organizations and is a former teacher, principal, superintendent of schools and college professor, as well as university administrator.

A Course Added In Landscaping

A course in home landscaping has been added to this semester's adult education curriculum at both Arlington and Barrington high schools.

The course includes every phase of good home landscaping and maintenance, from the selection and placement of the proper items, with proper planting techniques and fertilizing, to lawn establishment and care. It also covers perennial bulbs, flowers and shrubbery, with instruction for their winter care.

Teacher for the evening classes is L. K. Reid, whose background includes a university education and training in the fields of botany, biology and forestry, as well as many years of practical experience gained while operating his own nurseries.

Atcher Named Vice-Chairman For Ogilvie

Schaumburg Pres. Robert O. Atcher has been named vice-chairman for northwest Cook County in the campaign of Sheriff Richard B. Ogilvie, Republican candidate for president of the county board.

The announcement was made jointly this week by Ogilvie and John H. Bickley, Ogilvie's campaign chairman for the northwest portion of the county.

Bickley will be assisted by Atcher in heading Ogilvie's campaign in the townships of Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine, Barrington, Schaumburg and Hanover. The six, plus portions of Maine and Northfield townships, comprise the third legislative district in Illinois.

GARDENING TIPS

Your Garden . . . Day by Day

FROM THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS GARDEN CLUB

by MARY B. GOOD

October 6

Designer's Corner: For the best possible color effect, concentrate, don't scatter, plantings . . . Something to keep in mind when putting in those crocus, snowdrops, daffodils, etc.

October 7

It's not too late to pick bouquets of parsley for use in cooking. Dry in trays until crisp, then store in closed jars to preserve oils.

October 8

Scourged by fairy ring that's difficult to eradicate? Control its spread by punching holes around the outside perimeter (where the grass is greener), then fill holes with a mercurial fungicide. Note: Bluegrass is subject to burning. Test a small patch before treating the whole ring.

"Oh, Adam was a gardener, and
God who made him sees
That half a proper gardener's work
Is done upon his knees."

Rudyard Kipling "The Glory of the Garden"

October 10

Statice and lunaria make excellent everlasting flowers, along with strawflowers, but don't overwork them by trying to keep them indefinitely.

October 11

Fill in bare spots in the garden with a pot or two of blooming chrysanthemum. Remember to avoid crowding as yellowing of lower leaves will result.

October 12

See that evergreens have plenty of water going into the season to come. They will take winter better with less injury.

Page's Federal Aid Attitude Criticized

Dr. Donald M. Prince, the Democratic candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, today pointed out that the incumbent superintendent, Ray Page, "has been campaigning against the 'expensive volleys' of federal programs but has not hesitated to use the same ammunition when it is politically helpful."

The Bloomington educator, speaker to a Menard County Democratic dinner, specifically pointed to repeated criticism by his opponent of federal programs.

"While the incumbent issues political news releases criticizing federal programs, he does not hesitate to obtain political advantage when those same programs suit his purposes." Dr Prince said.

"For instance, last week he issued a news release on his approval of $8,033,558 in projects for Illinois schools; not once in the release did he mention that the money was from the federal government or that the projects were initiated due to federal legislation.

"ONE CANNOT be too impressed with a politician who tries to take credit for increased school aid expenditures without identifying the source on the one hand and who criticizes that source — the federal government — for spending such money on the other hand."

Dr. Prince said such actions are typical of the inconsistency of the incumbent.

"The people of Illinois deserve to know what they may expect from a state superintendent," Dr. Prince said. "It is unfortunate that the old adage about the weather has also been true about my opponent's administration. — If you don't like a decision, just wait a minute or walk a mile. It will change."

Dr. Prince, head of the Department of Educational Administration at Illinois State University, has served as the elected president of two statewide educational organizations and is a former teacher, principal, superintendent of schools and college professor, as well as university administrator.

The Way We See It

Two Highly Rated State Candidates

We share the concern of many citizens over the abdication of state and local responsibilities to the federal government. We believe this deterioration of responsibility and trend to federal programs will continue unless state government is made more responsive to the needs of the people and more creative in offering solutions to Illinois problems.

To reverse the federal trend will require talented, energetic new leadership in state government—men with ideas and ideals committed to the opportunity for service and innovation in state and local government.

Illinois voters are fortunate in having two such men offering themselves as candidates for state office in the Nov. 8 election.

Adlai Stevenson III, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, has developed specific ideas for reform and improved efficiency in that office. These include centralization of local government bond sales information and selling, and training of local finance officers. This voluntary program could save local governments—and hence, taxpayers—sizable amounts, primarily through decreased interest costs on bond sales.

Stevenson has earned a reputation as a hard-working state legislator unafraid of challenging the position of his own party. As an active proponent of reform measures in the legislature and in his opposition to the revenue article endorsed by his own party, he has demonstrated independence, political courage, and qualities of leadership. If elected, he will be a significant influence in reshaping the state Democratic Party.

Perhaps more than any other single area of state government, education needs creative, professional leadership. Dr. Donald Prince, Democratic candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, is uniquely qualified.

He has been a classroom teacher, school principal and superintendent, consultant to numerous school districts, and head of a nine-county junior college survey. Holder of advanced degrees from University of Illinois, he is presently director of the Center for Educational Administration at Illinois State University.

We have long advocated removal of the state superintendent's office from the partisan political arena through establishment of a state board of education and appointed superintendent; Dr. Prince is unequivocally committed to this course.

His views reflect a concern for good education for every child and a realistic appraisal of the partnership approach between local, state, and federal governments which already exists and must be continued for improvement of the state's education offerings. He is firmly dedicated to the preservation of local, lay-citizen school control.

Dr. Prince is best qualified to understand Illinois' educational needs and best equipped to administer the state office. Most important, he is concerned with succeeding as state school officer; if elected, he will keep his focus where it ought to be—on the needs of Illinois schools and our school children.

We endorse the candidacies of Adlai Stevenson III and Dr. Donald Prince and urge voters of both parties to cast their votes for these men Nov. 8.

For a Clean Environment

The dilemma posed by the use of chemical pesticides is but one of a series of dilemmas presented by modern technology.

On the one hand, a product is created which has great apparent public benefit; it increases crop yields and aids in preserving the quality of the product the consumer receives. On the other hand, since chemical pesticides are toxic, they constitute a potential threat to man and wildlife, as well as to pests they are intended to control.

The risk factor inherent in use of chemical pesticides was dramatized by several recent events. In 1962, the late author Rachel Carson predicted the eventuality of a "Silent Spring" resulting from the use of pesticides; as though in confirmation, the great Mississippi River fish kill, resulting from presence of pesticides in the water, occurred a year later.

The two events created demands for investigations to determine how great a threat existed. Among these studies is the work of the Senate Committee on Government Operations subcommittee on organization. The subcommittee held hearings and conducted staff studies during a period of two years, and its findings were released a few weeks ago.

Examining the current use of pesticides, the subcommittee said it "found no reliable evidence to suggest that the benefit-risk equation was presently unbalanced in any significant way."

Beyond that highly qualified finding, the subcommittee outlined four general goals. The first is related to strengthening the existing regulatory system. Included are controls on unintentional release of hazardous substances; federal funds to states to provide training in methods, and equipment for control and monitoring pesticide use; education aimed at nonprofessional users of pesticides ;and international agreements on pesticide residue tolerances, detection, monitoring and effects on migratory birds.

The other three goals are broadened beyond the scope of pesticide use to the management of the total physical environment. They aim at better coordination of federal programs related to physical environment, reduction of effects of environmental contaminants on human health and longevity—including development of chemical pesticides safe for man and non-chemical pest controls; and, finally, development of "a more adequate basis for future national policy" on environmental management so that procedures exist for monitoring new and existing threats to the environment.

This final recommendation offers greatest hope for a thoughtful, coordinated approach to the dilemmas created by technological innovations and for placing these problems in perspective with the total problem of ensuring a clean environment.

Man in the News

A Frank Realist

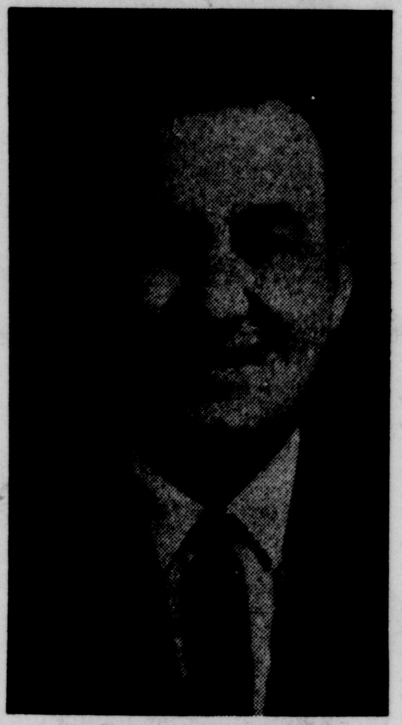
by PAT HENSEL
Staff Writer

"We want to be where the people are," says the man who's president of DuPage County Junior College.

Dr. Rodney Berg has 1,000 junior college students and hopes by next year to have some place to educate them.

Though Berg is desperately seeking outstanding personnel for his college, and though consultants and architects are contemplating the future needs of DuPage County, an actual going educational facility is somewhere in the future.

Meanwhile, rented quarters will satisfy Berg and will have to satisfy his anticipated 135 staffers.



DR. RODNEY BERG

BERG IS A straight-talking realist when it comes to discussing a local junior college.

First of all, it must be surrounded and overrun with people of all ages. He sees a college with doors open and people at work from 7 a.m. until midnight.

He sees a "place for people to keep alive emotionally and intellectually."

But, he can't see a high-flown dream.

In his mind, an educational program has to be geared to what the students need and want; it's unrealistic to expect students to gear themselves to what the educators want.

Berg's philosophy is not the same as that for a four-year college or university.

IT'S NOT, "Get oriented, then come in," but, "Come in, then get oriented."

He feels a junior college should be, before anything else, "for the undisciplined."

This means that he expects many of the students to have some deficiency—in money, motivation or objective, goals of achievement, or maturity.

Every member of the faculty must be able to accept this premise, and must be skilled to deal with it.

All staffers, he said, must have a high regard for, and the ability to work in counseling. Some will counsel as they educate students, and some merely will counsel.

PURPOSE OF the counseling will be to get students into classes "commensurate with what we know of their abilities, then let them find their proper channels."

Berg objects to identifying any part of the DuPage junior college program as "vocational." He prefers the broader term, "technical."

He says, "Under a vocational program, you train a student for a marketable skill. If a student changes from one skill to another, he nearly always has to be retrained from the beginning.

"Under a technical program, you give the student a broad base of necessary learnings on which to build any number of skills."

A WEALTH of learning is identified by Berg as "communications." It covers reading, writing, any quantity of liberal arts, the ability to talk, the ability to write technical reports, and the knowledge to reading technical material.

Then, he says, with a broad base of technical knowledge, it would be up to industry to teach special skills. He notes, it would be almost impossible to keep up with technical advances, anyway.

Berg, who makes notes to himself occasionally as he speaks, decided he liked the following for future reference:

"We want our students to leave us educated to accept more training and trained to accept a job."

HE LIKES the idea that, with a broad base of training, a student "can branch off in any direction he likes, and can even return from a job to take more education without going all the way back to the beginning."

Berg can see branch classrooms somewhere in the future, where local residents would be within walking distance. Courses would be geared for credit students, for oldsters, or for housewives just wanting to improve themselves educationally.

Though Berg would work hardest for a successful technical program, he does not treat the liberal arts side lightly.

"A comprehensive junior college is neither technical nor liberal arts oriented—but both at the same time."

HE WOULD not keep students with consistently poor records, but he would "make it easy for students to rectify poor records."

According to the college president, "If you keep a second grader in second grade until he does second grade work, he becomes a social misfit.

"If you promote him, he becomes an educational misfit. Junior college is the last chance for students like that."

Then he says, almost ominously, "A vocational person must become an intellectual in order to exist.

"We keep kids in school to educate them. We don't keep them if they can't or don't want to be educated."

Swivel Chair Comments

Is Ev a Budding Liberal?

I noticed the other day that the Americans for Democratic Action had released midterm report cards on congressmen.

The liberal organization gave 100 per cent "right" grades to the voting records of Democratic senators Bob and Ted Kennedy, Gaylord Nelson and Joe Clark.

BAUMANN

Our Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas received a score of 88 (the ADA didn't like his voting record on CIA and foreign military aid, which it regarded as unliberal).

Our Republican Sen. Everett M. Dirksen received a zero rating, meaning of the bills on which rating occurred, he was totally unliberal.

I MAY SEND a protest letter to the ADA for that. Senator Dirksen has proved himself to be quite liberal in his public utterances. I remember, for example, a long dissertation by this shaggy-haired old man broadcast on a television show from his home in Virginia.

He was in his garden, talking about his flowers. Each, to hear him ecstatically describe it, was more beautiful than the next. His reverence for the leafy specimens was touching.

Roses really turn him on, Senator Dirksen confided. (But then so do all flowers, he added, not wanting to offend any species.)

THE SENATOR refused—as I remember and it was a long time ago — to discriminate by naming any potential national flower as his choice. But he was willing to support a pansy week. Such liberality, if the ADA had bothered to measure it, certainly would have earned him a high score.

On the other hand, Senator Douglas has not appeared on any television shows, to my knowledge, describing his flowers. He has not, to my knowledge, given equal treatment (unless by giving no treatment) to roses, sun flowers, daisies and pansies. Certainly, points ought to be subtracted from his score on these grounds.

Oh, well, Senator Dirksen will have lots of company in his gloomy ADA cellar. All Illinois' Republican congressmen were given the same score, except Donald Rumsfeld of the northwest suburban 13th District. He earned 17 points and, probably, ribbing from his colleagues about his left-wing tendencies.

'Honest' Ken Lists Peeves

by KEN KNOX
Associate Sports Editor

"You are so jolly, Kenny," said mama, hugging me and paddling me off to bed. "Is there nothing which angers you, nothing which makes you churlish and testy?"

"No, mama," enthused I, contemplating the untouched portions of warm milk and animal crackers I was leaving behind. "For I am as the moon-child, a thing visited upon this earth, a creature of joy and light and truth and simplicity for all our time!!"

"Oh," said mama.

I was not, of course, being an honest person then, because there are things which make me angry and churlish and testy, so full of anguished righteousness, so brimming with the yearning that others would be similarly enraged.

AND AMONG them are these:

—Mamas who hug and send off to bed — after feeding them warm milk and animal crackers — boys who are going on 26 years of age, and who don't live with their mamas anymore anyway.

—People who call me Kenny.

—Boys who lie to their mamas.

—Money.

—The passion for money.

—People who blame the federal government for everything from bunions to volcanic detonations, and every man-made social and economic ill in between.

—People who make jokes about farmers.

—The intellectual snobs who sneer with contempt at American television, haughtily denouncing most of what emanates from the screen as trash and drivel.

—THE TRASH and drivel that so frequently emanate from the American television screen.

—The waiters, waitresses, bellboys, cabbies and those uninvited washroom attendants who thrust forward their palms for handouts without regard for service rendered or indignities inflicted, and the people who insist on upholding the arbitrary habit to the fine per cent, because it's a social custom.

—The dictum that says you can't wear white shoes after Labor Day.

—People who say of civil rights workers who get burned, mutilated or murdered in the South that it wouldn't have happened if they had stayed home.

—People who say of civil rights workers who get burned, mutilated or murdered in the North that it wouldn't have happened if they had stayed home.

—THE CIVIL rights workers who toss off the immense accomplishments in their behalf in the past half-decade, and who push a sensitive and cautious white community with belligerence.

—The absurd fanaticism on both sides in the firearms law controversy.

—The guy next door who persistently waters his lawn in defiance of community sprinkling bans, and gets away with it, while your lawn simmers and expires under the summer sun.

—Any person who tries to solicit business over my personal telephone.

—All salesmen who come to my door uninvited, especially those who insist devoutly that they are not on selling missions.

—TEEN-AGE boys who make teen-age girls get out of the car for the snacks at hamburger stands.

—Teen-age girls who drop their hamburger stand residue out the car window with flagrant abandon.

—The incredible parents who raise teen-age boys who let teen-age girls get out of the car for snacks at hamburger stands who drop their hamburger stand residue out the car window with flagrant abandon.

—Automobile companies that market for $3,600.00 cars that are put together shabbily, that consume gas with greed and that squeak, and then charge you 15 cents extra if you want a light bulb by the glove compartment.

—Manufacturers of television sets who put the name on before the quality goes in.

—UNIONISTS who wage passionate battles for the salvation of the working man and threaten economic paralysis if their demands aren't met, but who have neglected to put anywhere in their creed something about craftsmanship and pride.

—The highway employees who don't clear the dead raccoons, dogs, skunks, opossums, cats and turtles off the road, and neglect to mow the weeds and patch the potholes.

—The drivers who kill the raccoons, dogs, skunks, opossums, cats and turtles that the highway employees who neglect to mow the weeds and patch the potholes don't clear off the road.

—THE RACCOONS, dogs, skunks, opossums, cats and turtles that wander onto the road where drivers kill them and highway employees who neglect to mow the weeds and patch the potholes don't clear them off the road.

—Writers who don't know when to quit.

He sees a "place for people to keep alive emotionally and intellectually."

But, he can't see a high-flown dream.

In his mind, an educational program has to be geared to what the students need and want; it's unrealistic to expect students to gear themselves to what the educators want.

Berg's philosophy is not the same as that for a four-year college or university.

IT'S NOT, "Get oriented, then come in," but, "Come in, then get oriented."

He feels a junior college should be, before anything else, "for the undisciplined."

This means that he expects many of the students to have some deficiency—in money, motivation or objective, goals of achievement, or maturity.

Every member of the faculty must be able to accept this premise, and must be skilled to deal with it.

All staffers, he said, must have a high regard for, and the ability to work in counseling. Some will counsel as they educate students, and some merely will counsel.

PURPOSE OF the counseling will be to get students into classes "commensurate with what we know of their abilities, then let them find their proper channels."

Berg objects to identifying any part of the DuPage junior college program as "vocational." He prefers the broader term, "technical."

He says, "Under a vocational program, you train a student for a marketable skill. If a student changes from one skill to another, he nearly always has to be retrained from the beginning.

"Under a technical program, you give the student a broad base of necessary learnings on which to build any number of skills."

A WEALTH of learning is identified by Berg as "communications." It covers reading, writing, any quantity of liberal arts, the ability to talk, the ability to write technical reports, and the knowledge to reading technical material.

Then, he says, with a broad base of technical knowledge, it would be up to industry to teach special skills. He notes, it would be almost impossible to keep up with technical advances, anyway.

Berg, who makes notes to himself occasionally as he speaks, decided he liked the following for future reference:

"We want our students to leave us educated to accept more training and trained to accept a job."

HE LIKES the idea that, with a broad base of training, a student "can branch off in any direction he likes, and can even return from a job to take more education without going all the way back to the beginning."

Berg can see branch classrooms somewhere in the future, where local residents would be within walking distance. Courses would be geared for credit students, for oldsters, or for housewives just wanting to improve themselves educationally.

Though Berg would work hardest for a successful technical program, he does not treat the liberal arts side lightly.

"A comprehensive junior college is neither technical nor liberal arts oriented—but both at the same time."

HE WOULD not keep students with consistently poor records, but he would "make it easy for students to rectify poor records."

According to the college president, "If you keep a second grader in second grade until he does second grade work, he becomes a social misfit.

"If you promote him, he becomes an educational misfit. Junior college is the last chance for students like that."

Then he says, almost ominously, "A vocational person must become an intellectual in order to exist.

"We keep kids in school to educate them. We don't keep them if they can't or don't want to be educated."

Is Ev a Budding Liberal?

I noticed the other day that the Americans for Democratic Action had released midterm report cards on congressmen.

The liberal organization gave 100 per cent "right" grades to the voting records of Democratic senators Bob and Ted Kennedy, Gaylord Nelson and Joe Clark.

BAUMANN

Our Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas received a score of 88 (the ADA didn't like his voting record on CIA and foreign military aid, which it regarded as unliberal).

Our Republican Sen. Everett M. Dirksen received a zero rating, meaning of the bills on which rating occurred, he was totally unliberal.

I MAY SEND a protest letter to the ADA for that. Senator Dirksen has proved himself to be quite liberal in his public utterances. I remember, for example, a long dissertation by this shaggy-haired old man broadcast on a television show from his home in Virginia.

He was in his garden, talking about his flowers. Each, to hear him ecstatically describe it, was more beautiful than the next. His reverence for the leafy specimens was touching.

Roses really turn him on, Senator Dirksen confided. (But then so do all flowers, he added, not wanting to offend any species.)

THE SENATOR refused—as I remember and it was a long time ago — to discriminate by naming any potential national flower as his choice. But he was willing to support a pansy week. Such liberality, if the ADA had bothered to measure it, certainly would have earned him a high score.

On the other hand, Senator Douglas has not appeared on any television shows, to my knowledge, describing his flowers. He has not, to my knowledge, given equal treatment (unless by giving no treatment) to roses, sun flowers, daisies and pansies. Certainly, points ought to be subtracted from his score on these grounds.

Oh, well, Senator Dirksen will have lots of company in his gloomy ADA cellar. All Illinois' Republican congressmen were given the same score, except Donald Rumsfeld of the northwest suburban 13th District. He earned 17 points and, probably, ribbing from his colleagues about his left-wing tendencies.

'Honest' Ken Lists Peeves

by KEN KNOX
Associate Sports Editor

"You are so jolly, Kenny," said mama, hugging me and paddling me off to bed. "Is there nothing which angers you, nothing which makes you churlish and testy?"

"No, mama," enthused I, contemplating the untouched portions of warm milk and animal crackers I was leaving behind. "For I am as the moon-child, a thing visited upon this earth, a creature of joy and light and truth and simplicity for all our time!!"

"Oh," said mama.

I was not, of course, being an honest person then, because there are things which make me angry and churlish and testy, so full of anguished righteousness, so brimming with the yearning that others would be similarly enraged.

AND AMONG them are these:

—Mamas who hug and send off to bed — after feeding them warm milk and animal crackers — boys who are going on 26 years of age, and who don't live with their mamas anymore anyway.

—People who call me Kenny.

—Boys who lie to their mamas.

—Money.

—The passion for money.

—People who blame the federal government for everything from bunions to volcanic detonations, and every man-made social and economic ill in between.

—People who make jokes about farmers.

—The intellectual snobs who sneer with contempt at American television, haughtily denouncing most of what emanates from the screen as trash and drivel.

—THE TRASH and drivel that so frequently emanate from the American television screen.

—The waiters, waitresses, bellboys, cabbies and those uninvited washroom attendants who thrust forward their palms for handouts without regard for service rendered or indignities inflicted, and the people who insist on upholding the arbitrary habit to the fine per cent, because it's a social custom.

—The dictum that says you can't wear white shoes after Labor Day.

—People who say of civil rights workers who get burned, mutilated or murdered in the South that it wouldn't have happened if they had stayed home.

—People who say of civil rights workers who get burned, mutilated or murdered in the North that it wouldn't have happened if they had stayed home.

—THE CIVIL rights workers who toss off the immense accomplishments in their behalf in the past half-decade, and who push a sensitive and cautious white community with belligerence.

—The absurd fanaticism on both sides in the firearms law controversy.

—The guy next door who persistently waters his lawn in defiance of community sprinkling bans, and gets away with it, while your lawn simmers and expires under the summer sun.

—Any person who tries to solicit business over my personal telephone.

—All salesmen who come to my door uninvited, especially those who insist devoutly that they are not on selling missions.

—TEEN-AGE boys who make teen-age girls get out of the car for the snacks at hamburger stands.

—Teen-age girls who drop their hamburger stand residue out the car window with flagrant abandon.

—The incredible parents who raise teen-age boys who let teen-age girls get out of the car for snacks at hamburger stands who drop their hamburger stand residue out the car window with flagrant abandon.

—Automobile companies that market for $3,600.00 cars that are put together shabbily, that consume gas with greed and that squeak, and then charge you 15 cents extra if you want a light bulb by the glove compartment.

—Manufacturers of television sets who put the name on before the quality goes in.

—UNIONISTS who wage passionate battles for the salvation of the working man and threaten economic paralysis if their demands aren't met, but who have neglected to put anywhere in their creed something about craftsmanship and pride.

—The highway employees who don't clear the dead raccoons, dogs, skunks, opossums, cats and turtles off the road, and neglect to mow the weeds and patch the potholes.

'Ogilvie Shooting off Mouth,' Answers Pres. Seymour Simon

The Paddock Publications reported last Thursday that Mr. Ogilvie called me a liar for saying, quote " . . . if Ogilvie as Sheriff didn't get some of the things he sought, it was because the Republican county board members didn't say anthing" unquote. I never made that statement.

WHAT I HAVE said was that when the current Cook County budget was adopted last January, not a single Republican commissioner (and we have five) took the floor of the county board to propose amendments to the budget which Mr. Ogilvie had requested. The amendment procedure was not unknown to the Republican commissioners because they proposed amendments to the appropriations for other offices. All of this is a matter of record about which there can be no dispute.

In making the statement about me which you reported, Mr. Ogilvie demonstrates that he is an intemperate man who doesn't bother to check the facts before he talks. I realize that during an election campaign candidates tend to get excited, but being trigger happy in shooting off one's mouth does not make a man the "tough guy" your article portrayed Mr. Ogilvie to be.

Issues of Revenue Article Need Through Discussion

Nov. 8 is election day. Illinois voters will be electing a senator, congressmen and state legislators and various county officials. We appreciate the coverage you are giving to the candidates. However, not much attention is being given to the issue which will have greater and more permanent influence on the lives of Illinois citizens than any of the candidates in this election. Too many voters will go to the polls without any understanding of what the Blue Ballot Revenue Amendment says, or does.

THIS CITIZEN thinks it is important for the people to know that the revenue amendment will be a giant step backward for Illinois. Good citizens are willing to pay their fair share of a fair tax but the amendment will not allow state government to use methods of taxation that are fair to the average wage earner. Do the people really want to vote for an amendment which makes it impossible to tax corporations without an identical tax on individuals? Does it make sense to require real estate in Cook County to be classified and prohibit the same kind of classification in the rest of the state? Do we want to adopt an amendment which is certain to create years and years of litigation?

How will school districts replace the money that is lost if the value of cars and trucks is taken off the tax rolls?

THE AMENDMENT will not give the state any major new sources of revenue that it does not have now — but it will prevent the taxation of the real wealth of our state. It is opposed by the Parent Teachers Association, the League of Women Voters, the State AFL-CIO, the Illinois Municipal League, the Illinois Federation of Teachers, and many, many other thoughtful citizens, attorneys and other groups.

Every citizen should be certain he is given the Blue Ballot at the polls and that he marks his "X" in the "No" square.

Ron Petralito's A-Frame Idea Called Ingenious

It is difficult to follow the logic of your editorial "Slums No Answer to Labor Shortage." Low income housing does not in itself produce slums. The causes of slums are many and varied and too complex to enlarge on at this time. However, let us agree that the proposal of architect Ronald Petralito's to build A-frame housing plight of exmigrants is ingenious.

THIS PLAN could truly be one immediate means of providing decent housing. Let us hope that this project will receive the special use permits necessary to surmount local government housing codes. Local governments must become more flexible in such matters.

Let us also hope that those who so fear governmental help in low income housing will get behind this project. Once this opportunity passes and resort to federal help becomes a necessity, there will be no justifiable reason to bewail "too much government." The future looks to decent housing for all strata of our society, with or without federal assistance.

Paper Brings Home Nearer to This Serviceman

Just thought I'd drop you a short note in appreciation for the great morale booster your paper has been. Even though I'm not in the current battle zone, there are times when the shroud of loneliness brings about thoughts of home, and your newspaper brings a part of home across the 5,000 miles which would be very difficult to obtain without actually being there.

I've got 11 months to serve yet, but as long as the mails bring the Bensenville Register my way I'll be able to keep posted on the happenings back in the good old U. S. of A.

Many thanks, folks; keep up the good work.

Finds Election Coverage Tops

You are to be commended for the excellent coverage of candidates and issues in the fall state and county elections. I know others share my appreciation for this voter service.

So much of what we read and hear today is either distorted or confused or mostly personal opinion. I've liked the clarity and objectivity of your articles. I especially liked your articles on Stevenson and Ogilvie. It's hard to find dependable, meaningful information upon which to make an intelligent decision.

You are doubtless receiving favorable response from others, but I wanted to cast my "aye" vote along with the others for the Herald's coverage. Many thanks and keep it up.

Elk Grove Schools' Service On Bussing Called Inadequate

I have spent days reading over and over your coverage of the Elk Grove Village lunch problems in the schools. Since this problem also concerns us, and is part of many complaints we have against Centex Corp., I would like to tell you our particular story.

We formerly lived in Wood Dale, a neighboring community where the law is any child living over half a mile gets bus service to school and stays for lunch. We sold our home in Wood Dale and lived for a year in Arizona and California, before returning back to Illinois because of business reasons. In these western states our children not only received free bus service and no exorbitant charge for supplies - (Elk Grove Village , $10 per child, plus a list of supplies for the parent to buy amounting to another $5-$10 per child) - but - they had a most excellent lunch program at the cafeteria in the school for $1.40 per week per child.

MY HUSBAND returned here two months before me and the children, to find a home for us in which to live — he told the salesman here (for Centex Corp.) that we wanted bus service to the schools and this was the only type of house we would consider. The salesman and also the sales manager assured my husband there was bus service to the schools. He finally picked a house the furthest from the school, out of quite a few available, right off of Devon Avenue, and when all the papers were signed, I returned here with our three children.

Several of the new neighbors told me the children had to walk to school, and I spoke to the salesman, about this, and he assured me most emphatically that my children would have bus service. You can imagine my shock when I went to register at Salt Creek School and discovered my children had to walk over a mile to school. I also learned from several women, including the lady taking the registrations, that they, too, had been told by various Centex salesmen that there was bus service to the schools and their children would be taking busses and staying for lunch.

WE ONLY HAVE one car and it is impossible for me to drive the children to school - my second grader is an extremely frail child, and he arrives home for lunch at about the time he should be returning to school - he is irritable, cranky and crying all the time about how he hates the school because he has to walk so far, and the bigger children pick on him. Twice I managed to have the car, and was truly shocked at the five mile per hour pace I traveled — the streets are packed with youngsters on bikes and walking in the middle of the streets — I think if the parents realized how their children were going to school, more would protest, as I dread the day some maniac tries speeding through the streets of Elk Grove Village.

I like my house, but I fear there is more to be said against Elk Grove Village than for it — for all the progressiveness they claim to have, I believe they have become so wrapped up in themselves, they have not taken the time to see how other communities have handled their problems, and our family, for one, cannot wait to get out of here. When Spring arrives, there will be a "For Sale" sign on our house.

Best Off Broadway Players

'My Fair Lady' Cast Selected

After three nights of auditions the cast has been selected for Best Off Broadway Players' production of the popular Lerner and Loewe musical, "My Fair Lady."

The musical will be given Nov 26 and 27 and Dec. 3 and 4 at Wheeling High School.

Cast in the role of Eliza Doolittle, the cockney flower girl whom Prof. Henry Higgins turns into the perfect English lady is Sandra Grabowski, 502 Tomah, Prospect Heights.

Colonel Pickering, who wagers with Professor Higgins that he can't pass Eliza off as a duchess at the Embassy Ball, will be played by Mike Woulds, 243 E. Brandenberry Court, Arlington Heights.

THE INDEFATIGABLE and inexhaustable Professor Higgins will be portrayed by Wally Williams, 422 S. Yale, Arlington Heights.

Eliza's lovable scoundrel of a father, Alfred P. Doolittle, will be played by Hank Vandenboom, 89 W. Manchester, Wheeling.

Charmaine Sayre, 610 Kasper, Arlington Heights, is cast as the prim English housekeeper of Professor Higgins, and his mother will be played by Dorothy Watkins, 446 Banbury Road, Arlington Heights.

The lovesick Freddy Eynsford-Hil who tries to win Eliza's heart will be Allen Johnson, 284 Pleasant St., Hoffman Estates. Freddy's very proper mother will be played by Beth Woulds of Arlington Heights.

WILMA GILLOGLY of Barrington, as Mrs. Hopkins, and Harry Brown of Chicago, as the great Hungarian egoist Zoltan Karpathy, complete the major characters.

Richard Tyler of Chicago will direct the show. Clem Fleming of Morton Grove is the music director and Richard Tarczynski of Chicago the choreographer.

WITH WARM GINGERALE Best Off Broadway Players Mike Woulds, left, Wally Williams and Hank Vandenboom toast Sandra Grabowski of Prospect Heights, who'll play Eliza Doolittle in BOB's production of "My Fair Lady." Woulds, Arlington Heights resident, is cast as Colonel Pickering. Williams, also of Arlington, will play the indefatigable Professor Higgins, and Vandenboom, Wheeling, will be seen as the wily Alfred P. Doolittle, Eliza's father. The musical will be presented Nov. 26 and 27 and Dec. 3 and 4.

Guild Actors Agree On Need for Empathy

It isn't easy to be creative in any of the arts, especially the theater arts, according to some members of the Guild Players who have prominent roles in the cast of the current Guild production, "The Happy Time."

Members of the Hoffman Estates - Roselle area amateur theater group agree that the preparation by an actor to convincingly portray a character unlike himself is emotionally and physically exhausting.

When asked to reveal their "secrets" for giving memorable performances during past seasons, Guild members Art Blackaller, Nate Levin and Mrs. Edmund Ostos were unanimous. They all feel that when an actor is fully concentrating on his characterization, the role being played will be convincing to the audience and will very likely create the effect desired by the actor.

"WHAT WE'RE all agreeing to is, in a word, empathy," Blackaller explained. "We speak of an actor creating empathy when he builds an emotional and intellectual contact with his audience," he added.

Blackaller is currently creating a great deal of "empathy" in his role of Papa during the last rehearsals of "The Happy Time," scheduled at Lake Park High School auditorium in Medinah Friday and Saturday evenings.

"After reading through the script the first time, I thought I had a pretty clear idea of how I would portray the fun-loving Grandpa in the play," said Nate Levin. "However, unlike most other odd and assorted characters I've played in the past, each time I do this role in rehearsal I discover new and different facets of this rascal's personality.

"I've learned to love the character of Grandpa and I only hope I am able to project the charm of this affectionate scoundrel across the footlights next weekend," Levin added.

MRS. OSTOS plays the lively supporting role of Felice in the comedy of the turbulent life of a fun-loving French-Canadian family in the 1920's.

"I forget myself entirely when I'm doing the role of Felice," Mrs. Ostos stated. "Felice is too vibrant a woman, in my opinion, for any actress to portray well and not put her whole being into it," she emphasized.

Good seats are still available for either performance, according to the Guild Players' box office, and may be reserved by calling 529-1067. (Bill

VT Names Cast for 'Seidman and Son'

Bob Hawley, veteran actor of numerous Village Theatre productions, will portray Morris Seidman, the warm-hearted lead, in "Seidman and Son," season opener for the community theater group.

Hawley, who resides in Arlington Heights, was recently seen as the blustering Mr. Baker in "Come Blow Your Horn" and the Russian, Chernov, in "Anastasia."

Portraying his wife, Sophie, will be Sarah Levin of Hoffman Estates. Mrs. Levin will be remembered as the dowager empress of "Anastasia" and Mrs. Baker in "Come Blow Your Horn."

COMPLETING the Seidman family are Joe Rosanova, Mount Prospect, as Harold, Seidman's son who is determined to improve the world and set a few people straight, and Bonnie Luster, Arlington Heights, as Jenny Seidman, who likes boys.

Mickey Mandel, Hoffman Estates, will be seen as Laura Menken, the dress designer, who is hotly pursued by hotshot salesman, Larry Kogen, otherwise known as Gene Connor of Arlington Heights.

Others on the garment scene are Bob Randolph of Mount Prospect, as the southern merchant, Magnuson; John Lobenhofer of Mount Prospect, playing an ulcer-ridden production man, and Howard Risberg of Hoffman Estates, as a union delegate with conscience.

HERB BRADEN, Arlington Heights, appears as Karp, the apartment-owning presser, and Kenneth O'Dell, Mount Prospect, puts in his appearance as the shipping clerk, Sidney.

Harold Seidman's Polish girl friend, Helen, is Sofia Adoniadis of Mount Prospect. Rounding out the cast of 21 are Betty Brooks, Bruce Meyer and Carolyn Burkett of Arlington Heights, Shirley Scott of Glen Ellyn and Arlene Nemecek of Prospect Heights.

The Elick Moll comedy, set in New York's garment district, will be presented at Prospect High School Nov. 4, 5 and 6 and Nov. 11 and 12. More information may be obtained at the VT box office, CL 9-3200.

DuPage Symphony Concert To Feature Soprano Soloist

Winifred Nelson, Barrington soprano, will be soloist for the DuPage Symphony's free open house concert and reception Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in Wheaton North High School auditorium.

The concert will open the orchestra's 13th season, all of them under the direction of Russell Harvey of Chicago. Conductor Harvey is on the faculty of the American Conservatory of Music and is conductor of the Chicago Sinfonia, a professional string ensemble.

After the concert, to which the public will be welcome without charge, the DuPage Symphony board will give an informal reception in the cafeteria of the school so members of the audience may meet the conductor and the orchestra. Refreshments will be served.

ON THE PROGRAM for the Open House concert are Overture to the Bartered Bride, by Smetana; Symphony No. 6, by Haydn; On the Steppes of Central Asia, Borodin; Hungarian Dances 19, 20 and 21, Brahms, and "Hoe-Down" from Rodeo, by Copland.

Winifred Nelson will sing two familiar arias, "One Fine Day" from Puccini's "Madam Butterfly," and "Sempre Libera," the toasting song from Verdi's "La Traviata."

The Oct. 9 concert precedes the five concerts of the regular season of the DuPage Symphony, for which family season tickets are now on sale.

A pair of Ruth Page Dancers will be featured in two pas de deux in Glenbard West High School Nov. 20. The winner of the annual Young Artists audition will be the soloist for a children's concert Jan. 22 in Glenbard West.

OTHER concerts are scheduled for March 12 in Glenbard East, April 1 in Edman Chapel on the Wheaton College campus, and May 7 in West Chicago High School.

Playing members of the DuPage Symphony include:

Elaine Grote, contrabass, and Lynn Holmgren, French horn, both of Addison; Branko Stojadinovic, violin, Bloomingdale; Barbara Walters, viola, Glendale Heights; Dories Haas, cello, Itasca; Richard Kroneberg, violin, Medinah; Mary Margaret Schimmelman, flute, Roselle, and Archibald Murphy, flute, Wayne. William Shatner Stars in 'Shane' On M & R Screen

The M & R Twin Drive-In Theatre will feature tomorrow (Friday) on the west screen, "Poor White Trash," a story of life among poor white southerners.

Co-featured is "Shane," based on Charles Beaumont's novel, "The Intruders." It brings William Shatner to the screen in the title role of a slick talking outsider who arouses a town.

On the east screen featuring Paul Newman — as a private eye, the M & R will be showing Lew Harper in "Harper." Co-featured will be Shirley MacLaine in "All in a Night's Work." (Bill

MAMA BONNARD, played by Robby Schnarel, right, and Uncle Desmonde, portrayed by Bru Fortune, gather at the piano in "The Happy Time," Guild Players' season opening production being given this weekend at Lake Park High School. The old player piano was an important part of family life in the period in which the play is set, the early 1920's.

Gay Nineties Melodrama Is Slated by Masque & Staff

"The success attending this Great Romantic Drama at its first production in 1890 when it was received with unbounded applause, unprecedented in the history of the stage, has induced the Management to spare no expense in its reproduction."

This statement appears at the top of the playbill advertising the old fashioned melodrama, "Dirty Work at the Crossroads," (or "Tempted, Tried and True"), set for presentation later this month by the Elk Grove Masque and Staff community theater group. Its flowery character gives a hint of the exaggerations and time-honored cliches rampant in this hilarious comedy now entering final weeks of rehearsal.

THE CAST, "embracing within its limits nearly the entire Strength of the Acting Company," includes Barbara Hoffman as Nellie Lovelace, as true as she is tender; Bob Johnson as Munro Murgatroyd, as wild as he is wicked; Dave Rickert as Adam Oakhart, as brave as he is bashful, and Tom Henderson as Mookie Muguggins, as rude as he is rustic.

Others are Lois McKelvey as The Widow Lovelace, Loretta Tomaselli as Ida Rhinegold, Marge Dykier as Mrs. Upson Asterbilt, Pat Marshall as Leonie Asterbilt, Liz Romero as the French maid Fleurette and Diane Calkins as Little Nell.

The play tells the story of Nellie Lovelace, an innocent country girl; of Adam Oakhart, the stalwart blacksmith's son, and of Munro Murgatroyd, the villain from the big city. Munro, has a wife in Ida Rhinegold, the belle of the New Haven music halls, but that does not prevent him from pursuing the innocent Nellie and tearing her from the arms of her dying mother, whom he has poisoned. Nor does it prevent him from driving Adam to drink from blackmailing the rich Mrs. Upson Asterbilt or from bewitching and then throwing aside with a sneer her daughter, Leonie.

SHIRLEY JOHNSON is director for the play; Diane Sanders serves as producer.

"Dirty Work" is scheduled for the evenings of Friday and Saturday, Oct. 28 and 29, and Nov. 4 and 5, in the auditorium of Dempster Junior High School, Dempster Road just west of Route 83. Ticket information can be obtained by calling Dave Rickert, 439-7973. (Bill

Westwood Players Prepare Musical

Sewing machines are whirring, vocal cords are vibrating, dancing legs are kicking and stomping, paint is being splashed, mountains are being erected as Addison's Westwood Variety Players prepare for their second show, "Best of Broadway," a rendition of three musical plays by Rodgers and Hammerstein.

"Sound of Music" brings to the stage Carollee Kinsey as the daydreaming but confident Maria searching for her calling in life. Instrumental in her decision are Gladys Tarantolo as Mother Abbess and John Greenan as Captain Von Trapp.

With the men's chorus singing, "There is nothin' like a dame," the stage is set for "South Pacific." Jackie Sanders plays Nellie, who is "Gonna wash that man (Emile de Becque, Sam Tarantolo in real life) right outa my hair."

"OKLAHOMA" stars Warren Fabel as Curly and Joan Karas as Laurey his "hard to get" lady love. Also in the romantic limelight are Jackie Everhart as the two-timing Ado Annie and her counterpoint, Art Everhart as Will.

"Best of Broadway" will be staged Friday and Saturday Oct. 21 and Oct. 22, at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 23, at 7 o'clock p.m. at the Addison Indian Trail Junior High. Tickets may be obtained from members of the cast or by calling 543-4047.

The production staff is Max Sanders, producer; Mrs. William Doran, director; Mrs. Al Kinsey, choral director; Mrs. Nick Savaiano, costumes; Mrs. Art Everhart, script; Mrs. Richard Alis and Mrs. Robert Ebenhahn, choreography; Mrs. Lawrence Cady, set design, and Mrs. Richard Karas, assistant to director. Gay Nineties Melodrama Is Slated by Masque & Staff

"The success attending this Great Romantic Drama at its first production in 1890 when it was received with unbounded applause, unprecedented in the history of the stage, has induced the Management to spare no expense in its reproduction."

This statement appears at the top of the playbill advertising the old fashioned melodrama, "Dirty Work at the Crossroads," (or "Tempted, Tried and True"), set for presentation later this month by the Elk Grove Masque and Staff community theater group. Its flowery character gives a hint of the exaggerations and time-honored cliches rampant in this hilarious comedy now entering final weeks of rehearsal.

THE CAST, "embracing within its limits nearly the entire Strength of the Acting Company," includes Barbara Hoffman as Nellie Lovelace, as true as she is tender; Bob Johnson as Munro Murgatroyd, as wild as he is wicked; Dave Rickert as Adam Oakhart, as brave as he is bashful, and Tom Henderson as Mookie Muguggins, as rude as he is rustic.

Others are Lois McKelvey as The Widow Lovelace, Loretta Tomaselli as Ida Rhinegold, Marge Dykier as Mrs. Upson Asterbilt, Pat Marshall as Leonie Asterbilt, Liz Romero as the French maid Fleurette and Diane Calkins as Little Nell.

The play tells the story of Nellie Lovelace, an innocent country girl; of Adam Oakhart, the stalwart blacksmith's son, and of Munro Murgatroyd, the villain from the big city. Munro, has a wife in Ida Rhinegold, the belle of the New Haven music halls, but that does not prevent him from pursuing the innocent Nellie and tearing her from the arms of her dying mother, whom he has poisoned. Nor does it prevent him from driving Adam to drink from blackmailing the rich Mrs. Upson Asterbilt or from bewitching and then throwing aside with a sneer her daughter, Leonie.

SHIRLEY JOHNSON is director for the play; Diane Sanders serves as producer.

"Dirty Work" is scheduled for the evenings of Friday and Saturday, Oct. 28 and 29, and Nov. 4 and 5, in the auditorium of Dempster Junior High School, Dempster Road just west of Route 83. Ticket information can be obtained by calling Dave Rickert, 439-7973. (Bill

Westwood Players Prepare Musical

Sewing machines are whirring, vocal cords are vibrating, dancing legs are kicking and stomping, paint is being splashed, mountains are being erected as Addison's Westwood Variety Players prepare for their second show, "Best of Broadway," a rendition of three musical plays by Rodgers and Hammerstein.

"Sound of Music" brings to the stage Carollee Kinsey as the daydreaming but confident Maria searching for her calling in life. Instrumental in her decision are Gladys Tarantolo as Mother Abbess and John Greenan as Captain Von Trapp.

With the men's chorus singing, "There is nothin' like a dame," the stage is set for "South Pacific." Jackie Sanders plays Nellie, who is "Gonna wash that man (Emile de Becque, Sam Tarantolo in real life) right outa my hair."

"OKLAHOMA" stars Warren Fabel as Curly and Joan Karas as Laurey his "hard to get" lady love. Also in the romantic limelight are Jackie Everhart as the two-timing Ado Annie and her counterpoint, Art Everhart as Will.

"Best of Broadway" will be staged Friday and Saturday Oct. 21 and Oct. 22, at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 23, at 7 o'clock p.m. at the Addison Indian Trail Junior High. Tickets may be obtained from members of the cast or by calling 543-4047.

The production staff is Max Sanders, producer; Mrs. William Doran, director; Mrs. Al Kinsey, choral director; Mrs. Nick Savaiano, costumes; Mrs. Art Everhart, script; Mrs. Richard Alis and Mrs. Robert Ebenhahn, choreography; Mrs. Lawrence Cady, set design, and Mrs. Richard Karas, assistant to director. Art at Theatre

Paintings by Thomas St. Clair of Glenview now are being featured in the art gallery of the Golf Mill Theatre. He has traveled extensively throughout North America, and this background is reflected in his paintings that will be on display at the Golf Mill through October.

Countryside Begins Annual Patron Drive

Mrs. James G. Davis, 719 W. Fairview, and Mrs. A. J. Barboro, 1543 N. Kennicott Ave., both of Arlington Heights, will share responsibilities as co-chairmen of Countryside Art Center's annual patron drive during October.

The art center, a non-profit organization, will seek financial support from the community to continue its activities in the fine arts.

As a highlight of the patron drive, the art center will occupy the historic Bray House at 506 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, for two weeks. During this time special exhibits of paintings and other art works will be on display.

THIS SPECIAL exhibit will open with a ribbon-cutting ceremony Sunday, Oct. 16, at 3 p.m.

The patron drive will conclude with a grand finale patron party at Bray House Saturday, Oct. 29, at which both old and new patrons will be entertained.

Countryside Art Center began with a small group of persons who met in homes to paint and discuss art. In 1953 they organized and dedicated themselves to developing the fine arts in the northwest suburban community.

By 1962 the center was able to open a gallery at 10 W. Miner, St., Arlington Heights. Only selected art work is shown in the gallery.

IN ADDITION to the gallery, Countryside Art Center offers art classes taught by qualified artist-instructors and also provides lectures, tours and demonstrations to organizations and the public.

Mrs. William Stull, gallery secretary, will answer any questions concerning the art center and gallery. The telephone is 253-3005. (Bill

"BOARD" MEMBERS of Countryside Art Center join with Mrs. James G. Davis of 719 W. Fairview, Arlington Heights, in inviting the public to visit exhibits at historic Bray House, 506 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, during the art center's patron drive this month. Board members found the old ironing boards in the basement of Bray House as they prepared for the exhibit Oct. 16-29. They trimmed them to create this whimsical welcoming trio. Mrs. Davis is co-chairman of Countryside's patron drive, along with Mrs. A. J. Barboro, 1543 N. Kennicott, Arlington Heights.

Area Artists Entered in NI-Gas Show

Several area artists will be exhibiting their work in the special October showing of blue ribbon winners of 1966 Chicagoland art fairs, sponsored by Northern Illinois Gas Co. and the West Suburban Fine Arts Alliance.

Entries include Mary Lou Dick and John Jordan of Itasca, Ann Walach of Medinah and Joan Miletto of Palatine.

The show is planned for Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 15 and 16, at the NI-Gas general office near Aurora. More than 300 pieces of original art work will be shown. (Bill

'La Gioconda' Next Lyric Opera Study

Ponchielli's opera, "La Gioconda," will be reviewed by Northwest Chapter of Lyric Opera Guild Thursday, Oct. 13.

Hostess for the meeting will be Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald of 1897 W. Stuart Lane, Inverness.

Mrs. Winifred Saunderson of Palatine will be "La Gioconda" in the operalogue, and Mrs. Betty McLean of Barrington will sing the roles of her mother and also that of Laura, Gionconda's romantic rival.

Mrs. Saunderson began her musical career at the age of 13 when she had a leading role in a production of the Junior Operetta Company of Chicago. Later she joined the Chicago Park District's opera company and for a number of years was its youngest member. At 19 she made her debut with the American Opera Company singing the role of Micaela in "Carmen."

MRS. SAUNDERSON

MRS. SAUNDERSON studied at Chicago Musical College and performed with the Grant Park Opera Guild. After moving to the west coast, she continued her study with Marcella Craft, former prima donna of the Munich Royal opera. She also sang many roles for Southern California audiences and had her own radio program of light classics.

Mrs. McLean, who has sung many roles in the Northwest Chapter operalogues, received a music degree from Missouri Valley College and a master's from Northwestern University. She teaches voice in Barrington and is soloist at Barrington Community Church. She also sings with the Elgin Choral Union.

Accompanist for the operalogue will be Miriam Stieger of Barrington. Mrs. Anne Yenne, also of Barrington, has organized it and will serve as narrator. She studied voice at Oklahoma City University and before her marriage was a writer and editor. Her photographs have appeared in national magazines and she also paints in oils.

Count Basie to Appear at New Bramble Bush

Count Basie and his orchestra will bring their danceable music to the area next Wednesday night when they will appear for one night, Oct. 12, at the new Bramble Bush Restaurant, 1301 Rand Road, Arlington Heights.

This is the first of the name bands who will appear from time to time in line with the Bramble Bush policy of serving quality food along with top entertainment. (Bill

As a highlight of the patron drive, the art center will occupy the historic Bray House at 506 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, for two weeks. During this time special exhibits of paintings and other art works will be on display.

THIS SPECIAL exhibit will open with a ribbon-cutting ceremony Sunday, Oct. 16, at 3 p.m.

The patron drive will conclude with a grand finale patron party at Bray House Saturday, Oct. 29, at which both old and new patrons will be entertained.

Countryside Art Center began with a small group of persons who met in homes to paint and discuss art. In 1953 they organized and dedicated themselves to developing the fine arts in the northwest suburban community.

By 1962 the center was able to open a gallery at 10 W. Miner, St., Arlington Heights. Only selected art work is shown in the gallery.

IN ADDITION to the gallery, Countryside Art Center offers art classes taught by qualified artist-instructors and also provides lectures, tours and demonstrations to organizations and the public.

Mrs. William Stull, gallery secretary, will answer any questions concerning the art center and gallery. The telephone is 253-3005. (Bill

"BOARD" MEMBERS of Countryside Art Center join with Mrs. James G. Davis of 719 W. Fairview, Arlington Heights, in inviting the public to visit exhibits at historic Bray House, 506 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, during the art center's patron drive this month. Board members found the old ironing boards in the basement of Bray House as they prepared for the exhibit Oct. 16-29. They trimmed them to create this whimsical welcoming trio. Mrs. Davis is co-chairman of Countryside's patron drive, along with Mrs. A. J. Barboro, 1543 N. Kennicott, Arlington Heights.

Area Artists Entered in NI-Gas Show

Several area artists will be exhibiting their work in the special October showing of blue ribbon winners of 1966 Chicagoland art fairs, sponsored by Northern Illinois Gas Co. and the West Suburban Fine Arts Alliance.

Entries include Mary Lou Dick and John Jordan of Itasca, Ann Walach of Medinah and Joan Miletto of Palatine.

The show is planned for Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 15 and 16, at the NI-Gas general office near Aurora. More than 300 pieces of original art work will be shown. (Bill

'La Gioconda' Next Lyric Opera Study

Ponchielli's opera, "La Gioconda," will be reviewed by Northwest Chapter of Lyric Opera Guild Thursday, Oct. 13.

Hostess for the meeting will be Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald of 1897 W. Stuart Lane, Inverness.

Mrs. Winifred Saunderson of Palatine will be "La Gioconda" in the operalogue, and Mrs. Betty McLean of Barrington will sing the roles of her mother and also that of Laura, Gionconda's romantic rival.

Mrs. Saunderson began her musical career at the age of 13 when she had a leading role in a production of the Junior Operetta Company of Chicago. Later she joined the Chicago Park District's opera company and for a number of years was its youngest member. At 19 she made her debut with the American Opera Company singing the role of Micaela in "Carmen."

MRS. SAUNDERSON

MRS. SAUNDERSON studied at Chicago Musical College and performed with the Grant Park Opera Guild. After moving to the west coast, she continued her study with Marcella Craft, former prima donna of the Munich Royal opera. She also sang many roles for Southern California audiences and had her own radio program of light classics.

Mrs. McLean, who has sung many roles in the Northwest Chapter operalogues, received a music degree from Missouri Valley College and a master's from Northwestern University. She teaches voice in Barrington and is soloist at Barrington Community Church. She also sings with the Elgin Choral Union.

Accompanist for the operalogue will be Miriam Stieger of Barrington. Mrs. Anne Yenne, also of Barrington, has organized it and will serve as narrator. She studied voice at Oklahoma City University and before her marriage was a writer and editor. Her photographs have appeared in national magazines and she also paints in oils.

Count Basie to Appear at New Bramble Bush

Count Basie and his orchestra will bring their danceable music to the area next Wednesday night when they will appear for one night, Oct. 12, at the new Bramble Bush Restaurant, 1301 Rand Road, Arlington Heights.

This is the first of the name bands who will appear from time to time in line with the Bramble Bush policy of serving quality food along with top entertainment. (Bill

Ordinance No. 444

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF ELK GROVE VILLAGE RELATING TO STREET PAVEMENT STANDARDS

NOW, THERFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Counties of Cook and DuPage, Illinois:

Section 1. That Section 8.005 page 55b2, 55c and a portion of 55d relating to street pavement of the Municipal Code of Elk Grove Village be and is hereby amended to read as follows:

STREET PAVEMENT STANDARDS

1. All street pavements within the subdivision shall be designed in accordance with the structural design procedures and the minimum requirements contained in the following manuals

a) Manual for the Structural Design of Portland Cement Concrete Pavements in Illinois, Revised February, 1965, issued the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois.

b) Manual of Instructions for the Structural Design of Bituminous Pavements on Projects Involving M.F.T. and FAS Funds, Revised November, 1964 and issued by the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois.

A copy of all design assumptions and computations on which the proposed design is based shall be submitted to the Village Engineer for review and approval.

2. All streets within the subdivision shall be constructed to one of the following alternate standards:

a) Portland cement concrete pavement with integral curbs, constructed in compliance with "Special Provision for Portland Cement Concrete Pavement (Special) BLR M-640 (5-64) and "Special Provision for Integral Concrete Curb" BLR M-641 (5-64) issued by the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois.

b) Portland cement concrete pavement with combination curb and gutter, constructed in compliance with Section 48 and Section 80 of "Standard Specifications for Road and Bridge Construction" adopted January 2, 1958 by the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois, and Supplemental Specifications thereto, effective January 3, 1966.

c) Bituminous concrete pavement with concrete curb and gutter.

The bituminous concrete binder course shall have a minimum compacted thickness of 1½ inches and the bituminous concrete surface course shall have a minimum compacted thickness of 1 inch. The binder course and surface course shall be constructed in compliance with either Section 44 or Section 46 of Standard specifications for Road and Bridge Construction, adopted by the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois, and Supplemental Specifications thereto, effective January 3, 1966. The concrete curb and gutter shall be constructed in compliance with Section 80 of said specifications."

The bituminous concrete binder and surface courses shall be laid upon one of the following alternate base courses:

1) Waterbound macadam base course, constructed in accordance with Section 30 of the Standard Specifications referred to above.

2) Soil-cement base course, constructed in accordance with Section 31 of the Standard Specifications referred to above.

3) Portland cement concrete base course constructed in compliance with Section 32 of the Standard Specification referred to above.

4) Pozzolanic base, Type A, constructed in compliance with specifications for same, adopted April 1, 1964 by the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois, and revised April 15, 1966.

The minimum width of the paved roadway, back to back of curb, shall be as follows:

1. On residential streets, not less than twenty-eight feet.
2. On major streets, not less than thirty-six feet.
3. On streets through business and shopping areas, not less than sixty-six feet.
4. On streets through commercial areas, not less than forty feet.
5. On streets through industrial areas, not less than forty feet.

Before any paving work is commenced all street grading shall be properly completed as shown on grading plan submitted with final plat of subdivision.

The underground work, such as sewer, water, house service connections therewith and all related backfilling and compaction of trenches shall be completed before any paving work is commenced.

Section 2. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication according to law.

PASSED this 27th day of September, 1966.

APPROVED this 27th day of September, 1966.

An Ordinance

providing for borrowing money and issuing bonds of Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, to the amount of $42,000, for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, and providing for the levy and collection of a direct annual tax for the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds.

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, did by an ordinance adopted on May 11, 1966, call a special election to be held in and for said District on June 18, 1966, for the purpose of submitting to the voters of said District the following question:

> Shall bonds to the amount of Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000) be issued by the Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, such sanitary sewerage system to consist of a network of collecting sanitary sewers, necessary manholes with frames and covers, complete with connections, wiring, controls, piping and appurtenances necessary and incident thereto and including the acquisition of necessary lands, easements, and rights of way?

and;

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of said District did cause to be given proper notice of said election by publishing notice thereof once in the Prospect Heights Herald, being a newspaper published in and having a general circulation in said District, and by posting notices thereof in at least ten public places, within said District, said publication and posting of said notices being made at least twenty (20) days prior to the date of said election, which said notices as so published and posted did specify the place where such election was to be held, the time of opening and closing the polls and the question to be voted upon; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of said District by proper proceedings adopted and spread upon its records, found that all legal requirements in connection with said election were duly complied with and that a majority of the voters of said District voting at said election on said question above referred to, voted in favor thereof, and this Board of Trustees is now authorized to borrow the sum of $50,000 for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, such sanitary sewerage system to consist of a network of collecting sanitary sewers, necessary manholes with frames and covers, complete with connections, wiring, controls, piping and appurtenances necessary and incident thereto and including the acquisition of necessary lands, easements and rights of way, and it is in the judgment of this Board necessary for the purpose aforesaid at this time to borrow only the sum of $42,000 and issue bonds of this District therefor:

NOW, THEREFORE, Be It Ordained by the Board of Trustees of Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, as follows:

Section 1. That it be and it is found and determined that the Board of Trustees of Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, has been authorized by a majority of the voters of said District voting on the question at a special election duly called, noticed, held and canvassed for that purpose to issue bonds of said District in the amount of $50,000, said bonds to be issued for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, such sanitary sewerage system to consist of a network of collecting sanitary sewers, necessary manholes with frames and covers, complete with connections, wiring, controls, piping and appurtenances necessary and incident thereto and including the acquisition of necessary lands, easements, and rights of way all in accordance with the plans therefor, heretofore approved by the Board of Trustees of said District.

Section 2. That in order to raise the sum of $42,000 currently needed for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, there be borrowed by, for and on behalf of Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, the sum of $42,000 and to evidence said loan negotiable coupon bonds of said District be issued. Said bonds shall be designated "Sanitary Sewer System Bonds," be dated September 1, 1966, be numbered from 1 to 42, inclusive, be of the denomination of $1,000 each and mature serially $2,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1970 to 1975, inclusive, $3,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1976 to 1981, inclusive, and $4,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1982 to 1984, inclusive, and shall bear intrest from date until paid at the rate of four and sixty-hundredths per cent (4.60%) per annum, payable on December 1, 1967, and semiannually thereafter on the first days of June and December in each year, which said interest payments to date of maturity of principal shall be evidenced by proper interest coupons attached to each bond and maturing on the dates herein provided, and both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at First National Bank of Mt. Prospect, Mt. Prospect, Illinois. The seal of said District shall be affixed to each of said bonds and said bonds shall be signed by the members of the Board of Trustees of said District, and said coupons shall be signed by said members of the Board of Trustees by their respective facsimile signatures, and said members, by the execution of said bonds, shall adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons.

Section 3. That the bonds hereby authorized shall be payable to bearer, provided, however, that such bonds may be subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder on the books of the Treasurer of said District, such registration to be evidenced by notation of said Treasurer upon the back of such bonds so registered. No bond so registered shall be subject to transfer except upon such books and similarly noted on the back thereof unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Such registration of any of said bonds shall not, however, affect the negotiability of the coupons attached to said bonds, but such coupons shall continue transferable by delivery merely.

Section 4. That each of said bonds and the interest coupons to be thereto attached shall be in substantially the following form:

(Form of Bond)

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
STATE OF ILLINOIS COUNTY OF COOK
PROSPECT HEIGHTS SANITARY DISTRICT
SANITARY SEWER SYSTEM BOND

No................. $1,000

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS that Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, hereby acknowledges itself to owe, and for value received promises to pay to bearer, or if this bond be registered, then to the registered holder hereof, the sum of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($1,000) on the first day of December, 19......, together with interest on said sum from the date hereof until paid at the rate of four and sixty-hundredths per cent (4.60%) per annum, payable on December 1, 1967, and semiannually thereafter on the first days of June and December in each year, upon presentation and surrender of the respective interest coupons hereto attached as they severally become due and payable.

Both principal and interest are hereby made payable in lawful money of the United States of America at First National Bank of Mount Prospect, Mount Prospect, Illinois.

For the prompt payment of this bond, both principal and interest, as aforesaid, at maturity, and the levy of taxes sufficient for that purpose, the full faith, credit and resources of said Sanitary District are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is one of a series of bonds issued by said Sanitary District for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, such sanitary sewerage system to consist of a network of collecting sanitary sewers, necessary manholes with frames and covers, complete with connections, wiring, controls, piping and appurtenances necessary and incident thereto and including the acquisition of necessary lands, easements and rights of way, pursuant to and in all respects in compliance with the provisions of an Act of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois entitled "An Act to create sanitary districts and to provide for sewage disposal and to provide for the annexation of additional territory to any such district and to authorize sanitary districts to acquire by purchase or construction and upon acquisition to maintain and operate a waterworks or drainage system and to improve and extend the same and issue general obligation bonds, revenue bonds or special assessment bonds to pay the cost thereof which revenue bonds shall be payable solely from the revenues of such waterworks or drainage system and to provide for a method of dissolution of such sanitary districts," approved July 2, 1936, title as amended by act approved August 15, 1963, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto and is authorized by a majority of the voters of said District voting upon the question at an election duly called, noticed, held and canvassed for that purpose in said District, and in compliance with an ordinance duly passed by the Board of Trustees of said District, and published, in all respects, as by law required.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Illinois, to exist or to be done precedent to and in the issuance of this bond, have existed and have been properly done, happened and been performed in regular and due form and time as required by law; that the indebtedness of said Prospect Heights Sanitary District, represented by this bond and the issue of which it forms a part, and including all other indebtedness of said District, howsoever evidenced and incurred, does not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation, and that provision has been made for the collection of a direct annual tax, in addition to all other taxes, on all of the taxable property in said District sufficient to pay the interest hereon as the same falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal hereof at maturity.

This bond is subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder on the books of the Treasurer of said Sanitary District, such registration to be evidenced by notation of such Treasurer on the back hereof, and after such registration no transfer hereof, except upon such books and similarly noted hereon, shall be valid unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Registration hereof shall not affect the negotiability of the coupons hereto attached which shall continue negotiable by delivery merely, notwithstanding registration hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, said Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, by its Board of Trustees, has caused its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed and this bond to be signed by the members of the Board of Trustees of said District and the coupons hereto attached to be signed by said members by their facsimile signatures, which said members do, by the execution hereof, adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons, all as of the first day of September, 1966.

Ordinance No. 444

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF ELK GROVE VILLAGE RELATING TO STREET PAVEMENT STANDARDS

NOW, THERFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Counties of Cook and DuPage, Illinois:

Section 1. That Section 8.005 page 55b2, 55c and a portion of 55d relating to street pavement of the Municipal Code of Elk Grove Village be and is hereby amended to read as follows:

STREET PAVEMENT STANDARDS

1. All street pavements within the subdivision shall be designed in accordance with the structural design procedures and the minimum requirements contained in the following manuals

a) Manual for the Structural Design of Portland Cement Concrete Pavements in Illinois, Revised February, 1965, issued the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois.

b) Manual of Instructions for the Structural Design of Bituminous Pavements on Projects Involving M.F.T. and FAS Funds, Revised November, 1964 and issued by the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois.

A copy of all design assumptions and computations on which the proposed design is based shall be submitted to the Village Engineer for review and approval.

2. All streets within the subdivision shall be constructed to one of the following alternate standards:

a) Portland cement concrete pavement with integral curbs, constructed in compliance with "Special Provision for Portland Cement Concrete Pavement (Special) BLR M-640 (5-64) and "Special Provision for Integral Concrete Curb" BLR M-641 (5-64) issued by the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois.

b) Portland cement concrete pavement with combination curb and gutter, constructed in compliance with Section 48 and Section 80 of "Standard Specifications for Road and Bridge Construction" adopted January 2, 1958 by the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois, and Supplemental Specifications thereto, effective January 3, 1966.

c) Bituminous concrete pavement with concrete curb and gutter.

The bituminous concrete binder course shall have a minimum compacted thickness of 1½ inches and the bituminous concrete surface course shall have a minimum compacted thickness of 1 inch. The binder course and surface course shall be constructed in compliance with either Section 44 or Section 46 of Standard specifications for Road and Bridge Construction, adopted by the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois, and Supplemental Specifications thereto, effective January 3, 1966. The concrete curb and gutter shall be constructed in compliance with Section 80 of said specifications."

The bituminous concrete binder and surface courses shall be laid upon one of the following alternate base courses:

1) Waterbound macadam base course, constructed in accordance with Section 30 of the Standard Specifications referred to above.

2) Soil-cement base course, constructed in accordance with Section 31 of the Standard Specifications referred to above.

3) Portland cement concrete base course constructed in compliance with Section 32 of the Standard Specification referred to above.

4) Pozzolanic base, Type A, constructed in compliance with specifications for same, adopted April 1, 1964 by the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, State of Illinois, and revised April 15, 1966.

The minimum width of the paved roadway, back to back of curb, shall be as follows:

1. On residential streets, not less than twenty-eight feet.
2. On major streets, not less than thirty-six feet.
3. On streets through business and shopping areas, not less than sixty-six feet.
4. On streets through commercial areas, not less than forty feet.
5. On streets through industrial areas, not less than forty feet.

Before any paving work is commenced all street grading shall be properly completed as shown on grading plan submitted with final plat of subdivision.

The underground work, such as sewer, water, house service connections therewith and all related backfilling and compaction of trenches shall be completed before any paving work is commenced.

Section 2. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication according to law.

PASSED this 27th day of September, 1966.

An Ordinance

providing for borrowing money and issuing bonds of Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, to the amount of $42,000, for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, and providing for the levy and collection of a direct annual tax for the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds.

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, did by an ordinance adopted on May 11, 1966, call a special election to be held in and for said District on June 18, 1966, for the purpose of submitting to the voters of said District the following question:

> Shall bonds to the amount of Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000) be issued by the Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, such sanitary sewerage system to consist of a network of collecting sanitary sewers, necessary manholes with frames and covers, complete with connections, wiring, controls, piping and appurtenances necessary and incident thereto and including the acquisition of necessary lands, easements, and rights of way?

and;

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of said District did cause to be given proper notice of said election by publishing notice thereof once in the Prospect Heights Herald, being a newspaper published in and having a general circulation in said District, and by posting notices thereof in at least ten public places, within said District, said publication and posting of said notices being made at least twenty (20) days prior to the date of said election, which said notices as so published and posted did specify the place where such election was to be held, the time of opening and closing the polls and the question to be voted upon; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of said District by proper proceedings adopted and spread upon its records, found that all legal requirements in connection with said election were duly complied with and that a majority of the voters of said District voting at said election on said question above referred to, voted in favor thereof, and this Board of Trustees is now authorized to borrow the sum of $50,000 for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, such sanitary sewerage system to consist of a network of collecting sanitary sewers, necessary manholes with frames and covers, complete with connections, wiring, controls, piping and appurtenances necessary and incident thereto and including the acquisition of necessary lands, easements and rights of way, and it is in the judgment of this Board necessary for the purpose aforesaid at this time to borrow only the sum of $42,000 and issue bonds of this District therefor:

NOW, THEREFORE, Be It Ordained by the Board of Trustees of Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, as follows:

Section 1. That it be and it is found and determined that the Board of Trustees of Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, has been authorized by a majority of the voters of said District voting on the question at a special election duly called, noticed, held and canvassed for that purpose to issue bonds of said District in the amount of $50,000, said bonds to be issued for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, such sanitary sewerage system to consist of a network of collecting sanitary sewers, necessary manholes with frames and covers, complete with connections, wiring, controls, piping and appurtenances necessary and incident thereto and including the acquisition of necessary lands, easements, and rights of way all in accordance with the plans therefor, heretofore approved by the Board of Trustees of said District.

Section 2. That in order to raise the sum of $42,000 currently needed for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, there be borrowed by, for and on behalf of Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, the sum of $42,000 and to evidence said loan negotiable coupon bonds of said District be issued. Said bonds shall be designated "Sanitary Sewer System Bonds," be dated September 1, 1966, be numbered from 1 to 42, inclusive, be of the denomination of $1,000 each and mature serially $2,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1970 to 1975, inclusive, $3,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1976 to 1981, inclusive, and $4,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1982 to 1984, inclusive, and shall bear intrest from date until paid at the rate of four and sixty-hundredths per cent (4.60%) per annum, payable on December 1, 1967, and semiannually thereafter on the first days of June and December in each year, which said interest payments to date of maturity of principal shall be evidenced by proper interest coupons attached to each bond and maturing on the dates herein provided, and both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at First National Bank of Mt. Prospect, Mt. Prospect, Illinois. The seal of said District shall be affixed to each of said bonds and said bonds shall be signed by the members of the Board of Trustees of said District, and said coupons shall be signed by said members of the Board of Trustees by their respective facsimile signatures, and said members, by the execution of said bonds, shall adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons.

Section 3. That the bonds hereby authorized shall be payable to bearer, provided, however, that such bonds may be subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder on the books of the Treasurer of said District, such registration to be evidenced by notation of said Treasurer upon the back of such bonds so registered. No bond so registered shall be subject to transfer except upon such books and similarly noted on the back thereof unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Such registration of any of said bonds shall not, however, affect the negotiability of the coupons attached to said bonds, but such coupons shall continue transferable by delivery merely.

Section 4. That each of said bonds and the interest coupons to be thereto attached shall be in substantially the following form:

(Form of Bond)
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
STATE OF ILLINOIS COUNTY OF COOK
PROSPECT HEIGHTS SANITARY DISTRICT
SANITARY SEWER SYSTEM BOND

No. $1,000

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS that Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, hereby acknowledges itself to owe, and for value received promises to pay to bearer, or if this bond be registered, then to the registered holder hereof, the sum of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($1,000) on the first day of December, 19....., together with interest on said sum from the date hereof until paid at the rate of four and sixty-hundredths per cent (4.60%) per annum, payable on December 1, 1967, and semiannually thereafter on the first days of June and December in each year, upon presentation and surrender of the respective interest coupons hereto attached as they severally become due and payable.

Both principal and interest are hereby made payable in lawful money of the United States of America at First National Bank of Mount Prospect, Mount Prospect, Illinois.

For the prompt payment of this bond, both principal and interest, as aforesaid, at maturity, and the levy of taxes sufficient for that purpose, the full faith, credit and resources of said Sanitary District are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is one of a series of bonds issued by said Sanitary District for the purpose of providing funds to pay a part of the cost of constructing a complete sanitary sewerage system to serve the needs of the inhabitants of said District, such sanitary sewerage system to consist of a network of collecting sanitary sewers, necessary manholes with frames and covers, complete with connections, wiring, controls, piping and appurtenances necessary and incident thereto and including the acquisition of necessary lands, easements and rights of way, pursuant to and in all respects in compliance with the provisions of an Act of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois entitled "An Act to create sanitary districts and to provide for sewage disposal and to provide for the annexation of additional territory to any such district and to authorize sanitary districts to acquire by purchase or construction and upon acquisition to maintain and operate a waterworks or drainage system and to improve and extend the same and issue general obligation bonds, revenue bonds or special assessment bonds to pay the cost thereof which revenue bonds shall be payable solely from the revenues of such waterworks or drainage system and to provide for a method of dissolution of such sanitary districts," approved July 2, 1936, title as amended by act approved August 15, 1963, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto and is authorized by a majority of the voters of said District voting upon the question at an election duly called, noticed, held and canvassed for that purpose in said District, and in compliance with an ordinance duly passed by the Board of Trustees of said District, and published, in all respects, as by law required.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Illinois, to exist or to be done precedent to and in the issuance of this bond, have existed and have been properly done, happened and been performed in regular and due form and time as required by law; that the indebtedness of said Prospect Heights Sanitary District, represented by this bond and the issue of which it forms a part, and including all other indebtedness of said District, howsoever evidenced and incurred, does not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation, and that provision has been made for the collection of a direct annual tax, in addition to all other taxes, on all of the taxable property in said District sufficient to pay the interest hereon as the same falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal hereof at maturity.

This bond is subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder on the books of the Treasurer of said Sanitary District, such registration to be evidenced by notation of such Treasurer on the back hereof, and after such registration no transfer hereof, except upon such books and similarly noted hereon, shall be valid unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Registration hereof shall not affect the negotiability of the coupons hereto attached which shall continue negotiable by delivery merely, notwithstanding registration hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, said Prospect Heights Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, by its Board of Trustees, has caused its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed and this bond to be signed by the members of the Board of Trustees of said District and the coupons hereto attached to be signed by said members by their facsimile signatures, which said members do, by the execution hereof, adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons, all as of the first day of September, 1966.

Ordinance No. 1174

AN ORDINANCE ANNEXING A PORTION OF WEST LINCOLN STREET AND 0.715 ACRES OF LAND COMMENCING AT A POINT 540 FEET EAST OF THE INTERSECTION OF LINCOLN STREET AND BUSSE ROAD TO THE VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT.

WHEREAS, the Municipal Code of 1965 (Section 7-1-10, Chapter 24, Illinois Revised Statutes) provides that territory dedicated for street and highway purposes which is under the jurisdiction of the Highway Department of Cook County, Illinois, or the Elk Grove Township Highway Department, may be annexed to a municipality by ordinance if said street or highway is contiguous to the Village, provided that the same has not been annexed to any other municipality; and

WHEREAS, a certain portion of West Lincoln Road presently lies without any municipality but is contiguous to the corporate limits of the Village of Mount Prospect; and

WHEREAS, a written petition under oath signed by the owner of record of the land and all the electors residing therein, said property hereinafter described, has been filed with the Village Clerk of the Village of Mount Prospect, requesting that said land be annexed to the Village of Mount Prospect; and

WHEREAS, said land is not within the corporate limits of any municipality, but is contiguous to the Village of Mount Prospect; and

WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Mount Prospect, Illinois, find and believe it to be in the best interest of said Village that said land and territory be annexed thereto;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT, ILLINOIS:

SECTION ONE: That all land and territory legally described as follows, to wit:

Lot 5 in Iverdale Estates being a subdivision of part of the South ½ of the Southwest ¼ of the Northwest ¼ of Section 11, Township 41 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Cook County, Illinois, together with the 50 feet lying South of and adjoining said Lot 5.

An accurate map of which territory is attached hereto and made a part hereof by this reference, be, and the same is hereby, annexed to the Village of Mount Prospect, Cook County, Illinois.

SECTION TWO: The Village Clerk of the Village of Mount Prospect is hereby directed to file in the office of the Recorder of Deeds of Cook County, Illinois, a copy of this Ordinance, together with an accurate map of the territory annexed.

SECTION THREE: This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval as provided by law.

AYES: 6.
NAYS: 0.

PASSED this 20th day of September, 1966.

APPROVED this 20th day of September, 1966.

Ordinance No. 875

(AN ORDINANCE INCREASING THE CHARGE FOR REESTABLISHING WATER SERVICE)

WHEREAS, it has come to the attention of the corporate authorities that the present charge of ten dollars ($10.00) for re-establishing water service where the service has been disconnected for failure to pay a delinquent water account is insufficient.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Wheeling, County of Cook, and State of Illinois, as follows:

SECTION A.

That Section 13.04.230 of Chapter 13.04 of Title 13 of the Wheeling Municipal Code be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

13.04.230 Nonpayment. In the event that such bills for water service (including past incurred penalties) are not paid on or before the twentieth day of the month in which the billing was made, a penalty of ten per cent (10 per cent) shall be added, the account shall be termed delinquent, and the following procedure used to collect:

If the delinquent account remains unpaid by the twenty-fifth day of the month in which the billing was made, a delinquent notice shall be mailed. If payment is not received by the fifth day of the month following the month in which the billing was made, water service shall be forthwith discontinued. A service charge of fifteen dollars ($15.00) shall be added to the delinquent account if service has to be re-established. In the event it becomes necessary to re-establish water service to any one building more than once during a twelve (12) month period, an additional penalty in the amount of ten dollars ($10.00) shall be paid. The entire delinquent account, including any penalty and service charge, shall be paid in full before service is re-established.

In the event that payment of a delinquent account is received in the office of the Village Collector without inclusion of the ten per cent (10 per cent) delinquent penalty incurred, a notice shall be mailed to the debtor, stating the amount of penalty incurred and stating that said penalty shall be added to the debtor's water account and included on the next regular billing.

SECTION B.

All ordinances and/or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

SECTION C.

Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of these Sections shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not to exceed $500.00 as provided in Chapter 1.04 of the Wheeling Municipal Code. Each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense.

Peck Heads Forest View Freshmen

By NANCY KURTZ

Earl "Chips" Peck, newly elected president of the freshman class at Forest View High School, when asked how he felt about being a freshman, answered simply: "You have to be a freshman sometime in your life."

Chip, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peck Sr., 4509 Magnolia Drive, Rolling Meadows, is the former president of the Carl Sandburg Junior High School Council. Chip's main reason for wanting the presidency is to do something for his class.

The new vice president is Mike Dorosh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dorosh, 3 W. Orchard Place, Mount Prospect. Mike's goal as vice president is to lead his class.

Mike carries on a family tradition: both his sister Kathi and his brother Bob are active in student government at Forest View.

DEBBIE MEADE looks for experience in her new office of secretary - treasurer. Debbie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meade, 2207 George St., Rolling Meadows, feels "it's (her office) a good opportunity to do something for the freshman class."

Chip, Mike and Debbie head up the 503-member class of 1970. (16Y

Rumsfeld Urges Involvement As the Key to Understanding

By JOE MARQUART

"If people would get more involved, they would better understand present situations," Rep. Donald Rumsfeld of the Illinois 13th district told an assembly of 300 students at the fall Council Workshop held recently at Prospect High.

Discussing the topic of committees, Rumsfeld explained that the majority of Capitol Hill work is done through the committee system.

RUMSFELD, at 34 the youngest GOP member in Congress, went on to explain that there must always be a unified drive if success is to be attained.

He stressed the necessity of full participation and involvement in, not only committee, but also everyday work. He added that an important asset is the ability to translate an idea into action.

After his speech, Rumsfeld conducted a question-and-answer period.

Concerning politics, Rumsfeld stated that one of the main differences between the Republicans and the Democrats is that the former believes in the use of federal power only as a last resort while the latter uses federal power from the start.

The former All-Navy 1956 wrestling champion also said that while the Democrats are a big party, they have only one way to go. Rumsfeld stated that once a party gets big, it gets fat and soon breaks up into smaller dissenting groups.

On the topic of Viet Nam, the congressman said he was dissatisfied with the way the war is going. He stated, "I have been to Viet Nam and the problem is beyond comprehension."

RUMSFELD disagrees with the present military program saying that while it has worked in the past, it is too complex and the war can be expected to last a "long, long time."

In closing, he directed his remarks to student council members, saying that defeat is a common experience and one can only hope to learn from experience. He said, "I remember running for president in my senior year and thoroughly being trounced."

Rumsfeld holds a BA degree from Princeton University in politics, has served three years as a Naval aviator and is presently a second term U.S. representative with 750,000 constituents. (16Y

St. Viator Council Zeroes In On Student-Faculty Relations

by JIM MORAN

The executive board of the St. Viator High School Student Council has set as its major goal for the 1966-67 school year "the improvement of relations between the council, the students and the faculty," according to Ed Erbach, executive president of the Council.

"Aside from that," Ed said, "there is no one specific goal that we are trying to accomplish. We will try to cover all areas of student life and meet the needs of new problems as they arise."

An example of this is the school spirit poster campaign, which the Student Council felt would aid the Pep Club efforts.

WITH ED on the executive board are Pat Zeller, executive vice-president; George Myers, executive secretary, and Dan Miksta, executive treasurer. Ed, Dan, and George are seniors, and Pat is a junior.

Ed also explained that the St. Viator Student Council is run under the committee system. Under this system, there are six committees, each with a function of its own.

"We will do everything in basically the same way we did last year," Ed said. He pointed out that there was one major difference. This year there is no Homecoming Committee. "It will be in the hands of Ray Koss, senior class president, and the other senior officers," Ed said.

Ed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Erbach of 513 S. Main Street in Mount Prospect. George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Myers of 311 S. Patton, Arlington Heights.

Dan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Miksta of 626 S. Kaspar in Arlington Heights, and Pat is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Zeller of 21 N. Kennicott, Arlington Heights.

Forest View Homecoming

A Queen, A Bonfire, A Dance

By BARBARA HAIG

The nomination and crowning of a queen, a mammoth bonfire, a football victory and the most important all-school dance of the year are a few of the many facets of Fall Festival Week at Forest View High School next week.

Preparations for this year's festivities are well under way. They begin early in the week with the sale of Forest View buttons, pennants and mums. The conclusion is the much anticipated dance.

On Wednesday the Fall Festival Queen Presentation Assembly will be held. This is when the candidates nominated by the senior class are officially introduced to the student body.

BART TARMAN, senior class president, is chairman for this year's Fall Festival activities.

Bart commented that this year's presentation assembly will be different from any other in the past and will be presented in a more entertaining fashion.

Friday is Color Day, the day when every student is urged to show his school spirit by wearing black and gold, Forest View's colors.

To many, the highlight of the entire week is the crowning of the Queen. Mrs. Pat Kopp and the cheerleaders are in charge of the coronation.

Friday night there will be a rally with a display of fireworks in the stadium. After the rally, there will be a bonfire. The evening will conclude with a mixer.

SATURDAY'S football game is against Palatine.

Invited to Forest View's festivities is Mary Lee Inzerello, Forest View graduate and this year's Miss Illinois.

The Queen and her court will reign over the game and be the center of the half-time activities.

Completing the week will be the dance sponsored by the Lettermen's Club. (16Y

Debaters to tackle Foreign Aid

Forest View High School's all-junior varsity debate team will attend its first tournament Saturday, Oct. 15, at Arlington High School.

The question to be discussed is: Resolved: That the foreign aid program of the United States should be limited to non-military assistance.

REPRESENTING Forest View on the varsity level will be Tim Barth, Kris Knudsen, Nancy Kurtz, and Harriet McKenzie. Kris and Harriet will debate on the affirmative while Tim and Nancy will debate negative.

Arguing on the novice or beginner level will be freshmen Tom Allen, Sue Brown, Joe Conroy, Mark Duncan, Ralph Kloske, Ellen Martin, Joe Roesler, Marg Semple, Joyce Scheller, Janet Schultz, and Sue Yakes and sophomores Marke Barnes, John Hibbert, Scott Marshall, Kat Ogino, Ellen Placek and Tom Red.

Debate coaches this year are Dale Genz, Mrs. Nancy Irvan and Mrs. Joyce Lindmark.

Lake Park High to Present 'Teahouse' As First Play

By MELANIE CARTWRIGHT

Lake Park High School's first play production of the 1966-67 school year will be "Teahouse of the August Moon," written by John Patrick.

Play tryouts were held Sept. 15-20. Presiding over tryouts was Daryl Schultz, junior English teacher, drama instructor and play director.

Schultz announced on Sept. 21 the following cast:

SAKINI, JIM Cooper; Sergeant Greogovitch, John Valle; Col. Wainwright III (Purdy), Bill Ladd; Captain Fisby, Ken Huber; Old Woman, Karen Wisniewski.

Also, Mr. Swmata, Robert Valle; Mr. Seiko, Tom Vermillion; Miss High Jiga, Susan Rossi; Mr. Keora, Eric Lazaroff; Mr. Oshira, Tom Heinrich; Villagers (male), Bob Schulette and Ted Dulgosz.

Also, Ladies' League for Democratic Action: Diane Frybarger, Linda Harold, Linda Wronski, Christine Rusteberg, Linda LaBelle, Kathy Cain, and Carla DuBois; Lotus Blossom, Mary Laraia; Captain McLean, Terry Haas.

Technical director will be Robert Hodge, art teacher. State manager will be Gail Siegerdo.

ALSO ADDING excitement to the production is the fact that this is Schultz' first year of play directing at Lake Park.

Previously he had directed at Washington, Iowa, for six years and Forest View High School for one year. He has also done some directing in community and university theaters.

Schultz commented that he was "particularly pleased with the play selection" and that he feels it is "a good play because it presents a profound message and does so in a delightful, humorous way."

He also feels it is a "time right" play because it has the feeling of "brotherhood" and "the bringing of people together."

Play rehearsals are now in session and technical crews are being formed.

The play opens Friday, Nov. 4 and also will be presented on Saturday, November 5. The time is 8 p.m. in the Lake Park High School auditorium.

IN THE MATTER OF THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENT TO PAY THE COST OF PAVING AND OTHERWISE IMPROVING RIDGE AVENUE AND OTHER STREETS IN THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS)

Notice

IN THE MATTER OF THE PETITION OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS to ascertain the just compensation for private property taken or damaged to pay the cost of paving and otherwise improving Ridge Avenue and other streets in the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Illinois, as hereinafter described and what property will be benefited by such improvement and the amount thereof.

It appearing in this cause and the files herein, and the affidavit of ownership filed therein on the 16th day of September, 1966, that there are certain defendants designated as "ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN," who upon diligent search cannot be found so that personal service of process cannot be had on said persons.

Notice is hereby given to said defendants designated as "ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN" and to all other persons and parties named in the report and assessment roll of the Commissioners filed in this cause in this Court against whose property benefits have been assessed therein, to pay the cost of the improvement hereinafter described; that on the 15th day of August, 1966, said Village of Arlington Heights filed its petition in said Circuit Court of Cook County, praying that steps be taken to ascertain the just compensation to be made for private property to be taken or damaged for the improvement known as "IN THE MATTER OF THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENT TO PAY THE COST OF PAVING AND OTHERWISE IMPROVING RIDGE AVENUE AND OTHER STREETS IN THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS" and to ascertain what property will be benefited by such improvement and the amount of such benefit, and to levy a special assessment upon all the property benefited by said improvement to pay the cost of said improvement in accordance with the terms and provisions of said ordinance and in the manner provided by law; that the summons in said cause is made returnable on the 24th day of October, 1966, to said Circuit Court, County Department, County Division, to be held in the Civic Center in the City of Chicago, County of Cook, and State of Illinois, and that the pieces and parcels of property sought to be taken for said improvement are described as follows, to-wit:

The east twenty (20) feet of the West forty (40) feet of Lot 3 in Block 10 of S. F. Miner's Addition to Dunton in Section 30, Township 42 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian, Cook County, Illinois.

That the total cost of the said improvement as shown by the estimate and report herein, is the sum of $41,886.43, that a special assessment has been made to raise the cost of said improvement, and that the Commissioner's Report and Assessment Roll therefor was filed in the office of the Clerk of said Circuit Court, County Department, County Division of the said Cook County in the Civic Center, in the City of Chicago, County of Cook, and State of Illinois, on the 16th day of September, 1966, and the said proceedings therein are now pending.

You are hereby notified that the summons in the said cause is made returnable to the 24th day of October, 1966, of the said Circuit Court, County Department, County Division, to be held in the said Civic Center of the City of Chicago, when and where you may appear and defend if you see fit to so do.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS CONDEMNATION

Special Assessment Notice

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the President and Board of Trustees of the VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Illinois have ordered the levying of a special assessment to pay the cost of paving and otherwise improving Ridge Avenue and other streets in the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Illinois.

The Ordinance for the said improvement is on file in the office of the Village Clerk at the Village Hall in the VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS. The VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS has applied to the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois for the levying of the special assessment to pay the cost of the said improvement according to the benefits, and the assessment therefor having been made and returned to the Circuit Court of Cook County, County Department, County Division, as Case No. 66 Co 1633.

The final hearing will be had on the 24th day of October, 1966 at the opening of Court, or as soon thereafter as the business of the Court will permit, in accordance with the order of the Circuit Court of Cook County.

All persons desiring may file objections in the said Court before the said day and may appear on said hearing and make defense.

Said Ordinance provides for the collection of said assessment in ten (10) installments, with interest thereon at six per cent (6 per cent) per annum.

DATED at Arlington Heights, Illinois, this 29th day of September, 1966.

Peck Heads Forest View Freshmen

By NANCY KURTZ

Earl "Chips" Peck, newly elected president of the freshman class at Forest View High School, when asked how he felt about being a freshman, answered simply: "You have to be a freshman sometime in your life."

Chip, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peck Sr., 4509 Magnolia Drive, Rolling Meadows, is the former president of the Carl Sandburg Junior High School Council. Chip's main reason for wanting the presidency is to do something for his class.

The new vice president is Mike Dorosh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dorosh, 3 W. Orchard Place, Mount Prospect. Mike's goal as vice president is to lead his class.

Mike carries on a family tradition: both his sister Kathi and his brother Bob are active in student government at Forest View.

DEBBIE MEADE looks for experience in her new office of secretary - treasurer. Debbie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meade, 2207 George St., Rolling Meadows, feels "it's (her office) a good opportunity to do something for the freshman class."

Chip, Mike and Debbie head up the 503-member class of 1970. (16Y

Rumsfeld Urges Involvement As the Key to Understanding

By JOE MARQUART

"If people would get more involved, they would better understand present situations," Rep. Donald Rumsfeld of the Illinois 13th district told an assembly of 300 students at the fall Council Workshop held recently at Prospect High.

Discussing the topic of committees, Rumsfeld explained that the majority of Capitol Hill work is done through the committee system.

RUMSFELD, at 34 the youngest GOP member in Congress, went on to explain that there must always be a unified drive if success is to be attained.

He stressed the necessity of full participation and involvement in, not only committee, but also everyday work. He added that an important asset is the ability to translate an idea into action.

After his speech, Rumsfeld conducted a question-and-answer period.

Concerning politics, Rumsfeld stated that one of the main differences between the Republicans and the Democrats is that the former believes in the use of federal power only as a last resort while the latter uses federal power from the start.

The former All-Navy 1956 wrestling champion also said that while the Democrats are a big party, they have only one way to go. Rumsfeld stated that once a party gets big, it gets fat and soon breaks up into smaller dissenting groups.

On the topic of Viet Nam, the congressman said he was dissatisfied with the way the war is going. He stated, "I have been to Viet Nam and the problem is beyond comprehension."

RUMSFELD disagrees with the present military program saying that while it has worked in the past, it is too complex and the war can be expected to last a "long, long time."

In closing, he directed his remarks to student council members, saying that defeat is a common experience and one can only hope to learn from experience. He said, "I remember running for president in my senior year and thoroughly being trounced."

Rumsfeld holds a BA degree from Princeton University in politics, has served three years as a Naval aviator and is presently a second term U.S. representative with 750,000 constituents. (16Y

St. Viator Council Zeroes In On Student-Faculty Relations

by JIM MORAN

The executive board of the St. Viator High School Student Council has set as its major goal for the 1966-67 school year "the improvement of relations between the council, the students and the faculty," according to Ed Erbach, executive president of the Council.

"Aside from that," Ed said, "there is no one specific goal that we are trying to accomplish. We will try to cover all areas of student life and meet the needs of new problems as they arise."

An example of this is the school spirit poster campaign, which the Student Council felt would aid the Pep Club efforts.

WITH ED on the executive board are Pat Zeller, executive vice-president; George Myers, executive secretary, and Dan Miksta, executive treasurer. Ed, Dan, and George are seniors, and Pat is a junior.

Ed also explained that the St. Viator Student Council is run under the committee system. Under this system, there are six committees, each with a function of its own.

"We will do everything in basically the same way we did last year," Ed said. He pointed out that there was one major difference. This year there is no Homecoming Committee. "It will be in the hands of Ray Koss, senior class president, and the other senior officers," Ed said.

Ed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Erbach of 513 S. Main Street in Mount Prospect. George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Myers of 311 S. Patton, Arlington Heights. Dan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Miksta of 626 S. Kaspar in Arlington Heights, and Pat is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Zeller of 21 N. Kennicott, Arlington Heights.

Forest View Homecoming

A Queen, A Bonfire, A Dance

By BARBARA HAIG

The nomination and crowning of a queen, a mammoth bonfire, a football victory and the most important all-school dance of the year are a few of the many facets of Fall Festival Week at Forest View High School next week.

Preparations for this year's festivities are well under way. They begin early in the week with the sale of Forest View buttons, pennants and mums. The conclusion is the much anticipated dance.

On Wednesday the Fall Festival Queen Presentation Assembly will be held. This is when the candidates nominated by the senior class are officially introduced to the student body.

BART TARMAN, senior class president, is chairman for this year's Fall Festival activities.

Bart commented that this year's presentation assembly will be different from any other in the past and will be presented in a more entertaining fashion.

Friday is Color Day, the day when every student is urged to show his school spirit by wearing black and gold, Forest View's colors.

To many, the highlight of the entire week is the crowning of the Queen. Mrs. Pat Kopp and the cheerleaders are in charge of the coronation.

Friday night there will be a rally with a display of fireworks in the stadium. After the rally, there will be a bonfire. The evening will conclude with a mixer.

SATURDAY'S football game is against Palatine.

Invited to Forest View's festivities is Mary Lee Inzerello, Forest View graduate and this year's Miss Illinois.

The Queen and her court will reign over the game and be the center of the half-time activities.

Completing the week will be the dance sponsored by the Lettermen's Club. (16Y

Debaters to tackle Foreign Aid

Forest View High School's all-junior varsity debate team will attend its first tournament Saturday, Oct. 15, at Arlington High School.

The question to be discussed is: Resolved: That the foreign aid program of the United States should be limited to non-military assistance.

REPRESENTING Forest View on the varsity level will be Tim Barth, Kris Knudsen, Nancy Kurtz, and Harriet McKenzie. Kris and Harriet will debate on the affirmative while Tim and Nancy will debate negative.

Arguing on the novice or beginner level will be freshmen Tom Allen, Sue Brown, Joe Conroy, Mark Duncan, Ralph Kloske, Ellen Martin, Joe Roesler, Marg Semple, Joyce Scheller, Janet Schultz, and Sue Yakes and sophomores Marke Barnes, John Hibbert, Scott Marshall, Kat Ogino, Ellen Placek and Tom Red.

Debate coaches this year are Dale Genz, Mrs. Nancy Irvan and Mrs. Joyce Lindmark.

Lake Park High to Present 'Teahouse' As First Play

By MELANIE CARTWRIGHT

Lake Park High School's first play production of the 1966-67 school year will be "Teahouse of the August Moon," written by John Patrick.

Play tryouts were held Sept. 15-20. Presiding over tryouts was Daryl Schultz, junior English teacher, drama instructor and play director.

Schultz announced on Sept. 21 the following cast:

SAKINI, JIM Cooper; Sergeant Greogovitch, John Valle; Col. Wainwright III (Purdy), Bill Ladd; Captain Fisby, Ken Huber; Old Woman, Karen Wisniewski.

Also, Mr. Swmata, Robert Valle; Mr. Seiko, Tom Vermillion; Miss High Jiga, Susan Rossi; Mr. Keora, Eric Lazaroff; Mr. Oshira, Tom Heinrich; Villagers (male), Bob Schulette and Ted Dulgosz.

Also, Ladies' League for Democratic Action: Diane Frybarger, Linda Harold, Linda Wronski, Christine Rusteberg, Linda LaBelle, Kathy Cain, and Carla DuBois; Lotus Blossom, Mary Laraia; Captain McLean, Terry Haas.

Technical director will be Robert Hodge, art teacher. State manager will be Gail Siegerdo.

ALSO ADDING excitement to the production is the fact that this is Schultz' first year of play directing at Lake Park.

Previously he had directed at Washington, Iowa, for six years and Forest View High School for one year. He has also done some directing in community and university theaters.

Schultz commented that he was "particularly pleased with the play selection" and that he feels it is "a good play because it presents a profound message and does so in a delightful, humorous way."

He also feels it is a "time right" play because it has the feeling of "brotherhood" and "the bringing of people together."

Play rehearsals are now in session and technical crews are being formed.

The play opens Friday, Nov. 4 and also will be presented on Saturday, November 5. The time is 8 p.m. in the Lake Park High School auditorium.

UNITED AIR LINES

has immediate career opportunities available at

O'HARE INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT for Flight Line Servicemen

As a member of our flight line team at O'Hare Airport, you would be responsible for servicing the big jets, driving various ground service vehicles or JETWAYS, or handling many other varied and interesting flight line assignments. You'll enjoy a steady secure job with a fine opportunity for advancement. As we grow, so will you—in responsibility, salary and job satisfaction.

START AT $2.73 PER HOUR,
WITH PROGRESSIVE EARNINGS UP TO $3.32 PER HOUR
Enjoy many unique fringe benefits such as:

- Free air travel privileges for you and your family. (After one year, you get four free trip passes to any city we serve, from coast to coast, plus greatly-reduced rates on international airlines!) You'll also have half-fare privileges on any United flight from the day you start.
- Two weeks' paid vacation after one year. Save vacation travel expenses with your free vacation air travel pass, good for you and your family, including your parents.
- Company-paid life insurance; paid health insurance for you and substantial reductions on health insurance for your family.
- Eight paid holidays a year.
- 40-hour week, with shift bonuses and rotating days off.
- Excellent retirement plan.
- Liberal paid sick leave.
- Employee stock purchase plan and credit union.

Apply in person at United Air Lines Employment Office, O'Hare Airport (use airport entrance on Mt. Prospect Road, just south of Touhy Avenue).

Personal interview hours
Monday through Friday 8:30 a.m. to 12 Noon

FAMILY POT LUCK

BY HELEN HALE

Little Flavor Tricks

Have you ever tried Chicken a la King with toasted slivered almonds mixed in it? This gives both texture and style.

Relish biscuits will intrigue family or guests. Add to 2 cups of biscuit mix (before the milk) 2 tablespoons shredded raw carrots, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper and the same amount of chopped parsley. Use the same amount of milk. Bake in a hot (425°F.) about 10 minutes.

Like a good sauce for sliced ham? Combine 1 cup applesauce 1/2 cup chopped raisins, 1/3 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons honey and cinnamon and nutmeg to taste. Spread on ham slices before baking.

Give hot breads a flair by adding 1 cup grated cheese to your usual batch of oatmeal muffins or popovers.

French or mayonnaise dressing may be mixed with crumbled blue cheese for variety. If desired, add also some grated onion, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice or garlic salt.

Toss day-old bread cubes in garlic seasoned butter, then sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Toast lightly. Float on soup.

Helen's Favorite:
Patrician Potatoes
(6 servings)

2	cups creamed cottage cheese
2	cups thick, unseasoned hot mashed potatoes
1½	teaspoons unseasoned salt
¼	cup butter, melted
¼	cup chopped, toasted almonds

Blend or whip cottage cheese until smooth. Combine with potatoes, salt and 2 tablespoons butter. Turn into a shallow 1½-quart casserole. Drizzle with remaining butter. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven. Sprinkle with almonds 5 minutes before end of 20-minute baking time.

FAMILY POT LUCK

BY HELEN HALE

Little Flavor Tricks

Have you ever tried Chicken a la King with toasted slivered almonds mixed in it? This gives both texture and style.

Relish biscuits will intrigue family or guests. Add to 2 cups of biscuit mix (before the milk) 2 tablespoons shredded raw carrots, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper and the same amount of chopped parsley. Use the same amount of milk. Bake in a hot (425°F.) about 10 minutes.

Like a good sauce for sliced ham? Combine 1 cup applesauce 1/2 cup chopped raisins, 1/3 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons honey and cinnamon and nutmeg to taste. Spread on ham slices before baking.

Give hot breads a flair by adding 1 cup grated cheese to your usual batch of oatmeal muffins or popovers.

French or mayonnaise dressing may be mixed with crumbled blue cheese for variety. If desired, add also some grated onion, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice or garlic salt.

Toss day-old bread cubes in garlic seasoned butter, then sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Toast lightly. Float on soup.

Helen's Favorite:
Patrician Potatoes
(6 servings)

2	cups creamed cottage cheese
2	cups thick, unseasoned hot mashed potatoes
1½	teaspoons unseasoned salt
¼	cup butter, melted
¼	cup chopped, toasted almonds

Blend or whip cottage cheese until smooth. Combine with potatoes, salt and 2 tablespoons butter. Turn into a shallow 1½-quart casserole. Drizzle with remaining butter. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven. Sprinkle with almonds 5 minutes before end of 20-minute baking time.

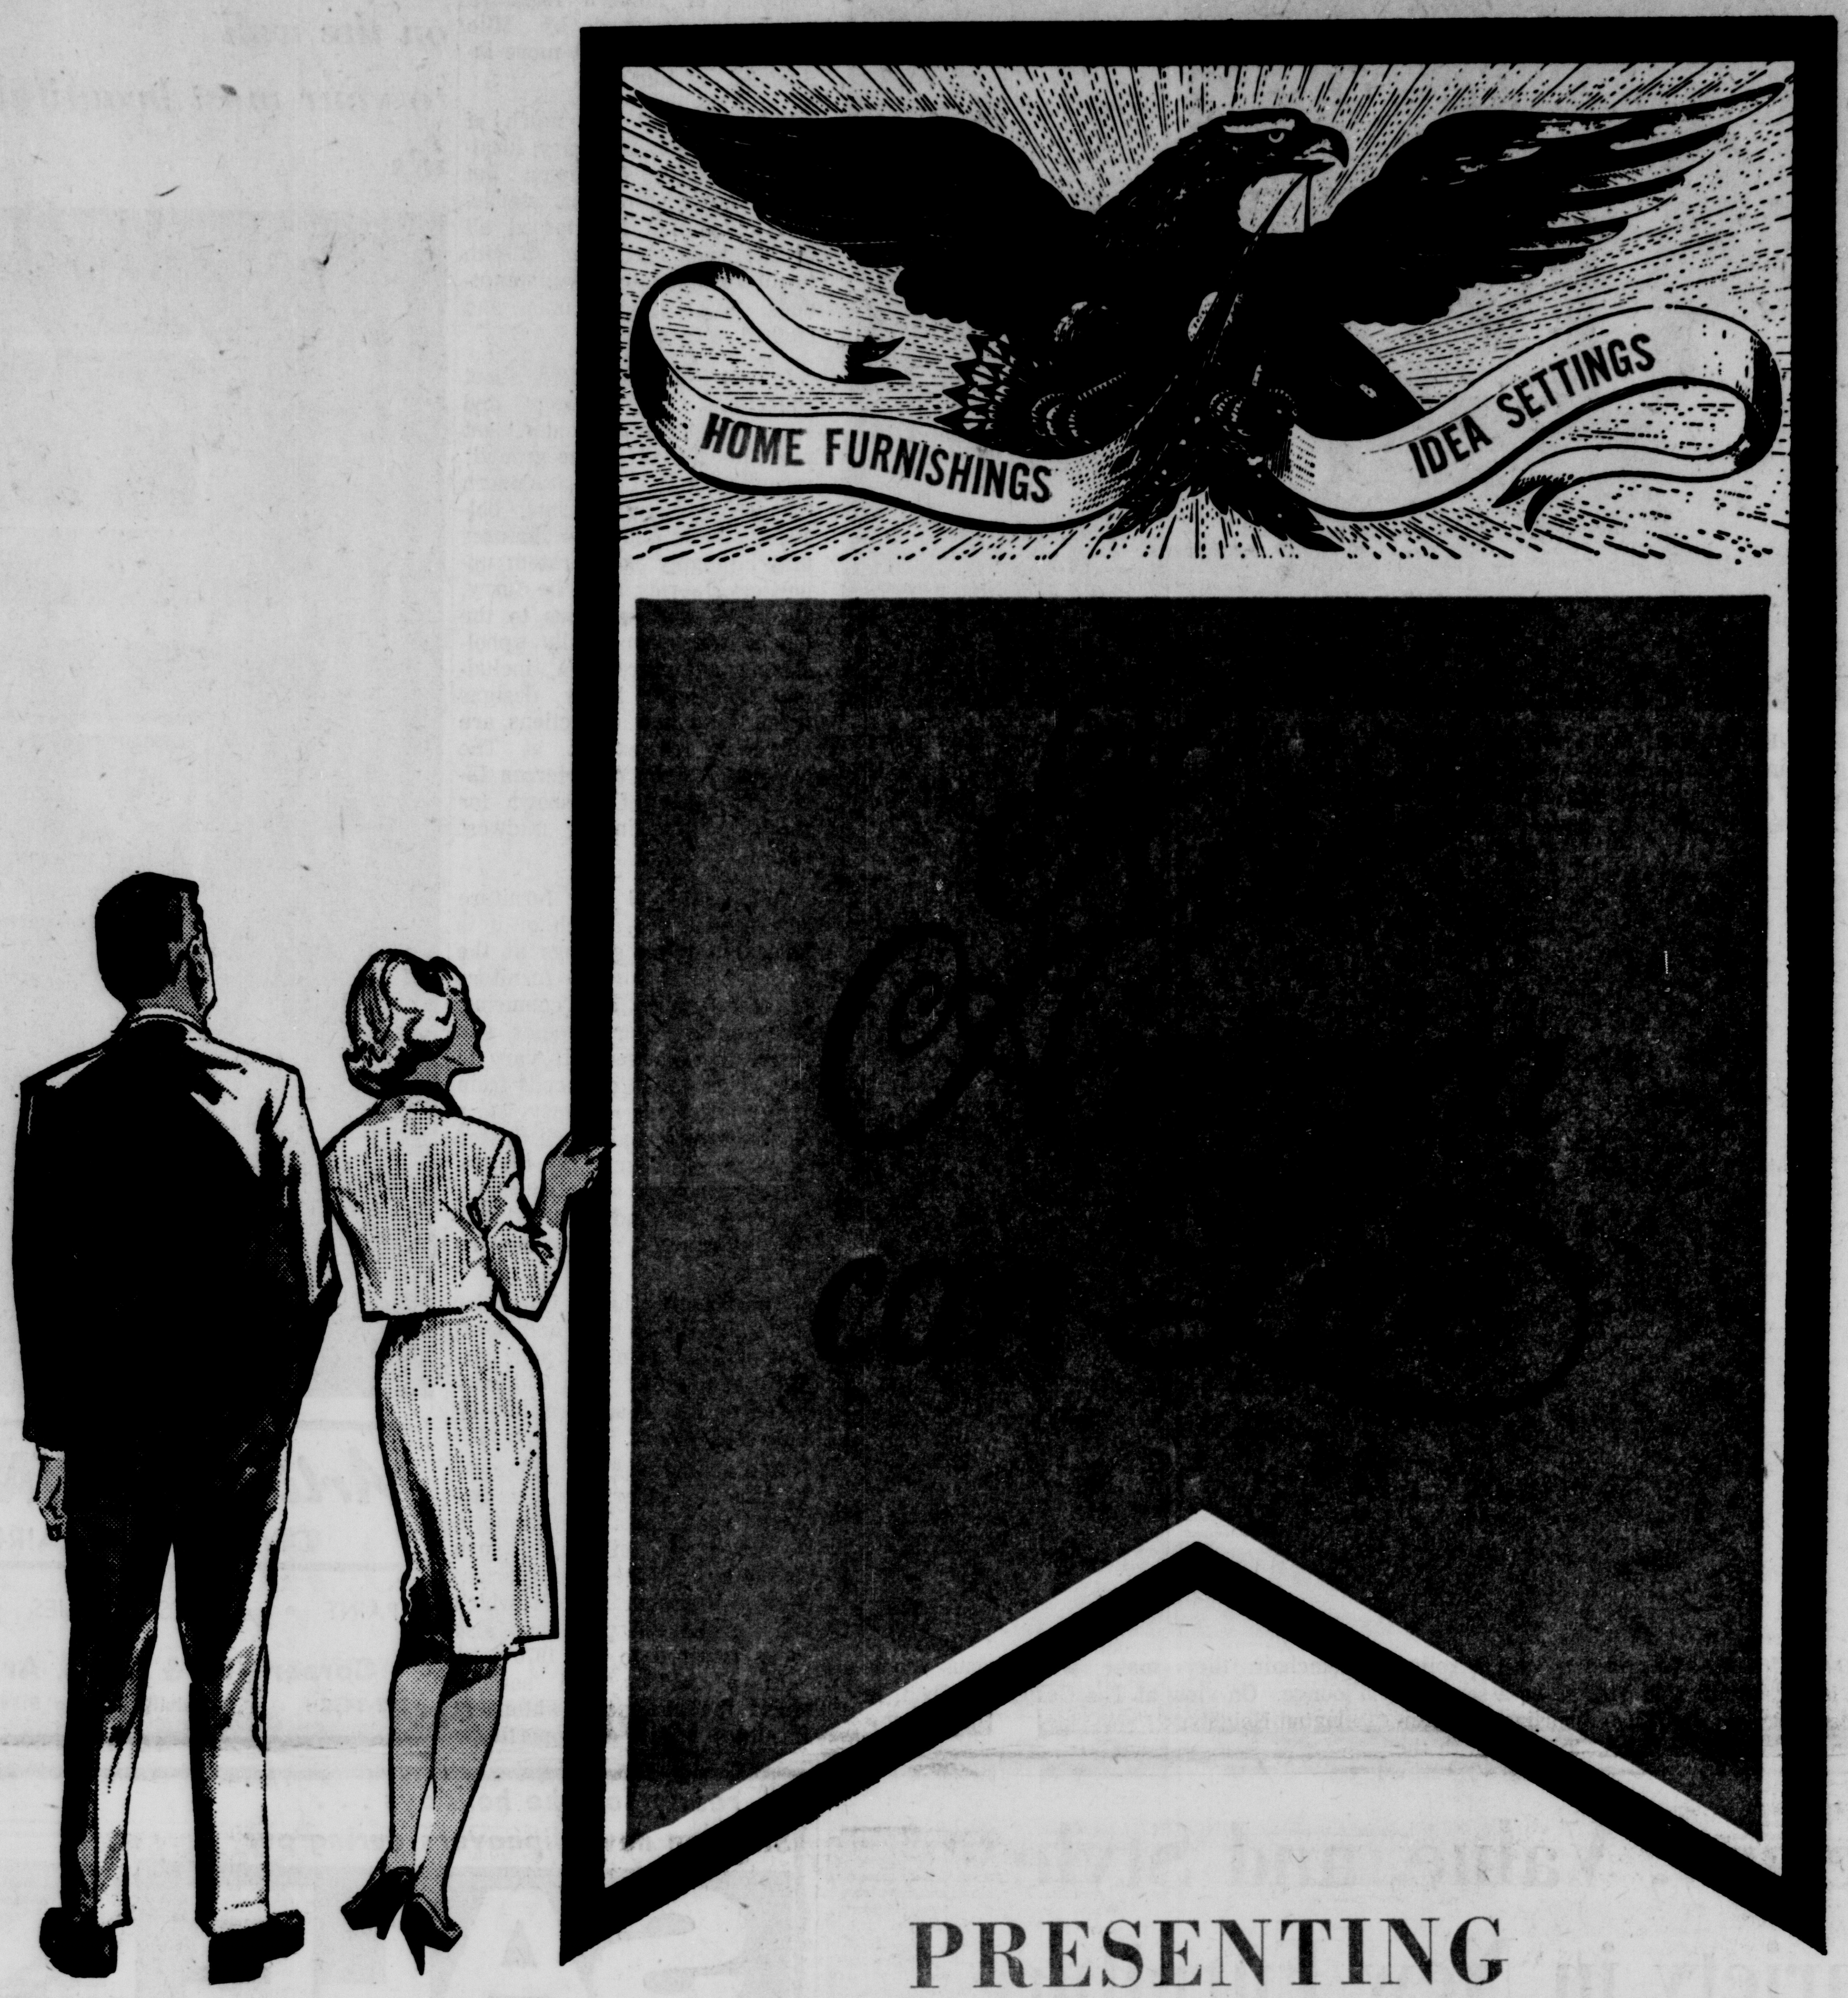
HOME FURNISHINGS IDEA SUPPLEMENT - FALL 1966



PRESENTING

Creative, practical ideas for furnishing your home offered by America's leading manufacturers and your nearby home furnishings dealer.

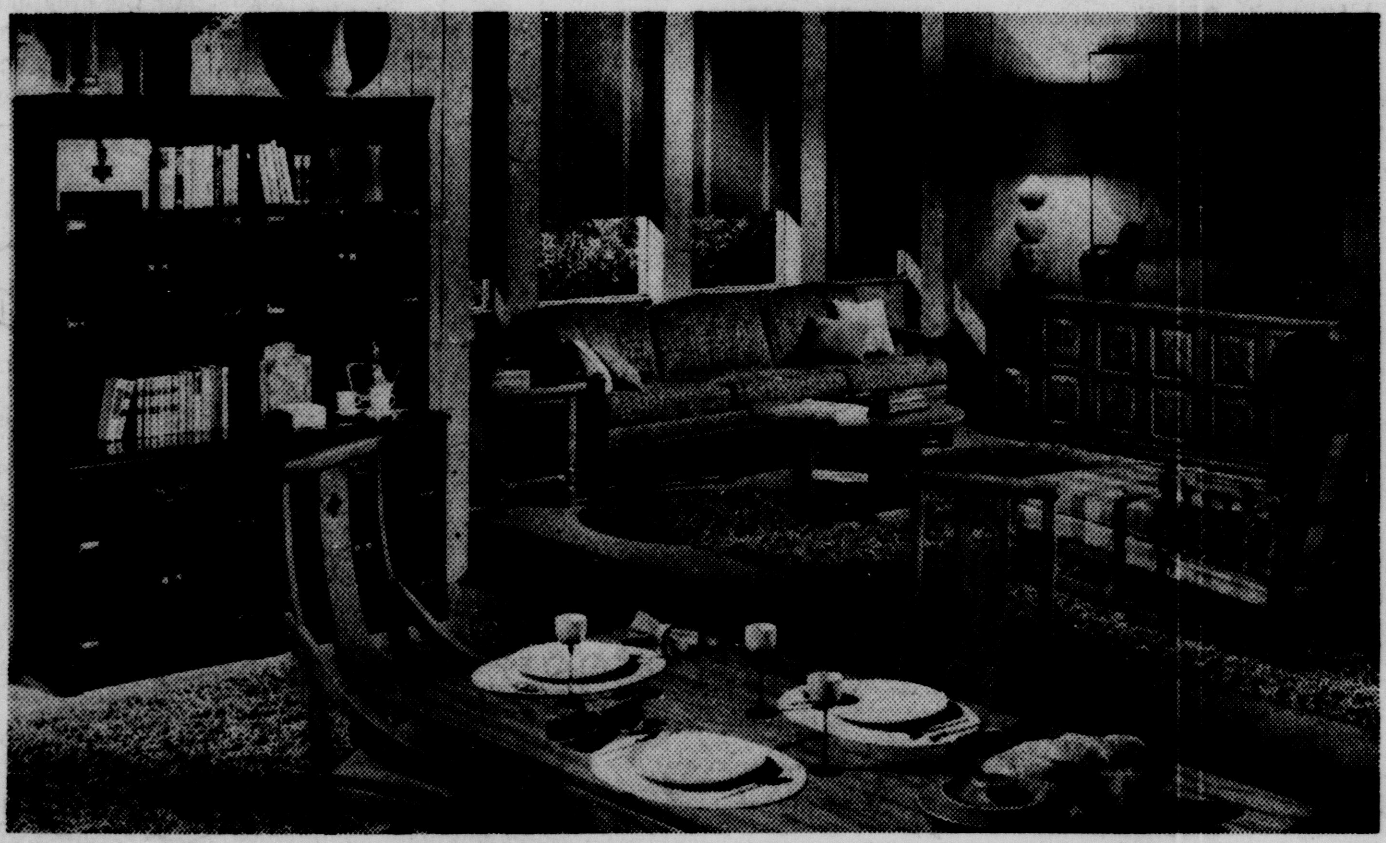
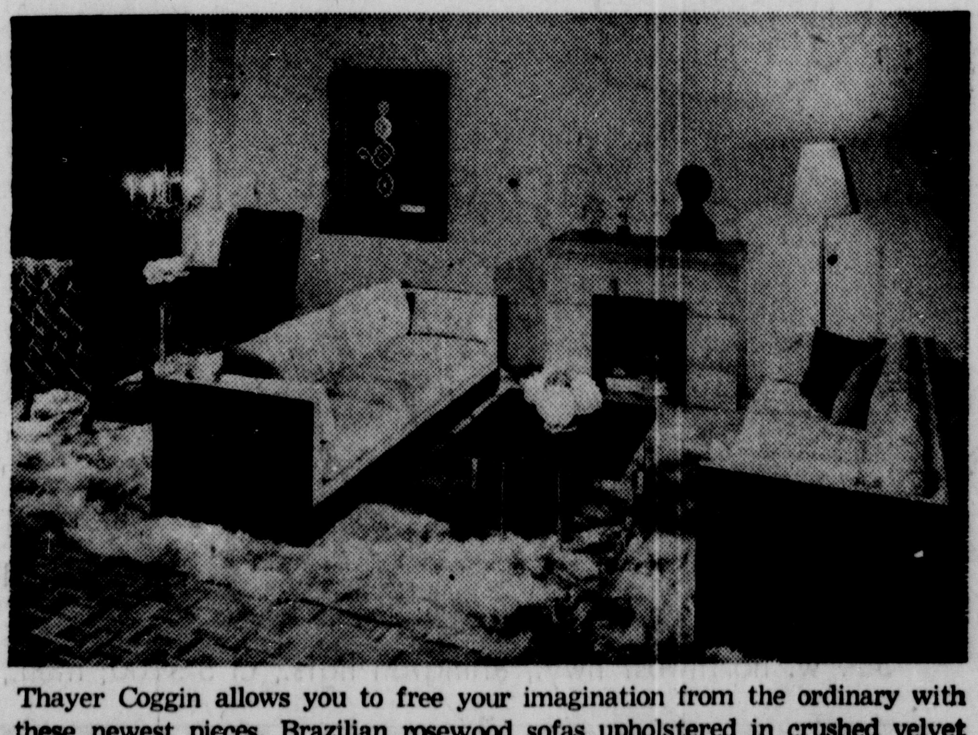
"Would You Believe Op, Pop and Mod?" as the arty combination of accents used by Jan Armstrong A.I.D., to create this whimsical and colorful living room for Flexsteel Industries, Inc. Designed for a lively, young-thinking couple who collect unique accessories, the core of this setting is the contemporary sofa and chairs, which set the color mood in bright shades of red, orange, gold and green. Flexsteel is featured at Arlington Furniture on Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights.



You've never seen anything like Connotation, Drexel's newest grouping, especially created for knowledgeable people with today's far-ranging sense of style. If you want a change from pure traditional or contemporary, Connotation is your answer. This collection is the best of both, crafted of oak veneer with a Brandy or darker Briar finish keynoted by brass hardware accents. All at Schneller Furniture, Arlington Heights.

Elegant styling of fine woods and restrained ornamentation are brought together by American of Martinsville for modern contemporary living. Intaglio is versatile and adaptable to all of today's homes and apartments. Now being shown at Mayfair Interiors, Arlington Heights.

Completely modern and Polynesian are but two of the many designs motifs on display at Northwest Metalcraft, Arlington Heights. These decorative accents add to the many furnishings perfect for casual living both indoors and out.



Thayer Coggin allows you to free your imagination from the ordinary with these newest pieces. Brazilian rosewood sofas upholstered in crushed velvet and chairs with the new upholstered legs give elegance to the contemporary room. Both tables come in a choice of the new "Old English" finish (bronzed look) legs or chrome legs. On display at The Designer's Shop, Arlington Heights.

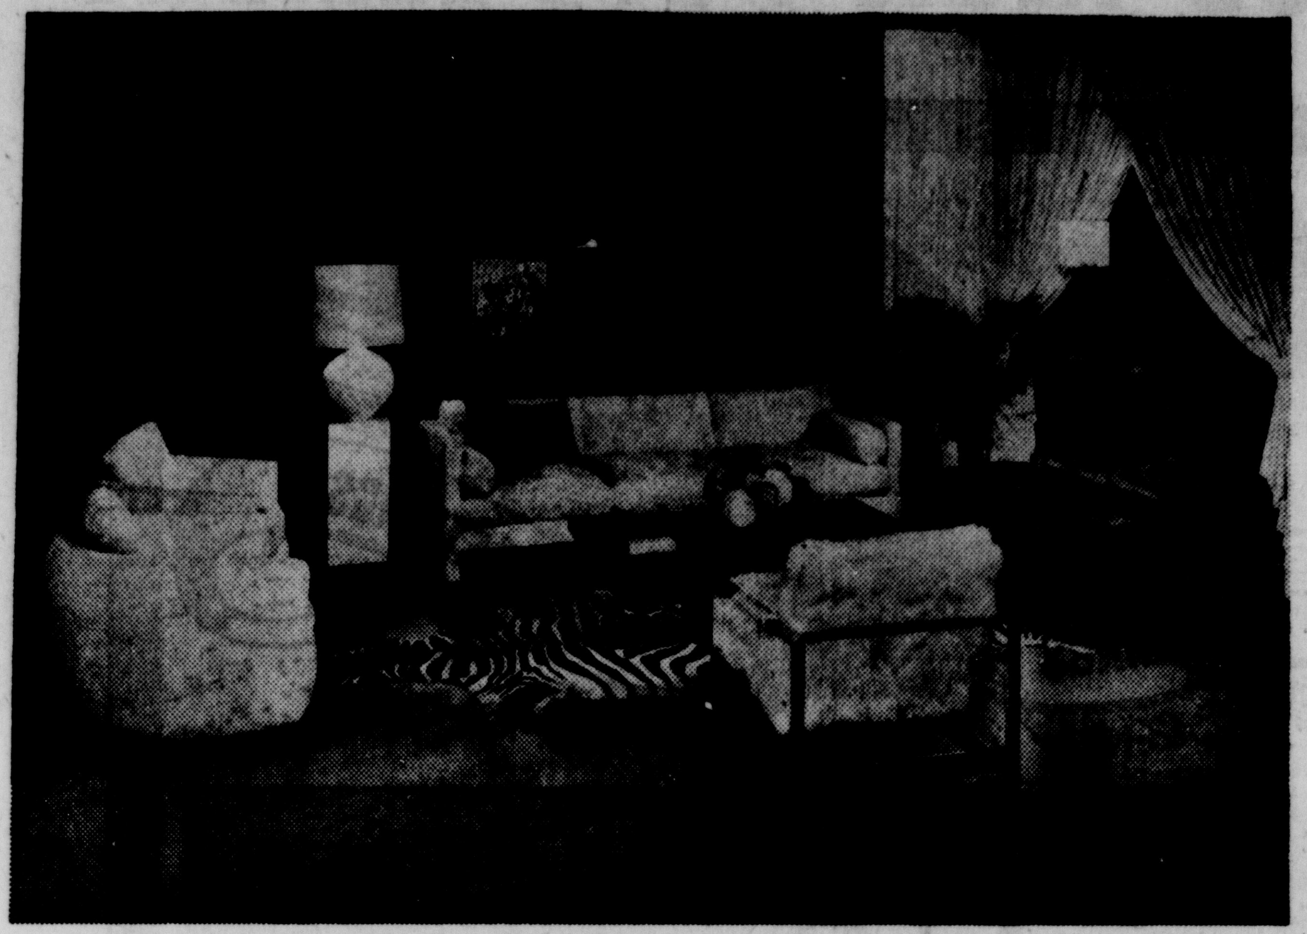
Milo Baughman Designs Bold, Beautiful Modern Furniture



OVERTONES OF THE 1930's are reflected in this grouping of furniture by Milo Baughman. Furry and crushed velvet fabrics made of the new synthetics, low-down deep seating and such exaggerated features as plump pillows and the overstuffed look all contribute to the appeal of this furniture. Seen at The Designer's Shop.

MILO BAUGHMAN'S ottoman with a rolled back is versatile design. It can be a separate lounge chair and is ideal for curling up, leaning on or flopping down on. Teamed with the armchair they make a luxurious chaise lounge. On view at The Designer's Shop, Arlington Heights.

Big . . . bold . . . and beautiful . . . describes a new outcropping of modern furniture which is designed by Milo Baughman (with a lot more influenced by him).

Believing that too much of the recent contemporary furniture has been functional but cold, sophisticated but sterile, Mr. Baughman has tossed all of this aside and come up with furniture that is chunky, sumptuous, massive, romantic and packed with emotion.

In his fabulous talked about collections, New Concept and New Dimensions, a chair seat may literally sit on the ground; rosewood may wrap a modern tuxedo style sofa; arms, bolsters, pillows and other features may be highly exaggerated; upholstery fabrics may be furry, super-soft and sensuous to the touch, and even totally upholstering an entire sofa, including the legs. Many designs from these new collections are currently on exhibit at The Designer's Shop of Petersen Interiors, much of it shown for the first time in the midwest region.

BAUGHMAN'S new furniture mixes well, too. Much of it is shown in room settings at the store, mixed in with furniture of other styles and countries. Accessories, color schemes, and furniture arrangements vary to produce a range of moods from informality and whimsy to a more formal and sophisticated atmosphere. Essentially the designs reflect the sumptuousness, lusury and glamor of the 1930's but interpreted in a modern manner.

The designer has a talent for giving a brand new and fresh look to the familiar and perhaps sometimes even old-fashioned design treatments for upholstered pieces.

And he has added the element of utmost comfort that has appeal for all ages. Furthermore, he takes new materials (such as the new synthetics in fabrics) and gives them a look which may evoke the past, but also looks forward to the 1970's.

In a serious and somber world the designer's whimsical furniture offers an opportunity to create rooms which are comfortable and perhaps "away from it all" with strong overtones of luxury. The furniture is versatile, too, with even modular seating units available which can be easily rearranged to change around a living room in a moment's notice, when guests unexpectedly arrive, for instance. Or there's the ottoman with a rolled arm back which can serve as an extra lounge chair and permit elbow propping and teenage-flopping!

Beauty, Value, and Style Variety in New Furniture

The secret of home fashion and beauty at moderate price seems to have been solved by furniture designers. There is more attractive, relatively inexpensive furniture available this fall than ever before.

Style selection is wide. Furniture stores and departments offer a variety that ranges from traditional to Colonial to contemporary to the "Mediterranean look."

Among the leading new styles are English and Country designs. The Country look partakes of influences from many countries, including France, England and Holland. Basically, this type of furniture is large, with dark woods, and a comfortable, relaxed air not found in more formal styles. Whatever the design, furniture is gracefully proportioned, smartly tailored and solidly constructed, yet is not expensive. Many well-styled sofas, for instance, are available for two hundred dollars or less.

FABRICS ARE an important part of the furniture fashion story for fall. Velvet is everywhere. There are printed velvets, crushed velvets and cut velvets galore.

Other leading choices include floral printed linens, matelasse and wide-wale corduroy.

Comfort is important in all furniture. Seat cushions have become very plump and thick in recent styles, and this has sparked many new cushion designs, with the emphasis on shape-retaining features.

Many of the outsize cushions rely on the use of latex foam rubber, for comfort plus shape. Sometimes as many as five layers of latex foam are used.

In another approach, extra-large cushions are molded from latex foam in a single piece, sometimes as much as seven inches thick. Often, these cushions are wrapped in a layer of synthetic fibers to make them super-plump.

FALL HOME fashion finds woods and finishes getting darker. Appalachian oak, normally seen in tawny honey tones, is now often finished in a fruitwood tone. Other woods, such as ash, pecan, cherry and walnut, maintain popularity.

Often, fall furniture offers features that were unknown a few years ago — with resulting extra value for today's customer. Soil-resistant finishes are common. Some companies offer guarantees on their construction features. And features that were once added-cost options are now standard, in many cases.

One manufacturer, for instance, offers upholstered furniture with custom-fitted arm caps, self-decking, soil resistant finish on the fabric and latex foam cushions — all as standard features.

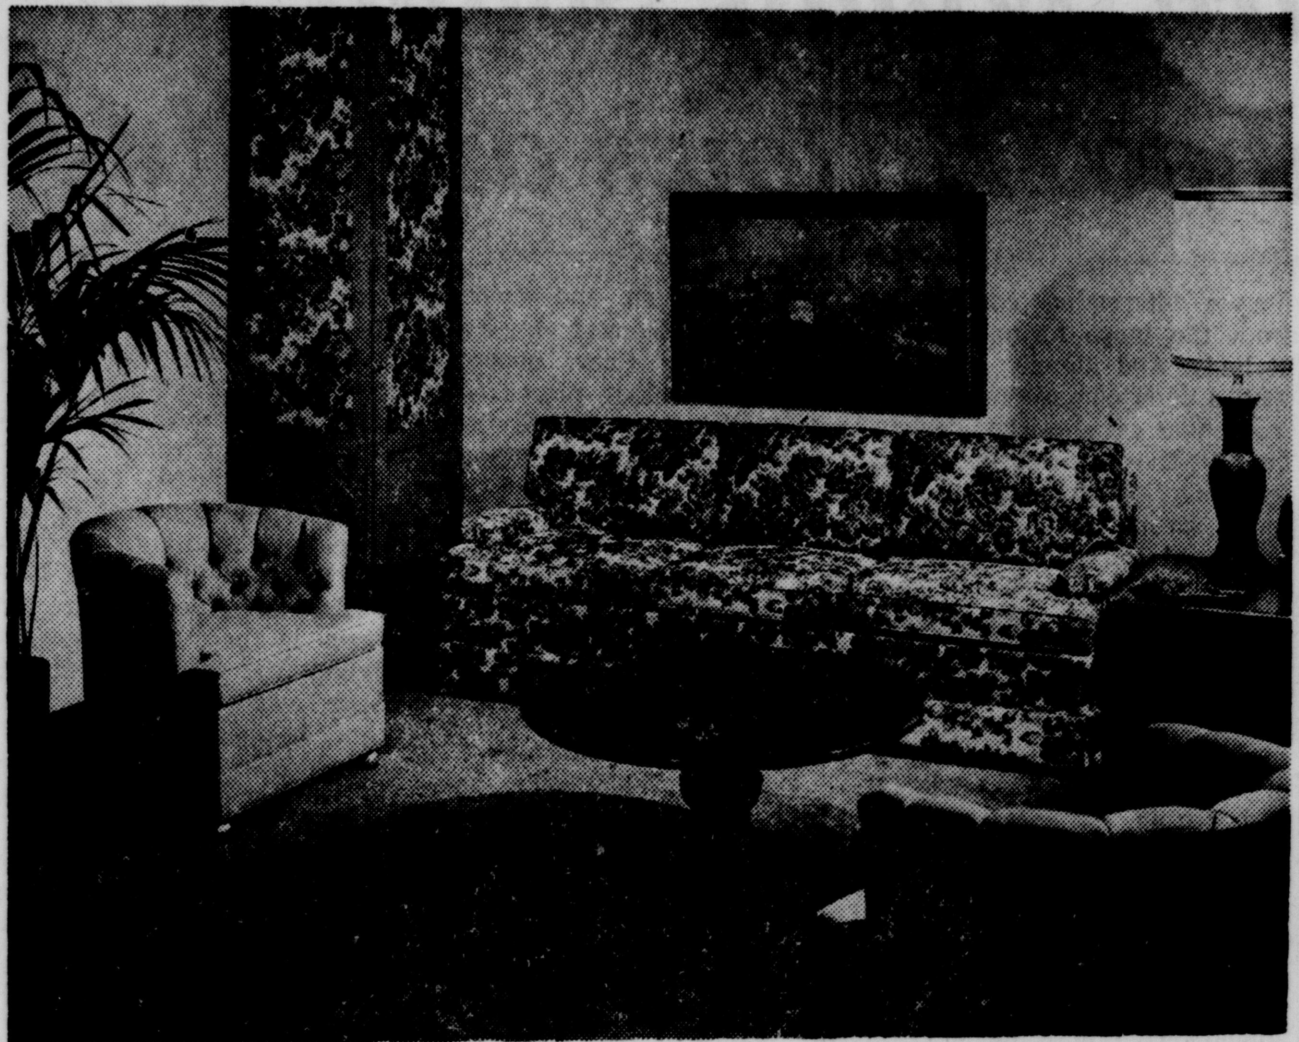
THE ENTRANCE TO THE National Design Center, Marina City, has a modern portico well-lighted from above which forms a protective as well as dramatic entranceway. Exhibits in the center are on three floors connected by both a "floating" stairway and elevators. Beyond the wall (right) is a thousand foot panorama section devoted to outstanding exhibits. The center's conference area seats 500 for seminars, special meetings and lectures. Open free to the public and trade, the center is open daily from 9:30-5, weekends 10:30-5. The Designer's Shop, Arlington Heights is one of the participants in the home furnishings fair open daily to the public through November 12.



A COLORFUL, QUILTED flower print is used for this comfortable sofa, one of the most popular in the Flexsteel line shown at Arlington Furniture, Arlington Heights.

Polish Your Floors the Modern Way

The Hoover Electric Polisher makes floor care easy and gives beautiful floors the modern way. New floors can be protected, older floors can be given new lustre and frequent refinishing can be eliminated.

An electric floor polisher saves time and energy because the polisher does the work more quickly and easily than can be done by hand. It saves money by saving the flooring. If floors are protected by wax, wood floors seldom need costly refinishing and floor coverings last longer because they are more flexible, resilient and water resistant.

THE HOOVER Electric Polisher can scrub floors, remove wax from floors, clean floors without water, wax floors, polish floors, shampoo rugs and polish furniture.

Landwehr TV and Appliances, Arlington Heights, has Hoover polishers and vacuums on display and will be happy to demonstrate the answers to any of your floor care problems.

Home Furnishings Fair Is Now Open

A six-weeks home furnishings fair to run October 1 through November 12 has been announced by the Chicago Retail Furniture Association (CRFA), sponsors of the event.

The fair, which will be free to the public and open daily, will be held at the National Design Center (NDC), Marina City, Chicago. The National Design Center will coordinate the fair.

Members of the CRFA will sponsor 50 room settings and vignettes, which will feature furniture, home furnishings, accessories and interior design ideas. National Design Center exhibitors will cooperate with the retailers in building the vignettes, all of which will be unmanned.

EACH ROOM setting will be titled and will have a credit card listing all products shown. In addition, complete product information and names of stores at which displayed merchandise may be purchased will be available at the NDC information bureau.

Among the highlights of the fair will be the following:

—A six-weeks home furnishings clinic featuring speakers from shelter magazines and furniture industry publications.

—A film festival.

—A series of interior design days conducted by members of the American Institute of Interior Designers and National Society of Interior Designers.

—Special presentations for secondary and vocational school students in home economics and interior design.

—Literature kits for all clinic attendees and persons attending other special events.

The Designers Shop, Arlington Heights, will participate in the fair and have a completely furnished contemporary room on display. (SS

Plants Give Every Home Fresh Look

As "room accessories," living plants add a fresh look to the home. They can even be selected to complement a particular decor!

With clean-lined contemporary furniture, the needed "soft touch" might come from large tropical plants. Or, consider stylized foliage plants, such as palms. Their spiky foliage can highlight unusual furniture shapes.

Large-leafed plants also go well with Country and Mediterranean looks, as do ferns and rubber plants. Fine, too, for these styles are colorful mum plants in their natural clay pots.

Smaller plants complement traditional furniture. The flowering varieties are especially good here.

Furniture Trends Sound Note In Bamboo, Billows and Blue

Bamboo, billows and blue.

That's the big beat this Fall in home furnishings, sampled generously by buyers during last Summer's Semi-Annual International Home Furnishings Market in Chicago.

Bamboo now is used more extensively in furnishings for every room. It may frame a dining room or bedroom piece, a sofa, loveseat or chair, and very often a living room table, writing desk, secretary or curio cabinet.

FOR THOSE (legions) who revel in sensuous comfort, there are irresistible choices of deep cushion-y sofas, loveseats, chairs, ottomans, and chaises. (Ottomans often come oversize for lounging use or as casual, company pull-ups.)

In color, the blues sound a happy note — sometimes lively but not electric, sometimes mid-toned but not muddy, and sometimes soft but not fading into precious baby pastels.

New style interpretations, with Fall home decorating in mind, are led by the now well-accepted Italian, Spanish, Mediterranean, Early American, Modern. French Provincial appears to have interesting competition from the more formal French stylings. And happily for those with a deep commitment to the traditional, there are designs bearing the features of a variety of English sources. The more formal are executed in mahogany or walnut while others, including Jacobean-inspired, use a great deal of oak and pecan.

Seekers of the exotic, whom producers always seem to keep in favor, will find any number of variations on the Oriental style theme. Here, of course, is where bamboo finds its original expression, now being so eagerly borrowed, often simulated.

HOMEMAKERS find Italian styling has a talent for fitting in home decoration with restraint. This may be because it features a minimum of design flourishes, depending chiefly on delicate carvings, floral motifs, slim-line moldings and tapered, fluted legs.

Appeal to pride in heritage and its warm simplicity remain reason enough for the continuing (perennial) popularity of Early American and Colonial furnishings. Stocked everywhere, they make shopping easier and include pieces as a rule not found in other stylings. Current offerings show attempts of designers to refrain from over-styling.

Expect to see an endless choice in massive sofas, often built to the floor. The same is true of chairs. Added feature making big news is a fabric covering — on stretchers, legs, often called the "total look."

Large or regular size, however, seating pieces have in common the soft cushion-y look. Some of the modern ones are more rounded or frankly voluptuous and bring on a bit of nostalgia for the 30's when this style exuded a theatrical air. Shades of Jean Harlow!

The popularity of velvets in upholstery, too, rides a high crest. They abound in plains, cut, striped, crushed, cut and printed. Corduroys and chenilles also are in the forefront.

Inspired by the resurgence of traditional and classic styling are other "dressy" fabrics: silks, satin stipes, damasks, enchanting English prints and delicate chintzes. Stand-bys as linens, rayons, cottons, wools, textures get their new looks through current colors.

COLOR REIGNS confidently as the standard bearer of good decorating. Coming right behind the new first-choice blues in the long parade are the greens in their latest hues, including the soft and muted. These are followed by the orange-to-melon family, with a step-up in apricots. Golds, yellows and bronzes wind up the favored color categories.

Leather and leatherlike coverings have come on strong. You'll see them on modern pieces, for example, then in juxtaposition on a Victorian-influenced loveseat where it is treated to deep tufting on back, arms and seat.

Homemakers can't lose if they choose the fine English Collections currently available. English styling blends so well with Colonial, traditional and most Spanish Designs.

In the latest patterns, you will find plenty of bases clear to the floor, dark oak finishes, generous proportions and heavy hardware to proclaim the country look in both English and Spanish styles.

Pecan wood is probably top log in the furniture industry today, with cherry and oak pushing hard. Finishes are sparkling and clear.

Vartanian Carpet In New Building

Carpets and rugs are almost universally used in homes, institutions, and public buildings today and represent probably about 10 per cent of the total amount spent for home furnishings.

Vartanian Carpet, Inc. has just recently moved into new facilities at 855 W. Northwest Hwy. in Palatine (one block west of Quentins Road) and would welcome the opportunity to serve you.

The new store is over 5,000 square feet and is devoted to helping you see and choose your carpeting and rug needs with ease. Vartanian has been in business for 12 years in the northwest area. They have over 3,000 carpet and rug samples for you to choose from plus a vast selection of roll stock, which enables you to get a good idea of what a given piece of carpet will look like in your own home.

ALSO IN Vartanian's new store is a Gallery of 6' x 9' handmade area and area accent rugs. Of all the ways that you can find to decorate your home, probably none gives you more opportunity to express your own personality than an area rug.

New in every way, the area and area accent rugs in Vartanian's present collection were designed in a glowing spectrum of styles and colors to provide freedom for your imagination and a touch of luxury to your home.

Each of the fashionable patterns was inspired by a time-tested motif and created to "be at home" with a variety of decorative themes. Piles are deep and soft underfoot. The appealing textures and the long wearing qualities of these rugs will bring you lasting delight and satisfaction.

NO MATTER what the style of your home, there is at least one "just-right" rug or style of wall-to-wall carpeting for you at Vartanian Carpet. David and Walter Vartanian have carefully surveyed all of today's important decorating trends and have chosen samples of styles and color combinations to complement them all.

Modern, Colonial, Provincial, Scandinavian, Traditional, Mediterranean — formal or casual, elegant or homespun — you'll find rugs or carpeting that are perfect for your home at Vartanian. (SS

MEDITERRANEAN INFLUENCE gains in popularity this fall, and so do supersize beds. This setting emphasizes both fashion elements and features a self-fringed bedspread in brilliant colors, with silk and velvet pillows. Baldwin Pianos Introduced During 1966 Baldwin Piano & Organ Co. introduced a new series of four 40" Acrosonic vertical pianos. This new series features today's most popular furniture styles.

The Contemporary styling of Style 920 is interpreted in choice walnut veneers with an oiled finish. Straight and simple lines are accented by gentle curves in the caned music deck. Rosewood veneer trim adds sophisticated detailing to this modern look.

The Early American mood is reflected in the clean and graceful lines of Baldwin Style 922. This Colonial style is interpreted in fine cherry veneers with classic cabriole legs and a typical arrow-back design in the music desk.

BALDWIN'S new French Provincial Acrosonic, Style 923, represents graceful elegance with its subtly curving legs and music desk and with the delicate pattern of raised carving and veining. Woven wire grille in the music desk adds to the look of restrained luxury. This traditional cabinetry design is recreated in selected cherry veneers.

Extremely popular today is Spanish-influenced styling in home furniture. In Baldwin's exciting new Mediterranean piano, Style 924, a metal grille music desk, lyre column, and distinctively styled legs recreate this classic elegance. This authentic style is enhanced by the unusual pecan veneers.

The many styles of Baldwin pianos are on view at Roy Baumann Music, 24 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

SOLID PINE is used for this wall cabinet that comes in provincial pine or old country colors. The provincial finish has subdued color accents on the inside of the back in old blue, red or soft green. From Bowen Hardware, Arlington Heights.

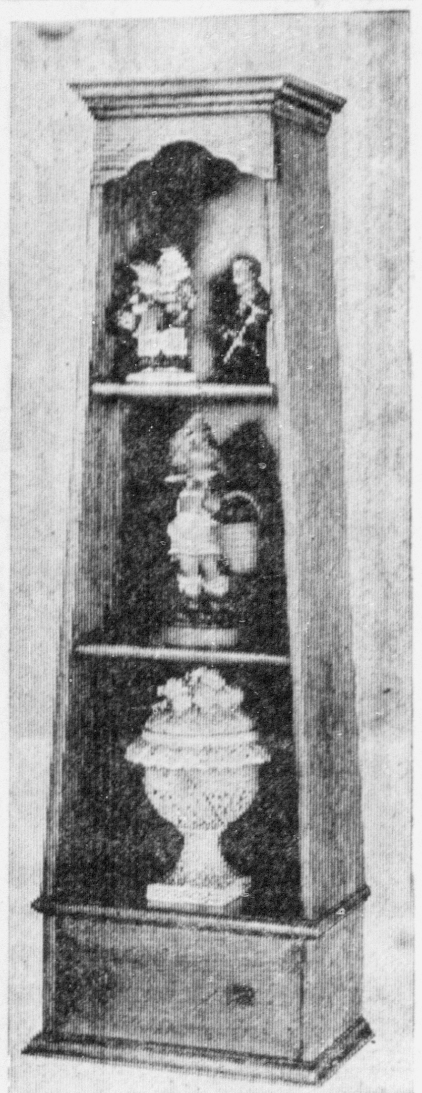
The Contemporary styling of Style 920 is interpreted in choice walnut veneers with an oiled finish. Straight and simple lines are accented by gentle curves in the caned music deck. Rosewood veneer trim adds sophisticated detailing to this modern look.

The Early American mood is reflected in the clean and graceful lines of Baldwin Style 922. This Colonial style is interpreted in fine cherry veneers with classic cabriole legs and a typical arrow-back design in the music desk.

BALDWIN'S new French Provincial Acrosonic, Style 923, represents graceful elegance with its subtly curving legs and music desk and with the delicate pattern of raised carving and veining. Woven wire grille in the music desk adds to the look of restrained luxury. This traditional cabinetry design is recreated in selected cherry veneers.

Extremely popular today is Spanish-influenced styling in home furniture. In Baldwin's exciting new Mediterranean piano, Style 924, a metal grille music desk, lyre column, and distinctively styled legs recreate this classic elegance. This authentic style is enhanced by the unusual pecan veneers.

The many styles of Baldwin pianos are on view at Roy Baumann Music, 24 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.



SOLID PINE is used for this wall cabinet that comes in provincial pine or old country colors. The provincial finish has subdued color accents on the inside of the back in old blue, red or soft green. From Bowen Hardware, Arlington Heights.

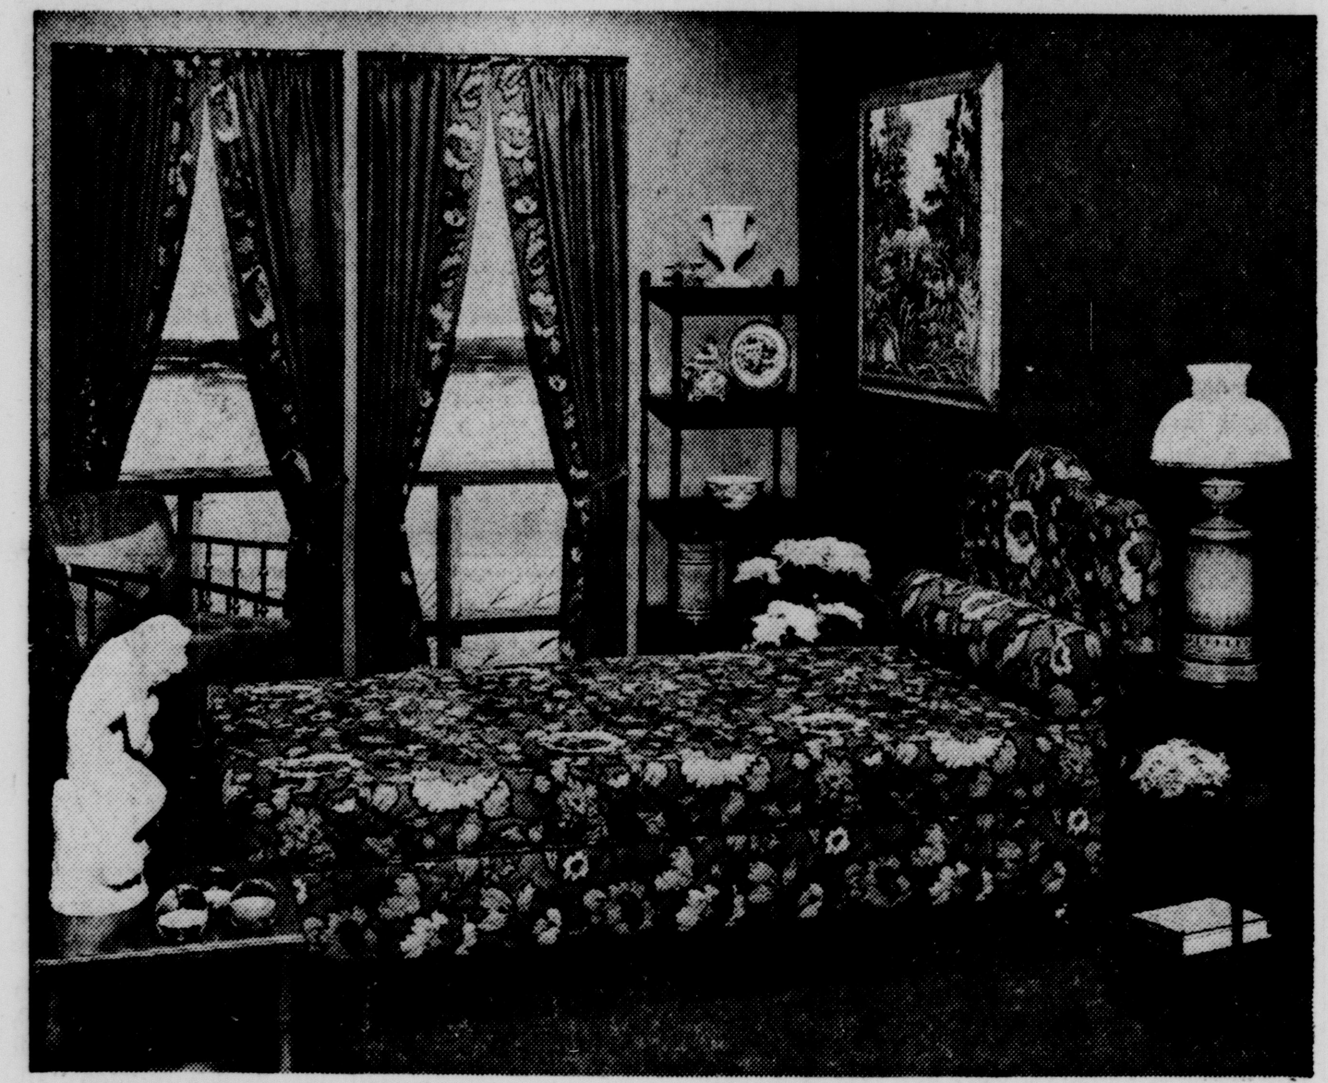
APROPEAU, AN ALL WOOL broadloom introduced by Karastan, is designed to complement massive furniture styling and casual finishes. It has a handcrafted texture and is available in 19 color combinations. Karastan carpeting is available at Schneller Furniture Co., Arlington Heights. (SS



NEW UPHOLSTERED BED is as decorative as a sofa and is covered with sofa fabric, not ticking. Designed to stand in a room without bedspreads or linens, the twin-size unit by Englander also serves as an attractive lounge. Shown in a modern multicolored print, other covers offer a choice of antique green or gold satin, or oatmeal beige tweed. Available at Schneller Furniture Co., Arlington Heights.

Karastan Introduces New Broadloom Lines

Karastan Rug Mills has introduced three new broadloom lines and a new area rug.

The growing importance of massive furniture styling and casual finishes and textures is complemented by Karastan's new Apropeau, an all wool face Kara-loc woven broadloom offering 19 color combinations.

Apropeau has a definite handcrafted texture and is a deep cut and loop pile construction. It employs just two colors together, but has the effect of three or more colors. It will retail at $21 a square yard and will also be available in four standard fringed rug shapes.

The fringe is a generous six inch one in two colors to match the colors of the rug itself. Many sizes are available. A 9 foot by 12 foot rug fringed on the ends is just $315.00, slightly higher in the West.

THE QUICK success that greeted Karastar's Valereau wool broadloom at the January market is followed now by new Mistique, a lower priced acrylic version. The pattern is similar to that of Valereau in 16 tone-on-tone related colors. Of Kara-loc construction, Mistique will retail at $12.95 a square yard.

The final new broadloom introduction is Afineau, all wool face Wilton woven. Afineau combines two colors in a soft and hard twist combination to create a swirling pattern, has sixteen color combinations from which to select. It sells for $17.95 a square yard.

A NEW DESIGN woven in the same quality as Karastan's famous oriental design rugs is Imperial Damask. It is a soft blend of four shades from Sauterne to green in a rich damask design especially created for traditional French and English rooms. The 100 per cent worsted wool face and careful prewashing result in a soft lustrous finish, not found in other rugs. Four sizes are planned initially from approximately 2 foot 10 inches by 5 foot to 8 foot eight inches by 12 foot. The larger size will sell at retail for $415.

Karastan has also announced five broadloom lines, previously marketed under the Nye-Wait label, will now be included as Karastan grades. The quality will remain the same. The transferred grades are Celeste, Imperial Majesty, Juliana, Royal Princess and Faire Bon.

Karastan carpeting is available at Schneller Furniture Company, Arlington Heights. (SS

How to End Destruction By Moisture

You're at war with water! Whether your house is new or old, you're engaged in a constant struggle to prevent its destruction by the villain moisture.

Arlington Wallpaper, Arlington Heights, lists four ways to win your battle against the insidious, destroying moisture constantly attacking your house from outside and in. Moisture can rust metal, rot wood, stain walls and cause paint to peel.

First you must keep humidity low within your house, install vapor barriers, provide proper ventilation and patch any leaks where rain can enter.

STARTING AT THE top, you must keep roofing in good repair, repair the flashing around the chimney and brickwork and ventilate your attic well to keep vapor from condensing on cold surfaces.

Rust or clogged gutters and downspouts may allow water to damage your house. Keep them clean and protected with paint. Calk window frames and install flashing at the top to prevent rain from entering. Use calking compound where concrete porch meets the siding and to safeguard paint from blistering and staining, keep wooden studs and siding from touching the ground.

When you bathe, you should allow moisture to escape through the door or window. A kitchen exhaust fan will keep excess humidity from damaging paint inside and out. Improved ventilation and humidity control will help eliminate dampness in basements. (FS

Textures and Wear Provide News in Autumn Carpeting

Perfect foil for today's elegant and opulent home settings is luxurious, plushy carpeting. This deep, rich texture is achieved by emphasizing surface interest.

Fall's prospective carpet buyers will find that the smooth, velvety surfaces of the last few seasons have all but disappeared. Taking their place are the deep-sculptured carpets whose designs look embossed; the shaggy piles, loops and twists that effectively mix color tones in informal abundance; the random sheared surfaces, and the patterned carpet.

SELECTING NEW carpeting this fall might even lead to the introduction of carpets into new areas of the home. Kitchen, bathroom, basement, rooms that never saw a carpet before, can be just as luxuriously and advantageously carpeted as the living room, effecting the same quiet, warmth and elegance.

It's all because of synthetic fibers such as nylon, polypropylene and acrylics.

Carpets now can be made to withstand any amount of harsh treatment. Especially revolutionary, and absolutely necessary for kitchen carpeting, is the ability of these fibers to resist moisture, acids and alkalies. Clean-up jobs are easier. Spills simply wash away.

Latex foam rubber pads and backings are used with the synthetic carpets to give them a deep, cloud-like feeling underfoot. And since these pads and backings are completely impervious to water, the entire carpet is "wash-and-wear!"

COLORS IN carpets for fall can provide a harmonious blending, a striking contrast or be a pleasant backdrop to the rest of a room. They reflect the season of the year and the new, easy-care quality of the carpets.

Color range is wide, extending from the palest beiges and off-whites to the deep and rich pumpkins and winey maroons. The earth tones, the yellows, the reds and a new golden wheat are muted to enhance and play up their surroundings.

But there is also a vibrancy to the carpet color scheme seen in such combinations as orange and charcoal brown. Orange with red gives off a cozy warmth that aptly belongs in the new kitchen carpeting.

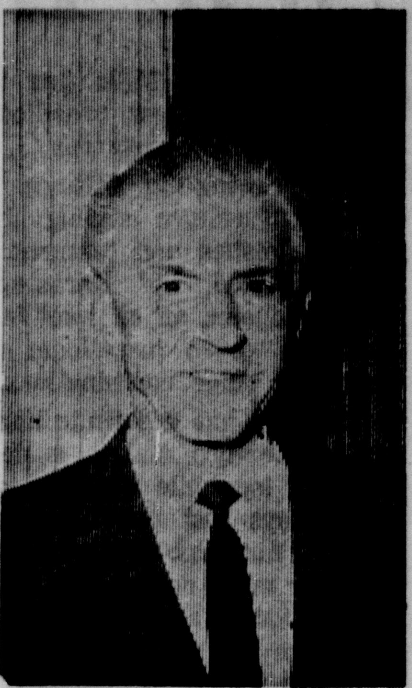
New Manager For Drapery Firm Named

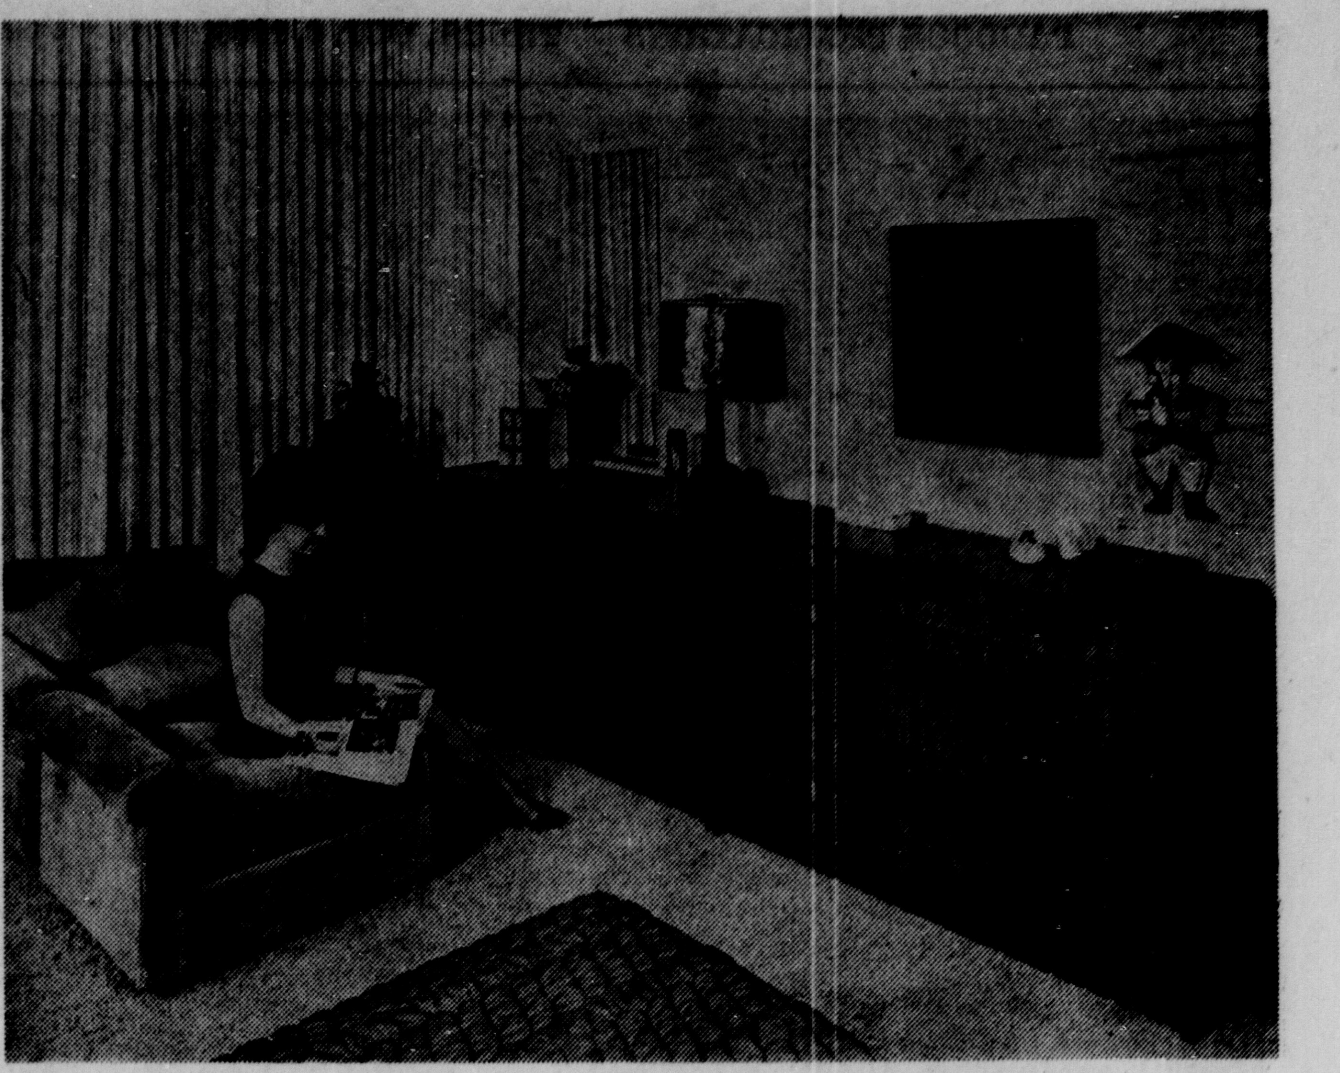


MITCHELL SZEWCZYK

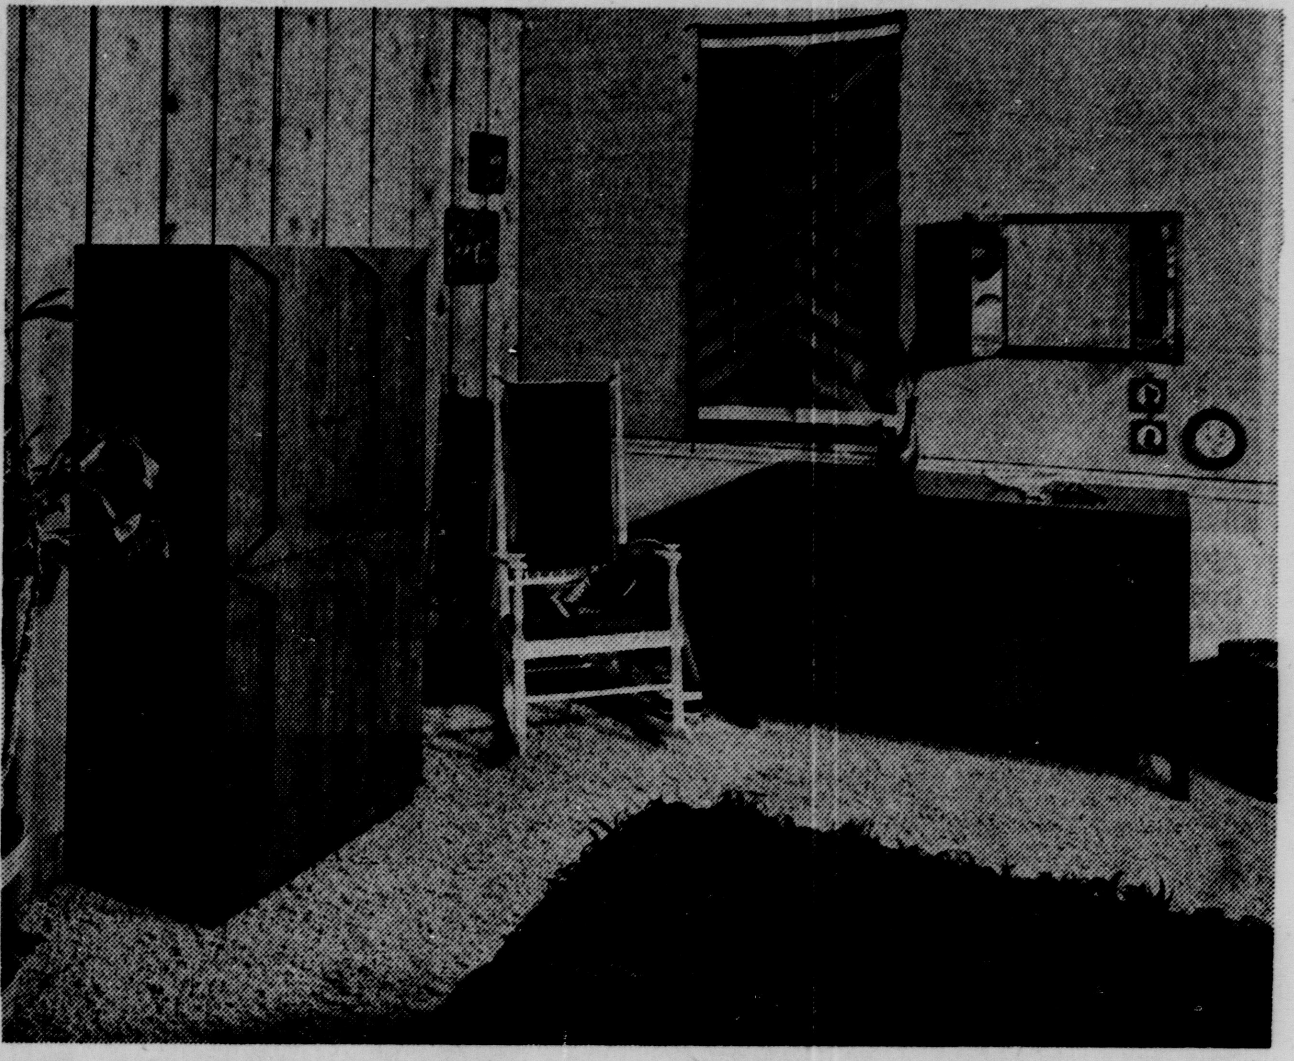
Mitchell Szewczyk has been appointed sales manager for the newly-opened showroom of Draperies by Paul Inc. at 632 W. Algonquin Road, Des Plaines.

Announcement of the appointment was made by Paul Richartz, president of the firm, who said Szewczyk's "20 years of experience in the custom drapery field will bring improvements and broader services for our clients."

Known to many suburbanites as "Mr. Mitchell," Szewczyk was actively engaged in retail drapery sales for seven years in the northwest area. He recently returned to this area after spending a year in Florida.



TWO TEN-DRAWER CHESTS, at a new height of 35 inches, provide 20 drawers in nine feet of wall space in this room setting on display at The Designer's Shop. Units are from a group called Patterns Fifteen in pecky pecan with burnished brass hardware and cane accents. Compact arrangement allows room for the large lounge chair with its unique ottoman with a rolled back. Ottoman invites sprawling, elbow propping or serves as a separate lounge chair. From The Designer's Shop, Arlington Heights.



THE WOOD IS THE SAME—pecky pecan—but the design motifs are mixed in these bedroom pieces, part of a room setting currently on view at The Designer's Shop. From a group by Milo Baughman called "American Renaissance," the furniture displays strong overtones of early New England days but is also quite contemporary in feeling. It can be successfully combined with such whimsical touches as a white Swedish rocker and an American Indian rug used as a wall hanging. Available at The Designer's Shop, Arlington Heights.

Englander Offers Vacation Bedding

U. S. status symbols reflect the times. Once the two-car family had prestige and was envied by all the Joneses. Now it is the two-house family which has top status.

Because the family's second home is generally a leisure-time retreat, a leading bedding manufacturer has come up with new ideas in sleep furniture for part-time homes.

The Englander Company has introduced upholstered beds, the first to be covered with sofa fabric instead of mattress ticking.

DESIGNED TO be a room asset as is—without bed linens or spreads, they are meant for second homes, but also are ideal for second bedrooms, for teen rooms and for dens doubling as guest rooms.

The beds have matching headboards and bolster pillows and are available only in a twin bed size. They can be used in pairs or singly, whichever the floor space permits.

To introduce its unique upholstered beds, Englander has developed several room decor ideas for them. One is an upholstered room with a seaside view, designed by Lloyd Henson, A.I.D. Fabric covered walls and tie-back window draperies are coordinated with the bed's upholstery cover, a multi-colored, tropical flower print with an olive green background.

The upholstered beds also are available in antique green or gold satin and a nubby, oatmeal beige tweed.

For a second bedroom, Henson has designed a vignette around an antique green bed with a light, patrician gray background and hot pink accents. A bedroom with a fireplace, meanwhile, effectively sets off the oatmeal tweed bed and Henson enlivened it with tangerine accessory touches.

BECAUSE VACATION houses are such "in" family possessions, Englander also has designed and built a one-room house in its Chicago showroom.

The house combines an artist's studio with kitchen, dining, living and sleeping areas. A cabinet kitchen adjoins a brick firepalce wall. Wood paneling and a beamed ceiling are set off by the red, white and blue "Live Color" scheme of the room.

A big four-poster bed has been especially designed and painted red to support a queen-size bed and serve as the major piece of furniture in the bedroom area. An Englander Bed n' Sofa, covered in royal blue corduroy, is placed only steps away to divide off the living-dining-cooking area. It also adds sleeping space for two.

Designed for leisure-time occupancy rather than year-round living, the house that Englander built pinpoints the second house in a family as today's top-ranking U. S. status symbol.

Englander is available at Schneller Furniture Co., Arlington Heights. (SS

Boring Bedrooms Banished With Dramatic Furniture

Bedroom furniture arrangements can be boring — a bed, or two, a low chest, a high chest, and all matching like peas in a pod.

Such bedroom monotony can be banished, however. Just how is demonstrated by two new and exciting groups of bedroom furniture currently on exhibit at The Designer's Shop of Petersen Interiors, the Elms Shopping Center, Arlington Heights.

Important pieces from each of these two groups are shown in complete, idea-packed room settings, as part of a series of eight special interiors designed to illustrate a new contemporary trend, "A Rebirth of Native American Design."

ONE OF THE groups, called "American Renaissance," is designed by Milo Baughman who has combined certain simple and solid architectural influences from early New England days with his own personalized signature to produce furniture with an appealing and very different look. The wood used is pecky pecan.

Design motifs are mixed varying from incised chevrons, sawtooth patterns to arches and herringbone. A bedroom can thus be basically matched but mixed in motifs. In the store's room display a six-drawer dresser has an incised chevron facade while the armoire facade is derived from an early American barn door motif.

Further carrying out the "new American look" is a hand woven American Indian rug used as a wall hanging. The compatibility of the furniture with other styles is demonstrated by the inclusion in the setting of a white painted Swedish rocker.

The second group, called Patterns Fifteen by Dave Parmelee, is also in pecky pecan, with burnished brass hardware, but exhibiting a simpler over-all design statement with such "all-American" traits as honest craftsmanship and inherent elegance. Among some of the more unusual pieces in the group are a semi-canopy bed with cane insets and a ten-drawer chest in a new size — 35 inches high.

As demonstrated in the store's room setting, a pair of these chests provides twenty drawers in nine feet of wall space. Different mirrors and wall accessories create a Mr. and Mrs. arrangement. The compact set-up allows more room in the bedroom, for lounging furniture, for instance. In the setting a large-scale chair and ottoman add a real luxury touch. (SS

Design motifs are mixed varying from incised chevrons, sawtooth patterns to arches and herringbone. A bedroom can thus be basically matched but mixed in motifs. In the store's room display a six-drawer dresser has an incised chevron facade while the armoire facade is derived from an early American barn door motif.

Further carrying out the "new American look" is a hand woven American Indian rug used as a wall hanging. The compatibility of the furniture with other styles is demonstrated by the inclusion in the setting of a white painted Swedish rocker.

The second group, called Patterns Fifteen by Dave Parmelee, is also in pecky pecan, with burnished brass hardware, but exhibiting a simpler over-all design statement with such "all-American" traits as honest craftsmanship and inherent elegance. Among some of the more unusual pieces in the group are a semi-canopy bed with cane insets and a ten-drawer chest in a new size — 35 inches high.

As demonstrated in the store's room setting, a pair of these chests provides twenty drawers in nine feet of wall space. Different mirrors and wall accessories create a Mr. and Mrs. arrangement. The compact set-up allows more room in the bedroom, for lounging furniture, for instance. In the setting a large-scale chair and ottoman add a real luxury touch. (SS

"A ONE-ROOM APARTMENT," this is a truly multi-purpose room. It encompasses all the necessary implements for modern living. Using a sofa bed, fully upholstered and big enough for two, the bedroom-living room can be highly decorative and useful.

With the Ethan Allen pine Adjust-O-Mat table which goes up and down from cocktail height to full table height the room can change from a living room to a dining room at the flick of a switch.

The large Ethan Allen armoire in pine can create the additional storage space needed in a small one room apartment, and the pine desk at the other end of the room makes writing letters or paying bills easy and pleasant.

In order to keep the heavy duty room neat and light and above all easy to clean, white vinyl tile, with occasional black as accents, is used wall to wall.

All furniture and accessories are Ethan Allen from Schneller Furniture, Arlington Heights. The fake fur and skin throw pillows are by Mirafoam and the china used on the Adjust-O-Mat is by Iriquois.

Hartman Room Is Displayed

Fashion in the home is created by the designer. He plans the rooms that are designed to serve their purpose better and to delight the user. He combines color, texture, line and accessory and uses his imagination to give sparkle, gaiety and mood to any setting.

Kenneth Hartman of Arlington Furniture, 211 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights, has designed a room in the "How America Can Live" theme to be on display in the store during October.

John Janszen and Robert Myron of Arlington Furniture recently visited the nation's furniture center in Chicago and report that home fashions and furnishings reflect a greater-than-ever versatility and diversification. They invite all homemakers to visit their store to see "How America Can Live."

A CONTEMPORARY dining room setting by Stanley features Theme I. Also available in bedroom ensembles and living room pieces, it combines a rich pecan finish with a Maltese finish (like a frosted silver blue mink). Theme I is now on display at Mayfair Interiors, Arlington Heights. (SS

Wallpaper Gives Old Rooms All-New Moods

The same four walls of any room can become an attractive new setting for more enjoyable living.

This is the thesis of wallpaper manufacturers, who present, for fall decorating, both a wide variety of colors and patterns and a wide range of convenience features.

In most cases, new wallpapers can be washed without marring colors or patterns. Some vinyls and vinyl-coated papers can even be scrubbed.

FOR "DO IT yourself" decorators there are easy-to-hang papers, factory-pasted and trimmed.

The design trend finds stripes in the wallpaper news. Traditional pairings of white and one color are present, but the freshest-looking stripes combine multi colors and multi widths.

Leaves and fruits appear in striped effects, as do provincial designs and geometrics.

Interesting plaids in all scales and varieties decorate the wallpaper scene, too.

To complement the "Mediterranean look" in furniture are wallpapers suggested by the patterns of Spanish tiles and grilles. These are available in both brilliant and subdued color combinations.

TEXTURED effects are noteworthy — among them, woven grass cloths, burlap looks and designs with a two-dimensional feeling.

Flocked papers continue in importance. Many are made with acrylics, for washability and range of uses that can take in bathrooms and kitchens, too.

Tortoise shell papers of every description provide fresh design news. Often, they feature the elegance of gold and silver backgrounds. (SS

THIS ELEGANT CURIO cabinet makes a beautiful and very different wall decoration. The provincial pine finish is enhanced by a rich red or green interior and antiqued brass pulls. At Bowen Hardware, Arlington Heights.

New Ideas For Home Lighting

To make living better as well as brighter is the new goal of lighting fixtures.

In the fall collections now being introduced, it's apparent that lighting fixtures go far beyond their basic, functional purpose. They do, of course, offer a choice — of ways to light up for any and every home seeing need. But that's just the beginning.

Available in a seemingly unlimited number of styles, lighting fixtures are ready to add a dramatic, decorative dimension to the home. They serve conventional lighting needs in a fresh manner, and they inspire ideas for lighting completely different areas in and around the home.

FOR SEVERAL seasons, the chandelier has enjoyed a renaissance of decorating significance. Anticipating continued and greater interest, manufacturers are offering a still-greater selection of designs to meet every taste and decor.

Elegance illuminates these designs — in the magnificence of chandeliers that shimmer with brilliant crystals and swags, and in the splendor of chandeliers with mellow woods, the adaptations of age-old fixtures from Italy, Spain and France.

Among the many other lighting-fixture designs to please a woman's decorator instincts are: electrified wall sconces adapted from the Spanish, French baroque, Early American, provincial and Federal styles; pendants of beveled and optic glass, or polished brass; indoor lanterns in star-cut beveled glass designs, plus outdoor lanterns that are authentic coach lantern adaptations; dramatic bathroom brackets and mirror lighting.

Refinements such as sparkling hand-cut crystal and rich antique and gold finishes add to the opulence of new lighting fixtures for fall. (SS

MAYFAIR INTERIORS of Arlington Heights will celebrate its first anniversary next month in their spacious new home at 1000 W. Northwest Highway. The new location was made to enable Mayfair to provide more complete home furnishings service to its northwest suburban clientele.

Mark Anniversary In New Building

Mayfair Interiors of Arlington Heights will be celebrating their first anniversary next month in their spacious new home at 1000 W. Northwest Highway.

Prior to November 1965, the well known home furnishings firm had been located at 1136 E. Northwest Highway in Palatine since January 1959.

The move of one mile to the east was necessitated by Mayfair Interiors' desire to provide a more complete home furnishings service to its growing northwest suburban clientele.

TO MEET THE diverse needs of its customers, Mayfair carries a wide selection of furnishings from inexpensive to decorator pieces, including carpeting and draperies. Complete room settings display the latest ideas in color, fabrics and furniture. Styles shown are contemporary, traditional, French, Italian and Early American.

Mayfair Interiors welcomes "browsers" and therefore makes sure there is plenty to see. A diversified collection of the finest designs in quality furniture is always on display, carefully selected with a view toward beauty, timeless design and sensible pricing to give customers in both homes and apartments the most value for their money.

The firm's interior design staff is happy to provide expert counseling service for both home and office. They'll gladly assist in the selection of a new accessory or in planning a complete interior from blueprint to finished home.

Mayfair showroom hours are Monday, Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. There's free parking alongside the building, just west of Kennicott Avenue. Convenient credit terms can be arranged.

More popular than popcorn are buttery roasted almonds sprinkled with coarse salt and curry powder and mixed with a combination of plump dark and golden seedless raisins. This for the grown-ups' hors d-oeuvres board. (SH

"Conserving the Nutritive Values in Foods" is the title of Home and Garden Bulletin No. 90, USDA. It is available for 10 cents from the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. (SH

SMART ELEMENTS for a one-room apartment or a bed sitting room are these walnut veneered pieces from the New Idea Collection by Kroehler Mfg. Co. The cabinets can be rearranged without the light concealing valance, here lighting the king-sized upholstered headboard. It will accommodate a pair of twin beds at right angles. Baldwin Introduces 2 New Instruments

Baldwin Piano & Organ Co. has introduced two new developments in musical instruments.

One, the new Baldwin Solid Body Harpsichord, has proved its versatility in all types of music. Professional musicians in jazz, country and western, rock 'n roll and other fields have unanimously found this Baldwin innovation in musical sound ideal for solo or group use. In a unique design concept, many of the principles developed for the solid body guitar are utilized to completely transform the traditional harpsichord into a new and extremely versatile instrument. From this instrument come sounds reminiscent of many familiar instruments and dynamic ultramodern sounds never heard before plus the bright and twangy sound of the traditional harpsichord. The Baldwin Harpsichord weighs just 85 pounds, the body is only 54 inches long and the legs are quickly removable.

THE HOWARD Combo Organ is a portable one-manual organ designed to provide the driving sounds, the smart appearance and the playing features the modern music groups most want. Nine distinctive voices have been created specially for their value in combo work and may be used individually or in combination for tonal variety. The Howard also has both fast and slow and light and full vibrato and a push-pull coupler to add a 16' pitch or both a 16' and a 4' pitch to the basic 8' pitch of the organ.

Roy Baumann Music at 24 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, features the Baldwin line of pianos and organs.

More Sophisticated Styles Introduced

New furniture and other home furnishings, designed for more sophisticated and highly individualistic homemakers, will be introduced to retail furniture merchants from all parts of the world next month.

It will make its appearance at the 1966 Fall Home Furnishings Market and Official Summer and Casual Furniture Showings at the American Furniture Mart, October 17 through 22, it was announced by Frank S. Whiting, Vice Chairman of the Mart's Board of Directors.

"This appeal is true especially in the field of leisure furniture where more than 100 new lines in one of the fastest-growing furniture categories will be shown with the educated tastes of the discriminating new consumer in mind," Whiting said. "The broad, fresh offerings will also include specials in nearly all areas of selection for furniture retailers who require goods for Fall selling, the Christmas season and next February's sales. Tight delivery schedules and a firming price trend, as well as interest in new merchandise, make a visit to the Market imperative at this time."

THIS YEAR, the Fall Market returns to its original Monday opening schedule, to follow recent buyer attendance patterns.

Casual furniture continues to follow indoor styling for both indoor and outdoor use, according to a preview of the new styles. Even rugged redwood is redesigned to come into the house for casual living during the winter months. Rattan and expanded mesh furniture have proved their adaptability and continue in popularity. Much color in anodized aluminum will brighten interiors.

New finishes and new fabrics, including vibrant prints and florals in both vinyl and fabric, treated to resist wear and stain, reflect the growing market for year 'round leisure furniture.

Retail inventories are reported to be low, and buyers will be able to find much on display to attract consumer interest in ensuing months. (SS

More Sophisticated Styles Introduced

New furniture and other home furnishings, designed for more sophisticated and highly individualistic homemakers, will be introduced to retail furniture merchants from all parts of the world next month.

It will make its appearance at the 1966 Fall Home Furnishings Market and Official Summer and Casual Furniture Showings at the American Furniture Mart, October 17 through 22, it was announced by Frank S. Whiting, Vice Chairman of the Mart's Board of Directors.

"This appeal is true especially in the field of leisure furniture where more than 100 new line in one of the fastest-growing furniture categories will be shown with the educated tastes of the discriminating new consumer in mind," Whiting said. "The broad, fresh offerings will also include specials in nearly all areas of selection for furniture retailers who require goods for Fall selling, the Christmas season and next February's sales. Tight delivery schedules and a firming price trend, as well as interest in new merchandise, make a visit to the Market imperative at this time."

THIS YEAR, the Fall Market returns to its original Monday opening schedule, to follow recent buyer attendance patterns.

Casual furniture continues to follow indoor styling for both indoor and outdoor use, according to a preview of the new styles. Even rugged redwood is redesigned to come into the house for casual living during the winter months. Rattan and expanded mesh furniture have proved their adaptability and continue in popularity. Much color in anodized aluminum will brighten interiors.

New finishes and new fabrics, including vibrant prints and florals in both vinyl and fabric, treated to resist wear and stain, reflect the growing market for year 'round leisure furniture.

Retail inventories are reported to be low, and buyers will be able to find much on display to attract consumer interest in ensuing months. (SS

Wallpaper, Related Fabrics New Trend

There is a growing trend in wallpaper and related fabrics in decorating, according to Edward Mills of Webber Paint, Arlington Heights.

Originally a decorator item, the increased popularity of handprints makes related fabrics of interest to the consumer. Also, many of the larger wallpaper firms are including matching fabrics in their medium priced lines instead of only with the higher priced papers. National consumer magazines have given increased coverage to wallpapers and matching fabrics, making the homemaker more aware of the variety of decorating possibilities.

MATCHING FABRICS can be used for slipcovers and pillows, giving the room an air of unity. Fabric makes matching window shades, dust ruffles, bedspreads or even shower curtains when used with a plastic liner. More unusual ideas are to use the fabric as matting material in the framing of prints and pictures, place mats and napkins or laminated to a variety of objects throughout the entire room.

United, for example, recently introduced its new Cameo Collection in which each pattern has a matching or coordinated fabric sample. There are 75 fabric styles comprised of antique satin, nubby tweed, jacquard brocade, twill and screen printed matching fabrics on polished or glazed cottons. The sample book is designed to show the homeowner how to correlate these fabrics in the home. (SS

Psychiatry Lecture Series Is Planned

"Current Trends in Psychiatry" will be the theme of the 1966-67 Guest Lecture Series sponsored by the Forest Hospital Foundation which begins Wednesday.

First of eight guest speakers is Dr. Bryant Wedge, Princeton, N. J., who will discuss "Psychiatry in International Affairs" at 8 p.m. in the Forest Hospital auditorium, 555 Wilson Lane, Des Plaines.

Dr. Wedge is director of the Institute for the Study of National Behavior. The Institute works with improving international communication by research into the psychological aspects of nationhood and nationality.

JOINING THE Foundation in sponsorship of three of the current lectures will be the Chicago Board of Health and Illinois Psychiatric Society, according to Dr. Clifton Rhead, chairman of the lecture series program.

Lectures scheduled are:

Oct. 12—Dr. Bryant Wedge, "Psychiatry in International Affairs."

Nov. 9—Dr. Marc H. Hollender, University of Pennsylvania, "Marital Problems—The Selection of Therapy."

Jan. 11—Dr. Edward Knight, Louisiana State U. Medical School, "The Peter Pan Element in Male Homosexuality."

Feb. 8—Dr. Zigmond M. Lebensohn, Georgetown U. School of Medicine, "The Organization and Character of Soviet Psychiatry" and Dr. Isidore Ziferstein, Psychiatric and Pyschosomatic Research Institute of Los Angeles, "Characteristics of Pathogenetic Pyschotherapy."

March 8—Dr. Louis Miller, director of Mental Health Services for the State of Israel, "Community Psychiatry."

April 12—Dr. Judd Marmor, Cedars-Sinai Medical Center at Los Angeles, "Changing Patterns of Sexual Identity."

June 14—Dr. Joseph Wolpe, Temple University Medical Center at Philadelphia, "Behavior Therapy of Neuroses."

All lectures scheduled from January through June will be supported by the Post Graduate Programs division of Merck Sharpe & Dohme, pharmaceutical manufacturer. (B-10

TODAY, MODERN, free-standing steel fireplaces are becoming increasingly popular for home remodeling. This popularity is due, in part, to the fact that these distinctively shaped fireplaces are easily installed, and are available in a variety of colors to help brighten a room.

The FireHOOD decorator fireplace, above is representative of this new trend. Here, used as an interior design element, the FireHOOD preserves the garden view as it lends depth and color to the room. In this location, an open hearth wood fire is a perfect way to add comfort to the room on cool evenings. Made of lightweight steel, a FireHOOD decorator fireplace can be positioned nearly anywhere in a room without structural reinforcing. Its long, colorful stack vents through the roof or taps into the existing flue.

FireHOOD is manufactured, in wood burning or gas-fired models and is available in nine House & Garden decorator colors at Northwest Metalcraft, Arlington Heights. (SS

North Western-CTA Loop Project Told

Northwest suburban commuters and shoppers soon may be only a few minutes from the Chicago and North Western terminal to the downtown loop area.

An enclosed walkway is proposed to connect the train terminal with the Clinton Street "L" station.

In the future, commuters will be able to walk a two-block distance through the weather-protected tunnel, ride an escalator up to the Clinton Street mezzanine, and take a five to 10-minute "L" ride to loop stations.

The project to connect the two mass transportation systems got underway early in September with applications for federal funds.

A $332,000 GRANT is expected from the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. An additional $141,000 would be financed by North Western and $25,000 by the CTA.

The proposal is to install a new escalator and an adjoining stairway inside the west end of the railroad station. From there, the walkway will extend north directly into the mezzanine level of CTA station at Clinton and Lake Streets.

At the present time commuters must walk four blocks outdoors to reach Clinton station or over six blocks to downtown offices and stores without "L" transportation.

Another phase of the proposed project would rehabilitate and modernize the Clinton station. The City of Chicago would provide $111,000 and the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban development would provide $222,000. CTA would operate the finished station as a permanent part of its system.

Changes would include construction of escalators leading to both east and west bound loading platforms; modernization of the mezzanine-level fare collection facilities; expansion of the canopy area protecting the loading platforms; and installation of improved lighting.

NORTH WESTERN commuters using the Clinton Street station would pay the regular 25-cent fare. Over 240 air-conditioned trains serve the station daily.

Two years ago the CTA and North Western joined in improving and expanding shuttle bus service between the railroad terminal and the central city.

According to George L. DeMent, chairman of the Chicago Transit Board, this shuttle service would not be changed or curtailed.

He said that the increasing use of the North Western-CTA coordinated system, however, would relieve congestion on CTA buses during peak rush periods. (B10

Lutheran general 2-36 bold.. ..

Junior volunteers contributed a total of over 8,300 hours of service in more than 20 areas of Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, during the past year.

Ten junior volunteers received silver pins for 250 hours of service, and bronze pins were awarded to 43 students for 100 hours.

"Young boy and girl volunteers bring to the hospital a warmth and enthusiasm that is needed," said Mudge Burrows, director of volunteer services.

"In offering their service, they not only help their community and the patients in the hospital," she continued, "but they also help themselves by learning to assume community responsibilities and to care for the welfare of their fellow man."

Hospital's Procedures Discussed

"Better Communications—The Key to Cooperative Effort" was the theme of a seminar Wednesday at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights for staff doctors' secretaries, office nurses and girls Friday.

A panel of administrators discussed policy and procedure used in the hospital. Speaking on the panel were: Mrs. Dawn Berngen, chief admissions officer; Mrs. Jean Daich, R.N., operating room supervisor; Mrs. Cecelia Wyant, R.N., head nurse surgical wing; Mrs. Margaret McDonough, R.N., head nurse emergency room; Mrs. Agnes L. Pearson, accounting assistant; and Mrs. Demi Mourafetis, chief medical record librarian.

Leoanrd L. Genung, assistant administrator, moderated the panel discussion. (B-10

McCabe Gives Support To 'One-Man-One-Vote'

James L. McCabe, Democratic candidate for the 13th District U.S. Congressional seat, stated his position on the one-man-one vote rule by calling the concept fair and equitable—especially for districts like the 13th.

At the same time, he expressed concern that the voting regulation could be put in jeopardy by the Republicans.

Jeopardy exists, McCabe said, because of the proposed amendment submitted by Senator Dirksen, and what he claimed the earlier voting record of his opponent Congressman Rumsfeld who wanted to limit the jurisdiction of the Sureme Court of the United States when the one-man-one-vote concept was being brought forth.

McCabe's concern stems from the belief that the new voting concept provides a distinct advantage for suburbanites and does the most good for the 13th District and districts like it throughout the nation.

"My opponent's position on this issue is just one more example of his ability to turn his back on the people who elected him and continue his record of voting in his party's interest first and the interest of his constituency second," McCabe asserted.

"OPPONENTS OF this legislation propose that representation be on the basis of acreage rather than population. In my opinion, our democratic system of government should be based on the principle of representing the people of the district rather than the soil of the district," McCabe stated.

As a result of the one-man-one vote concept the people of the 13th District for the first time have three state senators representing their interests. To return to the "acreage system of representation" would deprive the 13th District of the amount of leadership and representation it deserves, McCabe said

"By increasing the number of men representing our district we are gaining the advantage of having more senators who are directly concerned with our own pressing problems, and more senators who are directly responsible to the voters and families living in the 13th District."

"IT IS DIFFICULT for me to understand why the people of the 13th District would continue to want a man representing them who by his actions and by his voting record appears to be interested in depriving his voters of their true representative rights," the Democratic candidate for Congress surmised. Semrow Tells Program For Refuse Problems

Harry H. Semrow, Democratic candidate for Cook County Board president, this week outlined his program for refuse disposal in suburbia.

"We are going to be faced with a critical problem in Cook County by 1975 unless we move rapidly to set up a comprehensive long-range plan for collecting and disposing of waste and refuse," said Semrow. "In fact, many of our suburban communities have a problem right now.

"Under the Solid Waste Disposal Act, Cook County is eligible for a grant to research the problem, study alternative solutions, and conduct an experimental program," Semrow declared. "As county board president, I will initiate a request for a federal grant to begin such a program."

Semrow said that a recent study by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission disclosed that Cook County will exhaust its existing disposal capacities by 1980 and some areas of Cook County will have exhausted their available facilities by 1970.

"MANY MUNICIPALITIES in Cook County are still using open dumps for disposing of refuse and garbage," said Semrow. This practice is not only unhealthy and an eyesore, but is not necessary under the technological advances which have been made in waste disposal methods.

"We need a county-wide program of providing incinerators and sanitary landfill sites," said the Democratic candidate. "These methods of refuse disposal eliminate the health hazard of open dumps and the danger of pollution of ground and surface water."

Semrow said that the exploding population of suburban Cook County made an immediate plan a necessity. "We have no time to waste," he said.

"While I am opposed to metropolitan government," said Semrow, "I strongly support collaboration among municipalities in dealing with problems like this. This is the kind of problem in which federal money, state authorization, County Board leadership, local governmental cooperation along with private industry could all be utilized to do what needs to be done for the people in our county."

SEMROW SAID that under state law, cities and villages with populations under 500,000 could contract together to deal with refuse disposal. "One way to do it would be to create a refuse disposal commission or commissions in parts of Cook County made up of the municipalities in the area," said Semrow. "Pooling the financial resources of several municipalities, and a cooperative program of garbage collection, in partnership with private industry, would save money for all of the municipalities and enable us to deal with an important public problem.

"The county board could act as the catalytic agent in dealing with this problem. We could be the liaison between the federal government which can provide the funds to help us get started, the state government which exercises the legal authority in this area, and local government in Cook County which should deal with the problem cooperatively," said Semrow. Senior Citizens Endorse McCabe

Senior Citizens Organization has endorsed the candidacy of James McCabe, Democratic challenger for the U. S. Congressional seat representing the 13th District.

In accepting the endorsement, McCabe termed Medicare legislation a responsible act and display of humanity, adding that his opponent, Donald Rumsfeld, has placed himself in the position of approving enrollment in something he doesn't believe in.

McCabe noted that Medicare not only helps the senior citizen, but it also eases the burden on young people who are responsible for the care of older relatives.

"Without Medicare, many of these young people would face the terrible choice of depriving their own children and families or letting their loved ones suffer. Very often, younger people are just not in a position to help their elders even where they would be willing to sacrifice themselves and their families—a choice no one should have to make." (B10

Ogilvie to Appear In Elk Grove Twp.

SLOWPOKES

Mount Prospect dancers in the Slowpokes Club (their energy and enthusiasm belie the name) are off 'n' running in the new season. They've had a well-attended season's opener, they've retrieved the club pennant from Berwyn's Flying Squares, and their beginners' class is full of promising future dancers. The class meets every Thursday night at 8 o'clock in Euclid School, and tonight's the last chance to join the learners, so hurry-hurry. Just walk right in - the school's located one block east of Randhurst Shopping Center - and register with teacher-caller, Gene Tidwell.

GENIAL GENE will be at the school tomorrow night, too, when Slowpokes host their regularly scheduled "first Friday" dance. They'll be glad to welcome you and to show off the Slowpokes' banner, snatched by the Berwyn bandits last May and retrieved a week ago Saturday. Dancing starts at 8:30.

Slowpokes dance the first and third Fridays of every month and guests are always welcome. Next dance, Oct. 21, is to be a Halloween party dance and costumes are in order. They're optional, as always, but everyone seems to have more fun at Halloween dances when they're masquerading, so trot out your ingenuity and start designing.

ARLINGTON SQUARES

Although registration is closed for beginners' classes in Arlington Heights, a club member, Russ Lee, is still accepting students for his Northbrook-based lessons. He teaches every Tuesday evening and offers a 20-lesson course, the second lesson coming up Tuesday, Oct. 11. For full information call the Santlers, CR 2-5342.

The visitors' register at Arlington Squares' last dance revealed a few repeaters, among 'em a Florida couple who'd been part of the crowd at the season's opener. If they're still around for the club's next dance, Oct. 14, they'll be warmly welcomed, as all visitors are at every Arlington Squares dance. A guest caller, Paul "Foggy" Thompson will be at the mike then, squaring 'em up at 8:30 in Miner Junior High School, 1101 E. Miner, Arlington Heights. Jerry and Dot Daniels will lead round dance instruction at 8 o'clock.

CLUB MEMBERS are reminded to bring shirt, skirt and blouse sizes and plan to attend a brief meeting after the dance next Friday. It is hoped that all club members can be outfitted alike for Knothead trips, and raids.

Dance enthusiasts interested in club affiliation are invited to consider membership in Arlington Squares. A call to Leo Larsen, CL 5-1074, will provide full information.

PLAIDS AND CALICOS

Everyone's invited to the first dance of the season for the Hoffman Estates club, meeting this year in Lakeview School and squaring up there for the first time Saturday night. Bob Kim, one of the area's most popular callers, will again be at the mike for the P & C's, squarin' 'em up at 8 o'clock. The school is located in Hoffman Estates at Lakeview and Washington Boulevards. Further information about the dance or the club is available via 894-3717.

PRAIRIE SCHOONERS

Dancers in the Lombard area are invited to hop aboard the Prairie Schooner and join the fun in Lombard Community Building next Friday evening, Oct. 14, when caller Bill Shymkus takes the mike. The Schooner takes off the second and fourth Friday nights of every month, guests are always welcome. Meeting place is located at Grace and St. Charles Roads in Lombard.

FROM THE Prairie Schooners comes word of the seventh annual fiesta of the Fiesta Association of Square Dance Clubs, Inc., scheduled for Oct. 29 in Downers Grove High School. The roster of callers contains 10 of the best-known names in the suburban area — Pat Braffet, Russ Bone, Jim Fraley, Ed Hempel, Lenny Roos, Harry Schop, Bill Shymkus, Jim Smith, Gene Tidwell and Jerry Whitebread.

Fiesta grand march will pace off at 8 p.m. Further information about the big event may be had by calling the Johnsons, MA 7-0223.

GRAND OPENING

The Square Dance Center of Arlington Heights celebrated opening night with a dance featuring Al "Tex" Brownlee, here from Odessa, Texas for a one-night stand. Monday night marked the start of weekly beginners' classes instructed by Arden Johnson, assistant recreation professor at Purdue University. There will be 12 lessons in the course and membership remains open through next Monday, Oct. 10. Call 255-4060 for full information.

TO EXPERIENCED dancers, the center offers challenge or advanced level dancing every Tuesday evening, with callers Jim Stewart, Russ Bone, Al Sova and Chuck Broad alternating at the mike.

Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the center will be devoted to round dancing, conducted by Gene and Edna Arnfield of Skokie. They'll teach beginners each Wednesday, and head a club of more experienced dancers Thursday evenings.

Weekend schedules include dancing every Saturday evening and frequent Sunday afternoons, with well-known guest callers joining the regulars. In October there'll be Al Brownlee of Odessa, Tex., Melton Luttrell of Fort Worth, Vaughn Parrish of Boulder, Lee Helsel of Sacramento, and from Michigan will be Dave Taylor of Grosse Point Farms and Sam Mitchell of Lansing.

A complete schedule for the 1966-67 season is available by writing or calling the center at 1622 N. Rand Road, Arlington Heights; phone, 255-4060.

SINGLE ADULTS

Our "Help! Help!" last week on behalf of single adults looking for a place to dance brought the following information: Guys and Dolls in Evanston, catering especially to young singles or couples, meet the second and fourth Friday nights of every month at Main and Judson. Full information is available via a call to DA 8-5633 or IR 8-8747.

The Lawson "Y" at 30 W. Chicago Ave., Chicago, also features square dancing for the young adult; call WE 5-8681 for information. (A15

Rumsfeld to Campaign Mostly on Weekends

Peter R. Sawers, campaign manager for Congr. Donald Rumsfeld (R-13th) said that the Congressman's legislative responsibilities in Washington demand that he confine his current campaign activities to a tightly-packed weekend schedule.

Rumsfeld will begin his weekend of October 7 with an appearance at Prospect High School, 801 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect, where he will address a joint meeting of the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights, Barrington, and Palatine. He will speak on the important legislative needs to be met by the Congress during the next legislative session.

Following the League meeting, Rumsfeld will go to Wheeling Township where he will report on the 89th Congress to a joint evening meeting of the Adult Couples Club of the Southminster United Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights and the Young Married Couples Club of the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights. The meeting will be held at the Southminster United Presbyterian Church, 906 Central Road.

Saturday, October 8, Rumsfeld will begin the day with a morning tour of shopping areas in Niles Township. In the afternoon, he will serve as moderator of a panel on "Judicial and Congressional Aspects — Suburban Problems and Solutions" at the Suburban Republican Seminar to be held at Allgauer's Restaurant, 6565 N. Mannheim Road, Rosemont.

After the seminar, Rumsfeld and his wife, Joyce, will attend the annual dinner-dance sponsored by the Wheeling Township Regular Republican organizations. The dance, to be held at the Chevy Chase Country Club, is the major fund-raising event held by the Wheeling GOP. (B10

To Dedicate Hospital Addition

Open house and dedication of the expanded Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, will be held Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 5 to 6.

Tours will be available from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Nov. 5 and from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Nov. 6.

Dedication services are scheduled for 4 p.m. on Nov. 6 in the new lobby of the hospital.

"This will give the many friends of Lutheran General an opportunity to view many of the new sections," said T. L. Jacobsen, executive vice president.

A $6,200,000 expansion program began in Aug. of 1964. The expansion added three stories to the top of the original seven-story building and also added a five-story wing to the west.

The expansion increased the size of the hospital from 324 beds to 587 beds. (B10

Semrow Tells Program For Refuse Problems

Harry H. Semrow, Democratic candidate for Cook County Board president, this week outlined his program for refuse disposal in suburbia.

"We are going to be faced with a critical problem in Cook County by 1975 unless we move rapidly to set up a comprehensive long-range plan for collecting and disposing of waste and refuse," said Semrow. "In fact, many of our suburban communities have a problem right now.

"Under the Solid Waste Disposal Act, Cook County is eligible for a grant to research the problem, study alternative solutions, and conduct an experimental program," Semrow declared. "As county board president, I will initiate a request for a federal grant to begin such a program."

Semrow said that a recent study by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission disclosed that Cook County will exhaust its existing disposal capacities by 1980 and some areas of Cook County will have exhausted their available facilities by 1970.

"MANY MUNICIPALITIES in Cook County are still using open dumps for disposing of refuse and garbage," said Semrow. This practice is not only unhealthy and an eyesore, but is not necessary under the technological advances which have been made in waste disposal methods.

"We need a county-wide program of providing incinerators and sanitary landfill sites," said the Democratic candidate. "These methods of refuse disposal eliminate the health hazard of open dumps and the danger of pollution of ground and surface water."

Semrow said that the exploding population of suburban Cook County made an immediate plan a necessity. "We have no time to waste," he said.

"While I am opposed to metropolitan government," said Semrow, "I strongly support collaboration among municipalities in dealing with problems like this. This is the kind of problem in which federal money, state authorization, County Board leadership, local governmental cooperation along with private industry could all be utilized to do what needs to be done for the people in our county."

SEMROW SAID that under state law, cities and villages with populations under 500,000 could contract together to deal with refuse disposal. "One way to do it would be to create a refuse disposal commission or commissions in parts of Cook County made up of the municipalities in the area," said Semrow. "Pooling the financial resources of several municipalities, and a cooperative program of garbage collection, in partnership with private industry, would save money for all of the municipalities and enable us to deal with an important public problem.

"The county board could act as the catalytic agent in dealing with this problem. We could be the liaison between the federal government which can provide the funds to help us get started, the state government which exercises the legal authority in this area, and local government in Cook County which should deal with the problem cooperatively," said Semrow. Senior Citizens Endorse McCabe

Senior Citizens Organization has endorsed the candidacy of James McCabe, Democratic challenger for the U. S. Congressional seat representing the 13th District.

In accepting the endorsement, McCabe termed Medicare legislation a responsible act and display of humanity, adding that his opponent, Donald Rumsfeld, has placed himself in the position of approving enrollment in something he doesn't believe in.

McCabe noted that Medicare not only helps the senior citizen, but it also eases the burden on young people who are responsible for the care of older relatives.

"Without Medicare, many of these young people would face the terrible choice of depriving their own children and families or letting their loved ones suffer. Very often, younger people are just not in a position to help their elders even where they would be willing to sacrifice themselves and their families—a choice no one should have to make." (B10

A Half-Century of Respected Service

Keeping a Heritage

We believe that our half-century of service to this community means nothing unless the service we conduct today continues to exceed the expectation of family and friends in every way.

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORDS
BY LINDA NORRIS

The Art Reynolds Singers make their Capitol album debut in Tellin' It Like It Is!, featuring a style that can be best described as one that combines gospel with the rhythm of rock music . . . The six youngsters who comprise the group have been together since their high school graduation three years ago . . .
